

Message From the President

On Life Membership

At this writing, undergraduate Phi Psi's from across the country are gathering to participate in District Council meetings and concurrently-conducted Woodrow Wilson Leadership Schools. Each of our six Districts will elect an undergraduate Archon to serve on our national Executive Council together with the four alumni officers of the Fraternity elected at the last GAC. Thus, we demonstrate again the unique emphasis Phi Psi places on undergraduate responsibility and authority.

Most of us have our most intensive and memorable Fraternity experiences as undergraduates. During this four-year period we forge lasting friendships, learn Phi Psi traditions, and challenge ourselves with new leadership opportunities. Where, then, do the alumni members fit in? What is their role and interest? I'd like to offer a few observations and extend some recognition in answer to the question.

There are over 46,000 living Phi Psi's, of whom about 10% are currently undergraduates. Each holds a life membership in Phi Kappa Psi. There is no other class of membership. Both our Constitution and Ritual establish clearly the life-long nature of the special relationship we enter into at initiation. Phi Psi does not require any additional special effort or qualification once we become members. Yet, literally thousands of alumni members continue their active involvement with the Fraternity in one way or another. Without their contributions of time, talent and financial resources, there would be no undergraduate experience.

Nearly 4,500 members contribute to the Alumni Support Program, which funds a third of Phi Psi's operating budget.

Over 500 alumni serve actively in a variety of official capacities:

- House Corporation officers
- Chapter advisors
- · Alumni Association officers
- Area Directors
- · Permanent Fund and Endowment Fund trustees
- Supervisory Committee members
- · Elected and appointed officers of the Fraternity

Countless others serve on GAC committees, conduct training workshops, attend Chapter celebrations, and through their presence influence the quality of individual Chapters.

Phi Kappa Psi is a distinctively undergraduate organization. Yet, it was alumni members who wrote our Constitution, devised the yell, wrote the more popular of our songs, founded THE SHIELD, and compiled the Grand Catalogue. Our alumni wrote the Centennial History and the Fraternity Manual and drafted numerous workbooks on all aspects of Chapter operations.

For those who are able and so inclined, life membership means the special satisfaction one receives from assisting others to have a quality Phi Psi experience. For Phi Kappa Psi it means our very existence. We could not fund or field a team of professional staff to replace the voluntary efforts of our alumni.

To those who are enjoying the special rewards of life membership, I extend my congratulations and gratitude. To those who wish to enrich their life membership, I extend an invitation. Let us know your interest. We'll find a rewarding opportunity for you.

In this issue of THE SHIELD we are soliciting comments and suggestions from all our members through the use of a prepared questionnaire. Please take five minutes to contribute your thoughts.

On the Cover

A warm Phi Psi Christmas greeting goes out to all readers of THE SHIELD! Fraternity shades of red & green look especially appropriate in the Founders Room of Heritage Hall, decorated for the Holiday season.

THE SHIELD (USPS 494-300) was established in 1879. It is published four times each year, fall, winter, spring and summer, under the authority and direction of the Executive Council of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity.

Produced and printed by Compolith Graphics and Maury Boyd and Associates. Gary B. Angstadt, 510 Lockerbie Street, Indianapolis, Indiana 46202 is Executive Director to whom all material, subscriptions, and changes of address for THE SHIELD should be sent. Subscription price is $2.00 per year; single copies, 50 cents. Life subscriptions available at $25.00. Second-class postage paid at Indianapolis, Indiana, and additional mailing offices.

Phi Psi On The

by John F. Hummel, Jr. Penn State '74

"The job of the cartoonist," says Art Sansom, "is to create a character who takes the lumps for the average guy."

Brutus Thornapple, alias "The Born Loser," has been taking those lumps for us for over sixteen years now. The brainchild of Brother Art Sansom, Ohio Wesleyan '40, it has become one of the most popular comic strips today. In fact, it is one of only six strips syndicated in over 1,000 daily newspapers and is translated into eight languages around the world.

Reflecting on his college days with the Ohio Alpha Chapter, Art gives a lot of credit for the development of his sense of humor to some of his Chapter Brothers: "We had at our Chapter guys with fantastic senses of humor. The gags that were pulled down there were things that I know subconsciously hung on and helped me develop as a cartoonist or a comic writer who can recognize humor."

Another Phi Psi influence on his eventual development as a cartoonist was James Thurber, Ohio State '18. Art remembers when Thurber and Elliot Nugent, Ohio State '16 came to dinner at Ohio Alpha. The pair made quite a hit with the undergraduates as they set about attempting to steal everything that wasn't nailed down: "They were two of the funniest guys I had ever seen."

Art has a great deal of respect for the work of James Thurber, commenting that "He was a perfectionist as far as cartoon humor is concerned. His style is ageless and is probably more copied than any other cartoonist's work. Thurber's humor today is as funny as it was 40 years ago. He was not only a great cartoonist, but a great writer. I think I've read everything he ever wrote."

Yet, even with this influence as a student, Art Sansom never dreamed that he would be a cartoonist, let alone a world famous cartoonist.

Art majored in Fine Arts with a minor in Literature and a minor in Languages at Ohio Wesleyan. In an effort to get his grade average up, he enrolled in several drawing classes since drawing had always come naturally to him.

His original intention upon graduation was to join Eastman Kodak in Rochester, New York with his father in some form of advertising. But, with America's impending involvement in World War II a foregone conclusion, he didn't worry too much about any plans for the immediate future. The Army, he figured would take care of that.

The Army didn't take care of that. A "bum" knee, injured in an intramural football game, kept him out of the service. The only job he could find was as an engineering draftsman with General Electric in Cleveland. It was at about this time that he married Isabel Henry, a Delta Gamma he had met at Ohio Wesleyan.

As the war came to a close, he began thinking in terms of going into some other type of work. By this time, he had done men's fashion illustrations for department stores in Cleveland, but nothing in the way of cartooning. When he discovered, however, that a cartoonist could set his own hours and live where he wanted to live (as long as a post office is nearby) and make good money as well, that's when he decided he wanted to become a cartoonist.

In 1945, Art went to work as a staff artist with Newspaper Enterprise Association of Cleveland (since merged with United Features in New York). By 1949, he was doing a weekly comic strip called "Peggy" about a teenage girl. Art very much enjoyed doing "Peggy" because it was a humor strip and eventually proved to be the inspiration for "The Born Loser."

In 1951, NEA teamed Art with Russ Winterbauf, a knowledgeable science fiction writer to do a "space opera" called "Chris Welk and Planeteer." It was an adventure strip and Art's job was to "illustrate" rather than "cartoon." In other words, he would introduce a high degree of detail and realism in the artwork.

"Chris Welk and the Planeteer" had quite a following, including Bing Crosby who was interested in developing a weekly television series based on the strip. Unfortunately, Bing's movie studio contract wouldn't allow him to do this, so the idea died on the vine. The "western" influence caught the imagination of the American public in the mid '50's and cowboys replaced spacemen. It was no surprise when "Chris Welk" was dropped.

Art went on to illustrate two new strips: "Martha Wayne," a soap opera, and "Vic Flint," a private-eye adventure. In these two strips, Art finally "got his feet wet" by doing some of the writing. It was not his type of writing, however. He still longed for the situation-comedy gags such as the format used in "Peggy."

When Abe Martin, the famous originator of a very popular strip called "Boots and Her Buddies" became seriously ill, Art was called in to do the drawing. This proved to be quite a challenge in that "Boots and Her Buddies" was one of the most beautifully n arrival at college, you will be initiated into the mysteries of orientation and registration. On many campuses, new students will also encounter another fact of college life, the existence and power of fraternities and sororities. In their first or second years, they will be "rushed," introduced to the members of these groups in a whirlpool of social activities which may result in a "bid" to join one or more of the organizations. At that point of decision, pressing questions plague the rushee: "Should I accept the bid and spend my college career as a 'Greek'?' "Will the experience bring enjoyment or difficulties?" "Will fraternity and sorority life contribute to or constrict my development as a person?'

Underlying these concerns is a fact of deep significance. All college activities are similar to the daily life that you have known before or the world that you will return to after graduation. The programs and groups you will encounter in your college years are expressions of basically human needs and ways of helping persons to meet those needs. So, too, are the secret organizations called fraternities and sororities. They have their counterparts in such exclusive community orders as the Masons. In this article, we will explore the ways that fraternities serve as mirrors of human needs and lenses focusing the issues emerging from the conflict of those needs in fraternity life.

A college sorority or fraternity survives because it taps the twin human hungers for individuality and for closeness to others in small groups. The entering student can feel overwhelmed by the mass of strangers flowing around him or her in residence halls, classrooms, and dining areas. The "culture shock" of close encounters with hundreds of faces and lives not yet known can be confusing. The longing arises to be more than a cell in the student body, to discover and develop one's unique identity. Carl Rogers, the psychologist, indicates that there is no more powerful need than to "become the self that one most truly is."1

The paradox is that the same student

also may be a profoundly lonely figure in the midst of the multitude flowing to and from campus activities. Like all of us, he or she will need to relate intensely and regularly with others chosen as friends and acquaintances. Another psychologist, George Herbert Mead, has indicated that no one can become a self apart from these close relationships with others who shape the boundaries of our being.² Infants do not come into the world with a sense of selfhood. Only as parents and others respond to them twenty-four hours a day do they begin to develop a recognition that each is an "I." That growth into personhood continues all of our lives and requires close, continuous contact with others. The Germans sum it up succinctly: "One man is no man."

raternal life is an attempt to bind people together in a small "brotherhood" or "sisterhood" that will support each member's quest for personhood. The theologian Paul Tillich asserted that "the first polar elements [of being] are individualization and participation." He added that the church offers the believer the opportunity to become a person and to handle life's anxieties through participation in the traditions, sacraments, education, and authority that the church offers.4 At a very different level, fraternities attempt to foster close relationships and individual growth through their traditions, rituals. education of "pledges," and the organizational and social influence of the life of the "brotherhood."

Our first question then is, "Do Greek societies provide a realistic opportunity for a creative blending of these two needs for individuality and participation?" The needs are basic and linked inseparably in the development of a whole human being.

Organizations do not always provide the balance of closeness to others and also "elbow room" for personal growth. The pressures for conformity can be stifling. Pledges and members can experience strong influences molding their attitudes regarding such matters as the treatment of the opposite sex, the use and abuse of alcohol and other drugs, respect for property, and the rights of other individuals and groups. To be sure, all organizations affect the perspectives of their members. The effect can be creative or corrupting. The intense closeness of fraternal groups magnifies that social pressure, making it strongly advisable for students to examine carefully the nature of the specific organizations they consider joining.

We have pondered the basic human needs for individual fulfillment and warm relationships in small groups. A thirdcrucial hunger demands our attention. All human beings need an everexpanding world of relationships extending their experiences and concerns to an increasingly broadening realm of commitments. A person is no larger than the horizon of his or her relationships. Life is intended to outgrow itself continually. In fact, biologists rank life forms in an ascending scale of awareness and sensitivity.

The word extend is rooted in the Latin ex tendere, meaning "to stretch out or hold out" as one extends a leg running or an arm in shaking hands. The image, that of reaching out into the environment or of making contact with one's world, is a basic characteristic of all living beings. Some scientists have even defined life as an entity that transacts with the surrounding world. The wavy tendrils of the sea anemone, trapping and stunning marine life to provide food for its hungry system. The tongue of the anteater, the untrasonic squeaky sonar of the darting bat. All of these are the extensions, the reachings of animal life for security and satisfaction. As the biologist Von Bertalanffy insists, the ascending scale of life is a ladder of increasing awareness and interaction. Even the lower forms must be sensitive and active in order to eat, to reproduce, and to avoid predators.

Human beings extend themselves for far more reasons: to achieve, to love, to cooperate, to develop institutions, to maintain and further ways of life, to understand. Only those in the depths of coma or psychosis are exceptions.

Nevertheless, we can avoid as well as extend. We can selectively ignore objects, people, and even large areas of our own experience. Many of our daily choices center around the question of extension. How well should I get to know my neighbor or roommate? How much should I involve myself in this or that activity? How much money should I spend on this product? How much can I love this person? The one thing that we cannot do—if we are to remain healthy—is to refuse to extend ourselves at all.

Such outreach then is the basis of what we call "community." Its simplest expression is found between individuals. One question often dominates the mind of first-year students: "What will my roommate be like?" The earliest and most basic lesson of college life begins in that orientation period: learning to extend ourselves to those different in religious and ethnic backgrounds, family life-style, taste, and character. In classrooms, on athletic fields, at social affairs, we have the constant choice posed by our capacity to make contact with others. Shall I introduce myself? Do I really want to listen to him or her? How much of my experience and thoughts shall I reveal? Shall I attempt to continue the relationship?

'Far too often,
the groups and institutions that should lead us into larger realms of service become instead Frankensteinian monsters using members to meet their needs rather than meeting the needs of the members.'

n some sense, we are the sum of these extensions across the vears. We are more, however. Life on a residential campus offers a broad range of opportunities to extend oneself in group relationships and organizational activities. For example, you may be invited to extend and spend some of your life on the editorial board of the campus newspaper, as a player on varsity and intramural athletic teams, or by accepting a fraternity or sorority bid. You can't do them all, and the choices are momentous ones. Your memories of college days will center around the results of your responses.

The major obstacle to such a transcendent growing life is the tendency to seek people who are only like ourselves and to seek them because of those similarities. Too often we pursue only those relationships which social psychologists describe as "symmetrical." That is, we like those who are like us. This constricting life-style is reflected in an anonymous prayer:

God bless me and my wife, My son John and his wife, Us four, no more!

Psychologists also remind us that our relationships may be complementary as well as symmetrical. In other words, we establish relationships with those who are different from us in order to complete ourselves. Patients and doctors, students and teachers, parents and children, liberals and conservatives, optimists and pessimists complement and fulfill each other in the creative human balancing act that we call "community." Georg Simmel wrote a short article at the turn of the century, describing the creative role of the "stranger" in our lives. Although strangers may represent a threat because they shake up our settled worlds, their very strangeness allows us to think new thoughts, to try on new ways. The Jewish and Christian visions of the kingdom of God are expressions of this basic need to extend oneself. transcending old biases and limiting ways. The word cosmopolitan points to that goal, literally becoming "a people of the universal city" (cosmos and polis).

When people participate in groups and in institutional life, they can reach out in ways very different from their individual behaviors. On one hand, groups can serve the community much more effectively than isolated individuals can. Charity programs and "fund raisers" are examples of the power that groups have when they extend themselves in service. On the other hand, groups can also struggle with each other, undercutting the effectiveness of the whole community. Fraternity members and nonfraternity members are not destined to experience conflict. Academic departments do not necessarily compete or fight with each other. Administrators and faculty members can reach across traditional barriers. In fact, at Dickinson College, I see evidence of these positive "bridgings" every day. Still, organizations and their members can suffer from "hardening of the allegiancies!'

Jean-Paul Sartre, analyzing the French Revolution, insists that the strongest force in forming groups is a banding together against an external foe. Far too often, the groups and institutions that should lead us into larger realms of service become instead Frankensteinian monsters using members to meet their needs rather than meeting the needs of the members. The need to be a part of a small group can (if exploited by that group) block our need to extend our lives creatively in the larger community. Human beings tend to give their most intense loyalties to their narrowest territories!

Fraternities and sororities, like other organizations, can block or further this need to grow, to extend life through larger allegiances. They can either be tribal clans that constrict a person's developing commitments or communities that foster the expansion of brotherhood and sisterhood beyond the walls of the fraternity and sorority house. A recent film, Animal House, exploits its viewers by portraying a highly destructive and anti-social college fraternity chapter as a heroic group of crusaders 'justifiably' damaging people and destroying property in order to combat a college administration caricatured as stupid and dictatorial. Fraternal organizations are designed for two purposes: (1) to provide small-group experiences that can nurture individual students, and (2) to lead them to extend their lives in new experience and service beyond the fraternity. Unfortunately, such groups intended to be inclusive tend to become exclusive. The fellowship that should be a window into new and wider worlds may become a ghetto limiting one's relationships.

The ties that bind fraternity members together are primitive and unusually strong. On many campuses, members eat together, drink together, share the same house, join regularly in ritual and ceremony. The "blackball" voting system (that allows any one member to exclude a potential candidate) adds to the narrowness and intensity of the allegiances in the 'brotherhood." Pledge tasks and hazing ordeals bring the new members-tobe together in common suffering. The brotherhood strives against rivals, both "Greek" and "independent." They adopt "sisters" from a sorority and may elect a chapter "sweetheart." The likeness to a powerful clan is apparent.

The danger lies, of course, not in the brotherly ties but in the barriers raised to broader brotherhood with the college community as a whole. The pyramid of normal priorities is easily inverted; the fraternity "tail" can wag the college "dog." The club takes precedence over the community. In the extreme, the result can be fragmentation of fellowship on the campus. Almost every college president has received letters from alumni who belong to fraternities, threatening to withdraw financial support from the college if the special interests of their particular organization are not placed above the welfare of the student body as a whole.

gain, it isn't inevitable that fraternities will become narrowly tribal, concerned only with turf and clan. It is important, however, that those considering fraternity and sorority membership understand the issues at stake. Will life in a given organization lead to extension of one's interests, relationships, and loyalties? What are the qualities that characterize an extensive life? What ways of being allow us to reach out, to be reached by others? It's obvious that those who extend themselves in new experiences risk failure as well as success, error as well as achievement, rejection as well as acceptance. Those who extend themselves must regularly renew their openess to the new, their dedication to reality, their willingness to change and to experience solitude. Fraternities and sororities cannot be an exception.

The college first-year student should never underestimate the power of shaping college and its organizations, including fraternities and sororities. Students are the ultimate jury deciding the fate of their organizations. As rushees, they should not hesitate to ask searching questions about the goals and the practices of each fraternity. As pledges, they should recognize that the national fraternal organizations have prohibited chapters from engaging in activities that hurt and degrade people, destroy property, or undercut study. As sorority and fraternity members, they can exercise their rights and duties as sisters and brothers to guard against a self-defeating territoriality and ensure the contribution of that chapter to the larger welfare of the college or university.

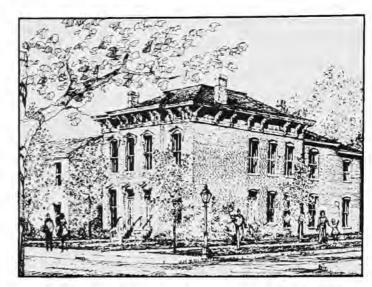

If the student remains an "independent," he or she may interpret fairly to underclass students the choice before them and seek a clearer understanding between fraternities and the broader campus organizations in which they participate. Both students and their organizations can avoid the strangulation of tribalism if they keep clear the distinction between use and abuse. The only legitimate use of an organization is the fulfillment of the needs of its people for individuality, relatedness, and extension in service and fellowship with others. П

Letters To The Editor

We are still calling this SHIELD section "Letters to the Editor" because we've not received very many suggestions for an appropriate column heading. Brother A. Douglas Brim of New York Eta has made the best recommendation so far, "Letters to Lockerbie," further suggesting the artwork used above. We'd be pleased to consider additional titles so be encouraged to forward them on to the Fraternity Headquarters.

Brother Brim reinforced his entry into the SHIELD competition by addressing his post card "Letters to Lockerbie, Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity," using the appropriate address. He then wrote, "if this gets through you'll know my suggestion for your new column will work." It will work! Brother Brim goes on to say that he would "like to hear from the Brothers of N.Y. Eta." His address is 311 N. Military, Dearborn, MI 48124.

We heard from another interested Phi Psi, regarding the last issue of THE SHIELD.

Dear Brother Angstadt:

This refers to pages 118 thru 121 of the Sept. issue.

Perhaps one of the reasons that the Order of the Golden Shield and the Order for the 80's is not any longer is because you do not list [donors] by chapter, as you do in the larger honor roll. I am sure that most members look to see who of their chapter members have contributed. We are not interested in people we do not know. You might try listing under chapters, even tho [sic] some of the chapter lists would be short, and see if you don't have a larger percentage in the more generous lists.

. Incidentally, one of the reasons some would want to give a little more is to make his chapter look better.

I think you do a good job on THE SHIELD. And I have some basis for judgment. My wife was a (good) magazine editor.

Elton G. Nelson Oregon State '48

We thank Brother Nelson for his well-stated suggestion on listing the many donors to the Alumni Support program. We agree that, especially with the nearly 600 donors to the Order of the Golden Shield, listing by Chapter would be helpful when scanning for those loyal Brothers with whom one may be acquainted. Listing a Chapter or school name requires additional printing space, but we think in this case the extra expense is justifiable. Thanks for the suggestion! Editor

Letters to the Editor may be forwarded to: Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity, 510 Lockerbie St., Indianapolis, IN 46202.

From the Archives . . .

The Fraternity is pleased to be the recipient of gifts related directly to Phi Psi, or art and furnishings of the founding era. The Fraternity's Headquarters, Heritage Hall, provides a setting designed to appropriately display these items related in some way to the Fraternity or to society circa 1852.

Displayed in the Woodrow Wilson Library of Heritage Hall, this unusual piece of fine silver was handcrafted in Crawfordsville, Indiana, circa 1886. Its unique design incorporating a chariot support for the water pitcher and matching twin goblets suggests its origins. in that era historic Crawfordsville was all abuzz over the publication of another work from native son and Civil War General Lew Wallace. That book was Ben Hur, and a local silversmith honored the publication with this work.

Another interesting feature of the pitcher itself is that it is double-walled; this allows the normal condensation process cold water in metal creates to carry on in between the inner and outer wall, leaving the refined beauty of the visable silver surface untainted. . . it was considered socially unacceptable for even a water pitcher to perspire in those days!

The Fraternity received the silver set as a result of a gift from the Wabash College Chapter, Indiana Gamma, who claims Crawfordsville as home. The contribution was made during the Heritage Project campaign, and we thank the Chapter and in particular Dr. Robert W. Mouser, Wabash '49, for the generous donation.

Alcoholism: An Unfashionable Disease

Reprinted by permission of Trinity Lutheran Hospital, Kansas City, Missouri

To be fashionable . . or "with it" . or manly . . . or even liberated, an American must drink. To abstain from alcohol in today's society is to risk being a social outcast.

Or so the reasoning goes.

The facts of the matter, however, tell a different story.

The facts are that more than 10 million Americans are alcoholics. And alcoholics are not fashionable, "with it," manly or liberated. They are victims of an insidious, incurable disease, the second most prevalent after heart disease in the United States. Alcoholism, according to the National Council on Alcoholism, is a 100% fatal illness. It seldom appears on a health chart or a death certificate but is the underlying factor responsible for immediate causes of death such as alcohol poisoning; drug-alcohol overdoses; suicide; automobile accidents; accidental fights, falls, exposure and smoke inhalation; brain hemorrhaging; convulsions; delirium tremens; cirrhosis; infection; and duodenal ulcers.

Alcoholism is a hidden disease, hidden in that so many Americans do drink that the problem drinker is often lost in the crowd until his behavior becomes too obvious to be ignored. According to Dr. Chester Day, a Trinity staff psychiatrist who specializes in counseling alcoholics, an alcoholic is a person who has consumed alcohol to the point that he has physical and medical problems, a disruption of his personal and interpersonal functions and/or considers alcohol a prerequisite for normal functioning.

A fine line sometimes exists between the alcoholic and the heavy drinker. As Dr. Day pointed out, some people can drink an excessive amount of alcohol without becoming alcoholic; one out of ten drinkers, however, become alcoholics.

Early Signs

Some of the early signs of alcoholism include a reliance on alcohol, a physical craving for a drink, looking forward to the next opportunity to drink, shying away from friends that do not drink, disappointment that alcohol is not available at a party or other social occasion and resentment at comments made about one's drinking.

The early signs of alcoholism are usually followed by heavy drinking, frequent and severe intoxication, secret drinking and hostile behavior. Alcoholics may suffer temporary blackouts, followed by anxiety, concern and guilt. Eventually, an alcoholic loses all control over his drinking; instead, alcohol controls him, and his life is planned around drink.

Alcohol affects the body in various ways. From the stomach and intestines it is absorbed directly into the blood and distributed to the liver, heart, brain and body tissues. The rate of absorption varies, depending on the amount of alcohol consumed, how fast it was consumed and how quickly it leaves the stomach.

Effects on Body

Alcohol has some particularly disturbing effects on the brain. Coordination, memory, judgment and learning ability are all affected by alcohol. Brain cells that are continually exposed to alcohol are destroyed and nerve tissue degenerates.

Prolonged heavy drinking can also irritate the stomach and intestines, resulting in ulcers and internal bleeding. Cirrhosis of the liver is also common among alcoholics. Studies even indicate that alcohol affects the heart, constricting the arteries, injuring the heart muscle and affecting blood circulation. Pregnant women who are alcoholics also run an increased risk that their babies will be born with "fetal alcohol syndrome," a condition marked by physical and mental birth defects and an addiction to alcohol.

Causes

What causes alcoholism? According to Dr. Day, there are several theories that explain why one person out of ten who drinks becomes an alcoholic.

One theory suggests that alcoholism is inherited. A number of researcher studies, including several by Dr. Donald Goodwin from the department of psychiatry at the University of Kansas Medical Center, support this theory. In one study, children of alcoholic parents were placed with adoptive parents who did not use alcohol. Even in the new environment, however, it was found that a higher percentage of these children eventually became alcoholics than in the general population, suggesting that there was a genetic cause. Statistics do confirm that 85% of all alcoholics have another alcoholic in their families.

Another theory suggests that alcoholics have an inborn biochemical error in their metabolism that is responsible for the disease. Research has established that alcoholics do respond to alcohol differently than do non-alcoholics. For example, alcohol has a depressant effect on the nervous system, but after the depressant effect has worn off a period of excitability follows. Alcoholics seek relief from this agitation by drinking again for sedation. The cycle starts again.

There may also be psychological reasons for alcoholism. Although there is no single type of personality that is prone to alcoholism, alcoholics do fall into certain general categories. Some are "obsessive-compulsive" types who can only unwind through drinking. Others are "passive-dependent" types who look for substances to assuage anxiety and find easy solutions. Persons prone to depression erroneously believe that alcohol makes them feel better. Psychotic types use alcohol to combat their particular psychoses, while anti-social types use alcohol as a means of rebelling against the establishment.

Treatment

The most effective form of treatment for alcoholism, in Dr. Day's experience, is hospitalization in an alcohol treatment unit such as those at a number of hospitals in the Kansas City area.

"If an alcoholic has been unable to quit drinking on his own and does not have the support from his family and friends, then the alcoholic will probably need the intensive treatment found in a hospital setting," Dr. Day said.

He explained that alcoholic treatment units offer a number of advantages over detoxication centers where alcoholics check in for a brief period of time to "dry out." For one thing, hospitalized alcoholics may gradually be weaned from their dependence on alcohol through substitute medications whose dosages are gradually decreased until the alcoholic is independent of both the drug and the alcohol.

Another advantage of such units is that peer pressure can be used to stimulate reform.

"Many alcoholics tend to resist the notion that they have emotional problems or psychiatric disorders," Dr. Day said, "but in a setting where everyone is in the same boat, such as in an alcoholic unit, there is more honesty. They feel that the other patients have been through the same thing as they have. Everyone knows everyone else's manipulations and tricks and excuses for drinking. In this kind of setting they give up their games."

Hospitalization for the alcoholic includes both group therapy and individual sessions with a skilled counselor. Preparation is also made for continued rehabilitation after dismissal. All alcoholics are put in touch with an Alcoholics Anonymous group prior to dismissal. Follow-up also includes periodic outpatient visits to the unit for continuing rehabilitation and renewed confidence.

The treatment of alcoholism necessarily includes the family or "significant other" of the alcoholic.

"Families need to be helped to see that alcoholism is not their fault," Dr. Day pointed out, "and that it is not necessarily something that the alcoholic himself can beat through sheer will power. Families need to understand too, that alcoholism is a disease and that it needs a lot of effort to control it."

One particular problem for families of alcoholics is the tendency to want to protect their alcoholic members. A new counseling approach called the "tough love" philosophy offers a method of coping with the alcoholic and motivating him to accept treatment.

"Tough Love"

According to Dr. Day, "tough love" says that true love for the alcoholic means that the family forces him to face the consequences of his actions. Instead of sheltering him and making excuses for him, the family confronts the alcoholic with his problem and forces him to take responsibility for himself. That may mean that the family refuses to accompany him to places where drink is served, refuses to give excuses for his absences from work, perhaps even moves out of the home temporarily.

Although the "tough love" approach is a difficult one for a family to accept, they can receive support through groups such as Al-Anon in which families of alcoholics share common problems and work out solutions.

Fortunately for the alcoholic and his family, there are many sources of help. Alcoholism Information Centers are located in many communities, supplying facts about the disease through films, literature and other media. Local chapters of Alcoholics Anonymous, Al-Anon and Alateens are listed in the yellow pages, as are state and county medical societies, mental health centers, clinics, health department, family service agencies, counseling centers, welfare departments and churches. Any one of these groups can point the alcoholic to his best source of help.

Alcoholism can be treated successfully, but because it is a chronic disease it can never be completely cured. Consequently, in treating alcoholism one seeks control on a day-to-day basis. In addition, successful treatment of alcoholism offers alternatives to drink for the alcoholic and seeks improvement in his personal, social and occupational roles.

Facts About Alcoholism

- ★ Ten million out of one hundred million United States drinkers are alcoholics.
- ★ Most alcoholics are "typical"—married, with jobs and family responsibilities—not "skid row" types.
- ★ One half of all traffic deaths are related to alcohol—and alcohol is a serious factor among adult pedestrians who were killed.
- ★ $25 billion a year is spent due to alcoholic illnesses, lost production and property damage.
- ★ The number of "known" women alcoholics has doubled since World War II.
- ★ Almost 80% of American adolescents have had at least one drink, about 74% have had at least two or three drinks; and more that one-half of all adolescents drink at least once a month.
- ★ About the same alcoholic content, one-half ounce of pure alcohol, is found in:
 - 1. a 12 ounce can of beer
 - 2. a 5 ounce glass of wine
 - 3. a cocktail containing 1½ ounces of 86 proof liquor
- ★ Occasional drunkenness doesn't mean a person is or is not an alcoholic or possible alcoholic. Also, some alcoholics never act as if they were drunk.

Endowment Fund Establishes Ben King Scholarship

Ben King, Brooklyn Poly '06, (left) receives a 75 year recognition pin from Fraternity President John R. Donnell, Jr. Brother King is sporting a special Phi Psi tie, given only to those who have contributed $1000 or more to the Endowment Fund.

President John R. Donnell, Jr., Case Western Reserve '59, (right) visits with Endowment Fund benefactor Ben King in his London home. Ben's long-time house-keeper is in center.

"Phi Psi was good to me when I needed her." We hear that sentiment from time to time, but one Brother in particular has backed the phrase with more vigor than most.

Over the last few months, the Fraternity's educational foundation, the Endowment Fund, has received a total of $15,000 from Benjamin King, initiated into Phi Kappa Psi by the New York Zeta Chapter at Brooklyn Poly in 1906 . . . Brother King is 92 years young!

Ben King's generosity springs neither from constant contact with Phi Psi nor frequent and regular communications from his Chapter for he has resided in London, England since 1915, and his New York Zeta Chapter has been inactive since 1912, initiating only a total of 136 men. Rather, Ben King appreciates what his Phi Psi experience provided him, and says he "would like to repay it."

The Endowment Fund will invest his new gift and use the income for grants to individuals pursuing a degree in engineering, recognizing the profession in which Ben King was involved for many years, retiring as Chairman of Chrysler's British subsidiary in 1955. In addition, Ben has asked that engineering students eligibility be restricted to "someone who's working his way through school like I did." Undergraduate Brothers interested in applying for the Ben King Scholarship for engineering students may contact Kent Owen, Director of the Endowment Fund, through the Fraternity Headquarters.

Fraternity President John R. Donnell, Jr., traveled to London this past August on personal business, and was able to visit Brother King in his lovely Putney home. Phi Psi first lady Marcia Donnell served as impromptu SHIELD photographer for the occasion, and so we offer the accompanying pictures.

Thank you Brother King! The Endowment Fund recognizes a new generous benefactor, and the Fraternity salutes a loyal Brother in Phi Kappa Psi.

PERRY B. JENKINS, Amherst '16, and his wife Elizabeth W., have had a dormitory at Amherst named in their honor for their gifts to the College. Brother Jenkins was a manager with the Hartford Accident and Indemnity Co. and retired in 1961.

ROLAND W. BROWN, Cornell '27, is president of the Reading, Pennsylvania Baseball Club and is still active in sales promotion and public relations. Brother Brown has two sons, a daughter, and eight grandchildren.

FRED MACHETANZ, Ohio State '27, during the last five years has gained national exposure through limited edition reproductions of some of his paintings. His work is being shown in Los Angeles, New York, and Boston galleries. Today, he and his wife, Sara, and son, Traeger, live in a log cabin near Palmer, Alaska.

WILLIAM "MIL" BATTEN, Ohio State '29, has had his contract as chairman and chief executive officer extended by the board of governors of the New York Stock Exchange. Brother Batten retired from J. C. Penney in 1974. Earlier this year, FORTUNE magazine selected Brother Batten as one of the eight 1980 inductees into the Junior Achievement Hall of Fame for Business leadership.

ROBERT FEGAN, Kansas '30, has been awarded the Army's highest citation to a civilian, the Distinguished Civilian Service Decoration. A management consultant with United Utilities, Inc., Brother Fegan has been a civilian aide to the Secretary of the Army in the 6th area.

REV. EDWARD E. TATE, Virginia '33 (Kansas '30), the first headmaster of St. Stephens School from 1944 to 1954, was the honored guest at the annual Big Red Ball celebrating their 35th anniversary.

JOHN A. LOOMIS, Stanford '33, Superior Court Judge, received the Outstanding Trial Jurist Award. For several years, Brother Loomis has been on the faculties of the California College of Trial Judges and the California Judicial College. Brother Loomis practiced law for more than 30 years, including service with the United States Army during World War II. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate of Stanford, he received the Order of the Coif at the Stanford Law School, where he was president of the student body.

LOUIS A. TOEPFER, Beloit '37, is the partner in charge of the Columbus, Ohio office of the law firm of Jones, Day, Reavis & Pogue. Prior to his acceptance of this position in 1980, Brother Toepfer has been President of Case Western Reserve University since 1971, has been director of the Corporation since 1977 and is a member of the Executive Committee and the Contributions Advisory Committee.

WILLIAM E. (BILL) LONG, JR., Colorado '38, was elected senior vice president and chief administrative officer of Houston Natural Gas Corporation. Brother Long, who was senior vice president-corporate before his promotion, has held many key positions since joining Houston Natural Gas in 1949. In his new post, he will supervise several corporate departments including corporate communications, employee relations, corporate secretary, systems and computer services, administrative services and consumer relations. Brother Long is active in numerous organizations including the American Gas Association and the Southern Gas Association. He is also past president of the Kiwanis Club of Bellaire.

JUSTIN N. McINTYRE, Columbia '40, will be ordained a Roman Catholic priest this year and will return to the Diocese of Santa Rosa, California. Brother McIntyre was a college instructor for 25 years.

GEORGE B. MUNROE, Dartmouth '40, chairman and president of Phelps Dodge, was honored as Copper Man of the Year at the Copper Club's annual dinner February 4, at the Waldorf Astoria.

executive associate dean of the Indiana University School of Medicine, has been named to the board of regents of the American College of Physicians. There are 20 regents on the policy-making board of the 47,000 member international medical-specialty society. A longtime fellow of the society, Brother Lukemeyer has been serving as the society's governor for Indiana.

JAMES C. WARMAN, West Virginia '45, Director of Water Resources Research Institute at Auburn University has been appointed as one of the two United States members of the new International Commission on Ground Water Protection. He is also serving as Faculty Advisor to Alabama Beta. Brother Warman will be holding sessions in France, England, and the Netherlands leading to a Symposium in Prague, Czechoslovakia in 1983.

JAMES W. STEWART, Vanderbilt '46, arranged for his Alma Mater to receive German weight equipment developed by Schnell, the former World Champion weightlifter. Brother Stewart's son Tim injured his knee at Wimbledon in June of 1980. Needing rehabilitation with weights, Tim's father arranged for the more than $100,000 worth of strength building equipment, of which Vanderbilt received six of the machines, to be shipped. Only one other college in the nation, the University of Texas, has even one piece of this expensive equipment. Brother Stewart has another son, James W., Jr., Vanderbilt '70.

CHARLES C. MILTON, Washington & Jefferson '46, has been appointed to the newly created position of vice presidentsmokeless tobacco, effective September 1. In this new position Brother Milton will be responsible for the chewing tobacco and snuff manufacturing facilities in Wheeling and Helmetta, New Jersey. He has been associated with the company for 30 years and was previously named vice president of the Wheeling operations and in 1962 was general superintendent of the Wheeling plant. Presently he serves on the boards of the First National Bank of Wheeling, the Salvation Army, the Wheeling Area Chamber of Commerce and the American Legion Athletic Association. Brother Milton is also a member of the Wheeling Country Club and a trustee at St. John's Episcopal Church. Brother Milton resides in Wheeling with his wife, Shirley; two sons, Charles C., Jr. and Jonathan; and one daughter, Elly.

J. GILBERT REESE, Ohio State '47, a partner in the law firm of Reese, Paugh, Mc-Nenny and Price since 1966 is Board Chairman of the First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Licking County and serves as director of the Park National Bank of Newark, B&L Motor Freight of Newark and Shaw-Barton of Coshocton. Brother Reese is a trustee of Dawes Arboretum, the Columbus Museum of Art, and YMCA of Newark & Licking County and the Columbus College of Art and Design. Previously, Brother Reese served as president of the Licking County Bar Association and the Newark Area Chamber of Commerce.

Jack C. Reynolds

JACK C. REYNOLDS, Nebraska '48, has been with the California Western School of Law for six years and has now been appointed associate dean. Founder, President and Publisher of OCEANS magazine, he has just returned from his Canadian and Alaskan expedition to the North Pole. Brother Reynolds resides in the Pt. Loma area of San Diego with his wife and family.

DR. DAVID F. OWEN, Penn State '48, has been appointed to the position of director, food protection and nutrition, in the Quality/Food Protection Department of ITT Continental Baking Company. With more than 20 years experience as a food scientist and nutritionist, Brother Owen will be responsible for the company's food protection practices and will head up all nutrition-related programs for Continental's bakery. frozen food, meat and other products. His most recent position was manager of food product development at Fundacion Chile, in which a transfer of food technology is being undertaken jointly by ITT and the Chilean government. Before joining ITT Brother Owen was associated with the Carnation Company, most recently as manager nutrition research. Prior to that he was an analytical chemist in state regulatory agencies in Delaware and Massachusetts. Brother Owen resides in McKeesport, Pennsylvania with his wife Elsie and has two daughters.

David M. Drenan

C. LINDEN SLEDGE, Texas '48, has been named chairman of the board of First National Bank in San Antonio. Brother Sledge, who has been president of Frost since 1973, joined the bank staff in 1956 and currently serves as president of the San Antonio Clearing House Association and holds memberships in the Reserve City Bankers Association, the American Bankers Association and the Texas Bankers Association. He serves as trustee of Trinity University and of the Southwest Foundation for Research and Education, president of the Alamo Area Council of the Boy Scouts of America and is a member of the Centennial Commission of the University of Texas at Austin. Brother Sledge is also a former chairman of the board of the Greater San Antonio Chamber of Commerce.

DR. DAVID M. DRENAN, DVM, Ohio State '50, has assumed the office of president of the American Animal Hospital Association. He was named president-elect of the AAHA last year during its annual meeting in New Orleans. Brother Drenan established the Tallmadge (Ohio) Animal Hospital in 1959, which he still runs and has written extensively on the subject of unwanted and stray animals. Brother Drenan has a wife, Nancy Van Hyde.

GERRY ALDRICH, Ohio Wesleyan '51, was last year's president of the Cleveland District Golf Association.

FREDERICK C. HERTEL, Michigan '52, has been appointed Executive Vice President, Head Office, North America for Barclays Bank International Limited. Brother Hertel joined Barclays after four years as a senior executive with The Bank of Tokyo Group in New York City. Previously, he was with Detroit Bank & Trust for 18 years where his last assignment was Senior Vice President-International. Brother Hertel is Secretary of the Institute of Foreign Bankers in New York and also chaired its Legislative and Regulatory Committee. He is a member of Robert Morris Associates, and is a graduate of the University of Michigan Graduate School of Business Administration.

James M. Rogers

JAMES M. ROGERS, Indiana '53, has been elected Vice President, Public Relations, for Hook Drugs, Inc., an Indianapolis based chain drug store corporation of more than 240 sales units. Brother Rogers joined Hook's in 1960. He was also just appointed chairman of the Lt. Governor's Advisory Council on Tourism, a newly formed task force to boost travel in Indiana.

W. BEN POLK, Nebraska '53, has assumed responsibilities of Majority Whip in the Illinois General Assembly. Representative Polk was sworn in for his fifth consecutive term in that body in January and presently resides in Moline, Illinois. He has a son, Morgan, Nebraska '80.

J. LAWRENCE SHANE, Swarthmore '53, was named executive vice president-finance after being vice president and group executive responsible for the controller's and treasurer's divisions, financial analysis and management information, environmental resources, fiber division and corporate procurement and transportation for the Scott Paper Company. He joined the company in 1956 as a project engineer.

FREDERICK R. STAMP, JR., Washington & Lee '53, a partner in the law firm of Schrader, Stamp, Byrd, Byrum, Johnson and Companion, has been elected president of the West Virginia Bar Association. Brother Stamp was previously president of the West Virginia Board of Regents in 1973-74 and served in the West Virginia Legislature from 1966-70. He started practicing law in 1960 and was president-elect of the association last year and served four years on the association's executive council. Brother Stamp is past president of the Ohio County Bar Association, a member of the board of directors of the Security National Bank and Trust Company, recipient of the Wheeling Jaycee's Distinguished Service Award, and served on the boards of directors of the Wheeling YWCA, the Wheeling Symphony Society, the Salvation Army and Davis & Elkins College. Brother Stamp and his wife Joan have one son, Frederick A.

Howard "Champ" Greenlee

HOWARD "CHAMP" GREENLEE, JR., DePauw '55, is a part time model, on camera spokesman and actor for newspaper advertising, television commercials and industrial films. Brother Greenlee has done work for several Phoenix financial and home development firms as well as AT&T, General Motors and American Express. He is a member of Screen Actors Guild and is taking cinema courses at Scottsdale Community College. He continues to operate his publishing company which produces books on the American Indian for children. Brother Greenlee resides with his wife Martha and a daughter Amy in Scottsdale, Arizona.

THOMAS B. HAGEN, Ohio State '56, was selected to receive the Ohio State University Alumni Association's 1981 Citizenship Award. Brother Hagen currently serves as president-chief executive officer and a director of Erie Insurance Company. He is also executive vice president and secretary of Erie Insurance Exchange and Erie Family Life Insurance Company. Brother Hagen is a member of the board of directors and has chaired several committees of the Insurance Federation of Pennsylvania. Listed in Who's Who in Insurance, he is also active in International Insurance Seminars and the National Association of Independent Insurers.

William J. Orndorff

WILLIAM J. ORNDORFF, Case Western Reserve '57, has been named vice president of marketing in the Power Equipment Division of Lear Siegler, Inc. The Power Equipment Division, headquartered in Maple Heights, Ohio, manufactures aerospace electrical systems and accessories. Brother Orndorff had been associated with Montevideo Technology, Inc. in Minnesota as vice president of marketing. Previously he held various management positions at Control Data Corporation and was with the Power Equipment Division of Lear Siegler, Inc. for ten years, his last assignment being district manager in California.

REGINALD F. WOODS, III. Cornell '58. has been appointed executive vice president of Butler International, Inc. He was previously senior vice president-finance. Brother Woods joined Butler in 1970 as vice president-planning, and became the company's chief financial officer in 1971 when he was appointed vice president-finance. In 1973 he was promoted to senior vice president-finance. A member of Butler's board of directors since 1971, he also serves on the executive, finance, and investor relations committees. Prior to joining Butler, Brother Woods was director-flight equipment and facilities planning for Eastern Air Lines, and earlier he was engaged in technical market planning for General Electric. He resides in Saddle River, New Jersey with his wife and three children.

LT. COL. THOMAS N. GOODE, West Virginia '58, is the Deputy Base Commander, 12th Air Base Group, 12th Flying Training Wing, Air Training Command, Randolph Air Force Base, Texas. As Deputy Base Commander he is responsible to the commander for group organizations that directly support the 12th Flying Training Wing's Pilot Instructor program. Brother Goode's awards and decorations include the Meritorious Service Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters: the Air Force Commendation Medal with two Oak Leaf Clusters: the Air Force Outstanding Unit Award: the Armed Forces Expeditionary Service Medal; the National Defense Service Medal; the Vietnam Service Medal; the U.S. Air Force Small Arms Expert Marksmanship Award; the Republic of Vietnam Cross of Gallantry with Palm; and the Republic of Vietnam Campaign Medal with bar. He was promoted to the rank of lieutenant colonel on September 3, 1978. Brother Goode has a wife, Jane, and a son, Brandon.

ROBERT E. DAVIS, Vanderbilt '60, is an attorney and four-term incumbent in the state House District 33A. Brother Davis was House Insurance Committee chairman in 1977, is the first Republican to chair two major House Committees and the first Republican to sit on the Legislative Budget Board and the State Audit Committee.

A. LAWRENCE FIBICH, Buffalo '62, has been appointed Director of Personnel for the Defense Audiovisual Agency (DAVA), a newly created Agency working for the Assistant Secretary of Defense. It was established to provide centrally-managed production, acquisition, distribution, and depository support for selected audiovisual products to all components of the Department of Defense. Brother Fibich currently resides in the Washington, D.C. area and may move to Los Angeles, California.

CHARLES R. CASPER, JR., Indiana '62, has been named Deputy Director of the Office of Program Management, U.S. Consumer Product Safety Commission, Washington, D.C. The office is responsible for federal product safety regulations and bans. Brother Casper had been previously assigned to President Carter's Regulatory Council working on regulatory reform and was formerly a management Consultant with Arthur Young & Co. He and his wife Marta reside in Bethesda, Maryland.

MARIJUANA

WHAT IT IS WHAT IT DOES AND WHAT IT'S DOING TO OUR KIDS

BY PEGGY MANN

THE SCENE: A wealthy Washington, D.C., suburban community in Montgomery County, Maryland. A 12 year old goes off excitedly to his first school dance of seventh and eighth graders only. The carpool mother who picks him up afterwards notes his glumness and asks what's the matter. He seems eager to talk. It's a chance to "get it off his chest"—perhaps to ask for help. This is what he said:

"All around the school there were people getting drunk on beer, wine, bourbon, whiskey, anything they could find. People were throwing up all over, some people were even crying they were so drunk.

"One-quarter of the dancers were high on pot. One person didn't even know where he was. Again a few people were crying because they felt awful. Most everybody was smoking cigarettes. I don't know if they were dusted. [Laced with PCP or Angel Dust, an extremely dangerous drug often sprinkled into pot to 'up' the potency.] One person was having trouble breathing and they had to call a rescue squad."

This party is typical of happenings in countless cities, suburbs, and rural areas throughout America. Parents, ostrich-like, refuse to see what is going on. Putting their heads in the sand, they think, means not having to deal with the problem. It also opens the possibility of losing their children to marijuana, and perhaps to other illegal drugs as well. (According to the 1980 National High School Senior Survey, sponsored by the National Institute on Drug Abuse, 46 percent of the twelfth graders who smoked pot at all during the year also "did" one or more additional illegal drugs.)

By high school graduation time, 60 percent of the students will have smoked pot; and one out of 11 seniors will have smoked pot daily, averaging 3-1/2 joints (marijuana cigarettes) a day. What is equally disturbing: virtually all recent drug abuse surveys show that pot is descending to even lower grade levels; in some areas starting as young as the fourth and fifth grades, with the fastest growing usage at the junior high school level.

One reason for this epidemic is that the general public knows so little about marijuana. Research scientists, on the other hand, know a lot about it. And, aside from the fact that one chemical in marijuana (THC) stops some cancer chemotherapy patients from vomiting—none of the news is good. Marijuana has a wide range of subtle, insidious physical and psychological effects. What's more, the younger the user, the more damaging the effects.

Dr. Carlton Turner, who heads the National Institute on Drug Abuse Marijuana Project in Mississippi, has read and summarized more then 5,000 cannabis research papers published in scientific journals from 1965 to 1979. (Cannibis is the plant from which marijuana and hashish are prepared.) "Not one of those papers," says Dr. Turner, "gives marijuana a clean bill of health. There is no other drug used or abused by man that has the staying power and broad cellular action that the cannabinoids do."

As for the mind-altering cannabinoid THC (formally known as delta-9-tetrahydrocannabinol) research shows that only five to 10 percent crosses the bloodbrain barrier and creates the "high." Says Dr. Turner, "We must wonder what the other 90 to 95 percent of the powerful chemical is doing to the body.

"Marijuana," Turner sums up, "is a real Pandora's box of unknowns." (Yet what we do know about it is formidable, as evidenced by two thick volumes of research findings in Dr. Turner's Marijuana: An Annotated Bibliography.)

Cannabinoids have been shown to harm the lungs, the sex and reproductive organs, the brain cells, the immune system, indeed, cells throughout the entire body. Some of the nonpsychoactive cannabinoids, in fact, have been shown to be more harmful to certain organs than the psychoactive, or mind-altering ones.

What then, are some specific findings?

The most important single factor about the cannabinoids is that they are extremely lipophilic—fat loving. Kids like to put down their parents by saying, "You have your alcohol, we have our pot." But the two drugs are not synonymous, for three reasons:

- Alcohol is water soluble. One ounce is metabolized and excreted completely from the body within 12 hours. The cannabinoids, for the most part, are only soluble in fat. They seep into the fatty sections of the body cells and organs—notably the brain, testes, and ovaries—and stick there. Only very slowly do they leak back into the bloodstream. It takes up to 30 days for all the cannabinoids in just one joint to clear from the body. Thus, if you smoke more than one joint a month, the cannabinoids start collecting. (DDT—the only other commonly used chemical as lipophilic as the cannabinoids—has been banned for this very reason.)
- Alcohol is a single chemical. Marijuana has 421 known chemicals. When these are smoked, they are combusted into some 2,000 additional chemicals, which when metabolized break down into many hundreds more. So pot is anything but "a simple natural weed."
- Most adults do not drink to get drunk. But marijuana users "toke" (smoke pot) for one reason only: To get "high" or "buzzed" or "stoned."

Dr. Robert Heath, for 30 years chairman of the department of psychiatry and neurology at Tulane University Medical School in New Orleans, has done more work than any other scientist on marijuana's effect on the brain cells. His interest started in the mid-70s when he noted the striking similarity of psychological symptoms among his chronic pot-smoking patients: the "drop-out" syndrome, excessive irritability-hostility, abrupt mood swings, fatigue, apathy. Could such symptoms be traced to structural changes in the brain cells? He decided to find out.

It is possible to look at human brain cells in autopsies. But if there were cell changes in heavy pot smokers, no one could know for sure whether they had been caused by marijuana, alcohol, other drugs, or a combination of unknown factors. For conclusive results, the best subjects are Rhesus monkeys, exposed to known "human equivalency doses" of pot smoke.

Heath exposed one group of monkeys to the smoke of two or three "monkey-size joints" (one fourth the size of a human joint) five days a week, for six months.

In each monkey thousands of brain cells were examined. Some cells from all of the 42 sites examined showed structural changes. The most striking changes, however, were in the limbic area, which is very similar in man and Rhesus monkeys, and controls the sex drives, emotions, and appetites.

The results were startling: There was a significant widening of the synaptic cleft where the flow of "messages" jumps from one nerve cell to the next. "This could be associated with impaired conduction of electrical impulses," said Heath, "and may impair some brain function." The synaptic cleft was also filled with dense material, a condition, says Heath, "reported in humans with early brain damage."

Heath further observed a "clumping" of synaptic vesicles—site of the brain's chemical activators—which could, in part, "account for quick, inexplicable mood changes typical of chronic young pot smokers."

Young pot smokers often "put down" animal findings on marijuana with a shrug: "I'm not a mouse or a monkey." Yet most important medical findings start in the test tube, are further checked by graduating from mouse to monkey, and finally, if possible, to man. This is happening now concerning pot's effect on sex and reproduction.

For example, an infant girl is born with her lifetime supply of about 400,000 eggs. Since it has been proved by radioactively tagging THC that this cannabinoid collects in the fatty ovaries, the question is: What effect has this on the eggs?

A researcher who has delved into this question is Dr. Akira Morishima of Columbia University. He gave "teen-age mice" miniscule mouse-size pot doses, the THC equivalent of an adult woman smoking one joint a day. In the control group, very few of the mice had abnormal eggs. But in the THC-exposed group, 39 percent of the eggs were dying or looked unhealthy.

Dr. Ethel Sassenrath, of the University of California's Primate Research Center in Davis, works with female Rhesus monkeys, whose reproductive system is very close to the human female's, including a 28-day menstrual cycle. Every day, for three years, she fed her monkeys the THC human equivalency dose of one to two joints. Forty-four percent of the pregnancies in the THC-treated mothers resulted in spontaneous abortions, reabsorptions, in utero death, stillbirth, or death just after birth. Control mothers (those who had not eaten the THC) had a 12 percent birth loss, normal for a Rhesus monkey colony.

The pathologist then did microscopic evaluations of tissues and organs from the dead fetuses and infants. Result: Though the dead THC-exposed offspring appeared normal, in each case he found subtle abnormalities not found in any of the offspring of the undrugged mothers.

"Furthermore," said Dr. Sassenrath, "the THC-exposed babies that survived acted differently than the others. For example, all showed deficits in attention and concentration on different stimuli in the environment; the type of deficits in behavior which indicate that the central nervous system had been affected."

Some of these behavioral findings are being replicated in the human studies of Dr. Peter Fried at Carlton University in Ottawa. His subjects were 60 Canadian women who had smoked pot during their pregnancy but did not "do" other drugs. Infants of women who smoked less than two joints a week showed no behavioral effects. Infants of mothers who smoked more than that were affected, and the severity increased with the dosage. The most marked effects were tremors and "startles." "This," said Fried, "is a sign of the nervous system not coping as adequately as is normal." The babies also showed "slow response to visual stimuli." Children of mothers who smoked 12 or more joints a week had a shrill, catlike cry.

A sexual performance study of 500 pot-smoking men was made by Dr. Robert Kolodny of the Reproductive Biology Research Foundation in St. Louis. His conclusion: "The general trend was that with increasing use of marijuana, there were lower rates of sexual activity and a lower frequency of orgasm." A study of 1,238 male users in India showed similar results.

The major active ingredient of marijuana, delta-9-THC. remains in the fatty tissues of every cell. especially in the brain and gonads. Even a week after one marijuana joint is smoked, 30 to 50 percent of the THC is still in the body in active form.

For motor skills such as driving, reaction time is reduced by 41 percent after smoking just one joint, and by 63 percent after smoking two of them. This fact is worth sharing with your kids when they say that marijuana is a simple, harmless weed.

December 1981

These are some of the symptoms of marijuana use that all parents should be aware of • A significant drop in the quality of their child's schoolwork
• Passivity and withdrawal • A reduced attention span • Secretiveness about money
• Strong overreaction to mild criticism • Neglect of personal appearance • An impaired ability to communicate clearly • A less than normal sensitivity to the feelings of friends and family members • A pale face, imprecise eye movements, and red eyes.

Other researchers, studying humans and animals, have shown that marijuana smoked in moderate to heavy doses results in very large numbers of abnormal sperm; the more joints smoked, the more abnormal sperm there are.

Dr. Carol Grace Smith of the Uniformed Services Medical School in Bethesda, Md., did a recent study of male Rhesus monkeys and found that "THC profoundly inhibits testosterone and hormones which stimulate the sex organs, bringing them down to the level of a castrated animal." There have also been a number of other human and animal studies which show that THC lowers the level of the all-important sex hormone testosterone in males.

Much of the hard evidence gathered so painstakingly by researchers throughout the world suggests that our marijuana-using children may be playing genetic roulette with the children they may have in another decade.

Research on tobacco cigarettes has been going on for half a century, and we now know that cigarettes are the largest preventable cause of illness and death in the United States today.

Research on marijuana has been going on for only a decade. But Dr. Stephen Szara, the man at the National Institute on Drug Abuse who directs most of the human studies on marijuana, says: "We have no reason to assume that marijuana is any less dangerous."

As early as 1974, a study compared the compounds in a "weak" marijuana cigarette with a high-tar standard tobacco cigarette. Aside from the fact that tobacco smoke contains nicotine and pot smoke contains cannabinoids, the two types of "smokes" have roughly the same compounds, including carcinogens, which are cancer-producing agents. A number of these are present in pot smoke in amounts 50 to 100 percent greater than in tobacco smoke, for example, the carcinogens benzanthracene and benzopyrene.

In addition, elements in both types of cigarettes irritate and inflame the lungs. Here, too, marijuana smoke comes out with an even "darker" picture than tobacco smoke. Whereas tobacco smokers use filters, low-tar cigarettes, and such, pot smokers consider "good pot" to be the strongest they can get.

Generally, cigarette smokers do not inhale smoke into the bronchial passages. If they do, it is only for short periods of time. In contrast, marijuana users inhale smoke as deeply as they can, keep it in the lower airways for as long as possible, and exhale only when they must take another breath. At times the inhalation is so complete that no smoke is detectable in the exhaled air.

In 1980, Dr. Forest S. Tennant, Jr., former director of a U.S. Army drug-abuse program in West Germany, published the result of lung biopsies taken from 30 soldiers, average age 20, who had smoked hashish heavily for eight months to a year. (The hash had a THC content comparable to "good street pot" now smoked by millions of U.S. youngsters.) One of his findings: 91 percent of those soldiers who had smoked both hashish and cigarettes showed squamous-metaplasia cells, a step removed from "wild" or cancerous cells. Those who smoked cigarettes only or hash only had about 15 percent of these precancerous cells.

Other studies have shown a high incidence of bronchitis and pharyngitis in cannabis smokers, especially those who used the stronger varieties. "Among other pathological symptoms evidenced by long-term cannabis smokers," says Dr. John Hall, chairman of the department of medicine in Kingston, Jamaica, "is emphysema, an irreversible lung disease."

The studies mentioned in this article are only a tip of the iceberg look at marijuana's damaging effects on the mind and body. (For more information, see the books listed at the end of this article.)

However, any reader who passes on these facts to a chronic pot smoker—youngster or adult—should be aware of the most prevalent symptom of all. Psychiatrist Harold Voth, of the famed Menninger Foundation in Topeka, Kan., has studied the psychopathology of marijuana in depth for the past eight years. He puts it this way:

"There is one symptom which seems specific for this drug. I have seen it in every dedicated pot smoker I have ever treated; an adamant refusal to accept the hard scientific evidence about the harmful effects of marijuana. The heavy user will 'answer' the evidence by scoffing at it, perverting it, calling it 'reefer madness,' or simply by saying, 'I don't believe it.' "

Yet, despite, this denial syndrome, persistent "doses" of information on the harmful effects of marijuana have proven to be an essential element in getting young smokers off of pot.

Other essential elements—parental and school firmness in detecting and fighting the use of marijuana—will be explored in the next issue of THE SHIELD.

A Double "Double Legacy" at Illinois Delta

by Todd Salen, Illinois '77

Like father, like son. Any Chapter that has its share of legacies is all too familiar with this cliché. Except in the case of Ron Bontemps, the father, there is nothing more that Illinois Deltan Kevin Bontemps, the son, could hope for.

Kevin's dad has a bit more in common with his son than just being initiated at the same Phi Psi Chapter. Both happen to be standout basketball players from the state of Illinois' highly regarded high school ranks.

Ron Bontemps, Illinois '44 and Beliot '48, came to the Champaign-Urbana campus after leading his Taylorville High School team, along with teammate Johnny Orr of Michigan coaching fame, to an unprecedented 45-0 record and a state championship that is remembered by even the most novice of Illinois basketball fans.

Bontemps was initiated at Illinois Delta and then was shuffled off to military service shortly afterward. On his return to the college scene he discovered that his former high school coach had accepted the head job at Beliot College in Wisconsin. With the opportunity to reform the team from his Taylorville days, Bontemps, Orr, and a few of his other teammates transferred to Beliot. He earned All-American honors there and a spot in the NIT tournament.

"Those were important years in my life, but more because of the fact that I met my wife Norma at Beliot, than for the basketball," laughs Bontemps. "I enjoyed Illinois even though I spent too much of my time at "Midway's" with my Fraternity Brothers. But Beliot was a good move for me. We had a decent team and it was fun to play for my old coach." Brother Bontemps transferred his Fraternity membership to the Wisconsin Gamma Chapter at Beliot upon arriving on his new campus.

Ron went on to work for the Caterpillar Farm Equipment Company in Peoria in 1951 and played for their Industrial league team that managed to win 3 national championships.

"I thought about playing pro ball out of school, but I guess that a combination of wanting to start a career, and my lack of confidence in my own basketball ability shyed me away. The NBA was a pretty young league then, and I needed some security to fall back on."

In March of '52 his Caterpillar team won the national championship for the second time which entitled them to spots on the U.S. Olympic team. "That was really a big thrill. Our starting five all made the team and went on to win the gold medal in Helsinki." His gold medal still graces the den in his Morton, Illinois home along with his collection of photos and souvenirs from his triumph. "It was a great experience to play on the best team in the world; I'll never forget it."

Bontemps is still with Caterpillar today and he and his wife Norma have raised four children, Gary 24, Lisa 22, Kathy 18, and of course Kevin who is currently a junior at Illinois.

Son Kevin also made quite a name for himself on the Illinois basketball scene. Playing for the Morton Potters, Bontemps led his squad to a record of 28-1 his senior year losing in the quarterfinals of the state tourney. He averassists and was named to every All-State team in 1979 along with the BASKETBALL WEEKLY, Converse, and Adidas All-America squads. Kevin also had the distinction of being named one of the nation's 5 best guards on a list that included Indiana's Isaiah Thomas and DePaul's Raymond McCov.

Recruited by just about every major university, Kevin narrowed his college choices to four, Illinois, Drake, Purdue, and Michigan, before settling on the Fighting Illini.

As a freshman Kevin started 7 ballgames and made what head coach Lou Henson calls "a remarkable transition into the college game." BASKETBALL WEEKLY again honored him by naming him to their All-Freshmen team. But the highlight was a trip to New York where like his dad Kevin played in the NIT tournament, and helped the Illini overcome Nevada-Las Vegas to capture third place.

During his freshmen year he also toured the fraternity circuit where he was rushed especially heavy by the Alpha Tau Omegas who had three of the Fighting Illini already in their ranks and by the Phi Psis who had none.

1982 Grand Arch Council August 11-15

The ashen ruins of post-civil war Atlanta are but a memory. Its modern skyscrapers are a testament to Atlanta's new growth and vitality. She has become the commercial giant of the southern U.S., rivaling nearly any city north of the Mason-Dixon line. But Altanta is more than a growing metropolis. A quiet rural heritage still abounds. It is a magical place where the 20th century mixes subtly with graceful natural surroundings.

The many parks within Atlanta offer a pleasant variety of ways to slow down and enjoy the natural surroundings. Grant Park, the oldest in Atlanta, also houses the Atlanta Zoo. At the northern edge of the city is Piedmont Park. home of the Piedmont Botanical Gardens, and just a short drive from Atlanta is the famed Stone Mountain Park, boasting the world's largest single mass of exposed granite, on which is carved the relief sculptures of Confederate President Jefferson Davis, and his famous generals, Robert E. Lee and Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson. Stone Mountain is prized for its picknicking, camping and fishing facilities as much by Atlantans as by visitors.

If the more tranquil surroundings of Atlanta are not quite what you had in mind, there are a host of things for you to do and see which are just steps from the finer downtown hotels. For movie buffs, the "Gone With The Wind"

Museum is the finest collection of memorabilia available from the classic film, and it is only a block from the Omni International Hotel (800-241-5500), site of the '82 GAC with its 1,952-seat convention facility, The World Congress Center, and Omni Coliseum, home of the NBA's Atlanta Hawks

While staying in town, don't miss the Atlanta Memorial Arts Center, where you can hear the Atlanta Symphony Orchestra. Or, you may want to take in the enjoyable collection of American and European art at the High Museum of Art. One of the most beautiful theaters in the U.S. is alive and well and living in Atlanta. The Fox Theater, with its elaborate architecture is second in gradeur only to New York's Radio City Music Hall. Call for information about availability of tours at 404-892-5682.

There are several other interesting places you may care to visit, just a short cab ride from the downtown area. The Governor's Mansion, is the beautiful home where Jimmy Carter stayed while governor of Georgia. The Farmer's Market is an exciting place to visit in the morning, to see the bustle of Georgia's agricultural trade. The Swan House is the former home of the Inman family, the wealthy railroad magnates. The house is richly decorated and beautifully landscaped.

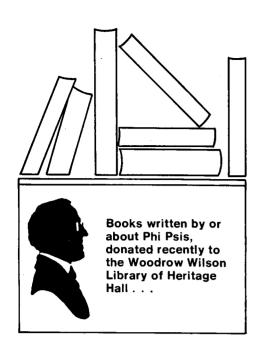

Swans which occupy the ponds outside give the house its name.

While in Atlanta make sure to discover a few of the fine restaurants which have set a standard of dining excellence throughout the south. Downtown, for quiet, country/continental style is Dailey's, with specialties including New York steak and fresh swordfish. They are located at #17 International Blvd. (404-681-3303). Also in the downtown area is Herren's, an Atlanta tradition since 1934, at 84 Luckie St. (404-524-4709), featuring choice steaks and seafood. Set on a 13acre plantation is Planters, built in 1848 and one of the few structures in the Atlanta area not destroyed by General Sherman. Planters offers a traditional five course American menu, and is located at 780 So. Cobb Dr. in nearby Marietta (404-427-4646). For a little taste of France gone south. Petite Auberge has a charming country atmosphere, and is at 2935 N. Druid Hills Rd. (404-634-6268).

Much like the mythical Phoenix, the symbol of this city, Atlanta truly has risen from the ashes of its former self, changing into a modern example of industry and commerce. But it is the romance of the past which gives Atlanta its wonderfully unique flavor.

Tradition meets transition in modern Atlanta, and the Phi Psis will meet it all at the 1982 GAC!

America 200—The Legacy of Our Lands; JERRY A. O'CALLAGHAN, Oregon '40, is a book written on the subject of the land's basic resources and policies affecting public lands. America 200—The Legacy of Our Lands is a 1975-76 Yearbook of the U.S. Department of the Interior Conservation.

Billy Mitchell; Alfred F. Hurley, published by Indiana University Press, is a biography on Brigadier General WILLIAM "BILLY MITCHELL, Columbia 1896. His position as the dominant figure in American aviation from 1919 until his courtmartial in 1925 has made him the frequent subject of biography, film and television. The author tells the story of Mitchell's life, beginning with his boyhood and his youthful experiences in the Spanish-American War and ending with his final stubborn efforts to get President Roosevelt to create a united air force. Hurley shows that Mitchell's role can be both inspirational and instructive not only for airmen, but also for everyone concerned with current military affairs.

Denny's Knoll—A History of the Metropolitan Tract of the University of Washington; NEAL O. HARRIS, Indiana '27, is a narrative that interweaves three histories—of the land, of the city, and of the university itself. The author has compiled a detailed but highly readable account of how decisions were made and policies established, and he gives appropriate attention to the regents, university administrators, political leaders, alumni, businessmen, preservationists, and others who have been part of the story from the earliest days of the century to the end of the 1970s. Published by University of Washington Press.

Our Speaker This Evening—How to Have a Perfect Meeting Every Time; KENNETH A. MARKLEY, Dickinson '52, deals with the 55 things everyone planning a meeting needs to consider in order to have flawless gatherings, banquets, seminars and programs. The ten chapters in the humorous book describe and illustrate the mistakes and embarassing situations that can and often do accompany poorly planned meetings. Cartoons portray principal themes of the book and three checklists of 55 points each follow the last chapter. These checklists can be used by readers and meeting planners to be sure their banquet or seminar will take place without problems or mistakes. Hilarious situations coupled with down-to-earth suggestions on meeting planning provide fun-filled and profitable reading.

Petronius the Satiricon; BRADY B. GILLELAND, Washington and Jefferson '42, geared toward the undergraduate student, is an edition to provide a sound but readable text for the entire Satiricon and to annotate those parts which are interesting, characteristic, and not too offensive to today's moral sensibilities. Published by Meredith Corporation.

Desperadoes; RONALD T. HANSEN, Creighton '66, is the story of the notorious outlaw gang, the Daltons, from their hardscrabble beginnings to the final, terrible morning when all but one of the boys are shot down, and snuffed out, in the fatal raid on Coffeyville, Kansas. Desperadoes is published by Alfred A. Knopf.

The Disposition of the Public Domain in Oregon; JERRY A. O'CALLAGHAN, Oregon '40, is a dissertation written as a doctoral thesis and brought up to date by Brother O'Callaghan, who at that time was legislative assistant to Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney. Dolopathos; written by Johannes de Alta Silva, translated by BRADY B. GILLE-LAND, Washington and Jefferson '42, is a work of prose fiction consisting of the dedication of Bertrand, a preface, a frame story, and a series of tales. The tale is set at Palermo in Sicily during the reign of Augustus Caesar. The preface asserts that the work will be a true history about the life of the mighty king whose deeds so far have been unrecorded and unknown. Dolopathos was copyrighted by the Center for Medieval and Early Renaissance Studies State University of New York at Binghamton.

"It was a difficult decision," said Bontemps, "but in the end Phi Psi prevailed. It's hard to explain exactly why, except to say that I really felt at home."

"My dad really wasn't much influence on me in rush, in fact he kept telling me 'just because [he] was a Phi Psi didn't mean automatic membership . . . you need to find a chapter that's right for you.' But I made the right decision; these guys are really the best group on campus."

This past season the Illini finished third in the Big Ten and received their first invitation to the NCAA tourney since 1963. And although the Illini have done very well this year, Kevin finds himself in a different role.

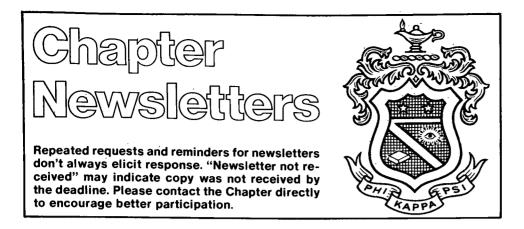

"Kevin has had to make a big adjustment," said father Ron, "It's not many teams that can go out and land two of the very best guards in the country and then be able to start them both in the same year."

The elder Bontemps is referring to the Illini signing of Derek Harper, named to NBC's all-freshmen team, and junior college all-american Craig Tucker. "Kevin moved from second guard to fourth in a matter of weeks and for the first time in his life, found himself on the bench."

Disappointed? Not Kevin. He looks at it as a new challenge. "There was a time when I was really set to pick up and transfer someplace else where I would be guaranteed a starting job. But that would have been a poor excuse. The same thing might happen again no matter where I played. I was down, but the guys in the chapter helped me realize that I was really lucky to play for a team this good. They really charged me up. Now I'm determined to start here again before I graduate."

Kevin added, "A lot of ball players never get to be a part of even one winning team. I'm with two winners at once, the Illini and the Illinois Deltans."

And what does Ron Bontemps think of his son's outlook? "I think Kevin in lucky. He has matured faster and grown up quicker largely because of the people he has been exposed to in the Fraternity. He's been fortunate to meet up with some top notch young men at Phi Psi and they have helped him face the toughest personal challenges that he has had to face. And . . . it has brought the Fraternity back into my life too."

Akron Rebuilding an Image

We, the Brothers of Ohio Iota, are on the verge of firmly establishing a rebuilding program which began last fall. Since then, membership has increased 300%. In addition, prospects for this fall's pledge class are most promising. Pledge educator Mike Sebald is busy teaching these fine men the virtues of Phi Kappa Psi. The six who have pledged thus far are Randy Bush, Phil Gibson, Mike Kesling, Bob Sweitzer, Mark Zwick, and Jerry Lee.

Officer elections were recently held. The following Brothers have taken their respective positions and began to implement their programs and resources for the good of the chapter: Bill Gould, GP; James Schulte, VGP; John Evrard, BG & AG.

Social activities so far have been superb. Not a week goes by that hasn't seen us actively involved with one sorority or another. We have also placed several men, notably James Schulte and Mark Zimmerman, on committees in IFC. On September 26, we held our semi-annual Hairy Buffalo party. The party was a tremendous success, with many visitors claiming it was the finest on campus during the semester.

We held a mortgage burning party in late October, and we appreciated the alumni who were present. The event signified the final payment on our Chapter house which we initially purchased in 1971.

We are very pleased to announce that our mascot dog Cherry is still with us after 11 faithful years.

Also, we are looking forward to our Founders Day 1982 celebration.

Obviously the last few months of hard work are beginning to pay off. In all phases of Greek life on campus, Ohio Iota is making a name for itself.

Alabama We're Fired Up

Here at Alabama Alpha, our membership continues to grow. It has been 1 year since the beginning of our revitalization, and rush is going strong. Although rush is still in full swing, we have pledged 4 men: Ralph Michael DeSanctis, Huntsville; David Bradley Wooden, Miss. State, MS; Steven John Williams, Chicago, IL; and Fred Byrd, Tampa, FL. Soon we will be proudly initiating them into our Brotherhood.

The men of Alabama Alpha are very involved in extracurricular activities, from diving to flying, from sports to politics. Scholastics is regarded very highly; 4 of our members have received freshman honors, and our Chapter's overall GPA ranks among the top fraternities on campus.

Our Chapter's activities are on the increase having moved back into the old house. The Alumni enjoyed attending the luncheons on football weekends and revisiting their old home. Halloween, Swaps, and Homecoming were some of the parties on our fall activities agenda.

But the big news at Alabama Alpha is the great support our Alumni have given us in donations toward the restoration of the Old Phi Kappa Psi House. Our Alumni have donated almost $50,000 to go toward the house, and with a house mortgage of around $75,000, $125,000 will be spent for its restoration. The work is to take place early in January and should be completed by June. The members of Alabama Alpha cannot find the words to express our deepest gratitude for our great Alumni support.

We here at Alabama Alpha would like to honor one of our members for his devoted efforts as an undergraduate; he served as GP for the first two terms of our revitalization, and served as Hod and Scholarship chairman, too. He was a great representative of us throughout the campus as an SGA Senator and Special Assistant to the President. He now is an alumnus and is soon to enter Law School, so we want to thank him, and praise him for all that he has done for us; thank you, Earl Stafford.

Allegheny Productive Fall

First term here at Penn Beta always proves to be fun, and full of "freshman frolics." Since rush is the prevailing general activity, a majority of our social events are aimed toward the freshman class, and thus far they have been very successful for both the Brotherhood and our young guests.

For instance, the first activity annually advertised under our fraternal letters is the Freshman Teas, where the freshman ladies are invited to the house for a formal wine and cheese cocktail hour with the Brothers. At first, when I scanned the room, I saw multitudes of single men and women; but at the end, I spied couples left and right—now that's what I call successful!

On a more serious note, though, most of our functions are indeed directed toward freshman men. We've employed the use of athletics often. Saturday afternoon "brawl" football (as we call it) seems to attract more and more interested freshmen as time goes on. Head-to-head combat always seems to be a great way for people to get to know one another. And the hospital downtown appreciates the business after the games—maybe we should commission them!

Every Monday night, we buy peanuts and beer, and host "Monday Night Football at the Phi Psi's." This is very attractive for two reasons. First, who wants to study after a weekend of fun; after all, everyone appreciates long weekends every now and then. And second, where else but a fraternity house can one go and throw peanut shells anywhere their anxiety-laden hearts desire? Our clean up committees try to prevent such actions, of course.

Since it is only the third week of the new school year, no new names, major developments within the Chapter, or the like can be forwarded, but news of last year's graduating seniors may interest you. Of our nine graduates, three are now in top med schools around the country, four went to law schools, one is doing graduate work in the field of Philosophy of African tribesmen, and one poor soul is presently employed by a prosperous beer-mug factory in San Francisco. I guess we all know where his student priorities stood, but, at least he's happy!

Many more rush functions have been carefully planned out, developments within the Chapter will continue, and other interesting items will be reported in the next SHIELD newsletter.

Arizona Growing Stronger

This year's rush was a tremendous success, as the Arizona Alpha Chapter continues to grow stronger. The new pledges include: Ralph Michael Parisi, Tolleson; Kenneth Layne Kadisak, Hanover Park, IL; and John Young Cordell of Tucson. They join Jonathon Michael James of Sierra Vista and Brian Ray Kenny of Tucson, who pledged halfway through last semester, to make up our fall pledge class.

October 24, was Homecoming at the U of A and the Arizona Alphans had a reunion with Alumni at the lodge in the desert.

New Chapter officers include Brook A. Hammond, GP; Jerrold P. Nicholas, VGP; Brian R. Kenny, P; Francis L. Bidleman, AG; David L. Clair, BG; Richard A. Whitford, Hod; and Pat J. Duffy, SG. William G.

Arizona Beta's fall pledges, displaying obvious enthusiasm for Phi Psi at Arizona State!

Cammett is our Fraternity Educator this year.

The men of Arizona Alpha are also very active in individual activities: Pat Duffy is serving on the student senate and chairs the University Judicial Board; Francis Bidleman was appointed to the ASA Board and the University Parking Appeals Board; Dave Morgenstein was awarded a pilot slot in the Air Force and Rick Whitford is working toward one also. John James will be commissioned as a second lieutenant in the spring. Bill Cammett, who returned to the university from Pen Yan, NY after taking a one year leave of absence, was elected Vice President of his dorm; Pledge Ralph Parisi headed the sophomore men's honorary annual Pancake Breakfast this year, in which all proceeds went to the United Way. This is the second year that the event was chaired by a Phi Psi and again it was a tremendous success. Brother Jim Engle graduated and is attending Wharton Business School in Pennsylvania. Our special thanks and best wishes to him for the years ahead.

The Arizona Alpha Chapter is proud to announce that we again took 2nd place in scholarship. This semester we're going for number one! We want to thank our Alumni Dud Daniel, Bob Gibson, Don Gooder, and Dave Sandborne for all of the help over the past year. With their continuous help and a little luck, we hope to have a new Chapter house by January.

Arizona State 20th Anniversary

Once again the fall semester has begun. This year marks the beginning of Arizona Beta's twentieth year as a Chapter. Along with this proud accomplishment, we welcome into our midst thirteen very fine pledges: Tim Wiebe, Gary Thomas, Mac Parfet, Arizona; Lou Gil, Robert Arendt, Mike Ferraro, New York; Paul "Bud" Brown, Florida; Peter Cushing, California; John Farrington, Texas; Mike Priore, Ohio; Evan Prigoff, Tennessee; Dana Walters, Illinois; and Paul McKean, Maryland.

During the weekend of September 11 and 12, 1981, the Chapter conducted a retreat at Camp Tontozona near Payson, Arizona. All events went extremely well, including the Brothers thrashing the pledge class at flag football by a score of 26-12. Nothing can stop the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi.

Fall of 1981 will be led by a host of well qualified officers: Richard Napolitano, GP; Mark Bakeman, VGP; Michael Shriver, P; Terence A. Teebken, AG; Otto W. Timmons, BG; Robert J. Spexarth, SG; Steven B. Schulman, Hod; Mark D. Abramson, Phu; and David W. Riley, Hi.

At this time, it should be noted that the fall of 1981 holds some promising events for the Arizona Beta Chapter. Among these will be our fall formal, held on December 5, 1981 at the Phoenix Playboy Club. Much time and effort has gone into this event, and on the evening of December 5, all work will be greatly rewarded. Other events that are upcoming are a barn dance with the Alpha Phi sorority on October 16, and something that a few Brothers are looking forward to, the road trip to Washington Alpha for the District Council/Woodrow Wilson Leadership School.

At the present time, the Chapter is awaiting the final details on a new fence that will extend the outer perimeter of the house. This will definitely enhance the aesthetic value of Arizona Beta.

This year, as last year, Founders Day activities will be held at Arizona Beta. The date for this prestigious event will be February 19, 1982. The Chapter will be looking forward once again to a fine evening with prominent and current alumni.

The Brothers of Arizona Beta would like to wish all Chapters throughout the country a prosperous fall and spring semester. Also, this is a special note to the brothers of Nebraska Beta: Barney Rubble for our Greek games trophy!

Arkansas Newest Chapter

Hello, again, from the Phi Psi National Baby Chapter here in the scenic Ozarks. The fall term for Arkansas Alpha has given us seventeen new pledges: J. D. Crow, Jr., Camden; Brian Wolff, Jeff Jacks, Kevin Collier, and Jim Hayley, all of Pine Bluff; Matt Jones, Bearden; Bill Sharon, Fayetteville; Dan McCurdy and Paul Dunn, both of El Dorado; David Kelloway, Atlantic, IA; Jeff Gaines, Mustoe, VA; Chip Porter, Fayetteville; Joel Tyler, Slidell, LA; Richard Beem, Clinton; Terry Madden, Ft. Smith; Chris Evans, Van Buren; and Jeff Purtle, El Dorado.

We also are proud to welcome seven new members into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi: Bob Thompson, El Dorado; Alan Dobbins, Luigi Chiechi, and Verne Mason, all of Little Rock; Mitch Ballard, Heber Springs; Gordon Wilbourn, Conway; and Tim Wiseman, Mt. Home. These new Brothers will be great assets to our young Chapter.

The new fall term also brings new officers into Arkansas Alpha: Parker Tucker, GP; Grant Downer, VGP; Richard H. Waddell, P; Bob Sherman, Asst. P; Casey Shell, Hod; Karl Wasson, Phu; Jon Gregory, BG; Greg Garland, SG; Mike Sparks, Hi; and Ken Harper, AG. These Brothers will be the key to a smooth running Chapter this fall.

The newest addition to the Arkansas Alpha Lodge is the "Piazza Del Phi Psi." The improved area for social gatherings is guaranteed to welcome any Phi Psi's traveling Fayetteville way!

Our Founder's Day celebration will include a formal dinner at one of the local hotel ballrooms. All area Phi Psi Alumni will be invited. While on the subject of Alumni, Brother Gary Thornton is improving our program. We have a party after the Texas game in honor of all area Alumni. We have also started an "Alumni Pal" program in which all members correspond to their "Alumni Pal" on a regular basis.

Hard work and good times have been spent in our effort to improve our physical surroundings. The completion of our new "Piazza Del Phi Psi" will certainly improve our rush, alumni, and social programs.

Our intramural football team is on its way to the play-offs for the first time. At this writing, we are 3-1 with one game to go. Brilliant performances by Bob Sherman, Gordon Wilbourn, Grant Downer, Verne Mason, Jim Hayley, Tim Scott, and Jon Gregory have led the team this far.

The District Council was held this fall in Ames, Iowa, at Iowa Beta. Iowa Beta was a wonderful host. Brothers Jon Gregory, Virgil Holloway, Mike Borst, Grant Downer, Ken Harper, Verne Mason, Bob Sherman, Brett Mosley and Tony Malczycki, '79, attended.

In other news, the 1981 Spring Pledge Class voted Greg Garland as "Model Member," the member being the best example of a true Phi Psi. Also, Brother Ken Harper was elected as our Summerfield Award candidate.

Ashland Active as Ever

The brothers of Ohio Theta are back and rockin' down the hilltop. Life during the fall semester here in Ashland, Ohio is very busy.

The leadership reins have been taken over by Jay Billy, our new GP; Tom Spatafora is the new VGP; with Mark Franklin taking over the duties of BG, and leading us in the spiritual sense is Hi Doug Murray.

Brother Bob Zak our new Social Chairman has kept the Brothers entertained so far this semester. Bro. Zak has already organized an excellent all campus party, along with a variety of sorority mixers. The Thursday Nite Club is also back in full swing at the house. The Social Committee has planned a homecoming party which was attended by many alumni and friends. The annual Phi Psi Halloween Party and Mistletoe Mystery all were big successes.

The Phi Psi philanthropy is under way again. Community service projects include helping the Cancer Society of Ashland relocate their offices, and the annual Halloween party for the Head Start kids of Ashland. A thanksgiving canned food drive with the help of the sororities took place for the Salvation Army. School service projects include modeling our stud bodies for the next A.C. viewbook, and helping Admissions with Project Pair.

The Phi Psi spirit on the athletic field continues to show. The Co-Heartland Conference Champs are being led by a host of Phi Psi eagles. The Ashland scoring machine has Brothers Doug Murray, Dan Monacelli, Tom Himes, and Mike Burkholder, while on the other side of the ball, Dave "McNasty" McNally, Larry Schuman, Dave Ferguson and the injured Steve Keller lead the defense. Eagle grapplers from the Phi Psi house include Jay Billy, Bob Petrina, Dave Morrell, Jack Leonti, John Apollo Heffernan, and Bob Houska. Our lone soccer player this year is Payam Raouf.

The Brothers would like to thank Bro. Spatafora for all the work he did on this year's Greek Week and making it a success. Which, by the way, Phi Kappa Psi won for the second straight year.

Our Chapter is in the process of raising funds to purchase a new pool table. Our present table is deteriorating from age and wear. Any alumni interested in helping defray the cost would be greatly appreciated. Don't forget alumni to check your mailboxes for future news from Ohio Theta.

And finally, the Brothers would like to wish the best of luck and congratulations to brother Mike Cunningham and his Phi Psi sweetheart Barbara Howie on their recent engagement.

The Brothers of Ohio Theta wish all other Phi Psis the best of luck, and remember, Hang Loose!

Auburn Rebuilding—Again!

This fall we are on a rebuilding program due to a large number of Brothers graduating last spring and summer quarters, as well as two more leaving this quarter. It looks like we are off to a good start. Fall Rush provided us with five outstanding associate members: Michael Lary Downing of West Bloomfield, MI; Edward August Hillmann of Middletown, NJ; Michael Wayne Robertson of Atlanta, GA; Tony Richard Ross of Augusta, GA, and John Vincent Stewart of Mobile.

Peter Francis Cento of Warner Robins, GA was initiated on Oct. 24. This quarter is almost like starting over. Quite a number of the new officers are rookies: John Evans, GP; Stan Henderson, VGP; Mark Armstrong, P; Gary Storie, AG; Tony Barber, BG; Al Land, Hi; Chuck Watson, Phu; and Keith Bolen. SG.

As a step in the right direction, our faculty advisor, Brother James C. Warman, hosted a cracker-barrel at his home on Oct. 3. All the Brothers, associate members and friends of the Chapter participated. It was quite successful and should go a long way towards helping the Chapter to operate more efficiently.

The Auburn Phi Psi's burst upon the social scene Sept. 17, and it is doubtful whether Atlanta will ever be the same. Participating in this event were Brothers Evans, Armstrong, Barber, associate member Ross and two of our most distinguished alumni, Doug Hertha and Marty Boyd. They regaled us with their adventures of nightclubbing in Atlanta and of meeting John Donnel, Jr., our national president, for the first time. We enjoyed greatly the District Council in Nash-

Beloit An Exciting New Century

The Centennial Banquet on November 7 marked the celebration of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity's active and fruitful existence at Beloit College. As we enter our second century, the Wisconsin Gamma Chapter reflects back on our dignified heritage, and look forward to our bright prospects for continued growth and sustained success.

On Homecoming Eve, October 2, the Chapter welcomed its centennial pledge class of six new members. The worthy men include: Joseph Carroll, New Canaan, CT; Thomas Baker, Raton, NM; Daniel Freitas and Philip Rogers, St. Joseph, MI; William Severa, Bloomingdale, IL; and Kimmo Walden, Valkeakoski, Finland.

The current members have maintained the long tradition of community service and campus involvement. The Chapter has offered its assistance to the College's Folk and Blues Festival early in the school year, and also volunteered to help with the women's transport service here on campus. The Chapter includes two community senators, and four of the twelve academic senators are Phi Psis.

The newest club at Beloit, the Debate Club was founded this year by several Brothers. Of special note, Burke Stone was chosen by the college as a special "perspective student" host for the current academic term. Our all-campus Halloween Party, organized by Social Chairman Ed Lowrie, was undoubtedly one of the premiere social events of the term.

Wisconsin Gammans have excelled in athletics as well. The Varsity soccer team, captained by Pete Kozelka and Andy Schumacher, and including in its ranks, Steve Creden, Charles Day, Jim Graaskamp and Doug Weiss, remains a Phi Psi stronghold. Terry Jones has again been a strong force on the cross country team, while "Chip" Pettibone is looking forward to dominating the swimming pool this winter. Aside from organized sports, the president of the Hockey Club, Pat Esposito and presidents of the Baseball Club, Guy Oberwise and Blaine Kloeckner are also Brothers.

Finally, the Wisconsin branch of the Fraternity has reached new heights in academics. Last term we ranked second among the seven Greek organizations on campus, with a cumulative grade point of well above 3.0. To uphold general excellence within the house, a series of five, $100 scholarships have been instituted during the past term. The first winners were: Terry Jones, athlete; Stuart Ginsberg, campus leader; Dan McKee, active GPA; Dirk Damrau, pledge GPA and Lyle Kula, all-around Phi Psi.

In conclusion, we would like to thank our alumni for their fantastic support, primarily for the one-hundred years of solid foundation they have established for us to thrive and build to a dynamic future.

Bowling Green A New Year

With every fall quarter at Bowling Green comes the excitement of a new rush and new pledges. Thanks to the excellent work of brothers Matt Shanahan and Keith Reinke, Ohio Zeta has initiated a new rush program. As of October 10th we had ten pledges. Already showing the Phi Psi spirit, these men will certainly be an asset to the Chapter.

Also with every fall quarter the intramural sports begin. Hockey, soccer, football, and cross-country are on the schedule for the B.G. Phi Psi's. Athletic chairman, Jeff White is hoping for another great year in sports for Ohio Zeta.

Another highlight of this new school year was the first place finish in the Sig Ep mudtug. It was our first ever victory in the tug-owar event.

Bucknell New Year; Good Year

Penn Gamma is off to a fine start this year. Several improvements were made to the house over the summer: the outside woodwork was painted, new curtains were placed in the ante and living rooms, and new dining room chairs and living room furniture have been bought, all generously paid for by our House Corporation. Additional painting and yardwork was done by our sophomore Brothers prior to the opening of school making the return to the house pleasant.

Further good news greeted us in the first issue of the student newspaper, "The Bucknellian," when we learned that we were ranked third among fraternities on campus in academic achievement with a house G.P.A. of 2.9.

Rush could not be going better. After four weeks we have attracted many fine young candidates for the Brotherhood and a strong pledge class seems definite as we plan to rush even harder.

Athletically, the quest for the Pangburn intramural trophy is not going as well as it was at this time last year when we won the trophy. Our soccer team is just above the .500 mark but our other teams should make up for some of the slack. The handball team is favored to win the finals and Dave Hoyt, '79, has returned to run in the cross-country race he won last year.

Congratulations go out to Dave Biggar, '79, who is the newly elected Bucknell student government's member at large.

As usual, all alumni are encouraged to stop by anytime.

Butler Under One Roof-At Last

What started as a dream years ago is now a reality; the Phi Psi's of Indiana Zeta have built their first permanent residence. The new house, which holds thirty-eight men and one Graduate Assistant, is a three story structure fully furnished with two living rooms, a small kitchen, a fire place, and a large unfinished third floor. We wish to thank all alumni, undergraduates, parents, and friends for their generous support in helping us attain our long-awaited goal. Special thanks goes to alumnus Brother Mark Elliott for his hard work in charge of fund raising and to all who helped him. An open house was held on Saturday, October 3 which officially christened the new home for the men of Indiana Zeta.

Besides the thrill of living under one roof together, we were proud to welcome the initiation of three new Brothers: David R. Ashley, Michigan City; Roger E. Malcom, Olney, IL; and Robert M. Kelly, Indianapo-

Under the leadership of Brother Steve McKenzie throughout Rush, we welcomed thirteen new pledges: E. Christopher Barham, Carmel; Douglas W. Bramley, Batesville, AK; Duane R. Denton, Indianapolis; James S. Fisher, Carmel; Ivan W. Fuller, Camp Lejuene, NC; Geoffrey L. Hybarger, Covington; David G. Jackson, Hartford City; Mark G. Kopetsky, Indianapolis; Michael Plantz, LaPorte; John A. Scircle, Elwood; Mark J. Stewart, Indianapolis; David A. Strohmeyer, Mooresville; and John D. Trace, Martinsville.

Indiana Zeta's brand new home! The first "from-the-ground-up" new Phi Psi house built in 17 years, financing was provided by Butler University with some assistance from the Fraternity.

Keeping in the fashion of Phi Psis having fun, we held our Fall Dance "Turkey Trot" in beautiful Brown County State Park on Saturday, October tenth. The day was spent with picnics in the park followed by walks in the woods with the dinner and dance later that night

For the twelfth year in a row we won the scholarship trophy for the highest G.P.A. between the men's housing units on campus. The trophy was awarded at the Parent's Day Football Game on Saturday, October

We wish to extend our warmest invitation to everyone to come visit us at our new location on the Butler Campus and also wish everyone a good year.

California Progress

Greetings from Cal Berkeley. It has been several months since our last correspondence and there is a lot of catching up to do.

First of all, the new officers are Michael Torres, GP; Eric Tuckness, VGP; Don Larson, P; Todd. Hirsch, AG; Jeff Schrager, BG; Mike Sokolsky, SG; Jeff Flarity, Hod; Joe Jackson, Phu; and Brandom Baum, Hi.

The highlight of last spring was our third annual luau which took several weeks of planning and organization. Our effort paid off, however, when rock and roll star Eddie Money arrived at the party to sing some of his most popular songs. All who attended the party were flabbergasted at what was surely the party of the year. We hope this spring's will be successful once again.

Cal Gamma received good news from the Housing Corporation when they informed us that our house is financially secured. Now we are able to concentrate our efforts on house improvements. Last spring with the help of alumni and parents, we installed an industrial dishwasher, and over the summer several Brothers painted the interior of the house. Things are looking up at Phi Psi and we welcome alumni and friends to stop by the house. This year's house improvement plans include a porch for the front entry way, and painting the exterior of the house.

Graduating eleven men from the 1980-81 school year left the Chapter only two-thirds full. Spearheaded by rush chairman Brad Jones, we more than made up for the loss by initiating twelve new pledges. They are: Ed Armstrong, Berkeley, Mark McClelland, El Cerrito; Warren Nagler, Beverly Hills; Don Huang, Manhattan; Brett Schlaman, San Jose; Mark Stailey, Shingle Springs; Taylor Reid, Mill Valley; Albert Guarino, Pasadena; Bill Lutz, Glendale; Dave Sandusky, Fairfax; Chris Valvo, Port Chester; and Mark Weigand, San Ramon.

Two of these fine young men, Bill Lutz and Dave Sandusky, are legacies. Bill's father, Robert C. Lutz, graduated from Cal Gamma in 1948. Dave's father, Robert L. Sandusky, graduated from Colorado Alpha in 1964.

Besides our twelve new pledges we also welcome our new graduate resident advisor, Rico Hernandez. Rico comes from Cal Beta where he graduated with a degree in economics. He now is trying for his M.B.A. at Cal.

In closing I would like to mention several functions planned for winter quarter. They include our annual bounce-a-thon to Stanford; monthly Alumni Association meetings at the European Farmer in San Francisco; East Bay Alumni Association meetings at T.R.'s in Concord; and Founder's Day, with location and time to be determined. If there are any questions concerning these events please contact the house.

The Brothers at California Gamma are very proud of the accomplishments experienced in the past six months, and we hope the future bears similar success.

California, Los Angeles 1000th Initiate

California Epsilon began the current school year with a special occasion: the initiation of our one thousandth member. The event took place in a special ceremony on September 19, just seven months following our 50th anniversary. The pin number of honor went to Rocky Lane of Ucaipa. Other new initiates include Matt Bennett, New York, Rick Bradley, San Diego; Dave Caponero, Cleveland; Jeff Coyle, Torrance; Tom Foster, Santa Clara; Bill Gillis, Glendale; Mike Gleason, Fresno; Chris Gleiter, Los Angeles; Earl Hewell, Costa Mesa; John Irons, San Diego; Tom Jensen, Santa Barbara; J. J. Kukawka, Milwaukee; Doug Marshall, Toronto; Mark Smelzer, Ogden; and Ben Van de Bunt, Philadelphia.

Last year saw Phi Psi excel in many different areas of university competition. Notable were top awards for our entries in Homecoming, Greek Sing, and Mardi Gras. This year appears to be no exception to the tradition, as Phi Psi has already received honors for our Homecoming float, built with the direction of Mark Messersmith.

Another area of competition in which we take great pride is that of athletics. Hoping to improve upon last year's second place finish in fraternity intramural competition, Phi Psi has been forced to deal with the temporary loss of one of its top athletes, Steve Davis. Steve, who has been the backbone of several of our teams in the past, is spending several months skiing in Sweden, with hopes of a spot on the Olympic team in the future. Our newest pledge class, however, has helped to fill this void. An example is Stow Akron, a freshman from Trenton, NJ, who comes to us as a former high school all-American in both football and track.

Thanks to an excellent job by Rush chairmen John Shepherd, Peter Pellizzon, and John Wasley, Phi Psi has gained a strong fall pledge class which includes 13 members in addition to Stow. Although each pledge originally claimed to owe his origins to the city of Cleveland, an investigation proved this incorrect and it was determined, furthermore, that none had ever even seen Lake Erie. The pledges are: Peter Barbis, Fresno; Steve Guinn, Fresno; Matt Hagan, Torrance; Steve Kehela, Tarzana; Daniel Leanse, Beverly Hills; George LePorte, Baldwinsville, NY; Jeff Noe, Canoga Park; Craig O'Rourke, Carona Del Mar; Dave Peck, Los Altos Hills; Andy Reikes, Riverside; Michael Tobian, Glendale; Dan Toomey, Valencia; and John Vlautin, Reno.

Phi Psi participation is not limited merely to university-related activities. On the contrary, Dave Larimer, for instance, has contributed much of his time to various orphan groups in the Los Angeles area. Dave's tireless dedication has served as an inspiration to us all.

Also deserving mention for his achievements outside of UCLA is John Shepherd. John recently had a starring role in a TV pilot series, and, in addition, will appear in an upcoming movie made for television.

In the area of student government, Phi Psi continues to supply the campus with leaders. Jeff Lewis is currently serving as a justice on the Interfraternity Council Judicial Board, and Ben Van deBunt is the Budget Review Director on the Student Legislative Council.

The current officers of Cal Ep are Jack Noe, GP; Tony Rodman, VGP; Jim Roth, AG; Pete Reikes, P; John Wasley, BG; Louis Averill, SG; Kevin Wardrop, Hod; Joe Huhn, Phu; and Jim Silverstein, Hi.

California Poly Welcome!

Hello my friends! As we start another year at Cal Eta we are proud to have an additional 16 Brothers from our 31st National Pledge Class. Initiated on June 6, 1981 are: Jeffrey John Zoria, Timothy Bryan Gill, John Matthew Hermle, Robert Allen Layne, Michael Robert Boyer, Stephen Wayne Gobby, Reid Gordon Goldenstein, Roger Courtney Gregg, David Henry Baugher, Jeffrey Paul Murdy, Peter Jonathan Bowman, Richard James Regan, Greg Ansel Wolff, Jeffrey Matthew Kerr, Mark Allen Troth, and Marc Alan Chase. That makes a total of 326 Brothers at Cal

The new year also brought us newly elected officers. They include: Brad Sher, GP; Tom Durant, VGP; Jeff Marrs, P; Ed Kitchen, AG; Kevin Fox, BG; Pat McNerney, SG; Paul Niday, Hod; Mark Braun, Phu; and John Hansen, Hi. Our new Rush Chairmen are John Swanstrom and Dave Bui, Social Chairman is Chris Laramore, and the Fraternity Educator to the 32nd National Pledge Class is Dan Gilfry.

Sports at Cal Eta proved to be fairly successful as we made the playoffs in both baseball and basketball last spring. The football team opened the season with a 20-0 thrashing of Alpha Tau Omicron. In the Greek Week Olympiad Cal Eta was very successful. The combination of a first place finish in the chariot and a third place finish in the track and field events, we were able to accumulate 108 points to lead all fraternities.

On October 7, 1981, Cal Eta installed 12 pledges to the 32nd National Pledge Class. We are pleased to have the following men as new pledges: Jeff Acevedo, Brian Agnew, John Breseke, Will Fox, Eric Kirkpatrick, Stuart Lee, Mike Malaccorto, Steve Norin, Dan Smith, Steve Smith, Mike Varner, and Dave Ward.

On the social calendar we kicked off the new year with our annual New Wave Exchange with Sigma Kappa. Featuring the airbands "Osmosis" and the "Go Go's," the party proyed to be a huge success.

It looks like another year of Phi Psi dominance at Cal Poly. Come by any time my friends, you're always welcome!

Cal State, Northridge We've got the goat!

Cal Theta has a new addition to its backyard. the 'goat.' This creature has yet to be given a name (after several months no one can think of a good one). During our last rush, the animal was quite an attraction with our guests, as well as our half dozen cats. The goat can be seen at our football games as our unofficial mascot.

Last spring our Chapter added 11 men to its roster: Zach Cogan, Mike Crossley, Steve Gibson, Scott Gilbert, Arlan Jewell, Greg Quinn, Henry Rivera, Randy Rosenthal, Mike Shepard, Mitch Slepicoff, and Frank Alegria. This brought our undergraduate roster up to 51 members, the highest number ever!

During the summer we had many road trips to various places up and down the coast of California. Some of the Brothers recall going on mysterious 'train-bridge' rides at Carpinteria beach. One Brother remarked: "It was better than an 'E' ticket ride at Disneyland."

We are now into our fall semester under the new leadership of GP Scott Chambers and VGP John Tostado. Up-coming this semester, will be CSUN homecoming. This year the local Chapter of Delta Delta Delta sorority will be helping us build our float. The theme this year is 'soaps,' a tribute to daytime TV's soap operas, which are very popular among college students. The design of the float calls for giant television sets and giant people to watch them.

Also coming up, is our annual Las Vegas night. This is our biggest fund-raiser of the year, and usually finances our Spring Rush. The event is held in a local auditorium with an auction at the end of the evening. Participants use that which is won at Black-Jack and Craps tables to buy items up for auction. The items are usually donated by local merchants.

Cal Eta's outstanding Chapter celebrating after winning the Cal Poly Greek Week Olympiad.

Our Chapter has a couple of new additions to its garage: two video games by the names of 'Vanguard' and 'Centipede.' During our last rush, at almost any time, a crowd could be seen huddled around these electronic games. One Brother, 'Flirby' Furlong, seems to be the reigning champion of both games. Besides the entertainment that these machines provide, income is also a factor. We average about $500 a month from these machines, which makes them one of the most effortless and profitable fundraisers,

Our Chapter is now renting the house next-door, so more brothers can live near campus. We invite any members from other Chapters to come by and visit us. Last semester we had a very memorable visit by the Ohio 'spud-boys.

In conclusion, the Cal Theta house is asking all of our alumni to come by during our up-coming events. Various trips and interesting social events will be taking place next semester.

Case Western Reserve Growing

The evening of September 22, 1981 saw thirteen initiates welcomed into Brotherhood at the Ohio Epsilon Chapter. The class of '81 consists of; Jeffrey Wayne Bierce, Marion; Greg Jeffrey Blanck, Baldwin, NY; Mark William Glogowski, Mansfield; Thomas Andrew Kuchar, West Mifflin, PA; Dana Alan Mehnert, Alliance: Robert Allen Oswald, Mt. Orab; Gary Lynn Powers Jr., Glenview, IL; David Scott Samuels, Newton, MA; Michael Edward Shatz, Canton, MA; Greg Ernest Sheldon, Glen Rock, NJ; David Daniel Steppan, Lawrence, NY; Jeffrey Brian Vekony, Toledo; and Dennis James Youn, Grosse Pointe, MI. Ohio Epsilon is truly honored to have these 13 men listed on our roll and expects much of them in the years to come.

Ohio Epsilon is looking forward to bigger and better things during the fall term. Seniors hold down five of our offices, including three former presidents or vicepresidents. Serving fall offices are: Eli Siegel, GP; Mark Peters, VGP; Todd Crumbaker, P; Michael Kertes, AG; Robert Antenucci, BG; Marc Pinotti, AG; Robert Oswald, Hod: Dennis Youn, Phu; and Monte Nagy, Hi. We are looking for leadership to come not only from our officers but also our committees as Ohio Epsilon looks for continued progress and strength through the Eighties.

Looking to contribute to the Chapter is the new House Corporation President, Craig Hudson, Case Western Reserve '77. With Craig's assistance, along with two other alumni, Keith Smith, '78, and Bernard McCafferty, '77, the House Corporation is looking to improve its relations with the Chapter.

Phi Psi's continue to make themselves known on the Case Reserve campus in many different areas. Robert Antenucci is serving as President of the Senior Class of Case Institute of Technology. David Gondek is serving as the Treasurer of the Interfraternity Sorority Council. Howard Aube was chosen for the Junior Year Abroad program in England.

President John R. Donnell, Jr. (second from right) shown enjoying his own Ohio Epsilon's special hospitality at the Case Western Reserve Chapter's 75th anniversary and Founders Day last February.

A new addition to the CWRU campus is the addition of a fall bid date in mid October. The IFSC hopes that with the addition of this bid date (along with the spring bid date) every fraternity and sorority on campus will be able to increase their size. Presently Greeks compose about 25% of the undergraduate student body.

Ohio Epsilon seems to have been bitten by the wedding bug. Jerry Drda, '78, and Terry Schuster exchanged vows in September. Sanford Rich, '77, and Debbie Clem had a November wedding. Edward R. Schneider, '75, and Lýnn Burnett will exchange nuptials in July of 1982.

K. C. Green, '77, finished 20th out of 250 in his class at the Case Western Reserve University Gund School of Law. Bernard J. McCafferty, '77, has taken over as our new Chapter Advisor from John Ulrich.

Ohio Epsilon is also proud to welcome Don Kohler as our new house father. Don is a Phi Psi from Ohio Weslevan and is in his first year at the Francis Payne Bolton School of Nursing.

Our 76th Founder's Day Celebration is being planned for February 19, 1982. The year's celebration will be toned down from last year's gala event. The annual dinner will again return to the house.

It is with a very sad note that this semester draws to an end as is marks the end of an era. For the past ten years Ohio Epsilon has had a most remarkable individual with us. That man is our chef and dearest friend, Otis T. Armstead. Any Brother who has ever sat down to an Otis dinner will know the sadness felt by his retirement. It is with the greatest of homage that I close this letter with the following tribute: For those of us who never knew the man, who never worked with him, who never went to the race track with him, who never sat down to a special Otis dinner, or were invited to his home, he will be remembered simply as our chef. And that's a shame.

Colorado Fall '81

Beginning another year of scholastic excellence and service to the Boulder community, Colorado Alpha, under the flawless guidance of new GP Bill Whelan, proudly presents its largest pledge class within recollectable history. The 13 new additions are: Kevin McManus, Nippleville, KY; Jon Thomas, Cleveland; Bruce Albertson, Winter Park, FL; Al Gawthrop III, Pummel, MT; Tim Stoddart and Dexter Decker, Aspen: Fritz Schmitt, Bogota, Columbia; Tim Miller and Jeff Hirsch, Denver; Steve Morris, Boulder: Pete Dunne, Isla Vista, CA; Norman Christopher Butler, Owlstown, ME; and Bryan Bowen, Newark.

This semester's traditional pledging activities will be supplemented by a father-son football game and pledge golf day. The Brothers meanwhile continue to excel in intramural soccer and volleyball.

Alumni support is on the upswing, led by the fatherly advice and timeless wisdom of Jack Morrow, '41. Homecoming on October 17 was a festive occasion for Brothers past and present.

Continuous house improvements and a formidable social roster promise yet another productive and commendable year for Colorado Alpha, climaxed by Founder's Day '82. Hope to see you all there.

Columbia Save Our House

Michael Schwartz of Cleveland, Ohio is our most recent initiate and laborer as we embark on another year of repairing last year's repairs in an effort to keep our house livable. We are soliciting the help of New York area alumni in our latest appeal for the funds necessary to the survival of the present structure

Plans are shaping up for conversion of unused space on the first floor into an art gallery, an effort to be coordinated by Kirby Gookin. A good many Brothers have artistic gifts, and the idea of a gallery is particularly appropriate in a city in which it is so difficult for an artist to get exposure.

In stark contrast, the interfraternity intramural sports program is underway, and New York Gamma shows potential to do a fair job in football and to make a strong showing in basketball. More on that when it actually comes to pass.

To those alumni who were able to contribute to our last "Save Our House" appeal we are grateful, as we will be appreciative to any New York area alumni who are able to come through for us now.

Cornell World Champion Crew

Fall semester reunites the Brotherhood for yet another school year, and after summer vacation, Ithaca seems colder and grayer than ever. Last spring's graduating class is sorely missed, but fall initiation brings us twenty-one new Brothers to strengthen the Chapter. The new Brothers include sophomores Craig Clickenger, Springfield, NJ; Joe Cullen, West Hartford, CT; Greg Dilisio, Chester, VT; Steve Gesell, North Caldwell, NJ; Joe Kabel, State College, PA; Dave Kaptein, Clifton, NJ; Tom Knight, Bethlehem, PA; Robert Leeshock, Clifton, NJ; Dan Mahoney, Schenectady, NY; Phil Seamen, Crown Point, IN; Pete Shalvoy, Ridgewood, NJ; Bill Sherbon, Lansing, NY; Jim Taschetta, Wakefield, MA; Brooks Turkel, Yardley, PA; John Wasserbauer, Lakewood, OH: and Marc Weinstein, Pittsburgh, PA; and juniors Greg Chapkowski, Edison, NJ: Scott Dowdell, Olean; Dave Hicks, Ballston Lake; Angel Milanes, West New York, NJ; and John Skinner, Willingboro, NJ.

Last spring ended with a bang for Phi Psi, with the completion of the seventh annual Phi Psi "500." Our annual charity event resulted this year in a gift of $23,500 to the Ithaca Special Children's Center. The "500" is unchallenged as the biggest (and wildest) event at Cornell, and the smooth completion of this year's race is a tribute to the planning and hard work of "500" Chairman Scott Heiser, '80.

Intramurals ended in heartbreak last year, as we were in the running for the All-Sports trophy right up until the end. Losses in the semi-finals of box lacrosse and the finals of softball knocked us out of the competition, and we finished a respectable fourth.

Dave Clark, '79, had an incredible summer. He helped the Cornell crew team capture the national title in Syracuse, which was followed by a trip to Henley-on-Thames, England for the classic Royal Henley Regatta. The team also rowed in Amsterdam and Lucerne, where Dave's boat won fifth place against world-class competition.

Upon returning to the U.S., Dave joined the American crew team in Wisconsin, and was able to return to Europe in the numberone "stroke" position in America's 8-man boat. The Americans, led by Dave, took third place at the World Championships in Munich, and Dave returned to Cornell with many stories and another year of collegiate crew ahead.

The fall officers are Steve Neuberg, GP, Doug Kirk, VGP; Steve Spokane, P; Dave Winterling, AG and SG; Hans Bauer, BG; Eric Reichenbach, Hi; Tom Healy, Hod; and Ned Pride, Phu. Other officers include Dave Mazgaj, Steward, and Hans Bauer as Rush Chairman.

We're looking forward to a great year and send best wishes to the other Chapters.

Creighton Moving Ahead

With the coming of Fall and the start of a new school year, the Nebraska Beta Chapter is stronger than ever having ninety-nine brothers active. In addition, we have eleven new pledges: Rob Arias, Haciende Heights, CA; Martin Beaird, Keokuk, IA; Joe Ford, Staten Island; Bill Fox, Columbus; Denis Healy, Gatun, Panama; Mark Hodes, Praire Village, KS; Jay Kiokemeister, Itasca, IL; Kevin Kruse, Overland Park, KS; Kurt Mackey, Joliet, IL; Walt Turner, Lake Geneva, WI; and Rob Waguespack, Villa Park, CA. With such a strong contingent we are moving ahead in many ways.

On the sports field the Chapter continues its excellence, placing four softball teams into the championship tournament. Football is next with likely prospects of a good season; athletics are in the limelight. Just as important, George Gilbert, '80, has been working diligently organizing the Brothers on community service projects. Work has already begun on next semester's Muscular Dystrophy Dance-a-thon, hoping to make it an even bigger success. Mark Genovesi, '80, is doing an outstanding job on fundraising and the lodge is in top shape under Steve Mancuso's direction.

What many Brothers remember most are the social events and this year's parties have been memorable. Luau was held on September 19th. Under Kevin McCarthy's guidance everything came together for a near perfect celebration. Two weeks later, social chairman Ed Heilman '79, followed with the first of his festivities, a pajama party. Its great success gives us much to look forward to with Halloween and Christmas ahead.

October 10th marked the date of the DC, held at Iowa Beta this year. This year's delegates were Dan Geha, Alex MacGillivary, and Steve Lange, who also ran as an Archon candidate

This year the Chapter's advisors are Dr. Ted Urban, Rev. Neil Cahill S.J., Rev. Dick Hauser S.J., and Rev. John Schlegel S.J., the National Chaplain just recently back from sabbatical in Australia. These men, along with Joseph M. Coleman, GP; Peter M. Lake, VGP; Robert M. Baker, P; Scott M. Gieser, AG; Robert Hogan, BG; Michael J. Lambert, Hod; Jeffrey A. Hagen, Phu; and T. Kelly Ryan, Hi provide the leadership under which the Fraternity is moving forward, striving toward the highest ideals, and proudly carrying on the tradition of Phi Kappa Psi.

DePauw Football Champions

The fall weather has finally moved into our part of the country and with it comes fond memories of last year and great anticipation for the coming year.

We here at Indiana Alpha enjoyed a very successful spring semester last year. Scholastically, four Brothers achieved perfect 4.00 grade point averages. These were juniors Tom Dugan and Ken Wieland and sophomores Rick Locke and Dave Zoellick.

Athletically, we placed second over-all in intramural sports narrowly missing first place by 7 points out of nearly 500. Socially, we held a tremendous Spring Formal at the Inn of the Four Winds in Bloomington, Indiana. This entertaining evening was capped by some of our Brothers with a wild boat party on the docks of beautiful Lake Monroe the following morning.

Over the summer some needed repairs were done to the 'ol' rock pile' with the major project being the complete redecoration of Housemother Stringfellow's apartment. If the past 50 years is any indication of what our Home Corp. can do, this house should be in great shape for at least another 50 years.

When the Brothers of Indiana Alpha returned to school in mid-August, it was all work and no play (well, almost) as Fall Rush was the following week. Our many hours of work were repaid many times over, however, when we took in 18 great pledges. These include Steve Biederman, Frankfort, IL; Jim Crossin, Indianapolis; Dan Davidson, Weston, MA; Dean Durrett, Indianapolis; John Gibson, Cincinnati, OH; Brian Gran, Indianapolis; Wes Groot, St. Charles, IL; Tom Herrman, Ann Arbor, MI; Jon Locke, Decatur, IL; Scott Mansager, Richland, MI; Craig "Bond" Meuman, Lake Worth, FL; Todd Mitchell, Muncie; Mike Pierce, St. Joseph, MI; Mike Prakel, Versailles, OH; Randy Richey, Lebanon; Steve Smith, Elkhart; Bob Ulmer, Cincinnati, OH; and Kenny Yott, Zionsville. These 18 guys will be a great asset to Indiana Alpha and we're glad to have them with us.

Our social calender this fall has been packed with great weekends, the most recent one being our infamous Harvest Hop. Social Chairmen Dave Reidy and Pete Pogue executed a great Hop this year (in addition to concocting some amazing beverages) and some fine individual performances were given by Bob Ulmer and Brad Neff. The weekend of October 17 was DePauw's Old Gold Day and we enjoyed greeting many of our alumni Brothers. This year we continued our annual Old Gold Day Phi Psi Symposium and heard some more talks from our esteemed alumni. All the Indiana Alpha Brothers eagerly awaited the following weekend to find out who was going to win the all-expense paid trip to New Orleans in our New Orleans Housedance. Last year a senior won it but who knows this

Our high point of the fall, however, was the I.M. football championship. We breezed through the season with ease and beat our arch-rivals in the semi-finals and finals to bring the football trophy back to Phi Psi. We're looking equally strong in I.M. volley-ball with the return of most of our starting line-up from last year, including the great Duarte, and I.M. basketball, where our front line will be taller than that of DePauw's varsity team.

Special congratulations go out to senior Mark Conklin for being the first one on the DePauw campus to get admitted to Medical School; Rob Mitchell for being selected as the sports editor of our school newspaper; Don Greaves, Brad Fuson and Bill Schlotz for their recent engagements and Greg Brown for being the institutor of the Greg A. Brown Memorial Award.

We here at Indiana Alpha have had a great fall and look forward to an even better winter. Good luck, Brothers, in all your endeavors.

Dickinson Advancement

The term "Advancement" best describes the activities of the Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter this term. Energy is being channeled toward community service, campus awareness, and athletic ability with considerable success. A special, fall pledge education period was held for Nicholas Gekas of Camp Hill, Pennsylvania. Nick holds tremendous potential as a Brother and we gladly accepted him into the Fraternal circle. He is a sophomore and is presently the starting kicker for our varsity football team. Ed Stock held the honor of being his pledge educator. He was initiated on October 4, 1981.

Other athletes in the Chapter show themselves in style on the soccer team. This semester, the team is undefeated with the aid of Brothers Ewertsen, Scheussler, Merjan, Tarantolo, Atkinson, and Edson. A wine and cheese social for the faculty was held in an effort to promote better relations and in the hope that an awareness of the constructive purpose of a fraternal living experience would exhibit itself. This goal appeared to be reached as both instructor and student became person and person speaking on the same terms. Both groups seemed to leave feeling that the evening was productive and enjoyable.

The beginning of the term brought the addition of many officers. Providing us with the leadership of Brothers Richard Biletta, GP; Charles Woerner, VGP; James Pennington, P; Robert Hudson, AG; James Cox, BG; Douglas Ewertsen, Hod; Michael Sagges, Phu; Michael Stein, Hi; Jeffrey Linsen/Andrew Kressley, Social; Glenn Zeiders, Rush; and Peter Clarke, House Manager. Joseph Wisniewski achieved the distinction of becoming a member of a campus honor society, "The Raven's Claw."

Optimism in the Chapter is helping to create a spirit of productiveness, which those of the Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter intend to use constructively.

Duke Input-Output

The Brothers of North Carolina Alpha have experienced yet another successful fall semester, one filled with challenge, achievement, and gratification. Our Chapter has been led through this exciting period under the auspices of the judicious GP, Richard Milhous Green. The cabinet consists of: Andy Schwab, VGP; Bob Beckler, AG; Paul Pickard, P; Mike Gritton, BG; Scott Jacobs, SG; Keith Coleman, Hod; Wally Mensinger, Hi; and Tod Sher, Phu.

Resplendent weather characterized the October 9th Celebrity Auction for Children's Cancer Research, and the response from the Duke students, parents, and community was dazzling. Auctioneer extraordinaire Robert Satloff brought over 100 authentically personalized items under the hammer, as net proceeds surpassed the $5000 mark. Andy Schwab and Bob Beckler furnished stimulating, vigorous leadership as this year's Kiddie Cancer chairmen. Sincere condolences are proffered to Rusty Fritz, who shamefully succumbed to the Bank of New York in a spirited battle for Arnold Palmer's pitching wedge. Following the event, we staged the first ever Auction Night Party in the Cambridge Inn, featuring hardcore music, fine food, and ample beer. Twenty kegs later, we realized an additional income of over $400 for cancer research. The day was truly one of stark success.

Homecoming 1981 will be remembered by all Brothers of NC Alpha as the best in recent years. Marked by tremendous alumni input, activities included the traditional Alumni Banquet, a time of welcome reunion and rekindling of old friendships, a time for new Brothers to meet our esteemed Brothers of old. A new addition to homecoming festivities included the Alumni Reunion Dance, an event which was indeed a smashing success. All in all, the weekend refreshed us all with the goals and high ideals of Phi Kappa Psi. Alumni participation in the planning of future homecoming activities would sincerely be appreciated. Please direct all suggestions to our Homecoming 1982 coordinator, Dave Bradley.

Rush endeavors this semester have been spectacular and certainly productive. Under the guidance of chairmen Rob Slade and William Wendler II, our fall efforts will prove rewarding as bids are accepted in early January. The rush philosophy of NC Alpha continues to be in pursuit of excellence, not magnitude, in maintaining the high ideals and goals of the Fraternity. Rush functions again are close knit with our active fall social calendar, including such affairs as the Insane Asylum Party and the traditionally infamous Red Light District Party.

Alumni might be interested in the latest news concerning the administration's efforts to restructure the location of fraternities on Duke's East and West campuses. Changes are in order, but the criteria for moving a fraternity have been subjected to much confusion. Certainly, we hope that on the basis of our superb record with regards to academics, discipline, and service, the deciding authorities will choose to bypass the disruption of our present situation.

A fine second-half is in store. Duke Blue-Devil basketball is on the rebound, and the beautiful Durham spring is around the corner. Finally, as of this article, Founder's Day plans are uncertain; please contact Dave Bradley, the 1982 Founder's Day coordinator, at (919) 684-1043, for further details. Best wishes for a prosperous year.

Florida Growing and Going Strong

The Brothers of Florida Beta extend their heartiest congratulations to the five Brothers initiated April 22: John Sabin, Clearwater; Irvin Smith, Orlando; Ian Jones, Seminole; Mike Turner, Sarasota; and David Berringer, Hollywood. We look forward to their contributions to the Chapter.

The beginning of the year brought several scholastic honors to Florida Beta. For Winter '81, Phi Psi was designated by the U. of F. Interfraternity Council as the fraternity with the most improved G.P.A. In Spring '81, the IFC awarded Phi Psi a banner for having the second highest overall G.P.A. of the campus fraternities.

Spring also brought a change of officers. We congratulate our new officers and look forward to their leadership: Joe Russo, GP; Wes Dunn, VGP; Tom Northrup, P; Irvin Smith, AG; Dave Hines, BG; Mike Turner, SG; Joe Nordmann, Phu; Jerry Fredette, Hod; and Ian Jones, Hi.

Florida Beta has looked forward to a period of new growth with the advent of the 1981-82 school year. Fall Rush was handled excellently by Brother Wes Dunn. Our smokers included the following: Meet the Brothers Night; Dinner and Cocktails; Jimmy Buffett Island Madness (complete with lagoon and waterfall); Stagger Street-New Orleans Style; Sip and Slide Oyster Bar; and the "Phi Psi-don" Upside-Down Adventure.

Our efforts culminated in eight men pledged to Phi Kappa Psi. Our spirited pledges, Rodrigo Posse of Bogota, Colombia, John Lowe of Winter Park, Jon Crumrine of Ft. Myers, Tom Lynch of Port Orange, John White of Centerville, MA, Peter Murphy of Canton, MA, Dave Barber of Atlanta, GA, and Guy Saults of Perry will be under the guidance of Fraternity Educator Glenn Winograd. The pledges are showing their enthusiasm by cooking weekly dinners for the Brothers. Congratulations also go to pledge Saults for being named "Army ROTC Cadet of the Week" for the first week in October.

On September 16, two more men were initiated into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi. We congratulate them, and will be looking to them as future leaders of Florida Beta. Our two newest enthusiastic initiates are William Echevarria, Jr. of Springfield, VA, and Frank Skirlo of Miami.

Our Founders Day Weekend '82 is taking shape under the leadership of Brother Thomas Harris. We invite all Phi Psis to our celebration of the 130th anniversary of the Fraternity. Our events include: a Welcome Barbeque at the house on February 19; a reception and banquet on February 20; and Thanks and Farewell Get-Together on February 21. We are looking forward to seeing many fellow Phi Psis there.

Upcoming Florida Beta social events this fall include mixers with Alpha Epsilon Phi and Phi Mu sororities and a cocktail hour with Alpha Xi Delta sorority. We will be doing Homecoming with Sigma Delta Tau sorority. All the Brothers and pledges are also looking forward to the annual Brother/ Pledge Winter Retreat.

Finally, we wish everyone "Happy Holidays," and Brother Steve Beard, Oregon '74, our Chapter Advisor, says "Hi" to his Brothers at Oregon Alpha and wants them to know that he is alive and well in Gainesville

Franklin and Marshall Busy Fall

This Fall has been busy for the Brotherhood of Penn Eta. Our activities began on the weekend of September eleventh. This was F & M's second annual Greek weekend. The weekend featured a trivia contest, carnival, and concluded with a Greek Olympics. When all of the points were tallied, the Phi Psi team finished in fourth place.

On the evening of October seventeenth. three men were initiated into the mysteries of PHI KAPPA PSI. The three pledges, Dan Firth, Rob Mahoney, and Scott Ritter, pledged in the Spring.

On campus, Eric Noll was elected as president of F & M's college Republicans. This is the second straight year that a member of Penn Eta has held this position.

Throughout this Fall, Penn Eta will be operating a fund raiser to benefit Multiple Sclerosis. The fund raiser consists of an aluminum recycling program and a raffle, with the winner receiving a television set. The program will take place both on campus, and in the community of Lancaster.

Through the intense efforts of the Brotherhood, and the continuing support of alumni, Penn Eta continues to be an important member of the Franklin and Marshall community.

Georgia Bulldogs Sink Teeth

It is a new year for the Bulldogs to sink their teeth into. As in football, the Georgia Phi Psis are determined to excel scholastically, athletically, socially, and as a fraternity.

With the help of alumni and returning new initiates, Chuck McElveen; David Finney, MD; Jerald Thornbury; and Eric Friedrichsen, the Brothers continued extensive repairs on the Chapter house. The walls of the common and chapter rooms received new coats of paint and new ceilings were put in. Georgia Alpha's two story Victorian house is looking very young for its 84 years. We have plans to purchase the house in January. Any financial help would be greatly appreciated.

With a great looking house, an industrious Rush Chairman, Will Bosbyshell, and enthusiastic participation, Georgia Alpha obtained four fine pledges. They are: Richard Anchors, Savannah; Edwin Drewa, Jacksonville, FL; and Charlie Fullmer and Mike Hancock, Atlanta. Under the direction of Fraternity Educator Jerald Thornbury they are learning and carrying on in the Phi Psi tradition.

Overseeing rush, socials, house work, and in short, capably leading us, is new GP Scott Peacock. Other officers are: Tripp Cagle, VGP; Wayne Chambers, P; Will Bosbyshell, BG; David Finney, AG; Jerald Thornbury, SG; Chris VanSickle, Hod; David Gilbertson, Phu; and Dick Beale, Hi.

among the top fraternities in academics at the University of Georgia. Last spring two of our Brothers received extremely high · awards. David Gilbertson was chosen for membership in the Biftad Honor Society, regarded as the highest honor attainable by a freshman or sophomore at U. of Ga. Will Bosbyshell received a Mortar Board financial scholarship for demonstration of outstanding leadership qualities.

Brother Willis Horton McAbee has announced his plans to marry Miss Bunny Seckinger, a friend of the Chapter and sister of Sigma Kappa sorority. They plan to wed in December, '81.

The Bulldog Phi Psis give a hearty growl to all of the Chapters and Colonies across the country. We say, "Sic-em Phi Psis!"

Gettysburg Mortgage Retired

The first semester here at Penn Epsilon has already produced a number of impressive achievements and continues to look very promising for the Brotherhood. An outstanding achievement this fall was the final payment on the mortgage of the Chapter house. This occurred on Alumni Weekend, September 25-27, and was both an accomplishment and a relief for all involved. The Chapter house, built in 1960, was dedicated to distinguished Alumni Brother, Donald K. Weiser, '21, in 1980. The final mortgage payment could not have been achieved without the generosity, cooperation, and hard work of all the Brothers. All should be congratulated for an excellent

The congratulations should not stop here though. The Chapter is proud to announce that one of their sophomore Brothers, Todd Klafehn, of Hamlin, New York, attained a perfect 4.0 average for his freshman year. He was recognized by the college as being tied with two others for highest grade point average in his class.

The Chapter is looking ahead to the rest of the semester to bring on more of these awesome results. Plans are being made for upcoming rush functions. Annual "Vegas" and "Fifties" parties are already in the making. The rush program, led by Brother Andrew Katz, looks hopeful, and the entire brotherhood is psyched. All are eagerly awaiting the traditional Christmas House Parties as well

Next semester, our biggest event will be the Miller Hall celebration in April. It will be a milestone for the Penn Epsilon chapter as well as the entire Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity. Miller Hall, built in 1882, is the first chapter house in Phi Kappa Psi and is the oldest college fraternity house in continuous use on its original site in existence. This will coincide with Gettysburg College's sesquicentennial celebration, Plans are being made for this April's celebration as well as an even bigger celebration in September, 1982. These events should not be missed.

Another event which we hope will be in Penn Epsilon's future is the Phi Psi "500," This will be our first "all out" attempt at this and we would appreciate any help or suggestions which you might have in order to get it off the ground.

Illinois Riding the Wave

Within the last academic year, the Orange and Blue have truly proven why we are called the Fighting Illini. Our football unit became the fifth ranked most exciting team in the nation, our basketball team with Brother Kevin Bontemps made the NCAA. and our baseball team under Brothers Randy Conte and Bill Hamrick made the Big 10 playoffs. Under such excitement and renewed college activities, Phi Psis have remained a campus leader and getting stronger.

The officers leading us into the fall semester are Bill Corry, GP; Sam Reinkensmeyer, VGP; Chris Hallen, P; Dan Kelley, AG; Al Chiappetta, BG; Paul Kilgallon, SG; Steve Sonnenleiter, Hi; Kerry Crain, Phu; and Joe Hudgins, Hod.

Congratulations to our new initates! August 27, 1981 marked the initiation ceremony for the following men: Tom Kay, Oak Park; Tom Bahn, Staunton; Dan Hartnett, Chicago; Reid Tennant, Rockford; Steve King, Bloomington; and Dan Rudd, Deerfield. We are looking forward to the midsemester initiation of Mike Bleuher and Mark Ebeling. From under the leadership of Pledge Trainer Randy Conte and Pledge Educator Marc Carter, these new Brothers promise to be a great addition to our Chapter.

Coupled with the reign of two time king, social chairman Steve Davis, and the return of Brothers Dick Swanson and Tim Walters this looks to be an active semester socially. While many students left for the Labor Day weekend, the natives cried out for a splendid island paradise known as "Give Me Samoa" Party. Swimming pools, waterfalls, moats, and tropical food made the event unforgetable. But to help us try and forget, Kappas, Kappa Deltas, Thetas, and Chi Os promise to do their best at exchanges. Talking about academics, our "Pops" had a great time Dad's Day. Between visiting the Undergraduate Library and the Krannert Theater, our fathers taught us a few tricks at the local groggery. The Phi Psi "500" under the leadership of External Vice-President, John Picchiotti, was a wild time. Twentythree sororities peddling around the quad on tricycles is a sight to see. Late in October, the Brothers had a "housewalk-out" to Ohio for the District Council and our rival football game with the Ohio State Buckeyes.

With Marc Carter and Dan Tynan in command of Formal and Informal Rush respectively, we have a dynamic class of 19 men: Gary Ballesteros, Murphysburo; Eric Branz, Elmhurst; Tim Broeren, Champaign; Mike Burczak, Morton Grove; Ken Crain, Chicago Heights; Bernard Gizzi, River Grove; Jim Glavin, Flossmoor; Jim Mauridus, Glenview; Paul Moreschi, Oakbrook; Greg Oneill, Philo; Jim Oneill, Niles; Anthony Pasquinelli, Flossmoor; Abe Pachikare, Murphysburo; Jim Sanfillippo, Barrington; Doug Scanlon, Oak Springs; Al Sutherland, Mohomet: Jon Taylor, Springfield; Mike Trsner, Decatur; and Pete Voss, Chicago.

In intramurals, Phi Psis remain tough. Early October we captured the prestigious 12 inch Dooley's Softball Tourneyment. With the consistent pitching of Ron Davis, hard hitting of Al Chiappetta, and the phenomenal fielding of Chris Niemann the team was unbeatable. Currently, our football team, with all Intramural receiver Jim Gross, is in the playoffs and our championship water polo team is getting ready for another successful season.

Once again Illinois Delta, where the tradition of Homecoming first originated, had a successful reunion. Thanks to Chapter Advisor Brother Jim Acheson, '51, the old and the new alike gathered together and exchanged stories. Illinois Delta enjoyed the week and looks forward to seeing our visiting Brothers from across the country.

Indiana Arabian Nights Dance

Indiana Beta starts off the semester with the initiation of eleven pledges: Daniel White, Schererville; Mark Hahn, East Lansing, MI, Christopher Speltz, Millington, NJ; Ronald Drabny, LaGrange, IL; Jeff Yu, Indianapolis; Robert Oyler, Gas City; Thomas Cunningham, LaGrange, IL; David Shorr, Oakbrook, IL; James Kirk, Farmdale, NY; Alan Lambert, South Bend; and John Schilling, Merriville, to bring the total roll call to 1995. Initiation banquet was held at the Georgian Room in the Union. The following night Indiana Beta held its biennial "Arabian Nights Dance." The dance included such highlights as roast pig, a champagne fountain, a fish pond and music performed by "Rijjid."

The new fall pledge class has closed with fifteen members: Anthony Ave, Lafayette; Neal Burnett, Indianapolis; John Clifton, Ft. Wayne; Kevin Deloria, Marion; John Caron, Greenwood; Todd Whitlock, Marion; Douglas Lezda, Kokomo; Richard Walsh, South Bend; John Katker, Miami, FL; John Wiebke, Anderson; Mark Wagner, Arlington Hts., IL; Thomas Kern, Greenwood; Scott Hamilton, Indianapolis; and Robert Green, Champaign, IL.

Members of Indiana Beta have involved themselves with many campus activities such as Board of Aeons—Jim Tanner, President; Eric Knoll, Mark Oates; Student Foundation—Rick Kent, Steve Smith, Craig Ford; Steering Committee—Kent Billingsly, Lee Putman; Student Athletic Council—Eric Ponader, Officer; I.U. Student Association—North Greek Senator, Budget Director, Administrative Assistant, Eric Knoll; Union Board—Jim Tanner, Guthrie Carr; Student Athletic Board—Dave Hoover, Doug Mohr, Mark Albertson, Brian Hicks, Mark Gaston.

Current officers for Indiana Beta are, GP, James Tanner; VGP, Bryan Knotts; P, Craig Ford; AG, Bradley Beaman; BG, Alan Colquitt; SG, John Karich; Hod, Douglas Bergman; Phu, Jeffrey Echelberger; Hi, Gregory Gilles; and Fraternity Educator Rick Kent.

The outcome of Phi Psi in the Little "500" held last spring was fifth place. The Chapter currently has one varsity athlete, Todd Rhoda, who is on the track team. Intramural sports are very strong this year with winning seasons in football and undefeated teams in racketball and handball.

Indiana, Pennsylvania Dominating IUP

After a relaxing summer break, the Brothers of Pennsylvania Nu returned eager to get back in the Phi Psi "swing of things."

Our fall membership drive, under the direction of Brothers Gary Lesnick and Randy Pollick, resulted in three pledges being taken in. These fine men are: James Robert Beckwith, Bethel Park; Richard Curry Murphy Jr., Easton; and Andrew Brian Skean, Mechanicsburg. These men will serve their pledgeship under the attentive eyes of Fraternity Educators Don Thomas and R. C. Schroder.

As usual, the social scene has played an important part in the semester. Some of the highlights include: "Transvestite Night," "50s" and Halloween mixers, plus our always popular Friday night parties. In an attempt to start the weekend earlier, Social Chairmen Jeff Thomas, George Kostik and Jeff Regula have introduced Wednesday night parties, which are sure to become a popular tradition.

The Brothers of Penn Nu are very proud of our latest community service project. We have taken the responsibility of providing for a 12-year-old foster child. His name is Paul Yameogo of Upper Volta in North Africa. Our project has drawn praise from many IUP adminstrators and even merited a feature article in our campus newspaper.

Another community service project that is upcoming is our 3rd annual Superdance '82 for the benefit of the Muscular Dystrophy Association. With the help of IUP's Residence Hall Association, we will attempt to top last year's donation of $2,000.

As usual, Penn Nu will be competitive in the IUP all-points intermural race. After an eighth place finish last year, prospects look good for an upward movement in the standings. However, due to the presence of dominating athletic clubs, the chances of any fraternity winning the all-points race are slim.

The Brothers of Pennsylvania Nu send their best to "Super Consultant" Gary Goldstein as he continues in his adventures across Phi Psi Country. Gary fell victim to the powerful PA Nu hospitality that makes leaving here a bit tough, as former Consultants Harry Light and Lou Hoffman can testify to. In fact, Gary had such a good time here that he left his shoes as a memento for our trophy case.

And in closing, the Brothers of Penn Nu would like to wish all Phi Psis a good holiday season and remind the Brothers of Tennessee Epsilon that they owe us a return road-trip.

Iowa Alpha began the fall semester with a strong pledge class of twenty-two members including Mark Collins and Rob Dustin, Iowa City; Jeff Davick and David Sealy, Cedar Rapids; Brian Beh, Brian Cooper, Ted Irvine, Ray Kivett, Andrew Miller, Chris Hanson, and Tom Swift, Des Moines; John Guhin and Tom Shoup, Bettendorf; Tom Dailey, Waterloo; W. Scott Stephens, Deerfield; Tom Glavan and Chuck Wright, Joliet; Eric Jones, Libertyville; Mark LeVally, Winnetka; Pete Wegner, Wilmette; John Mathews, Chicago; and Bob Love, Rock Island.

Congratulations to Richard Keough of Iowa City and Gary Johnson of Waterloo, our newest Brothers here at Phi Psi. Their initiation ceremony and celebration was held September 11 at the Chapter house.

Alumni relations are a priority this semester at Iowa Alpha. An Open House on both Homecoming and Parents' weekends accommodated our alumni returning to Iowa City to watch the reborn Hawkeye football team. The Alumni Perpetual Fund, commenced in the spring of '81, is a new fund-raising drive that solicits contributions based upon the year of a Brother's initiation. Both the Fund and the forthcoming Alumni Newsletters promise to strengthen our Alumni program.

Fall elections produced a new group of Chapter leaders, including Michael Sealy, VGP; Michael Barnes, AG; and Steve Ollenburg, BG. Interestingly, the fathers of these three were Phi Psi Brothers together at Iowa Alpha in the 1950's.

Exchanges with sororities dominated the fall social calendar, several of which were held on the newly-built patio on the south lawn of the Chapter house. Intramurals and a strong effort to maintain our 1st place grade point standing have added to what is a busy semester at Iowa Alpha.

Iowa State Still Coming On Strong

The Brothers of Iowa Beta got off to a fine start this fall semester with the pledging of eighteen men. They include: Peter Benson, Omaha, NE; Rick Brauer, Webster City; Tom Correll, Grinnel; Todd Goeders, Manson; Tim Houge, Des Moines; Dave Jorgensen, Iowa City; Jeff Klopstad, Sioux City; Bruce Lemons, Cedar Falls; Jeff Morgan, Des Moines; Dan Nicholas, Iowa City; Mike Riordan, Barrington, IL; John Sandoz and Joel Sandoz from Wheaton, IL; Sharm Sisler, Coggon; Steve Smith, Mason City; Mark Thomas, Spirit Lake; Rick Vanselow, Omaha, NE; and Todd Wahler, Palatine, IL. Peter Benson is the younger brother of Brad Benson, '80.

Last spring brought four worthy men into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi. Those initiated include: Steven Rogers, Clarendon Hills, IL; Martin Hoffey, Iowa City; Richard Larsen, St. Louis, MO; and David Ingwersen, Dewitt. Officers for fall semester were also elected at this time. They include; Craig A. Marr, GP; Burns H. Davison III, VGP; Kevin O. Roberts, AG; Mark B. Wilson, P; Miles G. Moore, BG, Martin J. Hoffey, SG; David D. Ingwersen, Hod; Steven T. Rogers, Phu; and Richard L. Larsen, Hi.

This past fall has been a busy one for Iowa Beta. Our first attempt at a Phi Psi "500" turned out to be a great success for all those who participated. Various events included a wheel chair race, beer chug, golf putting, and a race with hair curlers!! Bratwurst and beer were sold all afternoon and proceeds went to a local charity. Plans for next year's event are already being drawn up.

Iowa Beta also hosted the biennial Woodrow Wilson Leadership School for District V on October 10th. Total attendance included 95 Brothers from nine Chapters. Also attending were National Vice President John Boyd, National Mystagogue Kent Owen, and Executive Director Gary Angstadt. Five workshops were held that Saturday followed by a banquet that night. We're also proud to announce the election of Burns H. Davison III, Iowa Beta '79, as the new Archon for District V. The weekend proved to be both a very profitable and spiritual experience for all members attending.

Many of our Brothers spread the Phi Psi spirit on campus this fall in such activities as Homecoming, Greek Programming Committee (GPC), and Campus Chest (a charity fund raiser). Randy Maakestad and Craig Ringstad were Public Relations and Publicity co-chairmen respectively for Homecoming '81. Also for homecoming, Bob DeGowin was our representative on Cy Squad and Tom Fischer nailed down the position for business manager. For GPC, Burns H. Davison III was the special events program director and Marty Hoffey and Scott Higgins served as artist and blood drive co-chairmen. Miles Moore captured a position on Guys and Gals for Campus Chest.

In closing, we would like to thank all our alumni for their support of Iowa Beta. You are what keeps us going.

Johns Hopkins Moving On

As we move into fall it may be getting cold, but our Chapter is hot. Last spring, Maryland Alpha had its biggest group of initiates ever. Our 24 new Brothers are: Dan Lavery, Paul Rubery, Gary Shuman, Mark Lazarus, Mike Schecter, Dave Franchina, Doug Ende, Sean Hunkler, John Steers, Dennis Chien, David Forester, Andy Kierstead, Kush Handa, Jack Strauss, Spencer Liu, Paul Murphy, Gary Kao, Eric Strauch, Seth Kaye, Tony Fiore, Dean Murphy, Brendan Conroy, Scott Hirschman, and Ted Hill.

On the athletic front, Maryland Alpha, led by Brother Joe Tino, remains an intramural power. Our Chapter also just ran our first annual Phi Psi "500" that raised over $600 for charity, and was followed by an equally successful party.

New officers include: President, Stephen Pavlos; Vice-president, John Mason; Treasurer, Rich Gibbs; Recording Secretary, Bob Ferrer; Correspondence Secretary, Andy Kierstead; Rush chairmen, Mark Lazarus and Jim Schiro; and BIA rep., Brian Powers.

We already have the reputation as one of the best fraternities on campus, and with our plans for an excellent Rush and more parties, it should be a great year.

Kansas Off to a Great Start

After a restful summer, the Brothers of Kansas Alpha returned to Lawrence ready to pick up where we left off last year. The Chapter officers this fall are: GP, Mark Faber; VGP, Jess Arbuckle; P, Mark Gunter; AG, Tim Cadden; BG, Bob Padone; SG, Andy Flynn; Hi, Stacey Harding; Phu, Tracy Smith; Hod, Greg Sims; and IFC Rep, Kevin Mebust.

On August 15, 8 men were initiated into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi: Jim Pope, Olathe; Bill Farrar and Mike Patterson, Lenexa; Scott Carlbon, New Jersey; Pat Green, Wichita; Paul Tremonti and Dave Ball, Kansas City; and Norbert O'Neil, Mission Hills.

Our Rush Chairmen, Kyle Eldred and Ellis Rainey, were busy this summer. Both did an outstanding job forming a class of 29 pledges: Rich MacDonald and Terry Warman, Kansas City; Steve Huff, Lake Quivira; Doug Hiemstra, Des Moines; Kelly Blackman, Marion; Mason Linscott and Bill Linscott, Kansas City; Mike Shartzer, Roeland Park; Mike Bizal and Norm Harrigan Jr., Prairie Village; Lenn Taulbee, Lenexa; Phil Haydon, Leawood; Mike Steinbacher, Kansas City; Paul Baker, Leawood; Tom Ging, Hutchinson; Scott Cooper, Wichita; John Burnison, Orange, CA; Jim Metgzer, Hoisington; Bryan Reed, Kansas City; Denny Boresow, Prairie Village; Bill Winter, Hutchinson; Kevin Kelly, Overland Park: Lance Swerringen, Augusta; Dave Cunningham, Leawood; Bruce Sears and Reid Roberts, Kansas City; Paul Lerch, Ballwin, MO; Steve Osborn, Kansas City; and Troy Rodman, Danville, IL.

This year's intramural program is off to a quick start. In the Alpha Gamma Delta swim meet, "Anchor Splash," we swam away with a first place. The football team finished a strong second in the Beta football tournament. Jess Arbuckle was voted most outstanding player in the Sigma Chi all-star game. In the K.U. intramural league our team is currently undefeated and awaiting the championship game.

Under the direction of Keith Cutler, the Brothers, with help from the women of Alpha Chi Omega, are preparing for the 1981 Rock Chalk Review. Hopefully, our script will be one of the four chosen from 16 for the annual Fraternity/Sorority Review in March.

On November 7, we, along with the women of Gamma Phi Beta, will sponsor the first annual fall softball tourney. Director Jess Arbuckle is currently sorting out entry blanks for teams in the men's division and also the co-ed division. Jess anticipates a large turnout.

Newly elected Rush Chairmen Stacey Harding and Brad Stanley are currently preparing a pig roast and luau party in order to accommodate over 30 rushees on October 17. Another rush party is planned for November 14.

Social chairman Greg Crooker is keeping us busy with many functions and parties. On September 12, we held our annual Yell-In party. In September we held a Punk function with the women of Delta Gamma. On October 30, we will have a suitcase party where two couples will be sent to New Orleans for the weekend. To round off the semester in December we will be having our Christmas Buffet party.

We would like to congratulate Brother Jay Donahue for his outstanding job as District V Archon. Bert Coleman will be finishing up his term as Kansas University Student Body President this semester. Brothers Kevin Mebust, Andy Flynn, and Ellis Rainey would like to thank the brothers of Iowa Beta and congratulate them on a job well done with the District Council.

Finally, we would once again like to thank Brother Paul Brooker for his continued support of the Chapter. Thanks to Paul and all of the alumni support, the house is in excellent shape and ready for another great year in the Phi Psi tradition.

Louisiana State Making Progress

On September 4, Louisiana Alpha initiated three men into Phi Kappa Psi. They are: Kirk Andrews, Ruston; and Scott Blanchard and Mike Hunnicutt of Chalmette. As of this writing, we have received one new pledge, Robb Nance, Dallas, TX.

After the resignation of Keith Lapuyade in the middle of last semester, Matt Dell was elected as GP for the remainder of the term. On September 14, elections were held for this semester, the results are: Charles Salvaggio, GP; Randall Little, VGP; Scott Blanchard, P; Kirk Andrews, AG; Matt Dell, BG; Mike Hunnicutt, SG; David Smith, Hod; Keith Matulich Phu; and Joseph Dinapolis, Hi.

Our only Major social event so far this semester was an Alpha Delta Pi exchange at a local night spot. This event was made outstanding by the presence of our Brothers from Louisiana Beta. The two Louisiana Chapters are planning joint parties for the future and are eagerly looking forward to them.

Because of our football team's great season, our pre-game parties began six hours before kickoff. We enjoyed the games very much but did not find out the scores until the following day.

Mankato State

This fall the members of the Minnesota Gamma Chapter are coming on strong with five pledges: Nicholas Luciano, Dale Phillips, Daniel Bjonkstrand, David Skarupa and Shawn Curley all from Minneapolis.

Among the activities, the Chapter is right behind the first homecoming that Mankato State has had in many years. Brother Hinrichs is the co-chairman of the Mankato State University Homecoming Committee. All the Brothers and the new pledges worked on a float for the parade that took place October 24th. Our float says it by itself: "Football, Phi Psi, and apple pie will never die."

Brothers Luciano, Hinrichs and Durin; and the new pledges went to the District Council in Ames, IA October 10. It was a very rewarding experience.

We would like to thank the alumni for their donation in rebuilding the house; and we will like to see you here for Homecoming and for initiation day on December 5th and encourage their support in all the upcoming activities.

Miami The 10 Year Mark

After a restful summer, the Brothers of Ohio Lambda returned to Miami, happy to be back and eager to start the school year. Moving in this semester seemed to be a bit easier as the Brothers enjoyed putting finishing touches on their rooms and re-telling their summer experiences.

As soon as we got back, we turned our attention to "Greek Week '81" and we performed respectively in every event, placing fourth overall. The high points of the week were Phi Psi's third place finishes in the bike race and swimming relays and fourth place in the "Puddle Pull" event. Everyone did a magnificent job of supporting each event and this made the competition a team effort!

After Greek Week, next on the agenda was the third annual "Dance of the Arabian Knights." With Chris Schorr and Jim Wilcox at the helm as social chairmen, the party turned out to be a great success for the third year in a row. The highlights of the party were a Belly Dancer, a magician, barbecued ribs, and of course, the 'fantastic' looking maidens of our harem. The house could have been mistaken for an Arabian palace as it produced many interested stares and snapshots from people passing by.

This was also the year for the District Council and Chapters of District III met on October 18 at Miami U. to elect a new Archon representative for the next two years. On October 17, the Woodrow Wilson Leadership School was held and provided valuable insights on how to improve every Chapter in the District. We, at Ohio Lambda, were pleased to hold these two events and would like to congratulate our Chapter Brother, Mark Ricketts, '79, for his last two years as Archon of District III. Mark's dedication and love for the Fraternity were obvious as he spent much effort and very long hours on the job. Also, congrats are in order to Ohio Lambda's Archon nominee, Jim Jones, and to John Watkins, Vic Baerman, and Jeff Windahl who did an outstanding job in representing Ohio Lambda as our delegates at the Conference.

Homecoming this year was a great success and we were very pleased with the large turnout of alumni! Jeff Richetti was elected as our Homecoming King representative and we were paired with the Gamma Phi's in the float building contest. It all added up to a fun-filled weekend and it was great to see the men that created this Chapter, here at Miami, as we keep their goals and ideals in mind.

We've also made several improvements on the house this semester. The ceiling was replaced in the main house foyer area, tile was put down in the mainhouse bathroom, and the old wallpaper was stripped off the up and downstairs hallway walls and freshly painted. Also, with the guidance of Andy Oliver, we landscaped the front yard and the surrounding areas. Now we can really say it looks like home!

On the social scene, besides "Arab" we had a "Campout" party with the Thetas; a "Wedding" party with the Pi Phis; a "Halloween" party with the DZs; a "Dating Game" party with the Alpha Chis; and a "Hollywood" party with the DGs! We are looking forward to a second semester of parties every bit as good as first semester's.

We are proud to announce that on November 7, the first annual Alpha Chi-Phi Psi "500" was held. Co-founders and co-chairmen Shawn MacRitchie and Mike Kelly worked diligently to make the "soap-box derby" race a success! Involved were fraternities, sororities, and independents and the money raised went to Cystic Fibrosis. A lot of hard work went into this event and we hope it becomes an annual event!

Congratulations are in order for our three new officers: Jim Jones, Phu; Brian Smith, Hod; and Dan Willmann, Hi. Our hats are also off for the job well done by the outgoing officers: Al Kmiecik, Shawn MacRitchie, and Patrick Kenney respectively. Also "BIG" congrats are in order for Mark Ricketts and Julie Galloway, a DZ at Miami, who became engaged in July. We all wish you happiness and the best of luck!

This semester, Phi Psis also had the pleasure of watching two of their Brothers do extremely well in varsity sports: John Dunkas, member of the soccer team, and Dirk Armstrong, member of the cross country team. Good job guys!

As we look ahead into next semester, Ohio Lambda will be celebrating its "10 year" anniversary and a massive reunion is being planned by "Ma." We will be getting in touch with all of you and hope to see all the alumni come back and participate in the festivities, as it should be a memorable weekend.

Finally, as the semester comes to a close, all the Brothers wish Al Kmiecik and Mitch King the best of luck in their post-college years as they will be graduating at the end of this semester!

Michigan State Michigan Gets Together

The cold weather and fall colors indicate that another football season is in our midst. On October 9th and 10th we were host to our much welcomed Colony from Ann Arbor. Their attendance to the annual MSU—UofM football classic certainly added a new perspective to Spartan life. In addition to discussing each university's future plans, activities included a party with the ladies of Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority Saturday night. The following week was Homecoming. The Spartans entertained the Wisconsin Badgers. A pregame brunch and keg was served to all alumni and guests.

The Chapter house is looking better than ever this year. Brothers John Bogdziewicz, Victor Cavataio, Mark W. Miller, Tom Vandoorne, Paul Highfield, and Allan Swartzmiller all finished large redecorating projects before school started. Also Ed Sadilek completed a beautiful woodcarving of the Coat-of-arms to place in our front lawn. Another recent project included a professionally done pen and ink drawing of the Chapter house. In coordination with our ever present corporation board, copies are being purchased by alumni and friends in hope of generating funds for future house improvements.

Concentrating heavily on academics this year, Charlie Burnell's scholarship committee has set some challenging goals to return us to #1. Also the bowling team, under the watchful eye of captain Jay Williams, is looking to reclaim its title lost last year.

Activities are running quite smoothly here at Michigan Beta. Although the majority of our officers are of "New Blood," senior leadership at GP and VGP is providing the necessary guidance. Congratulations to Edward Sadilek Jr., GP for his second term. Other officers are: Paul Highfield, VGP; Steven Schwarzbek, P; Allan Swartzmiller, AG; Mark W. Miller, BG; Mark F. Miller, SG; Victor Cavataio, Hod; John Bogdziewicz, Phu; and Jonathan Moran, Hi.

Rush this fall was under the direction of Paul Highfield. Paul did an excellent job which introduced many new people to the Fraternity. This term's pledges are: Duncan Moran, Pontiac; Mike Hudson, Clio; and Dave Farmer, Muskegon. Duncan is not new to Phi Psi activities, his brother is currently a senior here at State.

Other fall events include a parents day on October 24th and a Christmas party. Founders day on February 19th has not been planned as of this writing. For information concerning plans please contact John Farland of the Detroit Alumni Association.

Mississippi Continued Success

Success is something that every organization strives for. Mississippi Alpha has not only strived for it, but has achieved it. The fall semester has been quite rewarding and we are extremely proud of our accomplishments.

Four new Brothers as well as thirty new pledges mark the beginning of this term. The recent initiates are: Nick Nicola, Huntsville, AL; Bob Kucker, Gatlin, TN; Jody Hatcher, Jackson, and Wayne Alexander, Nashville, TN. Pledges include: Mike Mc-Clellan, William Lee, Jackson; Kurt Stowers, Charles Devening, Bruce Pickle, Natchez: Kevin Underwood, Ken Hodges, Greenwood; Mark Moffet, Biloxi; Robert Wood, Wesly Compton, Ocean Springs; Brian Lee, Benton; Mike Wright, Pittsboro; J. T. Tedder, Vardaman; Ricky Doyle, Hazlehurst; Vernon Roberts, Meridian; Mike Fountain, Vancleave; Bruce Smith, Wesson, Mike McGee, Ty Hardin, Jim Hancock, Memphis, TN, Joe Burns, Nashville, TN; Chris Jones, Guy Stout, Monroe, LA; Ray O'Neal, West Memphis, AR; David Laser, Jonesboro, AR; Greg Godec, Peducha, KY; Mark Williams, Sikeston, MO; Nate Ratcliff, Kirksville, MO; Brent Harrin, Harrisburg, IL; and Reed Henderson, San Diego, CA. All of these men have been a great asset to our Chapter.

Mississippi Alpha's athletic ability and participation have grown and prospered. We are represented by three winning football teams: "Phi Kappa Psi," "Hawg Slappers," and "The Parent Club." These men not only portray good sportsmanship, but also are fine athletes. Our Chapter also involves itself in swimming, golf, bowling, softball, and basketball.

We are extremely proud of Brothers Rush Mosby and Nick Bragorgos. Rush is serving as Corresponding Secretary for the Interfraternity Council, and Nick was recently elected to serve in the Associated Student Body Senate.

Homecoming activities at Ole Miss were held on October 24. The Phi Psis had a most memorable weekend. Friday and Saturday night we were entertained by live bands, and held our traditional homecoming steer roast. Many alumni stopped by, and it was just great seeing them again. We would like to thank them for all the moral and financial support they have given us.

Accomplishments have dominated this fall semester and will continue to reign throughout the year. If this organization were measured by success, it would pass with flying colors!

Missouri Enthusiasm

Upon returning to the University of Missouri late last August, the men of Missouri Alpha began what can now be proclaimed as one of the most successful fall semesters in the Chapter's recent history. From an extremely successful Phi Psi "500" to a 150 mile exchange with Kansas Alpha, the enthusiasm at Missouri Alpha has remained at a constant high.

The semester began with seven new Brothers being introduced to the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi. They were: Ken Newman and Dale Doerhoff, Chesterfield; Theodore Huff, St. Charles; Steven Maass, St. Louis; Bob Adelmann and Mike Smiley, Ballwin; and David Dunn, Manchester.

In addition to these seven initiates, Missouri Alpha pledged a class of nineteen. These included: John Amick and Robert Ellis III, Kansas City; Greg Wynne, Harrisonville; Gary Hill and Gordon Hill, Pleasant Hill; K. B. Horseman, Weston; Jeff Hall and Stanton Shoemaker, Clinton; Kevin Short, Kirksville; Todd Weber, Arnold; Tom Faulhaber, Victor Kelly, and William Mansfield, St. Louis; Doug Doerhoff, John Finnegan, Scott Matthews, and Eric Mullikin, Chesterfield; Mike Karagiannis, Creve Couer; and Gregg Ivers, Atlanta, GA.

Officers for the fall semester were: John Abbott, GP; Scott Stephenson, VGP; Scott Diener, AG; Randy Reiners, P; Mark Mc-Donald, BG; Ted Barr, SG; Gregg Archambault, Hod; Howard Wolfgang, Phu; John Bowman, Hi; and Kevin Powell, Pledge Trainer.

September 19 marked the date for one of Missouri Alpha's most successful Phi Psi "500" ever. Over two thousand Mizzou students flocked to the Phi Psi house for the afternoon's tricycle race between sorority pledge classes. For the second year in a row the Pi Beta Phi sorority trike riders were the winners. That evening, at an all-campus party, the crowning of the queen took place. The winner was Jill James of the Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority. Overall spirit winner for the week's activities was the Alpha Chi Omega sorority. Chairmen for this year's event were Tim Mankus, Ted Huff, and Steve Spadarotto.

Other social events during the semester included a dinner exchange with the Alpha Chi Omega sorority, a country club dance with the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, a "Jefferson Duo" formal with the FIJIs, a "Welcome to Mizzou" exchange with newly chartered Alpha Gamma Delta sorority, Parent's weekend, Dad's weekend, a 150 mile road trip to Kansas Alpha on the weekend of November 21-23, and our Christmas Formal on December 5.

On the sports scene we were extremely competitive. After reaching the second round of the playoffs in intramural softball, Mo Alpha remained in the top ten in the overall intramural standings for the rest of the semester. Top individual contributors were Jeff Darr, Kevin Duffey, Jamie Underhill, and Bill Richerson.

Much needed renovations to the house were completed over the summer. Our Housing Corporation spent an estimated $25,000 to complete the overall project which included a new bathroom, a set of reinforced decorative pillars, and a new paint job for the hundred year-old wing of the house.

On campus, Ted Barr and Scott Debandt worked over the summer as orientation leaders, introducing incoming freshmen to college life at Missouri. Debandt was also chosen as one of five finalists for Missouri's Homecoming King. Barr, Ken Newman, and Scott Diener were all selected to serve on executive student advisory committees. John Abbott was chosen for the Interfraternity Council Judicial Board.

Looking forward to this spring, Missouri Alpha has many activities planned. They include Founder's Day celebrations on February 19, Spring Formal, Greek Week Sing, Mom's weekend, and "Cabaret," our largest rush party of the year.

The men of Missouri Alpha would like to extend an invitation to all Brothers and alumni to come visit the house at any time. The doors are always open.

Monmouth Rebuilding

The ocean's temperature might be low here in West Long Branch, but the spirits of New Jersey Beta are high. Our fall pledge class is the largest seen in many years. They are Joseph Appello, Howell Township; Jody Graber, Montvale; William Grabowski, Chadwick Beach; Thomas Hartman, Beach Haven; Joseph Kody, Vernon; Brian O'Kane, Old Bridge; Michael Reynolds, Margate; Kevin Scheimreit, Beach Haven; Joseph Sciara, Westwood; and Jon Tumpey, Ocean Township. They are a highly motivated group and are living up to our expectations

Spring Weekend '81 included the initiation of our spring pledge class. Under the direction of Pledge Master Ken Engel, seven new Brothers were inducted: Michael Deutsch, Ridgewood; Vince Forcinito, Vineland; Joe Martoccia, Plainfield; Tim Pitko, Cinnaminson; Doug Rainer, Philadelphia; Lee Slimm, Middletown; and Craig Weiss, Pinebrook.

We are proud of our on and off-campus image, and are striving hard to maintain it. When the smoke cleared at the end of Greek Week festivities Phi Kappa Psi proved what athletics are all about. With our adrenalin flowing, we successfully defended our title as Greek Week Champions. The president of the College awarded us the first place trophy.

The Brothers believe that a healthy body leads to a healthy mind. With this knowledge, we have Brothers making their mark in fields from Electrical Engineering to Political Science. However, the Brothers believe that being social is also important. Our parties range from small get togethers to wall to wall people. Phi Kappa Psi is well represented in Student Government with Pat Browne and John Lubben serving as Senators. Recent graduating Brothers include Bill Harvin, Ed Kivior, Alumni Director; and Bob Lesser.

Although our Victorian House has been removed in the name of progress, we are making do with other facilities. One of our locations offers a view of the Atlantic Ocean. New Jersey Beta wishes all Chapters throughout the country continued success, and is looking forward to getting together with Brothers from nearby Chapters.

Nebraska Thanks, alumni!

After a restful summer, the Brothers of Nebraska Alpha returned to initiate four men into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi: Tim Potthoff, Omaha; Dwight Naber, Waco; Alan McCoy, Arapahoe; and Rick Ackerman, Gothenburg.

Leading the Chapter into the new school year are our newly elected officers: Kirk Hovendick, GP; Dave Eskra, VGP; Joe Casey, AG; Mark Fesler, P; Dave Mitchell, BG; John Henry Schonewise, SG; Jeff Johnson, Phu; and Kurt Williamson, Hi. Mike Rasmussen and Bob Gregg are Fraternity Educators.

Thanks to our Alumni Association, we have received more than $30,000 in contributions for new windows throughout the entire Chapter house. They are trademarked Pella double glazed, double hung windows. The windows not only add to the beauty of the house, but will cut heating costs in half. We are very grateful for the strong alumni support we receive.

Our fourth annual Phi Psi "500" was held on October 25; this year's proceeds were donated to Cedar's Home for Children. The "500" is a sorority pledge activity. There are events for each chapter such as: beauty contest, cheer contest, and the tricycle race. The day is concluded by a pig roast and a dance in the street.

Nebraska Alpha has several Brothers involved in activities around campus: three on the Student Advisory Board, one in the Accounting Association, three on the Interfraternity Council, one on the Judicial Board, and two in the Marketing Club. Also, we are proud to announce that we had nine Brothers attend the District Conference in Ames, IA.

The Brothers of Nebraska Alpha would like to invite all alumni to stop by, and best wishes to all other Chapters and Colonies.

Northwestern Spirited Fall

The Illinois Alpha Chapter culminated its spring activities with a series of service projects undertaken to raise money for the Chicago Area Multiple Sclerosis Society. These included our third annual Superstars competition and "Heaven and Hell," the most highly attended fraternity party of the Northwestern school year. Altogether, over $6000 was raised for the society and the Chapter advanced its position as a leader in campus activity.

This spirit of Chapter activity was continued through another splendid performance in the fall Rush Week in which Rush Chairmen Kip Perry, '80, Doug Banister, '80, and Bill Meyer, '81 led us in the pledging of sixteen fine young men in addition to our two spring pledges Scott Shepherd, Hillsborough, CA and Kevin Dowling, Springfield, IL. The new pledges are: Dave Arai, Barrington, IL, Eric Coleman, Beverly Hills, CA, Jeffrey Colin, Los Angeles, CA, Andrew Deckas, Edina, MN, Andrew Ellis, Stamford, CT, Doug Gilbert, Maplewood, NJ, John Greenberg, St. Louis, MO, Ron King, Ada, MN, Neil Lilley, Prairie Village, KS, Frank Norman, Edina, MN, Steve Olsen, Wheaton, IL, Steve Palmer, Greenwich, CT, Steve Romick, Encino, CA, Larry Rubey, Centerville, OH, Rich Sevferlich. Elmhurst, IL, and Mike Weingarten, Houston, TX, as well as Kevin and Scott will undoubtedly become outstanding additions to the Chapter.

We also start into Fall Quarter at Northwestern with a new set of Greek-letter officers led by James P. Highland, '80, GP, and rounded out by Frederick G. Shedd, '79, VGP; Dale J. Raar, '80, P; Timothy W. Joranko, '80, AG; Lawrence S. Michel, '81, BG; Paul F. Burtis, '81, SG; Mark W. McArthur, '81, Hod; Robert Goldrich, '81, Phu; and William S. Meyer, '81, Hi. We're sure these new officers will lead the Chapter through a successful fall as have the long list of their predecessors.

One item of particular interest is that an alumni committee composed of alumni and undergraduates has been formed to address a number of needed improvements to the Chapter house. They will be working on this project during the coming year.

Members of Illinois Alpha and its pledges are well represented on the university's varsity sports teams. Brothers John Trautwein, Blake Lynch, Paul Tichy, Tim Joranko, Doug Blake, and Mark Kirby are on the baseball squad. Doug Banister, John Enquist, and pledge Steve Romick swim for the Wildcats. Bill Meyer is on the golf team. Pledge Jeff Colin is on the soccer squad and pledge Rich Seyferlich participates in both track and cross country. Brother Jim Morris is captain and an organizer of the growing lacrosse club that represents the university in intercollegiate competition in that sport. Bob McMurray can be seen cheering the football team on as one of the school's varsity cheerleaders.

In other campus activities, Brother Steve Stark starred in the university's televised Waa-Mu show last spring along with graduated seniors Doug Moffit and Andrew Ade. Rob Glesener was president of Northwestern's Interfraternity Council as well as recipient of the Lincoln Academy Award presented by Governor Thompson for scholastic achievement and service to the university. The chapter celebrated the return of Mike McCormick from Germany after a year of study abroad as a recipient of an AIESEC scholarship. The Chapter was also well represented on the Dean's List and other various honoraries as its members continue to distinguish themselves academically within the university.

The Illinois Alpha Chapter would like to voice its deep regret of the loss to the Greek system at Northwestern of the Delta Tau Delta Chapter because of difficulties within that chapter.

The Brothers at Northwestern are looking forward to another successful year in which the Chapter and its members continue as leaders within the Greek system and the university as a whole.

Ohio State President of Student Government

For the second time in the past three years, an Ohio Delta Phi Psi was elected President of the Undergraduate Student Government here at Ohio State University. Brother Robert S. Pritchard is the new USG president; plus, Bob was initiated into the Junior Honorary—Bucket and Dipper, and he was selected to be a member of the 1981 OSU Homecoming Court.

At the Greek Awards Ceremony, Ohio Delta won the All Sportsmanship Award. In May, Ohio Delta, for the second year sponsored a cook out for the benefit of the participants in the Wheel Chair Olympics. In the spring intramurals, we placed second in the soccer tournament and in swimming.

Ohio Delta walked off with Grand Championship honors in the Ohio State 1981 tennis tournament sponsored by Pi Beta Phi Sorority. In addition, Brother Randy McLaughlin (holding trophy), garnered the individual title for the third straight Scott Harris replaced Steve Eisnaugle on the Interfraternity Council as the Scarlet Representative. Brother Eisnaugle transferred to Dallas, Texas. Chapter President Mark Steele was entitled an IFC Archon.

On May 24, 1981, Brother William Randall McLaughlin won the Pi Beta Phi Tennis Tournament for the third consecutive year. Ohio Delta, as a whole, won the Grand Championship Award for the Tennis Tournament.

Ohio Delta sponsored the District II Council on the weekend of October 30th and 31st of this year. Nine Chapters were represented at the Council meeting.

The theme of Homecoming 1981 was "Applause Applause," and this year our homecoming counterpart was the Kappa Alpha Theta sorority.

On May 22, 1981, Ohio Delta introduced eight pledges to the secrets of Phi Kappa Psi. Our new Brothers are: John Ronald Blackburn, Cleveland; John Robert Sheley, Centerville; Robert Allen Rust, Hamilton; Timothy Paul Herderick, Columbus; John Everett Clinton, Middletown; Paul Carlo Damiani, Grandview; Cornelius Boersma, IV, Sidney; and Timothy Bull, Upper Arlington.

Ohio Delta presently has ten pledges and expects to get thirty more through Formal Rush. Mom Vogt, our illustrious house mother is back with us again. This year she starts her sixteenth year with Ohio Delta.

Ohio Delta would like to wish Phi Psis nationwide academic success throughout this scholastic year.

Ohio Wesleyan Anticipation

We here at Ohio Alpha are proud to announce the initiation of 9 new Brothers into the ranks of Phi Kappa Psi. They are: Duffy Bowditch, PA; James Austin, PA; John Glynn, CT; Andrew Kraft, PA; Norman Lewis, NJ; John Reams, OH; Paul Mitchell, MA; and Jeffrey Stern, CT. This brings our current membership to over 1545 Brothers.

Fall rush '81, led by chairman Randy Roessle, is coming to a close and once again many fine young men will join us on Pledge Day. We anticipate sounding the cannon 25 times, once for each new pledge.

With fall underway, Brothers Bruce Tall, Chris Shepler, and Pat MaGraw lead the Bishops football team into Division III competition. Brothers John Gower and Scott Nelson lead the O.W.U. soccer team in its quest for the OAC title. Sophomore Mike Klonsky is running for the cross country team and senior Jeff Prior is testing his endurance in the Columbus Marathon. Concerning intramural competition, so far so good! Both our football and soccer teams are currently undefeated.

Brothers Tall and Lewis are co-chairmen of the social service and social committees respectively for the Interfraternal Council. They added significantly to the success of Rush Kickoff.

Founders Day is approaching and will be honored February 19 with a banquet dinner and guest speaker. Plans for the Cannon Banquet, directed by Alumni Chairman Jeff Eisnaugle, are in progress.

If you have not received a copy of "The Alphan," then please drop us a line, or give us a call, and we would be most happy to inform you of the latest happenings around the Chapter. Alumni are always welcomed and please don't hesitate to drop in and say

Oklahoma State Successful "500"

The fall semester started with newly elected officers: Jamie Dulaney, GP; John Steen, VGP; Kevin Muschinske, P; Don Wheeler, AG; Ryan Moore, BG; Michael Meredith, SG; Tim Laughlin, Hod; Ted Coatney, Phu; and Jim Wiederholt, Hi. Plans for more Chapter involvement in campus activities and a better rush program were goals set by President Dulaney, '79.

Summer rush netted nine sharp pledges for the fall class. They are: Clay Donaldson, Eric Howard, Trey Morrison, Mike Robinson, and Mike Sundergroth, all of Tulsa; Scott Cox, of Broken Arrow; Kraig Valadez, of Oklahoma City; Troy Holden, of Vinita; and Mark Barless, of Big Cabin.

Five new Brothers were initiated into Phi Kappa Psi on October 10. They are: Stephen Montee and Steve Ray, both of Tulsa; Steve Plaster, of Bartlesville; Phillip Vasquez, of Midwest City; and Rick Schuhr, of Ft.

Myers, FL.

The Phi Psi "500" was held on September 27, still remaining the most celebrated Greek event at Oklahoma State University. Phi Mu sorority won the spirit contest held the whole week long before the "500" race. Pi Beta Phi sorority won the famed tricycle race and Kappa Sigma fraternity won the hamburger eating contest. Over $900 were raised for the handicapped children.

The annual Bloodbowl, a football brawl between members and pledges, saw the members once again victors, 21-7. The Brothers have never lost to the pledges.

In intramurals, Phi Psi posted a 4-1 record in A-team football.

Plans are in the making for the Founder's Day Formal and a 15 year Celebration; dates to be announced later.

We extend an open invitation to all Brothers to stop by and visit Oklahoma

Oregon Successful Rush

Spring term of 1981 finished off a very successful year for Oregon Alpha. The new pledges are: Glen Duhe, Oakland, CA; Scott Herbers, Medford; Michael Hunter, Salem; Paul Jamptgaard, Mark Kaufmann, Steve Kokes, and Mathew "Ray" Matsushima, Portland; Andy Nelson, Beaverton; Robert Payne, Honolulu, HA; Adam Rittenburg, Portland; Kirk Stubblefield, Eugene; Jay Wallace, Portland; Devin Wate, Jacksonville; and Chris Wheelwright, Tigard.

Last spring also netted the Chapter the Vice President's Cup, once again denoting Oregon Alpha as the campus living organization with the highest grade point average.

New officers governing this term are: President Mark Warner, Vice President John Ghilarducci, Recording secretary Kenmar Bual, Treasurer Tom Douglass, Corresponding secretary Jim Richards, Historian James Gilbaugh, Brett Graboyes Sergeantat-arms, Messenger Michael O'Connell, and Chaplain Dean Larson.

Fall rush of 1981 turned out some very impressive figures. Out of 460 rushees, 245 preferenced Phi Psi. Due to the full capacity of the house, only a limited number of fall pledges could be taken. They are: Brian Palmquist, Tacoma, WA; Steven Van Baest, Beaverton; David Ford, Spring Valley, CA; Pat Widmer, Medford; Robert Blanchette, Portland; Mitchell Vance, Anaheim, CA; Kenneth Zweber, Beaverton; Bruce Overstreet, Everett, WA; Scott Bradbury, and Sloane "Chip" Barker, Menlo Park, CA.

The strong point of Oregon Alpha is its diversity. Paul Bain, Jay Wallace, and Mike Goreman play on the varsity basketball, football, and soccer teams, respectively. Rob Webb and Brad Wilson are the newest members of the U. of O. rally squad.

In community service and campus politics, the Phi Psis of Oregon excel. Some positions are: Mark Hallquist, Interfraternity Council president; C. J. Balfe, student council vice president; George Glass, student union governing board; John Ghilarducci, constitution committee; and Alan Scearce, academic review board.

To sum it all up, Oregon Alpha is quickly becoming one of the strongest chapters on campus. We would like to extend an open invitation to the alumni to visit the house. Alumni suggestions and advice are key to the continuing strength of Oregon Alpha.

Oregon State Getting It Together

Talk about house improvements and you know that you are talking about Oregon Beta Chapter.

Thanks to Greg Edens and Mike Skrip, who lived in the house this summer, all Brothers returned to a like-new house. House improvements included a new outside stairway which provides access to the roof, painting in the hallways, repair of the leaky roof over the upstairs sleeping porch and garden work around the house to add the comforts of home.

The House Corporation provided money to furnish new chairs for the dining room, and also helped in funding for the repair of the leaky roof.

Phi Psi, with the Chi Omega sorority, raised over $2,000 in our 5th annual Phi Psi Dribble for the Oregon Cystic Fibrosis Foundation on April 25, 1981. We began dribbling a basketball from Corvallis at 3:30 a.m., Saturday. We reached our destination, Portland State University, at 5 p.m. We dribbled two basketballs 87.7 miles to another successful year for the foundation and the ever increasing Brotherhood of the Chapter.

We would like to welcome five newly initiated members to the Chapter. Initiated April 11, 1981, were: Walt Collins, Calabasas; Bernie Hopwood, Canby; Mike Pierson, The Dalles; and Dave Burger, Salem. Initiated on Sept. 17, 1981, was Steve Long, Portland.

Thanks to the hard work of Dave Prater and Greg Edens, during Rush Week for fall term of 1981, we welcomed 13 pledges into the Chapter. They are: Robb Corbett, Olympia; Rod Christison, Beaverton; Tim O'keeffe, Lake Oswego; Russ Suhre, Salem; Mike Larraneta, Burns; John Bollinger, Lake Oswego; James Olsen, Albany; Hans Hoelscher, Beaverton; Matt Heath, The Dalles; Dave Wheaton, West Linn; Tim McAllister and Joe Criqui, Portland; and Fred Wist, Lake Oswego. All were pledged on Sept. 30, 1981.

Elections for new Chapter officers were held on May 25, 1981. Elected were: GP, Bob Zochert; VGP, Doug Bratz; P, Mike Skrip; AG, Walt Collins; BG, Phil Allen; SG, Mike Whitmarsh; Hod, Mike Pierson; Phu, Shawn Dryden; Hi, Ray Peters. All are contributing to the ever growing Oregon Beta Chapter.

Grades for spring term, 1981, saw Phi Psis rank third out of 28 fraternities on campus. The live-in members ranked first overall. Scholarship chairman Bob Zochert kept the motivation strong throughout spring term. His efforts, and that of the Brothers, were definitely recognized.

Founders Day for winter term will be held here at the house. We want to schedule it for a weekend the Beaver basketball team will be playing at home.

Congratulations John Seal. John was elected as our new House Corporation president

Pennsylvania Newsletter Received

How about this! Two newsletters in a row from Penn Iota! This is just one example of the progress our strengthened Chapter has made with our inspired leadership. At the forefront of this leadership are GP, Skip Harris; VGP, Chuck Gumas; P, Tiger Goldman; and new Chapter Advisor, Don Duke. We are also honored to have Carl Sheppard, '68, Rich Lobron, '78, and Fred Guyott, '66, serve as our House Corporation president, treasurer, and secretary. We extend continued thanks to Woody Wadlinger, '58, remaining as Vice President. This year's homecoming was dedicated to House Corporation president Joe O'Neill, '50, and treasurer Walt McNutt, '49, who are both stepping down after 25 years of service to Phi Kappa Psi.

Social Chairman, "Zero" Mostel, helped make our semester-commencing Come-Get-A-Lei party the talk of the campus. We are happy to report that there was no police intervention at this "subdued" affair. From this party, and following rush events, Rush Chairman Eli Zinner has rounded up another fine group of soon-to-be pledges. We hope this class of freshmen will be of the same high quality as last year's thirteen new initiates

This year the Brothers are putting more than just their feet in their mouths, as we hail the return of the meal plan. Connie's culinary expertise, our intellectually stimulating dinner conversations, and gluttony lend to a unique dining experience, savored by Brothers, friends of the Chapter, and occasionally by (brave) alumni.

And so begins another semester.

Penn State Another Successful Year

Pennsylvania Lambda is looking forward to another successful year with three pledges starting out fall term. They are: Tom Brown, Allentown; Steve O'Reilly, Pittsburg; and Dave Slogar, Harrisburg. They are fine men and will be a valuable asset to the Chapter. We would like to offer congratulations to our three new initiates: Dan Martone, Fox

Chapel; Andy Cutler, Oil City; and Doug Moyer, Reading. Under the guidance of spring Fraternity Educator John Desanti they have become great Brothers and will be a fine addition to the Chapter.

Once again Penn Lambda had a very busy and impressive spring term. The annual Phi Psi "500" was a tremendous success, raising $20,000 which was contributed to the Second Mile, a local charity building a home for underprivileged boys. This was the largest amount collected in the history of the race and both the 1,800 runners and 25,000 spectators lining the race route enjoyed a fantastic event. A week later Penn Lambda was in the limelight again as we won first place overall in Greek Week competition. Everybody is very proud of these accomplishments and hopes to continue our winning ways this year. Last spring a new slate of officers was elected for this school year. They are: Paul K. Martin, GP; Charles Dent, VGP; Robert Meves, P; William Kesack Jr., AG; Thomas Thompson, BG; Steven Richards, Phu; Fred Kelly, Hod; Richard Evans, Hi; and Daniel Mackley, SG.

Phi Psis as always are very active on the Penn State campus. Dave Dixon is this year's Interfraternity Council President and Paul Martin has a chairmanship in this year's Dance Marathon. Leading this year's nationally ranked Penn State soccer team are Steve Blumenthal, Scott Gardiner, and Doug Moyer. As in the past we have somebody playing on the football field for us on Saturday mornings, except this year in a different way. Carl Suffredini is a member of Penn State's Blue Band. We are looking forward to a fine year in intramurals. As of now, the football, golf, bowling, and tennis teams are undefeated.

On October 10 we had our annual Home-coming celebration which was a great success. The Brothers always enjoy seeing our alumni and exchanging stories about the past. We would like to thank everyone for coming and enjoying themselves. Special thanks to all alumni who have pledged money for our fund drive, The "403" Fund. Response has been encouraging, and we deeply appreciate your support.

As we look forward to another year, we welcome any Phi Psis that happen to be in Lion Country to stop by and visit us as we always enjoy visitors at Penn State.

Purdue Forever Improving

Dedication, hard work, and that PHI PSI spirit are the complete reasons for an ever improving Chapter. President B. Schilling did an outstanding job organizing the two summer work sessions in which a beautiful new ''wet'' bar was embedded into ''Croom's Room'' and the Great Hall carpet was removed and the old oak floor was sanded and refinished to its original condition. In addition to the Great Hall, new throw rugs, to preserve the immaculate wax finish, and four remodeled couches were well received due to the tremendous performance of house manager Jim Fox.

These refinements could not have been accomplished without the help of our newly initiated Brothers. They are: Brian K. Acton, Lebanon; Gary V. Balser, Fort Wayne; Duane P. Beeler, Evansville; Stephen L. Crawford, Cincinnati, OH; Winsor F. Eveland, Mt. Union, PA; Thomas B. Manning, Schenectady, NY; Carl Modelevsky, Sharon, MA; Jeffrey A. Niewiadomski, La-Porte; Daniel B. Phillips, Fulton, NY; and Guy V. Tedesco, Jeffersonville.

Rush culminated another successful year with great thanks going to Rush Chairman Dan Fisher. The 13 new fall pledges are: Ronald R. Benton, Plato Center, IL; Gary L. Billingsley, Palm Harbor, FL; James Camp Jr., Noblesville; Mark Cartwright, Glen Ellyn, IL; William J. Goedde and Roger J. Hinton, Haubstadt; Ty Hite, Greenfield; Brian Maxwell, South Bend; Stephen T. Mc-Clure, Lebanon; Eric Seidensticker, Carmel; Kevin W. McQueeney, Greenfield; Angus Porraro, Pompano Beach, FL; and Scott Rentschler, Saline, MI. We feel these men will make a tremendous contribution to our Chapter.

Rhode Island Rhody Roars; Phi Psi First

As the Brothers of R.I. Beta return to school for the fall semester, expectations are high for another successful year.

Spirits were high as Phi Psi dominated the intramural sports scene during the spring semester. We won the overall intramural championship and placed at least one team in the playoffs in every intramural sport. We had two teams in the final four in volleyball and won the championship. We also had two basketball playoff teams and were the level two champions. Our football team is expecting a very strong showing this year returning every player from a final four squad last year.

In keeping with this spirit, the combined efforts of Phi Psi and Delta Zeta sorority grabbed second place honors in combined competition during the Greek Week celebration. In the fraternity division, Phi Psi exhibited an awesome display of teamwork in again capturing the first place title. We topped off Greek Week by placing fourth in Greek Sing with a medley dedicated to the memory of Robert P. Hayes.

In addition to this, we still managed to get the third highest accumulative grade average of all fifteen fraternities on campus.

We were also proud to welcome 21 new initiates and 6 new pledges. The addition of these new Brothers and pledges promises that Phi Psi will remain #1 for years to come.

We topped off the semester with the End Of The Year Block Party followed by a Post Block Party-Party with a good time had by all who attended.

The fall semester started appropriately with the elections of new officers. Those elected were: Vincent Prattico, GP; Mike Douglas, VGP; Mike Cavaretta, AG; Steve DiMuccio, BG; Tony Johnson, P; Martin Hering, AG; Emile Poisson, Hod; Dean Wilson, Hi; and Paul Nasser, Phu. Congratulations, guys.

We are also making our mark in campus extra-curricular activities. Curt Rapp and

The Brothers of Rhode Island Beta celebrate as Bill Guglietta (center, in Yankee's baseball cap) is elected president of the student body at the University of Rhode Island.

Martin Hering hold executive positions on the University of Rhode Island's Little Sister/Little Brother program, Joe Natale was recently elected Special Events Coordinator of the Interfraternity Council, and Don "Flipper" Coyne is the sports director of the campus radio station, WRIU. Three out of the four executive positions of the University's Student Recreational Services Council are held by Phi Psis. Those officers are: John Leahy, pres.; Mike Douglas, vice pres.; and Mark Wawer, business manager. But perhaps the biggest success story is the dramatic election of William Guglietta to the prestigious position of Student Body President.

Congratulations are also in order for Jason Osborn, Eric Viens, and J. James Cavaretta who recently tied the knot. Eric's wife, Carolyn, is a former Phi Psi Sweetheart.

The Homecoming celebration started off with Bloody Marys and Kraut-Dogs served at the house by alumni. We then proceeded to Meade Field to watch URI blank Northeastern, 33-0. URI was assisted in its win by Phi Psi's Rich Pelzer, offensive tackle; Mark Dennen, linebacker; Bob Sodderland, center, and Tony Johnson, free safety, who is only two interceptions short of becoming the URI pass-interception record holder. The celebration reached its climax as Phi Psi held its Homecoming Formal at the L'Apogee Ballroom in the prestigious Biltmore Plaza, Providence, R.I.

The Brothers of R.I. Beta would like to extend a warm invitation to all Brothers and wish them the best of luck in the years to come.

Rider Running Smoothly

New Jersey Alpha began its fall semester with 17 newly initiated Brothers. The Spring 81 pledge class consisted of: Jeffery Schmere and Robert Weisman, Co-Presidents; James Daley, Vice President; William Kirby, Treasurer; Thomas Schmidt, Secretary; Thomas Tuffy and Douglas Subers, Sergeants at Arms; Guiseppe DeFrancesco, Richard Dultz, Stephen Gerard, Andrew Holick, Brian Kape, Peter Madigan, Richard Morgan, Peter Nieto, Michael Plath, John Yankowski. Each of these men has already become an important part of our Chapter, and we are sure that they will continue to be.

In May our VGP was elected to the position of Vice President of the Interfraternity Council, congratulations!

On September 23 the Brothers planted two trees alongside of the campus lake and dedicated them to the ideals of Phi Psi Brotherhood.

September 26 was Soccer Saturday at Rider and the scene of a soccer alumni party here at the house. New Jersey Alpha has been the home of many of Rider's best soccer players and now houses eight current players.

The next day was our Chapter fishing trip. Deep sea fishing in the Atlantic produced a good many fish, and a great time for all who attended. Thanks go out to James Canning who arranged the trip.

Our Chapters dated rush was held on October 9. Nearly every Brother and rushee attended. October 16 is bid day and those rushees will become pledges. Also planned for that weekend is our house road trip to New York Beta at Syracuse University. New York Beta will be invited to our future events and hopefully our two Chapters will become closer.

South Carolina 125th Anniversary

South Carolina Alpha returned from several exceptional summer rush parties to pledge eight outstanding young men during fall rush. Pledges include: Rob Jones, Greenwood; Peter Kuhn, Hilton Head; Jeff Salter, Camden: Tommy Sluder and Tom Wagner, Columbia; John Warren, South Boston, VA; Bobby Wilbur, Columbia; and Jon Foster of Anderson whose grandfather, Robert Foster, was an Oregon Alphan of 1929.

Our Chapter worked with the United Way campaign this fall under the direction of Chapter Advisor Connor Harrison. We solicited donations from over 300 local merchants and closed in on a collection goal of $3,000. Local newspaper and radio coverage helped spread recognition for our project.

Other campus achievements have led to an upswing of notoriety. The spring term of '81 left us with the honorable title of Greek Week champions. We collected the most points during the Greek games and also won the community service project award. Dean Foster was selected to the IFC cabinet as editor of the GREEK FORUM. Our biggest annual project of the year, Tigerburn, brought together students, the University president, and the football team to celebrate the rivalry of the Carolina—Clemson game.

Founder's Day plans include dinner and a band party at a local country club.

Southern California Moving Up

With notes in hand, and a fixed stare riveted upon the unfamiliar keys of a type-writer, I suddenly realize the responsibility to inform our alumni and interested followers of the tremendous work done at California Delta over the past two semesters.

With obvious enthusiasm I am glad to report on the completion of a very successful rush, providing us with twenty-six new pledges: Mark Petruska, San Marino; Robert Odor, San Diego; John Wright, Matt Matthews and Jeff Cobb, Rolling Hills; Fred Wilcox, Stockton; Kelly Davis, Capistrano Beach; Pete McClafferty, Lafayette; David Mast, Western Springs, IL; Kevin Kollenda and Jeff Patterson, Laguna Beach; Dai Meagher, Piedmont; Shawn Campbell, Sacramento; Mike Gillespie, Dana Point; Dan Boyd, Newport Beach; Henry Humfreville, Lancaster; Kent Phillips, Jim Dunphy and Bob Hodges, Palos Verdes, John Lear, Fair Oaks; Mike Burney, Seal Beach; Nick Defterios, Los Angeles, Pat Munson, San Francisco; Gregg Davis, Denver, CO; John Reilly, Ramstren, Germany, and Curt Baker, Rochester, NY. A special mention is deserved by rush chairman Phil Walter, without whose dedication we couldn't have been this successful.

Along with our current pledge class, we are given additional reason to boast by welcoming ten new Brothers into Phi Kappa Psi: William Barkeley and Chris Allaire, Palos Verdes; Vince Zaninovich, Orange Cove; Lou Marino, Northridge; Alec Rosas, Mexico City, Mexico; Greg Zeronian, Pasadena; Dan Settelmayer, Whittier, John Reagan, Boston, MA; Dave Najarian, Walnut Creek; and Rick Russo, Downers Grove, IL.

We now have in excess of seventy-five members, and greatly enjoy the advantages of becoming a larger Chapter, both socially and athletically. We hope to make the 1981-82 season one of our strongest showings in interfraternity sports in recent years, and look to the input of new pledges and initiates to bolster an already blossoming reputation on the Row.

With the new semester upon us, we faced making a smooth and rapid transition to control of the new officers. Already proving themselves up to the task of operating the Chapter with the same efficiency of previous members are Chris Wilson, GP; Steve Harbor, VGP; Peter Hirsh, P; William Humfreville, AG; Andre DeMontesquiou, BG; Mark Stevens, SG, Marc Neff, Hod; John Cigliano, Phu; and Pete Belcher, Hi.

I want to make certain that everyone is informed about what is shaping up to be a spectacular Founders Day celebration, taking place February 19, 1982, at the Disneyland Hotel. Special arrangements are already being finalized, so it is essential that you reserve a spot early. If you are interested in attending please contact any officer at 642 W. 28th St., Los Angeles, CA 90007; or phone (213) 746-8705. We will be happy to accommodate as many Cal Deltans as possible.

Following an unfortunate lapse in responsibility that caused us to miss two SHIELD deadlines, I feel it necessary to point out that we are back, bigger and stronger than ever. We extend our most sincere wishes to all alumni to come by and see how California Delta is moving up, and to share in our good fortunes.

Southwest Texas New Leadership

The Brothers of Texas Gamma Chapter are getting ready for another productive year at Southwest Texas State University. We started off the semester by obtaining ten fine pledges. The new pledges are: James Alley, Uvalde; Jim Bankston, Houston; Nick Casas, San Antonio; Gary Goldstein, Houston; Gary Grief, Kerrville; Donald Hooper, Houston, Johnny Lopez, Brownwood; Toby Neves, Synder; John Osgerby, Plano; Bill Pommerhn, Iowa Falls; and Stephen Raley, Jasper.

The thirty-five members of our Chapter are under the outstanding leadership of these officers: Steve Edwards, GP, Jarrel Blanchard, VGP, Karl Means, AG, Russel Mitchel, BG; David Miller, P; Kevin Pillsbury, SG, Billy Ray Robbins, Hod; Rebby Brem, Phu; and Brad Moore, Hi.

Two of our Brothers have been honored by being elected to top campus positions. Brother David Miller was elected Vice-President of the Interfraternity Council while Brother John Haecker was elected President of Associated Student Government. By holding these important offices, these two Brothers have helped to increase our Chapter's involvement and strength on campus.

We are presently looking forward to a strong intramural season. Our football team, led by Brother David Terrel, has advanced to the playoffs. With the addition of our new pledges, we expect to remain in the top ranks for sporting events this semester.

Through our new leadership, Texas Gamma has been able to uphold and broaden our strong reputation at the University. With the talent of our new pledges, we will be able to continue to be the best Fraternity on campus.

Southwestern Louisiana Twenty-three Pledges

Louisiana Beta started the fall semester off with a bang. Our hard work on rush paid off with twenty-three fine pledges. They are: Brian Barrilleaux, Rosepine; Todd Mitchell, Delcombre; Sid LeBlanc and Eddie Frederick, Delcombre; Barry Vooher and Curtis Bean, Lafayette; Greg Spicer, New Iberia; James Blackwell, Morgan City, Wayne Hoover and Warren Lewis, Lafayette; Stephen Colvin, Baton Rouge; Andrew Hubchen, Dwayne Fatherrce, and Michael Camardelle, New Orleans; Richard Tillis, Nashville; Sanders Louiverre, Lafayette; Sidney Fontenox, New Iberia; Marty Richard, Sunset; Lonnie Richard, Curch Point; Robert Justice, Lafayette; Darren Eldridge and Charles Smith, New Iberia; and Greg Thibodeaux, Curch Point.

On May 2, 1981 two new Brothers were welcomed into Phi Kappa Psi: Cameron Clayson, Baton Rouge; and Darrell Taylor, Crowley.

In April we had the first Ph Factor Party, Phi Psi Phantasy Phling. Each room in the house was decorated in a different theme. The front yard was an eighteen hole puttputt golf course, and the back yard was our own Tropical Island retreat.

Our Homecoming was November 7. We are working hard to make it as successful as rush, and looking forward to a great semester.

Stanford Lodge Proposed

The ranks of Cal Beta have tripled since spring rush of 1981 with the admission of twenty-one fine pledges. (Pledges currently outnumber actives 21-8.) It goes without saying that spring rush was a success, the rise in membership far surpassing the expectations of the rush committee.

The Fraternity has also acquired some new leadership since spring with Andy Johanos and Tom Garret assuming the positions of President and Vice President respectively. Rico Hernandez, a graduate of the Stanford class of '81, is running for the office of Archon of District VI.

The Chapter started off the 1981-82 school year with its first "successful" beach trip in two years. Somehow the sun managed to shine that day and, seemingly by chance, nobody forgot to bring the hot dogs or the firewood.

Thanks to the enterprising efforts of such members as Tom Garret, Andy Beal, and others, we are happy to announce that the University has approved a proposal to build a meeting lodge for Cal Beta. Architectural plans are presently being drawn up and, if all goes well, the new establishment should be well broken-in by this time next year. Since we do not have a residence here on campus, and have gone so low in previous years as to hold our meetings in university classrooms, the new lodge should prove to be an extremely worthwhile investment.

Noteworthy activities planned for autumn of '81 include a charity film scheduled for November 13, an alumni tailgater on October 24, and, of course, the initiation of our twenty-one pledges on November 7. We are also tentatively entertaining the idea of sponsoring a foster child.

Syracuse Strong and Active

A great deal of hard work and much excitement are characteristics found at New York Beta this year!

Our Fraternity Educator, Brian Selling, is working quite hard with our ten new pledges. The Brothers of New York Beta are confident that this new class of pledges will do justice to our Chapter and to the entire Fraternity. The new pledge class consists of: Scott Allison, Ocean Grove, NJ; Robert Battista, Newton, MA; Robert Davis, Briarcliff Manor; Richard Klink, DeWitt; Patric Palcic, New Paltz; Tony Papantonis, Lexington, MA; Daniel J. Pitot, IV, New Canaan, CT; Timothy Poth, Buffalo; Jeff Slavich, Cheshire, CT; and Ron Wimpfheimer, Scarsdale.

Extensive plans were made and numerous details worked out for our annual Homecoming festivities. Homecoming '81, from October 16 to 18, included many activities. We had an amazing time when alumni showed up on Friday Evening for an informal get-together and party. On Saturday, the 17, we had registration, and a pre-game sour hour with the Brothers, Alumni, their wives, and friends. Cocktails and refreshments were served. The majority of us then went to watch the S.U. Orangemen battle Penn State (then ranked number two nationally) at Syracuse's Carrier Dome grid iron.

Later on Saturday evening, we had cocktails and dined with the alumni at The University Club in downtown Syracuse. Afterwards, we threw a party back at the New York Beta Chapter House. The party featured the popular band known as "The Rockodiles." This band is managed by one of our Brothers, Michael Mojo.

Prints of our New York Beta Chapter House were sold to alumni and Brothers in order to help raise money for our Contingency Fund. These artistic prints were created by alumnus Andrew Chalanick II, '75.

The annual Phi Kappa Psi-New York Beta Porch Party once again proved to be a great success. This year's party featured the very popular rock and roll band "Mr. Edd" on September 19.

Intramurals are an aspect of Greek life which we always look forward to. Our successes have outweighed our failures in sports competitions.

Brother Richard Wald holds a very significant position at S.U. He is president of University Union. Rich takes care of the behind-the-scenes promotion of numerous campus events.

Pledge Jeff Slavich is "Student Association Speaker."

Pledge Daniel J. Pitot, IV is a member of the S.U. varsity soccer team.

Finally, we at New York Beta wish to express our sympathy for an alumnus who recently passed away. Dick Wiles, who died last spring, will be missed by all of us.

Texas Shines On

As the heaviness of fall descends upon the universities and colleges across the country the light shines bright here in Austin on Texas Alpha. With the initiation of our fine spring pledge class, and the formal pledging of thirty-three outstanding fall pledges we have plenty of reason to shine.

Although the semester is still young Texas Alpha can do no wrong. Many activities have already filled up our calendar and more are in the first stages of planning. On October 18 Texas Alpha sponsored the first annual "PHI PSI FIELD DAY," brainchild of Douglas A. Throckmorton. This single activity is destined to set and become the standard by which all other fraternities will hope and pray they can achieve. The fall pledge classes of all of the sororities on the university campus have been invited to field teams in six events with festivities kicking off at 1:00. The Brothers of Texas Alpha are fired up as Panhellenic Council has given its full support and 100% sorority participation is expected. The proceeds of the "PHI PSI FIELD DAY" will go to the Austin State School, one of our philanthropies.

Once again, Texas Alpha is very active in athletics. In both categories of supporting U.T.'s intercollegiate teams and fielding intramural teams, proudly wearing the letters of PHI KAPPA PSI, Texas Alpha is a leader here on campus. On October 8 Texas Alpha and Alpha Delta Pi sorority participated in the annual UT-OU pep rally. After a week of preparing banners, posters, a papier-mache #1 that stood twenty feet in the air, and a full size "sooner's" wagon, we were on hand at Memorial Stadium to show our spirit. At the end of the friendly competition between the whole Greek community, Texas Alpha and the ADPI's left with first place honors. As for our intramural teams, Texas Alpha has fielded a strong volleyball team and a football team that has been practicing since the beginning of September, awaiting the start of the season.

As we all know wherever light shines there is always a dark spot. Texas Alpha is no exception. We feel a great loss because our cook, Annie, has decided that it is time for her to retire. After 10 years of faithful service to Texas Alpha we wish her the very best. Thanks.

We are very proud here of one particular Brother, Steve H. Kight. Steve this past spring was elected to fill the hoves of "Hook 'Em," the U.T. Basketball team mascot. He was present at all of the basketball games and played an important roll in cheering the team to a fine season record.

Summer and Fall rush this year was tremendous. Led by Rush Captain Barry Jones, with the help of Tad Dewree and many other Brothers, we have one of the best pledge classes on campus. Rush started with spring roundup and continued on through the summer with major rush parties in Dallas, Austin, Houston, and San Antonio. Then came our annual "shipwreck" party the week before formal rush. August 24 saw the start of formal rush and for the next four days the war within the Greek community raged on. When the smoke had cleared and the wounded had been carried away, Texas Alpha had thirtythree sharp pledges.

The officers for this fall are: Bennett J. Roberts III, GP; Kyle T. Quast, VGP; Bennett P. Grayson, AG; Carl F. Schupp III, BG; Steven M. Snell, SG; David N. Roberts, P; Philp O. Pumprey, Hod; Douglass R. Putney, Hi; Frank D. Haught, Phu.

Our Alumni have also been very active with us recently. Plans are on the drawing board to make many new house improvements in the near future. We would like to thank all of the Alumni who helped us out in rush this fall and to please stop by and see us.

Good luck to all Chapters, we hope that your fall is as great as ours has been. Remember, all Brothers are welcome to stop by and 'howdy' with us. Until then, PHI PSI shines on.

Texas Tech Great Things Ahead

As soon as the semester began, Texas Betans were preparing for the busy school year ahead. We took six fine pledges in a highly successful rush campaign. They are Mark Allen Bumpass, Austin; Michael Brett Giles, Rockwall; Kent Gregory Parham, Ft. Worth, Victor Ramirez, Jr., Seymour, Kerry Todd Smith, Duncanville; and Pickett Edward Warden, Grants, NM. Also, we would like to recognize that we have 17 members in our newly-revived Centaur program, which is headed by Bob Reister. 'Centaurs' are individuals who are interested in pledging, but are ineligible due to insufficient hours or residency, or an inadequate GPA.

The sixth annual Phi Psi Phandango was held October 2 on the eve of the Texas Tech vs. Texas A & M football game. This year, Phandango was held with a "Battle of the Bands" theme. "Pieces," "Cat Dancin," and "Dancin' Dean and the Green Beans" all competed for a $250 prize and the right to play another set in front of the large captivated audience. (Dancin' Dean won.) A great deal of exposure was given to the Phi Psi name. Such exposure is possibly far more valuable to us than any earnings which might have been recognized.

October 23-31 will be marked by the second annual Phi Psi/March of Dimes haunted house which will be conducted at the Texas Beta Lodge. Last year this event provided fun and fellowship for the Brothers as well as a large donation to the March of

Of course there's Armadillo races! But only in Texas, and especially as part of Texas Beta's Phi Psi Phandango.

Dimes. This year we hope to have an even larger crowd, and a bigger, better spook house.

The House Corporation is busy preparing for the purchase of our new lot on the addition to Greek Circle. Plans have been drawn and we hope to have had input from everyone at the House Corporation meeting on November 7 at Homecoming. Events which are also planned for Homecoming include the Donut Breakfast, Annual Parade, Football Game (Tech vs. TCU), Champagne Party, All-U-Can-Eat Bar-B-Q Supper, and Homecoming Party.

Founder's Day is tentatively being planned for February 18, 1982. We would like to invite All Texas Beta Alumni to this grand event. We hope to finalize plans for our new lodge at this time, and we want input from all Chapter Alumni. We will send you additional information on the lodge and on Founder's Day as soon as it becomes available.

Toledo House Repairs

The Ohio Eta chapter has been working throughout the summer on the chapter house. Brothers returning from summer break found new doors, gutters, painting and a repaired roof on the house. We would like to thank our alumni for helping us with this project, especially Fred Jewett, Chapter Advisor, and Rick Williams, Housing Corporation President.

New officers have been elected: Scott Williams, GP; Jim McKeen, VGP; Phil Cleminson, P; and Dave Tough, SG. With the appointment of new committee chairmen, we are looking forward to a productive term.

Around campus, several Brothers are leaving their mark. Rick Clegg and Wes Schaub are Student Senators and Rick is also a member of the Varsity Cheerleading squad. Wes has been appointed director of the Student Information Center and is also the Interfraternity Council Rush Chairman.

Homecoming is fast approaching and our nominee for Homecoming Queen is Mary Byanski, president and one of the most devoted members of our Sweetheart organization. We are building our float this year with Alpha Omicron Pi Sorority and Brother Dan Morrison is diligently working on the Homecoming Parade for Blue Key National Honor Fraternity.

We completed three community service projects this past spring for the Old West End Festival Committee. The Old West End Festival brings Toledoans to the part of the city to celebrate its heritage of architecture and design. The Old West End is working to keep its stately homes in mint condition as this area best exemplifies the state of architecture on and before the turn-of-thecentury. Our Chapter house is located in the heart of this area, a fact that we are all proud of. We worked on cleaning up the "Commons" area before and between the days of the Festival as well as sponsoring a booth in the Festival.

We would like to wish all Chapters a very productive and successful year. And to our alumni, watch for announcements in the mail concerning our Founder's Day Celebration. We hope all of you can join us in wishing Happy Birthday to Phi Kappa Psi!

Valparaiso Growing Stronger

As the leaves begin to change colors and the weather turns cooler Indiana Epsilon has finally settled into a new school year with a Chapter of seventy Brothers. Taking strong leadership roles are our elected officers from this past spring of Ron Rapp, GP; Ken Eklov, VGP; Tim Strege, P; Leon Debolt, BG; Pete Schoedel, AG; Jim Mosely, Hod; Steve Brown, Phu; Tim Bradley, SG; Jay Schaefer, Hi.

With a large graduating senior class of 1981 last spring, we rushed hard for a large class of pledges to fill their spots. Thus, an April 26, we initiated twenty-nine new Brothers: Jim Boerger, Union Grove, WI:

Dave Brege, St. Clair Shores, MI; Daryl Caneva, Lockport, IL; Tom Erhardt, Kokomo; Scott Gabrys, Griffith; Larry Groenewold, South Holland, IL; Andy Herbach, Hobart; Craig Johnson, Webster Groves, MO; Mitch Johnson, Duluth, MN; Steve Nichols, Girard, IL; Steve Rickus, Birmingham, MI; Doug Rigoni, Iron Mountain, MI; Jon Ruhe, Wethersfield, CT; Jay Schaefer, Oak Creek, WI; Bob Schlak, Bradley, IL; Joe Schmidt, Traverse City, MI; Mark Schmidt, Hawthorne Woods, IL: Paul Schnorr, Altoona, WI; Mark Schroeder, Normal, IL; Steve Schroeder, Zionsville; Mike Speca, Chicago Heights. IL; Matt Stiles, East Aurora, NY; Jon Strege, Hazelwood, MO; Chris Thielo, Fairview Park, OH; Steve Thompson, Rockton, IL; Mike Van Boxtel, Neenhah, WI; Mark Van Der Ploeg, Chicago, IL; Todd Walker, Milwaukee, WI; Kevin Wallace, La Grange,

Here at Indiana Epsilon, we are proud of our continued scholastic standing as we came first in GPA this past spring semester and second overall for the entire school year, over thirteen other fraternities on campus. In sports we also fared well, coming in third place for the All-Sports Trophy.

A special note of interest for our Chapter is the fact that five Brothers are studying overseas this fall semester. Marc Miller, Kevin Kurth, Neal Mortensen, and Mark Woods are at Cambridge University in England and Tom Dodge is studying at Reutlingen College in West Germany.

The coming year has seen repairs and new accommodations to our Chapter house. Two work weekends were initiated by the Brothers in the house that brought a new glow to both inside and outside the house after a summer of no residency. New screens were installed on all the windows, a new mixer was provided for our kitchen, and a new set of weights arrived to keep the Brothers in shape. More improvements are on the horizon in the coming year as our Chapter continues to strengthen and grow.

Vanderbilt 1000th Initiate

The chapter roll here at Tennessee Delta reached number 1000 this semester. The 1000th Initiate Weekend was a highlight to a semester marked by much success. In early September, three men were pledged through upperclassman rush. They were Paul Deal, Atlanta, GA; Paul Klutts, Natchez, MS; and Chris Massi, Bethesda, MD. Under the direction of Fraternity Educator Brian Grove, the pledges were ready for initiation by Homecoming, the 1000th Initiate Weekend. The weekend included a band party, a black-tie dinner/ dance, brunches and the initiation ceremony itself. The Chapter was honored to have SWGP John R. Donnell, Jr. as the guest of honor. The entire weekend was made possible by the work of Howell Russ, Chairman.

The Phi Psi "500" was again successful. Over $2000.00 was raised for the Middle Tennessee Diabetes Association. Every fraternity, sorority and freshman hall was represented in the bicycle races. That evening.

over 1500 people attended the Phi Psi "500" Street Dance, which featured the Pat Patrick Band and 60 kegs of beer. Joe Basili, Rett Johnson and Jon Utterback organized the event.

Social Chairman Stewart Jackson had a tremendous social calendar which once again made the Phi Psi house the place to be. Several band parties were held, along with swaps with sororities, a North-South party, a pig roast and an off-campus fall party. These parties helped Rush Chairmen Doug Reighart and Robert Rudder prepare for an outstanding freshman rush in January.

There were several Brothers that held leadership positions on campus. David Allen was the drum major of the marching band again this fall. David Kleinfelter was the sports editor for the campus newspaper. Chris Temme and Ted Parris both held positions on the Interfraternity Council. Chris was also appointed to the IMPACT staff. Sam Harman founded and became president of the Parachute Club. Chris Hageman, a varsity football player, was enjoying a fine season when he suffered an unfortunate knee injury which left him sidelined for the rest of the season. We all hope to see him in action next fall.

The intramural teams met with mixed success. The football team, under the direction of Brett "Bear" Combs wound up with a 3-3-2 record following some extremely close games. The golf team placed in the top four, as did the volleyball team. Soccer season began after this writing.

House officers for the semester were Jim Decker, GP; Geoff Greulich, VGP; Dan Barrett, P; Brian Grove, Fraternity Educator; Sam Harman, House Manager; and Jon Utterback, AG.

The Brothers are proud to have been a part of the 1000th Initiate Weekend and would like to congratulate every Brother for our 80 years of success here at Vanderbilt University. We encourage all of our alumni to stop in and visit us.

Virginia Enlarged House Capacity

The Brotherhood at Virginia Alpha has been working tirelessly since the school year began. The whole interior of the house was painted, the outside was cleaned up, and two more rooms were added to allow more space in the Fraternity house. With two more Brothers living in the house the number of residents is now 22, contributing to an increased sense of cohesion among the Brothers.

This cohesion is reflected in our surprising run at the intramural football title. Normally a basketball powerhouse, the Chapter football team has rolled to a 5-1 record and will face rival DU Fraternity in a one game playoff for the right to participate in the regular playoffs. The team is led by Greg Case, Dave Moran, and Pete Domenici on offense and John Robertson on defense and special teams.

Aside from sporting events, the Chapter is engaged in fall rush activities. Many kegs of beer, cookouts, mixers with sororities, and a roll to a local girls school have been part of the Brotherhood's festivities for the last month as we attempt to persuade rushees to join Virginia Alpha. Two spring pledges were recently initiated into Phi Psi. They are Tom Rogers of McLean, and Andy Dondero of Boyd Tavern.

Homecoming weekend featured two band parties. Visits from alumni seem to go hand in hand with this weekend and we enjoyed a large contingent this year. Phi Psis who have recently dropped by are Steve Reiss, Bill Egan, Steve Beams, and Scott Robertson.

Virginia Alpha is in the process of planning future events, both for fall and spring semester. The outlook appears bright for an exciting and memorable year.

Virginia Tech Awakening

The Fall term begins in late September here in Blacksburg, which puts the initiation of the quarter's pledge class in mid-October. Although we can share no names as yet, we're sure to field many good men under the hand of Paul Restina, our rush chairman

Along with rush, housing must rank high on our list of concerns for this year. However painful the move may be, Virginia Zeta has outgrown its present home. From its red oak I beams to the door on the second floor that opens into empty space, the house is flooded with memories but has become a tremendous financial drain. Dave Schuh, our house handiman can patch and rewire only what he can see. As our Brothers from Virginia, W&L, and West Virginia can attest, our house with room for only six is nearing the end of its useful life.

It's an exciting time to be a Phi Psi at Virginia Tech, for we are making that transition from obscurity toward prominence, a transition made possible because of Robert Wagner, a founding father of Virginia Zeta and our Chapter Advisor. Robert has encouraged vital communication among the alumni of the Chapter, and has expended much energy in creating and updating our alumni address list. With the aid of three other concerned alumni-John Hoge, Brian Wilson, and Al Livingstone, that communication will blossom into a working partnership between alumni and undergraduates. It's a comfort to know we've alumni who care.

Congratulations to Russell Hillsley, Drew Groszer, and John Polhemus, top scholars in the sophomore, junior, and senior class, respectively. And three cheers to the Chapter as a whole for jumping into the lead in the Miller aluminum pick-up contest!

The challenges are great, but with a group of men that effervesce, and a united group of alumni, we will surely have a fantastic year. Take care!

Wabash Leadership

The hard work of Rush Chairman John VanNuys paid off for Indiana Gamma this fall as fifteen outstanding men pledged Phi Psi: John Berck, Tom Bradburn, Wes Dennis, and Vince Scott, Indianapolis; Darrin DeBard, Lebanon; Bob Dion, Elkhart; Stew Douglas, Lindhurst; Bob Elizondo, Gary; John Groskopf, St. Charles; Gregg Hockemeyer, South Whitley; Doug Johnson, Munster; Glen Leer, Arcadia; Jeff Martin, Lafayette; Scott McClain, Jamestown; and Jeff Winters, Pekin. These men are quickly taking on their new responsibilities under the guidance of Fraternity Educator Fred Roetter.

The house itself is looking better than ever, owing to the hard work of a number of Brothers. The citizens of beautiful Crawfordsville awoke on two summer weekends to find industrious Phi Psis painting and preparing our entry and dining areas for new carpet and tile.

Our Chapter would like to take this opportunity to congratulate a recent alumnus, Doug Coplen, '78. Doug was selected as a Summerfield Scholar as well as one of the five 1981 Founders Fellows. Doug is currently a student in the Indiana School of Medicine.

Phi Kappa Psi leadership continues to be felt in nearly every organization on campus. This fall, the Chapter boasts the treasurer of the Student Senate, the director of the pep band, the president of the Glee Club, the president of Wabash's Circle K chapter, the vice-president of the College Democrats, the president of the world-famous Wabash Chewing Tobacco Club, as well as several members of our nationally ranked Wabash football team.

We at Indiana Gamma anticipate another successful year at Wabash and extend our best wishes to all for success in the ideals of the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi.

Washington District Council Host

After a long hard summer of rushing, the Brotherhood was proud to present its pledge class of 1981: Keith Brown, Lacey; Eric Leyde, Normandy Park; Dave Newell, Post Falls, ID; Jay Jackson, Olympia; Jeff Likes and Mark Hall, Kent; Mike Hilliard, Seattle; Jon Puro, Tacoma; Dan Gage, Spokane; Robert Bony, Kirkland; and Jacques Nguyen, Spokane.

We would like to commend our Rush Chairman, Dale Linder and Rush Inspiration Award recipient, Tom Kennedy on a job well done on summer rush. Thanks!

Two new Brothers were revealed the mysteries this fall: Glenn Olarte and Dan Miller. This brings our current membership to 1,221 Brothers initiated since 1914.

Washington Alpha was the proud host of the District Council and Woodrow Wilson Leadership School for District VI on November 24-25. We would like to thank all Chapters that were represented. We hoped that you enjoyed the hospitality of the Northwest.

The new officers for the fall are: Kent Leyde, GP; Daren Braget, VGP; Jim Mc-Donough, AG; Robert Estes, BG; Mike Williams, P; Mark Wood, SG; Dave Olling, Hod; Eric Hipke, Phu; and Matt Ohlinger, Hi.

In closing, we would like to extend an invitation to all Phi Psi's that are visiting our corner of the Pacific Northwest to stop by and visit us and enjoy a rousing game of thumper. See you in Atlanta at the GAC!

Washington & Lee Successful Fall

School has begun again here at Washington and Lee, and as usual, there is the hustle and bustle that normally occurs with the start of classes and fraternity rush. The Virginia Beta Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi is expecting one of its best pledge classes in many years. With some new additions to the chapter house as well as an outstanding fall social calendar, many freshmen have been inclined to prefer Virginia Beta as their social fraternity at Washington and Lee. To date, the Chapter has added eleven new pledges. They are Dave Harrar, Rydal, PA; Paul Knight, Sewickley, PA; Mike Lord, Tabernacle, NJ; Paul Marascuillo, Dix Hills, NJ; Bill Maroney, Naugatuck, CT; Dikk Minnich, York, PA; Joe O'Niel, Haddonfield. NJ; Rich Schoenberg and Pat O'Connell, Frederick, MD; Kurt Specht, Roland, AR; and Tom Wiser, Mt. Airy, MD.

Besides a strong rush, Virginia Beta is starting off the 1981 school year with quality leadership. President Bruce Sammis, Vice President Marc Martinez and Treasurer Phil Browne are among the Chapter's outstanding leaders. Outside the Chapter Virginia Beta members are showing strong leadership in campus activities. Nine members of the Chapter are freshman dormitory counselors including assistant head counselors, Jim Wenke and Ben Muskin. Nine members of the Chapter are playing varsity football including tri-captain Mike Fogarty. We also have members participating in varsity soccer, cross-country and water polo in the fall. Virginia Beta is also very active in intramural sports finishing second out of twenty teams in last year's competition.

Overall, the Chapter is in excellent shape both physically and internally with its members. The upcoming months are especially important as the pledge class will take shape and elections for next term's officers will be held. The Chapter will also be celebrating alumni homecoming weekend and parents weekend with a number of social events at the Chapter house. All in all, the fall term promises to be quite successful as well as fun.

Steve Corbeille Correspondent

West Virginia A Fresh Start

Spirits are high at West Virginia Alpha as the fall semester progresses with many activities keeping all of the Brothers busy. The James Cochran House is full with 48 Brothers living in-house and most of them participating in the committee system to help the Chapter function efficiently. Under the leadership of Zach Mendelson, GP for the second consecutive semester, the Chapter is making vast improvement in all areas.

Working together with Brother Mendelson this semester are the newly elected officers which include: Bradley H. Williams, VGP; Brian D. Steinberg, P; Michael J. Sullivan, AG; Anthony D. Finamore, BG; William B. Barkley, SG; Bruce E. Mazurek, AG; Jeffrey K. Heddaeus, Hod; Jon D. Rupert, Phu; and Brett A. Pritt, Hi.

September 19, 1981 was the date of initiation for our five newest Brothers. These new initiates are Thomas F. Caruso, David Brian Tetrick, Phillip Bradley Hall, and Mark Warren Hall, Clarksburg; and Thomas Robert Lienau, Fairfax, VA. We are proud of these five young men and are confident each one will make an enduring contribution to our Chapter.

The rush format at West Virginia University was changed considerably this semester but the Chapter adapted well and received an outstanding pledge class of 29 young men. These pledges include: Ray Prudnick, Richard Viglianco, James Wang, Steve Reed, David Kendrick, and John Deiriggi, Fairmont; John Davis, Bruce Rodgers, and Charles Kersting, Clarksburg; Darin Eames, Michael Cole, James Summers, John Gabriele, and Brad Thomas, Morgantown; Curtis Miller, Steve Tomer, and Anthony Null, Parkersburg; Craig Shelton, and Jeff Wasson, Huntington; Jeff Armstrong, Eric Mitro, and Tom Byrnes, Pittsburgh, PA; Marc Dunn, South Charleston; Donald Lucas, Charleston; Matt Mazanek, Hermitage, PA; Stan Wellman, Fairfax, VA; David DeCarlo, Alexandria, VA; David Riley, Pt. Charlotte, FL; and Joseph Chambers, St. Petersburg, FL. Much of the credit for this fine pledge class goes to Trey Horner, who did an excellent job as Rush Chairman.

A variety of social events has dominated our calendar this semester as our activities have ranged from tailgate parties to chapel services. Pre-game tailgate parties have become a favorite among both undergraduate Brothers and alumni. Our first tailgate party, prior to the Colorado State game, was given by our Morgantown Alumni Association and was an immense success. Chapel services in our Memorial Chapel has been another successful social affair. Frank Cignetti, former W.V.U. Head Football Coach, was the feature speaker at our Chapel service held with Pi Beta Phi. Parents' Day was held on Sunday, October 4 and was attended by the parents of over 50 Brothers.

West Viginia Alpha also has campus leaders among its ranks. Chris Gillette is a member of the Board of Student Directors as well as being Chairman of the Board of Finance. Phil Compton is President of Order of the Grail, Junior Honorary.

Work has already begun on our annual Leukemia Radiothon in the spring. This year, the West Virginia Jaycees have adopted leukemia as their fund raising project and plan to work in conjunction with us. Jim Stike, '72, former GP, is chairman for the Jaycees. Together with the Jaycees, who will be working statewide, we will drive for $100,000.00 as our goal.

West Virginia Alpha is proud of its accomplishments and will strive to continue its excellence in all areas of both Fraternal and academic life. Good luck to all Colonies, Chapters, and Alumni Associations and we invite everyone to come and visit us in Morgantown.

Michigan A New Beginning

The Fall of 1981 brings a new look, and a new group of men to the Michigan Alpha Colony. A list of our current group, and their home towns, is as follows: Scott Russell, Ann Arbor; Albert Titran, Troy; Bill Koenig, Pontiac; Eric Ball, Troy; Jery Taylor, Troy; Mike McClear, Troy; Steve Sands, Buffalo, NY; Kevin Daysun, Flushing; Blaine Dennis, Grand Blanc; Bob Schlutter, Troy; and Jim Mott-Smith, Boston, MA.

Although we are not many in number, we are great in enthusiasm and our expectations are high. We would like to thank Alumni Todd Salen, Wayne Wilson, and Bob Reiss for their help and support with September's rush which was successful in gaining the interest of four of the men listed above. A special thanks is also in order for Michigan Alpha Alumnus, Jack Klein, whose perserverance prevented the Colony from totally collapsing, and has provided much support in our current attempt at recolonization.

The weekend of October 11-12 we traveled to the Michigan Beta chapter in East Lansing. After watching the Michigan vs. Michigan State football game, we were treated to a post-game party, Michigan State style. Our next outing was the weekend of October 17, when three of us travelled to Ohio Lambda for the District Council.

Although none of us have actually been initiated into the Phi Psi colony, we are all eagerly awaiting that date. We are also eager to hear from any Alumni whose son is enrolled at the University of Michigan and would be interested in joining the Colony.

Alumni

Baton Rouge

The Baton Rouge Alumni Association, having received its charter on May 9, 1981, is proud to become a part of the great Phi Kappa Psi tradition and is looking forward to a long and fruitful association with all of the Brother's of Phi Psi. The charter officers of the Baton Rouge Alumni Association are as follows: Steve Spaulding, President, Sidney Perniciaro, Treasurer, and Anthony Salvaggio, Secretary.

On May 9, the Association sponsored a banquet in Baton Rouge in commemoration of the 15th anniversary of the Chartering of the Louisiana Alpha Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi. We were very excited over this initial function, as over 60 active Brothers, Alumni and guests were in attendance. Many old friendships were renewed and new ones formed as everyone seemed to thoroughly enjoy the evening.

An Undergraduate-Alumni softball game and picnic was held this past summer in New Orleans and a good time was had by all.

We would like to encourage all Alumni in this area to contact us and take an active part in making the Baton Rouge Alumni Association a growing and viable organization.

Those attending the 20th Annual Closed Invitational Golf Outing really got their moneys worth. Due to an earlier rain, the course at Itasca Country Club was too wet to play. Through the efforts of Herb Jones, Illinois, we were able to get a starting time and carts at St. Andrews Golf Club. Skillfully moving the tournament to the new location with the acquiescence of Tom McCausland.

Beloit, the defending champion, all players managed to complete the required 18 holes. Low Gross winner, carding an 85, was Bill Stocking, Illinois. Bill takes custody of the Settergren Low Gross Trophy and promises an attractive tournament site for 1982. Low Gross winner with a net 69 was Dan Muschott, a new member of the Alumni Association from Iowa State. Other prize winners were Closest To The Pin, Bill Stocking; and Herb Jones, Longest Drive on the Fairway; Tom McCausland, Best Dressed; Warren Olson, Illinois, High Gross; Joe Quilici, Illinois and Non-Golfer Show-up, Jerry Piper, Missouri.

The next Association function will be our gathering to celebrate the founding of our Fraternity. Looking at the 1982 calendar we find that February 19th is a Friday, so put that date aside. Reserve it now so that you don't have a conflict with other functions when next year rolls around. We have had such fine banquets at the Union League Club and we have prevailed upon Bob Halliday, our Vice-President from III. Delta, to sponsor us there again in 1982. Keep your eyes peeled for your notice, mention it to all the Phi Psis you know and let's continue to have fine Founder's Day banquets.

One way to make sure that you are informed is to keep your membership current. Dues of $3.00, sent to Tom Whiting, Purdue, our Treasurer, will keep your address current. The events that we sponsor are largely self-supporting so that the low dues income is sufficient to do this. Tom's address is 2245 Drury Lane, Northfield, Ill. 60093.

The 1981 project is a decorative banner to be presented to the 1982 GAC in Atlanta. The great hall of the GAC is customarily decorated with banners from each of our chapters. Our Association is not represented. This banner will be custom made in the general shape of the badge and we hope to have it on display at the Founder's Day banquet. Of course, this brings up a necessary item for thought. Our Association will be entitled to two delegates to the GAC and they will conduct the official presentation of this banner to the GAC assembled. They will have to pay their own travel and lodging expenses, as well as the GAC registration fee and will be the official voting delegates. Brothers interested in this opportunity. please inform your president, Joe Quilici.

Association officers elected at the February Founder's Day Banquet, are as follows (with phone numbers):

Columbus

a viable enterprise, with regular weekly Friday luncheons that attract from as few as 4 or 5 to as many as a dozen or more Brothers for an enjoyable respite from the week's workday activity. We miss very much the steady hand of our first Association President, Ken Potter, OH Alpha '51 and former SWGP, who moved to Seattle a few months ago, but we intend to continue to build on the foundation that he laid for us.

In addition to the regular luncheons at the Athletic Club of Columbus, we have had three "Special" Friday luncheons featuring prominent local Phi Psis as speakers, and plans call for a continuation of this format in the future—regular informal luncheons every Friday, with a "Special" every three or four months.

Speakers to date have been: Louis de la Foret, LA Alpha '66, anchorman on the news team for WBNS-TV, the CBS affiliate in Columbus; Robert Johnson, also LA Alpha '66, an attorney and Vice President and General Manager of The Dispatch Printing Company; and Richard Gregory, OH Alpha '54, Vice President—Investments, Bache Halsey Stuart Shields, Inc. All three of these speakers did an excellent job, and the response from those in attendance has convinced us that this is an acceptable arrangement that we want to continue.

By the time this appears in print, the 1981 Homecoming Party and Dance at the Ohio Delta Chapter will be history, as will the District Council Banquet a week later on October 31, but we have encouraged local Phi Psis to attend both functions. Founders' Day plans are just getting under way and we look for a big turnout of alumni at that event

If you're in Columbus any Friday, please join us for lunch at the Athletic Club—you are most welcome!

Detroit

The year 1981 for the Detroit Alumni Association was again full of many events. Founders Day was a huge success with a large turnout. The undergraduate Brothers from Michigan Beta and the members of the Michigan Alpha Colony were present to help us celebrate the founding of our Fraternity. A very enjoyable evening was had by all. This year, Founders Day will be held on February 24 at the University Club of Detroit. Cocktail hour will begin at 6:00 followed immediately by dinner. We look forward to another fine time and encourage everyone to attend.

Officers for 1981-1982 elected at Founders Day include: President John Farland, Vice-President Ken Wright, Treasurer Jack Klein and Secretary Steve McLelland.

The annual golf outing was again hosted by Pat and Lorraine Eby. Everyone was this year's champion, breaking Brother Klein's longstanding monopoly of the award. Competition was keen with Brother Klein's absence and congratulations are well deserved. The golf outing at Lincoln Hills Golf Course was followed by a barbecue at Brother Eby's.

In September, Brother Quinten Sickels hosted a party on his sailboat "Asamara." A beautiful night for sailing on Lake St. Clair was capped off by dinner and cocktails. While we were sailing, however, I am sad to say that I never found the rum line. I did find the beer line though!

The annual Christmas Party will have a slight twist this year. Instead of Brother Eby hosting the get together, we will have hors d'oeuvres and dinner at the Bay View Yacht Club. We are still working on details and will send information as soon as possible. We encourage all to attend. It will be fun!

The monthly luncheon is being held the second Monday of each month at Ellie's. Ellie's is located at 1019 W. Maple in Troy. Lunch starts at noon. Call John Rexford at 649-1700 for reservations. John can also answer any questions concerning this year's Founders Day.

The Detroit Alumni Association remains active and welcomes all of you to participate with us

Indianapolis

The Indianapolis Alumni Association is pleased to announce the scheduling of its Founders Day celebration for February 19, 1982. This festive meeting will return to the Grand Ballroom of The Atkinson Hotel in downtown Indianapolis. The Grand Ballroom has been extensively remodeled following a fire (no relation to the last Founder's Day meeting held at that location) and the elegant atmosphere should provide a fitting backdrop for reflection on our heritage and consideration of our future.

As always, the Indianapolis Alumni Association will host all Indiana undergraduate members. Alumni Brothers from across the state are encouraged to attend as well.

Tentative plans, call for a social hour beginning at 6:30 with dinner at 7:30 and the Founder's Day meeting immediately thereafter. Further information concerning the meeting may be obtained from the undersigned correspondent at 317/639-5534.

With fall upon us and winter approaching, all Indianapolis Brothers are reminded of the monthly meetings of the Indianapolis Alumni Association. The meetings are held on the first Wednesday of each month in the Country Oven Dining Room of the downtown Hilton Hotel at noon and offer to all the warmth of camaraderie during the cool months ahead.

By the time you receive this edition of THE SHIELD, the Big Game will be history. The Big Game lunch was another "sell out." Most of the Brothers will have forgotten the amount of money they lost at the dice games in Harrington's. If you missed the Big Game lunch this year, you should mark your calendar now for this annual Event on the Friday before the Cal-Stanford football game. The Alumni Association has been relatively inactive, due to lack of interest. We would like to sponsor more activities throughout the year, but we need your help. We have tried to organize more social events, but we have not had strong support from the Brothers. If you would like to participate in or help organize a Phi Psi event, plase contact Guy Minardi or me.

Now we are planning a Founders Day Extravaganza!!! Since we have invited all the Phi Psi Ladies to attend the Founders Day Banquet, we have had better turnouts and a lot more fun. We would like to encourage you to attend the Founders Day Banquet on Friday, February 19th at Spenger's Fish Grotto, 1919 Fourth Street (near University Ave. and Highway 80), Berkeley, at 6:30 p.m. If you know of a Phi Psi in the Bay Area, please encourage them to attend. If you would like to locate a "lost Brother," please contact me or Guy and we will try to locate him for you. See you on Founders Day.

Omaha

Our Association will end its current year with the most important event, The Founders Day Banquet at the Venice Inn on the actual day of our founding; February 19th (a Friday). It should be a grand affair. Phi Psi's in the area have achieved success this year and they'll wish to gather to share their good fortune and toast to a new year and one another.

One who has contributed mightily towards the Fraternity's progress is Paul LaPuzza, Creighton, the Attorney General. His success in the Phi Psi Endowment Fund vs. Cornell University case put over $180,000 in our Endowment Fund coffers. We are proud of Paul's fine work and enthusiastic help. The Chaplain of the Fraternity returned from a lengthy stay in Australia and immediately plunged back into Creighton's Administrative rat race. John Schlegel, S.J., Creighton, did take time off to go to a District Council in Ames (with hoards of others) and lead a seminar. Mark Weber, Creighton, our Association president, organized two fine functions so far. One, a well attended party and stag golf outing at which the moon came out and left before the partiers departed for home. Tom Collins, Creighton, came all the way from Chicago for the affair and truly enjoyed himself. The other had about twenty people at a poolside beer and elegant snack party, which was good attendance in view of the fact that many received their invitations after the pa ty was over! (Rah, for the U.S. Mail)

In the area of local leadership and interest around town, Gene Conley, Nebraska, is getting constant coverage as the head of the Chamber of Commerce. Dr. John Seminara, Creighton, has been elected president of the Dundee Kiwanis Club while Tom Hoarty, Creighton, became the president—elect. So, with other Brothers also in the Club, much good community service is being done. Adding to the culture of the Midwest, Pat Higgins, Creighton, a fine free lance author, had a good long article in the "Magazine of The Midlands." Ron Hansen, Creighton, author of the "Desparadoes" was in town on the way to a visiting professorship at Univ. of Michigan. (Our colony there might wish to contact him for help.)

Some of the most thrilling local news comes from the Lincoln area. Walt Henry, Nebraska, organized the Alumni Window Program. This program has an alumnus buying a new window for the Nebraska Alpha Chapter house to improve its appearance and make it more energy efficient. Seventy-five windows were purchased from Jack Erwin, Nebraska, at $300 each and a total of over $25,000 was raised without a general fund drive. That truly is an efficient great Phi Psi reaction to a plea. Also the Housemothers quarters were redone and Ellen is back (part time). The Parents Club has become active again and they are trying to buy needed furniture. The area alumni are also happy because the Chapter pledged 12 local men-future alumni help! So Phi Psi at Nebraska U. is doing well and there is fine cooperation between alumni and undergraduates.

Also somewhat successful was a drive started by Creighton alumni to do some necessary work on their Lodge. This has not quite reached its goal yet and if there are any Nebraska Betans who still wish to add their contribution to the drive, send your check to your class chairman, to the President of the House Corporation, John Crane, Penn State, Bud Rohr, Creighton, or to me (6269 Glenwood Road, Omaha, 68132) because the monies are still needed.

Omahans were proud to note that Michael Richards, lowa, was the third place winner of the Outstanding Summerfield Scholar award. He's in Law School now. Jeff Modica, Creighton, who once shared the above category, is now married and working for Phi Psi through our Association and as a liaison man with the Chapter at Creighton. Paul Strawhecker, Creighton, Boys Town Director of Special Resources, and Peg produced new son Ryan John recently and Dr. Steve Wegner, Creighton, is the proud daddy of Aaron Charles. Jack Savage, Nebraska. has opened architect offices in the 50th and Underwood area and is part owner of "Trovatos" restaurant. It will soon become another gourmet Phi Psi hang out. Sam Amatos. Creighton, Deli is the other. Dr. Bob Schweiso, Creighton, has become the Academic Dean at Mayville State College in North Dakota. He owns an acreage now, so we'll have to add an Esquire after his name. Ted Urban, Northwestern, has become a Master of Fox Hounds of the North Hills Hunt, which is interesting since he's not much of a rider. Dick Shugrue, Nebraska, has been appointed to the Committee to chase Creighton's next president. Dr. Jim Ortman, Creighton, has returned to Omaha and has set up his Medical practice. Adrian Fiala, Nebraska, can be heard announcing Nebraska football games every Saturday on KLNG; this is a pleasant sideline from his law practice.

All Omaha Phi Psi's should plan to spend Founders Day at the Venice Inn. The undergraduate report, the various awards, the inspiring remarks of the speaker plus the usual brotherhood activities tend to recharge the Phi Psi batteries and we'd like all to be present on February 19th.

Portland

The summer months have not produced a meeting of the Portland Alumni Association. A few of the brothers have arranged get-togethers for dinner and/or drinks. however vacations limited our meeting regularly. There is some concern that interest still remains in continuing periodic functions this fall. The Association remains proud of the undergraduates at the University of Oregon and Oregon State University for their high excellence in grades and campus/student government leadership. At last count, the chapter house at Eugene (Oregon Alpha) will have 56 members returning for fall term, one of the highest "live-in" totals in the history of the Eugene Chapter.

A tentative date for Founder's Day in Oregon is February 20, 1982. This year's celebration will be held in Eugene, with the men of Oregon Alpha hosting the festivities. If the past is any indication of the success enjoyed at Founder's Day in Eugene, this should be another fantastic opportunity for all of us to reacquaint ourselves with our Fraternity and each other.

The Association is alive, well, and Growing! Active membership is up 60% over last year! In an effort to keep everyone informed of our activities, the first issue of our "Alumni Newsletter" was published in April and was well received. The next printing is due in December or January. Plans are being made to expand to a quarterly basis next year.

A successful Casino Night party was in May. A good time was had by all and based on the enthusiastic response, plans are already being made for a bigger and better affair next year. Many thanks to all of the Brothers who pitched in to set-up, deal the cards, clean up; a special thanks to those who also donated the prizes. AND, to Brother Randy Engel, without whose "Auto Showroom" space donation, the event would have really been a gamble (Negotiations-beer-are underway to hold the event there again next year).

The St. Louis Phi Psi's made history this summer. The "Bullpen Room" for the Cardinal baseball game was reserved and ready for us on you guessed it, June 12th! (The first day of the players' strike) But, due to our forecasting ability, we have first choice for next season. Jim Naylor will be handling the details with a date to be announced at Founder's Day.

The S. C. Alumni Association has enjoyed an exciting Summer. One of the highlights was a party at Lake Murray Brothers, wives, and dates all enjoyed an afternoon and evening of fun.

The Association also hosted a rush party for the Chapter. Alumnus Bo Welsh was kind enough to make his home complete with swimming pool available for our use. Despite heavy rains, a good time was had by all.

Founders Day is just around the corner. Any Phi Psi in South Carolina who has not received a mailing on this should call A. C. Flora (791-1120) or Smitty Harrison (748-2369) for details. Once again, the annual celebration will be held in conjunction with S. C. Alpha.

This will be a very special Founders Day for S. C. Alpha. In March, the Chapter will celebrate the 125th anniversary of the original chartering of the Chapter. November will mark the 10th anniversary of the rechartering at U. S. C. Special announcements will be made about these occasions. All Alumni should plan to attend Founders Day to learn more about the upcoming celebrations!

Founders Day will also mark the end of the James W. Scott Housing Fund Drive. This effort was sparked by a generous donation by Brother Scott. If there is any alumnus who has not given to the Fund, please send in your money prior to Founders Day. If we reach our goal, Brother Scott will once again match his original donation. Help us meet our goal and help build a stronger Housing Corporation for S. C. Alpha!

In an effort to pledge more area boys, plans are underway to hold a Wichita rush party on Wednesday, December 30.

The second annual Founders Day dinner will be held at the Wichita Club on February 19. Please plan to attend both of these Phi Psi events.

A Christmas cocktail party was held in Hutchinson on December 4. The party was a great success and enjoyed by both the Brothers and their wives.

Another success was the first Founders Day banquet held in Wichita last February 20. Officers elected at that time included Paul Brooker, President; Jim Saffels, Vice President; John Ziegelmeyer, Treasurer; Randy Westfall, Rush Coordinator; and Walter Jones, Secretary. We hope this event will continue to attract more Brothers each year and we are looking forward to another successful banquet in 1982.

President Paul Brooker urges area alumni to become active in our alumni group and enjoy the activities that have been planned. Don't forget to forward the names of prospective rushees to respective rush chairmen or alumni rush coordinators. Alumni are an excellent source for providing Chapters with future Phi Psi's.

Best wishes to all for a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Financial Highlights

The operations of the General Fund during 1980-81 resulted in an increase in the fund balance, surpassing the financial goals set by the Executive Council at the beginning of the year. The figures given below are taken from our audited statements for the fiscal year ended May 31, 1981. Dollar amounts are rounded for ease of display. Copies of the audit report are available to any Phi Psi, through the Fraternity Headquarters, at a cost of $3.50 (to cover postage and handling).

The Fraternity's positive financial results this year are attributable largely to significantly increased investment income and continued attention to responsible cost control. Revenue from alumni contributions and undergraduate fees was up only slightly. The cost of operating Phi Kappa Psi for the year under review increased only 4% over the prior year.

Limited Edition Serigraph, commissioned by Phi Kappa Psi and signed by the artist, William Albert Ware, is photographed here in tones similar to the finished work. The 16" x 24" parchment print is available for purchase on a first come, first served basis, at a cost of $19.75 each, which includes $1.75 postage and insurance fee. The print arrives suitable for framing.

The artist's works include covers or illustrations in publications such as the Saturday Evening Post, Sports Illustrated, Time and Newsweek. Mr. Ware's serigraphs normally sell in the $150 price range, but the Fraternity was fortunate to utilize his talents when the oil portraits of Founders Letterman and Moore were commissioned for the new Fraternity Headquarters, Heritage Hall. . when Mr. Ware helped display the portraits in Heritage Hall, the concept of a serigraph combining the Founders' portraits and Heritage Hall came forward and the significantly reduced price resulted. He is a former staff writer for the University of Georgia's Office of Public Relations, and for the Information Office of the university's College of Agriculture, where he specialized in agricultural research project reporting. He is a member of the Society of Professional Journalists, Sigma Delta Chi, the Press Club of San Francisco, and the Peninsula Marketing Association.

MICHAEL BARNES, lowa '80, has been named co-chairman of the Association of Congressional Interns, a non-partisan group of Capitol Hill interns that organizes and participate in lectures, study groups, and receptions in order to further intern involvement on the Hill. Brother Barnes, who is currently interning with Senator Roger Jepsen (R-Iowa), will serve as co-chairman until late August, when he will return to the University of Iowa for formal rush and fall semester.

DAVID W. STEVENS, Washington & Lee '80, is a member of the Lexington Volunteer Fire Department. Brother Steven's experience was advantageous in fighting a fire which broke out on the third floor of the Chapter house in early March. The combination of the smoke detectors' warning and Brother Stevens' training helped limit the damage to the house as well as prevent any injuries. Brother Stevens is presently the only student among Lexington's 46 volunteer firemen.

George Hofmann Bequest

The Endowment Fund of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity has gratefully received a bequest of over $180,000 from the late George R. Hofmann, Cornell '14. Brother Hofmann's gift was made in memory of his grandfather, George T. Robinson, who was not a member of the Fraternity. It was Brother Hofmann's intention that income from the bequest "be used to provide scholarships or financial aid to needy students of outstanding scholastic attainments."

The bequest, the third largest in the Endowment Fund's history, is the result of a settlement worked out largely by the Fraternity's Attorney General, Paul J. LaPuzza, Creighton '66, and Donald L. McCaskey, Cornell '31, of Pittsburgh. Brother Hofmann's will had designated Cornell University as the beneficiary of a portion of his estate, provided that Cornell not interfere with the New York Alpha Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi or "meddle in (its) internal affairs"

The Fraternity contended that Cornell's University Commission on Residential Environment (the Saperston Report), approved by its trustees in 1968, disallowed New York Alpha's use of the unit rule in the selection of its members, and that this constituted "interference" or "meddling" under the will. Subsequently, an agreement was reached that allotted 55% of the portion at issue to Cornell and 45% to the Endowment Fund. Young Phi Psis for generations to come will be greatly helped by the extraordinary generosity of George R. Hofmann.

Phi Psi Luncheons

One of the distinctive features of being a Phi Psi is how the bonds of brotherhood are maintained after leaving the college campus. Often, the prime vehicle for sustaining those friendships is the Alumni Association. Listed below are the times and locations of the Fraternity's Alumni Association meetings. Check for the association nearest you and attend their next meeting. You will enjoy seeing familiar faces and will become active in "Something of Value."

Phi Psi On The Funny Pages

illustrated strips of that time. Art remembers Abe as not only a great artist, but a wonderful story teller as well. In fact, Art maintains that Abe Martin was probably the trail blazer for the modern day comedy soap opera.

"Boots" was a college co-ed, the adopted daughter of Professor Tuck and his wife Cora. She was, in Art's words, "as pretty as she could be—a real fashion setter, too!" The story line usually involved one of her many boyfriends. Art was the heir-apparent to "Boots and Her Buddies," but unfortunately, upon Abe Martin's death, it was decided that the strip should die, too.

In 1965, NEA wanted Art to create his own strip. Up until that time, he had taken over duties on other cartoonists' strips and shared the writing and/or drawing responsibilities with someone else. Now he was given carte blanche. He could do whatever he wanted in this new strip, as long as it would sell.

First of all, he knew he wanted to do a humor strip. Secondly, he felt that Americans didn't spend enough time laughing at themselves. So, America needed someone to laugh at—someone to slip on our banana peels. Thus, "The Loser" was born (NEA quickly renamed it "The Born Loser").

From the comics page of 45 newspa-

From the comics page of 45 newspapers in 1965 to the select 1000-plus circle today, Brutus Thornapple still "takes the lumps" from his wife

Gladys, his son Wilberforce, his boss R. W. Deeblefester, and a sweet little neighbor girl by the name of Hurricane Hattie O'Hara.

"The Born Loser" has received a lot of recognition over the years, placing second as the National Cartoonist Society's "Best Humor Strip" in 1975 and 1976, and has won the "Best Comic Book" award in 1977 and 1979. In addition, Art was honored as Outstanding Alumnus of the Year by his alma mater in 1979.

Art feels that comic strips are more popular today than they have ever been, but that has not always been his contention. Up until the advent of television, comic strips were about the only form of visual entertainment available to the general public on a daily basis. Television, of course, proved to be a superior medium and Art felt that the comic strip was on its way out. But, comic strips have made a remarkable turnaround as witnessed by the fact that the comic pages are still loaded, with some daily's having as many as two or three pages.

Having asserted themselves in the face of competition by television, many comic strips have actually embraced the TV medium with half-hour animated specials. Soon, "The Born Loser" may join them. Both ABC and CBS have expressed interest in such a special with the possibility of Rodney Dangerfield (who else?) doing the voice-over for Brutus.

Art is currently developing a second strip called "Dusty Chaps" written by his son Chip, who is a Delta Kappa Epsilon from Kenyon College in Gambier, Ohio. Chip "got his feet wet" helping Art do the writing for "The Born Loser" and will continue to do so in addition to his new "Dusty Chaps" duties.

"Dusty Chaps," of course, is a humor strip (like father, like son) about life on a modern-day Dude Ranch. It pits "the three piece suits of the East against the blue jeans, bandanas and ten gallon hats of the west." Art's many years of experience in illustrating quickly becomes obvious in the beautiful drawings in "Dusty Chaps." When the strip makes its debut in January of 1982, it will appear in over 200 newspapers. That's quite a kick off.

Like "The Born Loser," "Dusty Chaps" is basic escape humor. There is no great underlying message or cause, other than to entertain. "We leave that to the editorial cartoons, to Gary Trudeau's 'Doonesbury,' and so forth," says Art.

The thrust of the Sansom comic strips is "for the average strap-hanger going home from work at night to read and, hopefully, get a chuckle, then just toss aside and go on to something else."

It's easier to go on to something else after someone else has "taken your lumps."

Return of the Draft?

An Indiana University Phi Psi is involved in answering the difficult question.

By Mike Pearson, Staff writer Bloomington, IN Herald-Telephone

When you talk about military service to most American college students, the haunting ghosts of Vietnam and Kent State often play an important role in their response. But for Indiana University senior Jim Tanner, a recent trip to upstate New York offered yet another view of American's military strength; a view that showed serious problems in the areas of public relations and recruitment.

TANNER WAS ONE of two college students from throughout the country taking part in the 60th American Assembly. Centered on the topic of military service in the United States, the three-day forum was sponsored by Columbia University and dealt with problems facing the military in terms of manpower and the public's perception of long-term Pentagon strategy.

"The goal of the assembly was to bring together people who are knowledgeable on the subject of defense, without political or media pressure," Tanner said. "Over a three-day period we explored the problem of military manpower and developed a paper on the subject. Fifty-thousand copies of the paper were sent to various schools and defense-related organizations throughout the country."

Several Congressmen, educators and NATO representatives also participated in the conference.

"We talked a lot about recruitment for the armed forces and where the trouble spots in the world are," Tanner said. "There were 34 people at the conference split into two groups. You met with your group for every debate, then we met in a big session at the end of the conference to formulate a paper based on the results.

"AT FIRST I had a hard time participating due to the high level of technical discussions. Like everyone else I read the background papers on the conference but that wasn't enough to give me a clear picture of everything that went on. Where I feel I contributed the most was in the area of motivation and recruitment. I got involved in the areas I felt were important to me, especially during talk about the draft. I thought it was very important to offer my views on the subject since I was the only one there still eligible to be drafted."

Among other things, the assembly's final report noted that current manning of military forces in the United States is inadequate for the national need. The report said that "Problems involved in manning the armed forces are complex, have developed over a substantial period of time, and cannot be ascribed solely to the all-volunteer force."

The agenda of the conference went beyond the draft and recruitment, however. Much of the conversation was centered on the link between education and the armed services and how, if possible, student loan money could be used as an incentive to get more college-age students into the armed services. There was "a general consensus that an improved educational benefit program should be enacted" to attract a higher quality of recruits, the report stated.

"WHEN WE GOT to the recommendation part of the report we discussed where the government could get money to attract better quality recruits," Tanner said. "The debate turned to education and a lot of the generals felt that the $7-9 billion currently in the government's education program should be used for youths entering the military service. The counterpoint, which I supported, was that these were two separate issues and had no business being tied in together."

In formulating an opinion, participants took into account current requirements for the military forces, whether a return to the mandatory draft is in order and how retention figured into the all-volunteer force. The final report, however, listed education incentives as the primary tool the military should use in attracting new recruits.

For Tanner the experience was both enlightening and disturbing. Although he takes pride in the kind of rapport established between the military branch and the civilan world, he takes issue with holding educational loans hostage to demands imposed by the military for recruitment.

"I LEARNED a lot about the military and how hard it is to reach a consensus when you have a battle of the minds," he said. "It looks like there will be more of an emphasis on the education process in terms of recruitment. This is a major problem right now since at least 50 percent of the personnel currently in the military service scored low on their entrance exams. I can see their (the military) point in wanting to get better recruits, but not at the expense of someone else's education.

"One important thing I learned is that the four-star generals and the Congressmen are just like everyone else," he added. "They have prejudices and wants and desires. And yet, they are the ones that make so many important decisions about the lives of young people. They're sitting in Washington talking about students between the ages of 18 and 24, but they're not really in touch with how these students feel. They look at the student population as just a statistical pool to be drawn from when it comes time to recruit."

Ed Pauley, center, flanked by wife Barbara and good friend Frank Donant, California '33.

EDWIN W. PAULEY, California '21, died July 28, 1981. Brother Pauley was a multimillionaire oilman and a national Democratic Party figure who served on the University of California Board of Regents for 32 years. Brother Frank Donant, California '33, described him as being:

"a very respected man in his community, as well as the nation. One of his most dominating character traits was his devotion and loyalty to things he believed in. He believed in Phi Kappa Psi, and always seemed to find time from his very busy life to be helpful, when the occasion required."

On one occasion, Brother Pauley donated the use of his home in Beverly Hills for a fund raising drive for the Southern California Alumni Association. When Cal Gamma moved into a new Chapter house, he provided his 14 passenger executive plane and personal pilot for a meeting of California alumni, and eventually offered to match the amount raised. While Brother Pauley was Chairman of the Board of Regents he invited President Kennedy to Berkeley to give the Charter Day address, which was accepted. When the ceremony was over, the motorcade, with President Kennedy and Ed Pauley riding together, proceeded down Hearst Avenue and was temporarily delayed in front of Ed's fraternity house, where he had lived while attending Cal. The President was impressed and offered to stop the motorcade so that the two of them could go in and say hello to the Brothers. However, Brother Pauley reminded the President that they were already late for their San Francisco luncheon, and that they should then proceed.

Other philanthropic deeds included giving $1 million to construct UCLA's famed Pauley Pavilion basketball center and $1 million toward construction of the Student Union at Berkeley. Brother Pauley was a partner in the Los Angeles Rams Football Club and a principal in the Riverside International Raceway and Valley Music Theater. He is survived by his wife, Barbara; and four children, Edwin Jr., Stephen, Robert and Susan Jean French. We thank Mrs. Pauley for her recent donation to the Endowment Fund in memory of her husband.

Message From the President

As this issue of THE SHIELD goes to press we are nearing the conclusion of the Fraternity's statistical year—by tradition the end of February, our founding month. The record will show an increasingly strong position for Phi Psi. A full report will appear in the next issue, but a couple of items are worth noting here.

New initiates among our 82 chapters will number about 1,450, up 4% from last year. Two new alumni associations have been chartered, one in Midland, Texas and one in Baton Rouge, Louisiana. Alumni contributions are running 13% ahead of the prior year and will top $140,000. Importantly, the number of individuals who contribute to the annual support campaign is also up—by about 8%. Undergraduate members will particularly appreciate the fact that alumni contributions together with our investment income pay for nearly two-thirds of our national Fraternity services. Our budgets are balanced and we're moving ahead.

We are proud to have re-established our presence at the University of California at Santa Barbara. Through the fine efforts of Chapter Consultants Tim McCourt and Gary Goldstein the California Zeta colony was installed last October. With this colonization District VI has fully recovered from the turbulent era of the early 1970's which saw six Chapters at or near extinction on the West Coast.

Accompanying these encouraging trends is a disappointing problem. Ironically, just as Greek systems are enjoying the most favorable campus environments in 15 years, an old fraternity monster is rearing its ugly head with increasing regularity. Hazing and other activities which bring discredit upon Phi Kappa Psi are a growing concern. The offenders are only a small minority of our Chapters, but a troublesome one. Our membership spoke very clearly on this issue at the last Grand Arch Council. Any practice which subjects a person to a physical or mental indignity has no place in Phi Psi. During the last five years, nine states have enacted statutes which prescribe criminal penalties for those involved in hazing activities. We remain committed to enforcement of Phi Kappa Psi's long-standing policies against hazing.

Last fall six new Archons were elected at District Council meetings to serve on the Executive Council. These new Archons are an outstanding group of undergraduate Phi Psis who bring a special enthusiasm and perspective to the Council. Their biographical sketches are featured in this issue.

Mark your calendars for the Grand Arch Council to be held August 11-15, 1982, at the Hyatt Regency Hotel in Atlanta. Preparations are underway to insure abundant southern hospitality for our visiting Phi Psis.

In the last issue of THE SHIELD, we provided a questionnaire for readers to complete and return to our Headquarters. Several hundred have responded with information and comments which will be very helpful to our officers and professional staff. We are offering the opportunity once again. If you've not already done so, please take five minutes and tell us what you think.

John R. Donnell, Jr. President

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Kansas '23, poses proudly at the gates of "Pickfair," the famous Beverly Hills estate shared with his equally famous wife of 42 years, Mary Pickford. Director of Phi Psi's development board, Brother Rogers opened wide those gates and hosted a benefit for the Fraternity's Endowment Fund in September of 1979, which added $15,000 to our educational foundation. Over 250 Brothers and guests enjoyed that special evening. THE SHIELD offers more about our famous Brother and his decades of Hollywood charm in this issue.

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Kansas '23, standing at Hollywood's most photographed doorway, welcomes readers of THE SHIELD into his famous "Pickfair," home to Buddy and wife Mary Pickford for nearly five decades.

INVITATION PICKFAIR

Moviestar, bandleader, husband and father; this story is not just about Phi Psi's first Academy Award winner Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Kansas '23. It is a tale of America's fascination with the early movie industry, and the larger-than-life stars who guided the imagination of a country with a world at its feet.

The "Phi Psi Evening at Pickfair" hosted by Brother Rogers in 1979 spilled across this famous lawn and on into the living room when a rare southern California downpour drove the party inside. e was 22 years old, just two years out of Olathe, Kan., a man much younger than his years and gleamingly handsome in a boy-next-door fashion.

Even though he was the fastest rising juvenile lead in motion pictures, his salary had only recently been raised from $75 to $200 a week, partly because he had no agent, something he would never have dreamed of using in his negotiations, as Paramount had "been so nice to me." Being in the movies was fun and all that, but what he really wanted to be was a musician.

She was 33 years old, known throughout the world as "America's Sweetheart." She was a small woman, just over five feet, with a translucent complexion and hair of spun gold. She had been the biggest female star in motion pictures, even as a teen-ager. Her 1920 marriage to Douglas Fairbanks had been the closest thing to an American Royal Wedding since a razortongued daughter of President Teddy Roosevelt had married Congressman Longsworth. Her income from the one picture a year she produced and starred in, plus her share of United Artists, which she had helped found, was well over $1 million a year.

When they met, in that early spring in 1927, Mary Pickford was looking for a leading man for her next picture "My Best Girl." Charles Edward (Buddy)

Rogers—the nickname had been bestowed on him by his sister when he was still a child—was still riding high from the roaring success of "Wings," his second picture and a smash hit of such proportions that it was destined to be the first picture to win the Academy Award for Best Picture.

Rogers had been picked up at Paramount Studios by Hope Loring, one of the writers of "Wings," for a lunch date, about which Loring had been rather mysterious.

"We drove over to a studio that I didn't realize at the time was United Artists. We drove in front of a beautiful bungalow and Hope let me out while she parked the car. I rang the bell, Mary came to the door, smiled, and opened it. For me, that was it.

"I had to test against some other actors for the part. Mary was very warm and helpful. We were making a closeup of our two heads together and she leaned her head against mine and I sort of instinctively pulled away. I thought to myself, 'Hey, she really wants me to get this part.'"

As Mary Pickford later wrote, "the first thing that struck me was his blueblack hair . . . that lay in thick waves on his beautifully shaped head . . . the next thing I noticed was his dark brown eyes . . . I knew at once that this was a man who would put the idea out of his head if he ever thought the world was otherwise than good."

Rogers got the job, spent six weeks playing his part—which seemed like a vacation after the nine grueling months it took to make "Wings"—and went back to Paramount to face the terror of the impending talkies, which he approached with his usual irrepressible geniality.

Pickford assembled her picture and released it before the end of the year to the success that all of her efforts enjoyed, then took a year off to tend her mother, who was dying of cancer, but who had been very impressed by the Rogers boy herself.

Each remained heavily on the other's mind, and as Rogers churned out picture after picture at Paramount, frequent phone calls maintained the unspoken and unacted-upon relationship they both knew was a strong possibility.

But, in the meantime, the wide-eyed

Sports czar Jerry Buss of Los Angeles recently bought "Pickfair" for $5.4 million, including the 100-foot-long swimming pool, above left. Buddy's new home, "Pickfair Lodge," is on land once part of the original estate. kid from Kansas was adrift in Hollywood, the Oz of the early 20th century.

"What was nice about the silents was that we had orchestras on the set for mood music. If you had to cry, you'd tell them the tune that made you sad—mine was 'Liebestraum'—and they'd sail into it.

"While we were down in Texas making "Wings," we'd been reading about Al Jolson and 'The Jazz Singer.' And we'd heard about John Gilbert's voice. My best friends at Paramount were Dick Arlen, Gary Cooper and Jack Oakie, and we were all pretty nervous about talkies. We all dressed in the same dressing room, so we were great pals, and none of us had any stage experience. Dick and Coop and I made a pact; we figured that one of us would turnout not to have a voice, so the other two promised to give him a certain segment of their salary to support him.

"I remember the day Wally Beery was tested for the talkies; we were all hanging around the stage because Beery had this deep voice, we all knew he'd been on stage for a long time, and if he flunked out of his sound test, what hope was there for the rest of us?

"He was in there for several hours and we were sweating more and more and suddenly the door to the stage flew open and a stagehand came running out yelling 'Wally Beery has a voice! Wally Beery has a voice!'

As it happened, Rogers sailed into talkies with the same pleasing, naturalistic nonchalance with which he had made his success in silents. He answered press inquiries about his continuing bachelorhood by saying, "the woman I love is already married," which was indeed still the case, although Pickford's inability to adjust to her mother's death had adversely affected the emotional equilibrium of what had previously been a hard working, rather singleminded woman.

That, and some mutual career reverses brought on by a combination of mediocre vehicles, changing audience tastes and basic bad luck, had seriously shattered the Pickford-Fairbanks marriage. In 1933 she made "Secrets," her last picture, even as her marriage began to publicly crumble as both partners were caught in what amounted to personal and professional changes of life.

In the meantime, Buddy Rogers was realizing one of two great wishes—he became one of the most successful bandleaders in the country.

In 1935, Mary Pickford and Douglas Fairbanks were divorced. Two years after that, the fantasy that had sustained Buddy Rogers was finally fulfilled: Mary Pickford became his wife. They were married for 43 years. Until her death in 1979, at the age of 86, Rogers would say, in his gee whiz explosive way, "She was my best girl in 1927 and she's my best girl today."

"Today" he is 76 years old, tall, trim and manicured, exceedingly well turned-out, still much younger than his years and slightly embarrassed about a man of his age still being tagged as "Buddy." He is frankly proud, not of his successive, successful careers of light leading man and bandleader, but, simply of being the husband of the woman he adored.

"I was doing very well by the time I married Mary," he says, homely echoes of Kansas in his voice. "I was making $3,000 a week and I had five homes—that sounds good, but you have to remember that a beautiful home cost about $21,000 then. I was on the road, having fun, but Mary had a funny way of always being in the background. She wanted me and I wanted her, although I could never quite figure out why she loved me. She was a romantic, and she carried around this image of a college boy for years. I was it, I guess.

"When we first married, we moved into my house, a beautiful home near the Riviera country club, where I played polo. Her help and her secretaries were having to commute between Pickfair and my house and it was an awkward situation. Finally, she just said, 'Come on, darling.' So we moved to Pickfair.

"Mary told me that when she and Douglas had first moved into Pickfair, there were cowboys on the place, and when they'd entertain guests from Europe they'd saddle up the horses, pack lunches and ride the 12 miles to the ocean. And they'd only pass one other house the whole way, the Danziger estate, which was where the Bel-Air hotel is now."

After the marriage to Douglas Fairbanks, two flaming egos in what must have been a constant, stressful competition, Rogers' self-effacing, courtly deference must have been an enormously relaxing relief for Pickford.

When World War II erupted, Rogers entered the Navy as a pilot, serving his time with distinction. While he was still in the service, he and his wife adopted two children. After the war, Rogers emerged to find the market for his brand of good-time swinging jazz thoroughly depleted, so he gave himself over to his wife's interests, coproducing the half-dozen or so pictures she produced after her retirement from acting, and helping to manage her investments. As late as 1971, though, he conducted a tour of Fred Waring's orchestra when Waring became ill.

The third floor sitting room serves the several bedroom suites. It was from this room Mary glanced down one day at the work being done on "Pickfair's" driveway, and noticed a cat crossing the fresh cement . . . going down to examine more closely, Mary was intrigued with the paw prints left behind. It was Mary Pickford who originated the Hollywood tradition that made Grauman's Chinese Theatre a legend.

leasant, easy-going Buddy, the man everybody liked, put his foot down only once, when his wife, afraid that her films and the social milieu and assumptions that they reflected would appear comic to modern audiences, made plans to burn all of them.

Rogers mobilized his wife's old friend Lillian Gish to play the part of Dutch Uncle, and he threw in his own outraged thoughts on the matter. The two of them not only convinced her not to destroy her films, but to establish a quarter-million-dollar fund for their permanent preservation.

So the years stretched on, smoothly and, for the most part, uneventfully, except for a persistent Hollywood rumor that Mary Pickford was just fine in the mornings, but tended to start drinking at lunch and keep going till nightfall, in a ladylike sort of way. It's a rumor that would have explained Pickford's reclusiveness in the last 15 years of her life, when she rarely came out of her Pickfair bedroom and communicated mostly by telephone.

It is also a rumor that Buddy Rogers vehemently denies.

"Those stories all come from a very bad butler that we had to discharge, and the only reason I would ever write a book would be to set the record straight. Of course we had liquor in the house, but Mary never took more than two or three drinks. Never! It's also been said that I had a bed over in a corner somewhere. But we slept together for 43 years!

"The extent of Mary's withdrawal was greatly exaggerated; she was only withdrawn to the public and the press. Lillian would come over, lots of friends would come over. She was very close to Doug Fairbanks Jr., as I am. The reason Mary retired from the world was because she'd been working since she was 7 years old. She was tired and she felt she'd earned her rest.

"She occasionally did think about making another film. They came to Mary for 'Sunset Boulevard,' they wanted her and nobody else. We read the script and she said to me, 'Honey, I can't do this. The only one who can do this is Gloria.' And she was right. Oh, she could have played it her way, but I don't think it would have been as effective as the way Gloria (Swanson) played

"There was one picture that she really wanted to do: 'Life With Father.' She didn't test for it but she was definitely being considered, but then Warners decided on Irene Dunne. It really hurt Mary.

"I'm sorry, but Pickfair was always a comfortable, happy house with us. Oh God, we'd have fights and all, and I'd walk out. But 10 minutes later, we'd be wanting to call each other up. There was a strong, wonderful feeling between us."

Nobody in Hollywood has ever questioned the quiet, stubborn nobility of Buddy Rogers. William Wellman, the former pilot with the Lafayette Flying Corps who directed "Wings," "The Ox-Box Incident," "The High and the Mighty," as well as the first "A Star Is Born," said shortly before his death in 1975, "I loved Buddy. He's a tough S.O.B. To show you how tough he is, he used to hate flying; it made him deathly sick. When we made 'Wings,' he logged over 98 hours of flying time, and every time he got back down on the ground, he'd vomit. Yet he never complained or gave me a hard time. That's a man with guts. I love him."

And Douglas Fairbanks Jr. says of a man for whom he easily could have resentment, "he is the most wonderful and gentle and kind of men and I'm proud of being related to him."

f Buddy Rogers was well off from the proceeds of his successful band, his wife's death, and the will that named him principal beneficiary of an estate in excess of $10 million made him

GEORGE B. LOCKWOOD

The First Century

Part III

The continuation of a series by Kent Christopher Owen, Indiana '58, celebrating the Centennial of THE SHIELD.

Taken in the long view, journalism is always ephemeral, news ceaselessly giving way to news in an infinite regress. It would seem that a fraternity journal might be even more readily disposable, simply because of its incidental and random contents. However, a journal that concerns itself with the education of young men, the works of men in midlife, and the experience of elders is selfrenewing, for it surveys the recurrence of generations in a constancy of hope. In this way the Fraternity is enabled to see the ages of man steady and whole. THE SHIELD of Phi Kappa Psi has, accordingly, drawn on the diverse talents of many Brothers to gain its balance and perspective.

Sooner or later a Hoosier Methodist from DePauw would get his hands on THE SHIELD. So it happened that George Browning Lockwood, Indiana Alpha '90, took charge when Frank Chapin Bray of Penn Beta after a brief but inventive term, resigned to give his full attention to the editorship of The Chautauquan, the leading adult religious education magazine of the day. Beginning in the fall of 1899, THE SHIELD was edited and published from Lockwood's newspaper office in Marion, Indiana, seat of Grant County and a Phi Psi stronghold.

Lockwood brought a strong news emphasis to the magazine, treating topical events and running feature stories on prominent Phi Psis. His first, of course, was on the Fraternity's and Indiana's and America's Poet Laureate, James Whitcomb Riley from, of course, Indiana Alpha. The piece quoted Bill Nye, Riley's partner on the lecture circuit and a fair humorist in his own right, as encountering the Hoosier "addressing the Phi Kappa Psi Alumni Association of Jerusalem or trolling for pickerel in the Dead Sea." Lockwood offered several examples of the praise that was greeting Riley's work, this one from Godey's Magazine: " . . . he speaks the universal democracy, the equality of man, the hatred of assumption and snobbery, that our republic stands for if it stands for anything."

The editor had a pronounced taste for oratory in the highcockalorum style, particularly if the orator was also pretty funny. One excerpt from Henry Pegram, New York Delta, later an excellent attorney general of the Fra-ternity, will do: "Across the oleaginous estuary that protects the Borough of Manhattan from the Borough of Brooklyn, on the island of old Nassau, known to fame for its death-dealing juggernauts, N.Y. Zeta, like a fin de siècle Pallas Athene has leaped forth to demonstrate that a technical school is no arid soil for the culture of the Phi Psi germ, especially when copiously irrigated with the throat-gladdening nectar of the vine and the hop." There was more, much more.

THE SHIELD gave a good deal of space to obituaries, replete with affecting accounts of the lives and works of departed Brothers, usually in organtoned prose. If a Brother died in old age, his splendid accomplishments and honors were extolled as the rightful due of a loyal Phi Psi. If a Brother died young, his noble attributes were found a surety of great promise, now and forever tragically unfilfilled. It was, after all, an age of sentiment, and the Fraternity, speaking through the words of George Lockwood, valued the life of each member far beyond whatever measure the rest of the world might apply. But for all the excesses of the funerary tributes, there was the unmistakable feeling that each man truly mattered in the memories of his fellows, that the bond of Phi Kappa Psi was imperishable. It is fitting that the song "Old Phi Psi." should have been George Lockwood's creation with its wistfulness, plaintive sincerity, and nostalgia. Journalist though he was, Lockwood was also a poet who sought to put into lasting words the meaning of the Fraternity. With the touch of a small-town editor Lockwood played up every possibility for "human interest." Weddings, anniversaries, birth announcements, christenings, social notes from all over-the good events of everyday life were set forth for his readers' delectation. "Mrs. Cole is one of Meadville's most estimable young ladies, she has met with marked success as a teacher in the Second district schools, and is widely popular socially. She was always a staunch friend of the Phi Psis, and has rendered valuable assistance in many close contests." Another Penn Beta bride was given this salute: "She was a prominent member of Kappa Alpha Theta, but could always find time to say a good word for Phi Kappa Psi when she could do us any good." An Illinois Alphan posted to Kalamazoo received this accolade: "Dr. McNair is achieving more than a local reputation as a surgeon. He has a very charming wife and one very bright daughter." It was noted that B. T. Gillette of Cal Beta was "as ready to talk life insurance as Phi Kappa Psi." Another Cal Betan, T. A. Storey had the good sense to marry Miss Parnie Hamilton, a Stanford Delta Gamma, who was "a valuable aid to the boys in all campaigns."

Lockwood was adept at chivvying the Brotherhood into paying lifetime subscriptions to THE SHIELD. His simple expedient was direct: printing the names of those alumni who paid in full. Although some regarded this ploy as a Hoosier barbarism, the net effect was that the list of subscribers grew longer with each issue. He also needled, cajoled, and browbeat the Chapters and

In the March, 1900 issue of THE SHIELD, editor Lockwood printed a composite photo of all undergraduates by chapter. Most poses were at least as solemn as that offered by New York Zeta.

Alumni Associations into submitting regular letters about their doings. At one point he even enlisted the assistance of the three official jewelers of the Fraternity (three, count them, three) in awarding special badges begauded with shiny minerals to those correspondents who had sent in the best copy. The effort produced such entries as: "Mississippi Alpha was never in better shape for work. With a large Chapter of strong, manly, companionable fellows; a power in social, literary and athletic life; with no dissensions, internal or external; no debt or legal complication; no danger of being run over, crowded our or "sat upon;" in high favor with the faculty and officers of the University; proud of her past, and with excellent hopes for the future, she wishes a happy and prosperous New Year to the general Fraternity, its officers and to all sister Chapters. Si valves, bene est."

So thorough was Brother Lockwood in cadging letters, that he decided to go himself one better: he asked for group photographs of all 39 chapters and ran them in a single turn-of-the-century issue presenting a panoramic view of what the undergraduate legions of Phi Kappa Psi looked like, Grecian columns, scenic backdrops, overstuffed pillows, porch furniture, and all the trimmings. The total effect was a fraternal, if not an aesthetic, triumph, but the Fraternity, taken as a whole, has probably never looked any better.

The Chapter letters, apart from their interest to the Fraternity, convey lively information about the collegiate pastimes of the early twentieth century. Mandolin clubs, glee clubs, song fests, musicals and theatricals began to overtake the literary and oratorical contests, which had been the main extracurricular diversions for most of the nineteenth century. Increasingly, football and baseball figured prominently in the letters, and athletes were prized as assets. Occasionally, some odd minor sport like basketball was given passing attention, but only when an otherwise estimable Brother was involved. Nonetheless, Kansas Alpha boasted that the game's inventor, Dr. James Naismith, was the K.U. coach. Obviously, such deviant behavior in the Midwest would never displace mandolin-playing.

Lockwood heralded the growing trend toward Chapter houses. He ran photographs of Neo-Jacobean whimsies with gables aplenty, brownstone townhouses with the weighty look of men's clubs, simple frame dwellings with carpenter Gothic decorations. His descriptions lingered over "Turkish cozy corners and inglenooks" with "a generous garret given over to oratorical practice" and "the Seminarium given over to rough-house and philosophical discourse."

The editor was quick to distinguish "rough-house" from "horse play," what would soon be called hazing. "Horse play, counting out the element of danger, is useless and senseless . . . There is nothing clever, nothing original, nothing very amusing, and nothing manly about the maltreatment of a frightened freshman, or "fagging" in any form. If an accident does happen in the process, the outside world is sure to hold the Fraternity responsible, because the victim has submitted himself absolutely to his fellows, relying upon their friendship and their judgment. But beyond all this, there is something else. The Fraternity, to those who really understand its purpose and are instinct with its spirit, is a thing too sacred to have its initiatory ceremonies marred by rowdyism, or by the strained humor of 'horse play.' "

THE SHIELD occasionally ventured into the quasi-academic field of university surveys, estimating fraternity conditions at Harvard, California, Iowa, and Yale, among others. Yale's senior societies, for instance, were revealed as pretentious cliques, which prevented the establishment of any genuine fraternities. Accordingly, Phi Kappa Psi was warned to avoid the murky depths of New Haven. Some years earlier in 1886. THE SHIELD had published an analysis of the "Palladium" chapters at the University of Michigan, the old-line fraternities that had been around long enough in Ann Arbor to qualify for inclusion in The Greek letter equivalent of the Social Register. It was a clear-eyed piece of work for any undergraduate. It was also a promising preview for the author was Robert E. Park, Michigan Alpha '83, later a renowned professor of sociology at the University of Chicago and a pioneer in such fields as criminology, urbanology, and the study of race relations. Later exercises in fraternity sociology that appeared in THE SHIELD were less accomplished, but no less intriguing, especially between the lines.

Like his predecessors, George Lockwood was determined to keep THE SHIELD from becoming a parochial house-organ. He was aware that the magazine represented Phi Kappa Psi to the entire fraternity movement, higher education in general, and American society at large. He understood that the Fraternity would largely be known and judged on the basis of THE SHIELD, and that, as editor, he bore the responsibility to say what Phi Psi stood for and what it stood against. Earlier editors had regularly taken stands on behalf of the Fraternity, but Lockwood, accustomed to the forthright ways of country editors, lighted into all the issues, the more controversial the better, that crossed his capacious mind. He was, in his way, both a conservative and a liberal, a preserver and a reformer. Yet he never used THE SHIELD to advance an idea or project that was not in the best interests of Phi Kappa Psi. It was Lockwood, more than any other editor, who created, or at least defined, the Fraternity's distinctive image of progressive traditionalism or enlightened humane conservatism.

A female portrait in a turn-of-the-century SHIELD! Yes indeed, that of Miss Mai Moore, daughter of Founder Charles Page Thomas Moore, surrounded by pink-tinted blossoms of sweet peas no less. Miss Moore's photo graced an entire page of the October 1904 issue, which printed her moving tribute to Judge Moore who had died July 7th of that year.

In any case he made himself plain: "The ideal Chapter is composed of divergent classes of men, all under the designation 'good moral character' . . . respect for the opinions of others and tolerance for others' ideas will be developed; and thus will be acquired a regard for the rights of others both in practice and in theory . . . " "In this generation of great social problems the university should be the conservator of all that is most virile in American citizenship, and rather than permit its social life to become a feeble reflection of the dollar-chasing, dollar-worshipping life outside, it should declare the doctrine that the gentleman and the scholar should be the finished product of a great institution of learning. It does not take a university to make a gilded dawdler, and it ought to be made an uncomfortable idling place for the man who has no higher ideal in life than to display effulgent haberdashery. The world calls for men who can think straight, do right and live strenuously with some high purpose."

It was evident that George Lockwood was a man of vision, but not a visionary; so much so that George Smart of Ohio Delta, then the secretary of the Fraternity, said of his work, "(THE SHIELD) has ever revealed something of the great undercurrent which, with restless energy, impels us onward towards a manifest destiny." Even if that last phrase had become an American cliché of the period, and for some an obsession, it accurately characterized Lockwood's editorship.

His favorite projects were helped along in almost every issue: the convening of a Symposium each year at commencement in every Chapter for alumni and undergraduates; the enlistment of fratres in facultate at each institution where there was a Chapter; the establishment of cooperative summer rush programs through alumni associations (the Toledo A.A. apparently staged the first such effort, and the idea quickly spread to other fraternities); and opposition to extension to Canadian universities ("Phi Psi is distinctly Americanin its characteristics, in its tendencies, and in its nationalism.").

THE SHIELD made sure that newsworthy Brothers were well covered. In 1904 the Prohibition Party's candidate for president was John G. Woolley, Indiana Alpha '67 and Ohio Alpha '71 (obviously a man under the influenceof Methodism). G. Fred Rush, editor of THE SHIELD in the mid-90s, was often in the news as a crusading attorney in Chicago, who campaigned against the notorious party caucuses that picked candidates for public office, often with little regard for their fitness. Rush was the author of the first direct primary bill in the United States which passed the Illinois legislature and became the model for similar laws throughout the country.

William J. Clothier, Penn Kappa '99, made news as the beau ideal of American tennis by winning the national singles championship in 1906 and 1909, and a young fellow out West on Mount Oread, Forrest Allen, Kansas Alpha '99, was taking Dr. Naismith's instruction in basketball quite seriously. He wasn't yet the legendary Dr. Phog Allen, K.U.'s resident wizard, but he would be before long. Dr. Allen T. Smith, Penn Epsilon, presided over the Penn Medical School and carried on research on the hookworm parasite, with the first Rockefeller grant to medical science.

In another Rockefeller-related matter, Frank S. Monnette, Ohio Alpha '80, the attorney general of Ohio, and William Taylor, Indiana Beta '74, the attorney general of Indiana, combined forces to defend the public interest against the mighty Standard Oil trust. Their legal opponents in the historic litigation were the general counsels of the company, Samuel C. T. Dodd, Penn Alpha '54 (reportedly the highest paid man in the country), and Joseph Benson Foraker, Ohio Alpha '66, and the founder of New York Alpha. Foraker, the first president of the Fraternity under the executive council system, was the senior United States senator from Ohio, in fact, the majority leader of the Senate, a former two-term governor of Ohio, and a leading Republican candidate for the presidency. (His involvement with Standard Oil eventually led to his political downfall.) Finally, the Phi Psi attorneys general and their Federal colleagues won out in the Supreme Court's landmark decision of 1911, which forced Standard Oil to be reorganized into separate corporations. One assumes that throughout the struggle the spirit of "Amici usque ad aras" sustained the rivals. So one may hope.

Engaging stories about the exploits of the New York Zetans appeared quite often. Although Brooklyn Polytechnic Institute should have inclined the Chapter toward engineering and the applied sciences, a number of actors, musicians, and artists seemed to gravitate there. The man who played Hamlet until the role was almost uniquely his own, who virtually created the part of Cyrano de Bergerac, and who long years later was revered as the dean of the American acting profession was initiated in 1900 as Walter Dougherty. His stage name, Walter Hampden, was the theater's criterion of excellence. Even one critic found his way into the Chapter in the

Who was the more talented, the poet or the artist? In the October 1904 SHIELD, poet Roger B. Whitman, Columbia '94, teamed with artist Howard C. person of Clayton M. Hamilton, '98, who wrote drama reviews for New York newspapers and magazines. Perhaps in an unguarded moment he composed a three-stanza poem for THE SHIELD, "Battle Hymn of Phi Kappa Psi." One stanza will do:

Fortunately, New York Zeta's entertainments were seldom so grim and earnest; one correspondent described them as "clever, original, and studiously nonsensical." Even Clayton Hamilton reported that a New York A.A. dinner was perked up by the presence of sever-

"Our days are short, my Brothers: let us love while yet we live.

Let us scatter flowers of kindness on our pathway fugitive.

We must die: but all immortal are the good deeds that we do.

Let us live the lives of heroes,—lives that none shall ever rue.

With Phi Kappa Psi our watchword, we shall win a conquest brave,

And shall earn the rest of victors when we're laid within the grave.

And future generations shall know the noble tie

Which bound us to a life which made us not afraid to die:

And they shall raise their voices till the hollow vaulted sky

Shall echo, "Live forever! Live forever! Old Phi Psi!""

al Zetans: "The evening's festivities were a vast conglomeration of handshaking, feasting, singing, toastquaffing, speech-making, yelling and all the myriad elements which go to make up an ecstasy of good-fellowship." A few years later the Chapter noted that: "Brother Horton, '08, is at present traveling in Newfoundland with a theatrical stock company and, according to all reports, is turning out to be a very promising Broadway star, with prospects of a bright future. The Chapter acknowledges with thanks his many postals from the distant land." The rising star was Edward Everett Horton. who would for nigh on to sixty years delight audiences here and abroad with his urbane comedy in plays, films and television. Although his chapter expired in 1912, Brother Horton never lost touch with Phi Kappa Psi, bringing merriment and conviviality wherever he went to generation after generation of his Brothers.

Most Phi Psis, then as now, were more likely to build communities than make headlines. THE SHIELD devoted even more attention to their humbler efforts, making sure that Brothers in all stations were recognized. Whether a New York Betan was appointed assistant postmaster of Carbondale, Pennsylvania or an Indiana Alphan became YMCA secretary in Houston, Texas, the news usually circulated through the columns of the magazine. "We have a number of good Phi Psis here,' writes Col. J. F. Chase, Chief Engineer, Department of Sewers and Waterworks Construction, Manila, P.I., 'but our most enthusiastic member, Ham Lawrence, has just gone home on a visit."

The states of Michigan, Indiana, and Ohio in 1905 were level-headed enough to have Phi Psis as superintendents of their hospitals for the insane. Younger alumni wrote that they had entered such new fields as advertising and public relations, and the head of the nation's largest ad agency, Brown & Bigelow, who was not a member of the Fraternity, volunteered the information that the Phi Psis in his employ were far and away superior to every other breed of college man, and that he would hire all he could get.

There was a new department in the magazine headed "Business Directory," intended to facilitate the exchange of business between Phi Psis." The rates were modest, and so were the notices. "Delaware, Dover, next door to the State House, Charles H. LeFevre, Attorney-at-Law. Corporation Law a Specialty. Charters procured for Non-Resident Corporations. Pa. Eta '93." "Indianapolis, W. H. Armstrong &

Co., Makers of Surgical Instruments, Hospital Furniture, Deformity Apparatus, etc., C. E. Sullivan, Ind. A., Sec'y and Treas." "Philadelphia, Pa., 301 Mint Arcade Bldg. William Rufus Reitzell, Pa. Epsilon and N.Y. Alpha. Jos. A. Jones, Mass. Alpha. Representing the New York Life Insurance Co. While helping yourself in the matter of insurance why not help also a Phi Psi firm representing one of the strongest old line companies?"

Predictably, lawyers led the list of advertisers with insurance agents coming in a close second. Still there was plenty of variety: contractors, dentists, architects, real estate agents, bankers, stock brokers, printers, mining and civil engineers, manufacturers of assorted products, and from time to time an undertaker. In addition to the "business directory," there were a few larger display ads, mostly taken out by jewelers (all of them official, of course). Now and then a music publisher would announce that a new Phi Psi song was available in both solo piano and orchestrated editions: "Every Phi Psi and Phi Psi girl should become familiar with 'Dreams of College Waltz' . . . each 'Shield' reader is requested to speak to someone else about this new Phi Psi music, especially to your orchestra leader."

By no means was all THE SHIELD'S attention focused on the undergraduates and the more up-and-coming alumni. The Fraternity was by the first decade of the twentieth century aged enough to have many "old boys," whose reminiscences were informative and sometimes moving. Many elder Brothers were asked to reflect on their lives for the benefit and guidance of the juniors. General J. Warren Keifer, Ohio Beta, who had served as speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives, could be counted on to hold forth with lessons galore: " . . . the first indispensable rule of personal action is moderate living-to be temperate in all things, but not a crank in anything. Mental activity prolongs life, keeping the mind supple and adaptable and happy. The sure penalty of worry is collapse, and then death." The Rev. Robert Lowry, Penn Gamma '56, renowned minister and composer, was venerated by Phi Psis everywhere. At his death the entire Fraternity went into deep mourning, and one of his last talks was widely quoted: "We love our past; but when our past is in our way set it aside and take up a new present, with a new force for the future, and so adjust ourselves to the economy of God and the beating impulses of our own Phi Kappa Psi souls."

Editor Lockwood's October 1904 SHIELD recounted many details of the death and burial of Founder Charles Page Thomas Moore earlier that year, including the appearance of a particular flower at the funeral which "suggested to the executive council the choice of the sweet pea [as the Fraternity flower]—a flower which happily affords the pink and lavender color combination" that represented the "official" Phi Psi colors of the day. Consequently, a half-dozen stylized sweet pea drawings appeared as SHIELD enhancers for the next several issues, including the above.

The death of the Fraternity's cofounder, Judge Charles P. T. Moore, on July 7, 1904 was observed with a series of eulogies, including one from a West Virginia newspaper by an anonymous writer, identified only as "a close friend of Judge Moore": "His was a personality not frequently met with in the rugged walks of life-gifted by nature with a mind both profound and brilliant; endowed with a genial disposition that worshiped not at the shrine of the rich and the great alone; elevated with a heart and soul that rose above the sordid thoughts of earth, the name of Judge Moore will go down through generations to come as one of nature's grandest noblemen . . . This ritual [the Fraternity's burial ritual] was both beautiful and impressive. The hands clasped in fellowship over the departed brother, the dropping of fragrant blossoms upon the casket and the tender voices softened in prayer, all symbolic of fraternal love for the quiet heart . . . "

Judge Moore would have asked for no greater reassurance that his creation was fulfilling his hopes than what Orra E. Monnette, Ohio Alpha '91, the secretary of the Fraternity, wrote in his annual report for 1904: "My Brothers, you may justly and enthusiastically rejoice in the material advancement, in the abundant prosperity, in the splendid growth, in the newer history and in the glorious achievements of beloved Phi Kappa Psi, but the true meaning of these things, the right test of the merit of your striving, is to be found in the expressions of your own life, in the attributes of your own character . . . PART II

MARIJUANA

BY PEGGY MANN

THE BARTONS WERE at a gala street party, a fundraiser for the Humane Society, when they first learned their beautiful 15-year-old daughter, Tracy, was going steady with a professional drug dealer.

They were sitting at a candle-lit table with the Corders, a couple they barely knew. A band played. Colored lights were strung over Crayton Cove. A full moon hung over Naples Bay. And in this picturesque setting the Barton's world fell to pieces.

"Oh, yes, we know all about Andrew!" Sue Corder said. "He used to date our daughter. He needs to have a young girl on his arm to gain entre to the other kids. They're his chief customers. And he sells them everything. Pot, PCP, acid, Quaaludes. You name it, he's got it."

Tracy was sprawled on her waterbed, listening to her stereo. "What are you doing home so early?" she asked. "Was the party a drag?" With her wide blue eyes, her straight brown shoulder-length hair, she looked the personification of adolescent innocence. Bill Barton felt his question grotesque. "Did you know Andrew earns his living as a drug dealer?"

Tracy went pale. "He never deals or does drugs when I'm around," she said tearfully. "He respects me too much for that." As for her own drug use, she insisted, "I only smoke a little grass once in a while at a party."

Her parents believed her. They forbade her to see Andrew again. And Tracy promised to obey. Later that night Brett, their 16-year-old son, came into their bedroom. "I'm glad you found out," he said. A daily pot smoker, Brett had gotten his sister started when she was 13. She now smoked one to seven joints a day. Brett did not reveal any of this to his parents. He did, however, tell them that Tracy was also into cocaine and pills. "She's really going down the tubes," he said.

Hadn't the Bartons seen symptoms? Yes. And like millions of other parents they'd put it down to "teenage." Tracy had been an A student. Now she was getting Bs and Cs. She's been what her mother called "a sunshine child;" eager, abounding with interests. Now she was sullen, always antagonistic; her favorite phrase: "Stop hassling me!"

Brett's symptoms were less evident. True, he seemed to care less about everything—except for "partying." He's banged up the car a couple of times. And he got sick a lot. But it had never occurred to the Bartons that any of this could have anything to do with marijuana.

The Bartons regard themselves as a typical uppermiddle-class family. They live in Naples, Fla. What happened to them and their two teenagers could have happened anywhere in America. It is in fact happening everywhere in America—with one important difference. The Bartons not only solved the drug problem in their own family, they also developed methods to help other parents in their community, and in other communities, so that these parents, too, are now bringing up kids who are drug free. When you find out that your kids are on marijuana, what do you do? Bill and Pat Barton met that problem head-on, and solved it. Now they're sharing what they've learned with thousands of other parents.

As a first step Bill Barton phoned Andrew and told him, "Keep away from Tracy. Otherwise, I'll take legal action."

A week later, washing Tracy's jeans, Pat found a note from Andrew, arranging a meeting. When she showed it to Tracy, the girl flared, "Don't worry. Because of you he's moving to Macon. Ga."

And Andrew did leave town.

Next, the Bartons went to see the school principal. Brett, in his own self defense, had informed his parents that, "A lot of kids are stoned before school even starts. They light up in the school parking lot."

The principal insisted that the Bartons were exaggerating the problem. "There may be a few kids out there smoking pot, but that's all. Besides, we can't do anything about the parking lot. We haven't the personnel."

The Bartons then went to the county sheriff, who agreed to set up a secret three-week surveillance of the school parking lot. More than 400 pictures were taken, clearly showing that this was a preschool hang-out for using and dealing in drugs. As a result, six students were arrested, suspended from school for five days, put on probation, and assigned to a 40-hour work program in community projects. Brett Barton was one of those arrested. Bill shrugged off his son's fury. "You're the one who got yourself busted!"

As a further result of the parking lot pictures, Naples Informed Parents (NIP) was started. The first meeting was held in the Bartons' spacious living room. Five very uninformed couples showed up. "Parents were ashamed to come," Pat Barton said. "They felt this would be admitting their kid did drugs. At the meeting we were astonished and relieved to find that we were all more or less in the same boat. And that, working together, we might turn it into a lifeboat."

The first task Naples Informed Parents set themself was to get informed, principally about the effects of marijuana, the drug their kids insisted was harmless.

They learned that not only did pot have impairing physical effects (see article in December '81 issue of The Shield), but they were stunned to discover that some of their youngsters fitted the classical psychological portrait of the chronic young pot smoker, including apathy, fatigue, irritability, drastic inexplicable mood changes, depression, decreasing school performance, impaired short-term memory, and a "dropping-out" of everything, except those elements in their lives which revolved around getting and smoking pot.

Fortified by knowledge, the Bartons decded to take a tough stance with Tracy, concentrating on her because her symptoms seemed more severe than Brett's. In order to keep her drug free, they put her under strict surveillance. Bill drove her to school. Pat picked her up. Tracy was "grounded." No dates. No private phone calls. No being at home alone without one of her parents. They also informed Tracy's teachers that if she cut a class, they wanted to be notified at once.

Tracy rebelled at this watchdogging. She wept, stormed, screamed that her parents were making a fool of her. And, privately, the parents were torn. Were they doing the right thing? They knew, however, that it was essential they present a firm, united front to their children.

One morning Tracy disappeared. She and her friend Linda hocked a TV set and sewing machine for $200, and boarded the bus to Miami. "But," Tracy recalls, "the driver stopped at Lum's restaurant for lunch. Linda's mother found that her TV set was gone and that Linda was gone. There aren't many ways to get out of town, so she drove down and hauled us off the bus. My Dad was so furious he said if I wanted to run away he'd drive me back to the bus station. But I decided not to go."

In late April Tracy was allowed to take an after-school job as a utility aide at Naples Community Hospital, a few blocks from the Bartons' house. They informed the staff about her drug problem. Tracy was furious, claiming that her parents were being unfair and distrustful. "She was right." Pat said. "We were totally distrustful."

Summer came. Tracy got a full-time job at the hospital, Pat quit her job in real estate so she could be there when her daughter was not working. She drove Tracy to and from the nearby beach. "I'd keep going down at odd moments. Tracy knew, if I saw her smoking—no more beach for the summer."

Finally, however, the parents allowed her to go to a movie with a girlfriend. Instead, Tracy went to visit a drug dealer. The police chose that night to raid his place. Tracy was arrested—and put in her parents' custody.

Despairing, the Bartons sent their daughter to a drug-free residential clinic. She ran away three times. The first two times they brought her back. "But the third time," Pat said. "we believed her."

They'd read an article by Dr. Harold Voth, senior psychiatrist at the Menninger Foundation. Voth had studied the psychopathology of marijuana in depth for eight years and found: "There is only one certain way to be cured of chronic marijuana smoking. The user must be totally isolated from the drug for a minimum of three months. Only then will he become aware of the profound effects the drug has had on him, and, at the same time, become free of its addictive effects Someone who cares must intervene totally, consistently, and with unrelenting perseverance. Efforts short of all-out efforts generally fail."

The Bartons' efforts had been "all out." and Tracy had been off the drug for three months. She was able to see what marijuana had done to her. And she did succeed in "staying straight." Within a semester her grades climbed back. Her areas of interest revived. As Pat put it, "She bubbles with life now."

Tracy put it this way, "You can do almost anything better if you're not smoking pot. I feel a lot more aware of things now—like I've got more senses, like I... woke up. Life isn't 'getting high' any more. Life is living; it's real."

Brett was impressed by the dramatic change in his sister. Also, he was "sick of being sick," constantly getting boils, sore throats, fevers. His mother showed him an article on marijuana's impairing effects on the immune system. She suggested he try an experiment; stop smoking pot for three months and see whether his health improved.

He did—and it did. Brett, too, decided to "stay straight."

Both youngsters agree that their parents had taken "the only way that works," Tracy said. "Most parents try to get their kid off drugs by grounding them for a weekend, or taking the car away, or else they don't do anything. And all that is dumb. You have to really hang in there. The kid will hate it. And hate you. But they'll respect you, too, and in the end they'll thank you for it."

Brett said, "Parents have got to realize that pot is everywhere and a kid can be high all day long for months, even years, without the parents knowing—because it's easy to hide your high, to 'come down' when they're around. Parents have got to look for the signs and symptoms. It's too easy to say, 'Not my kid,' or 'He'll grow out of it.' The parents who sit back and do nothing risk losing their kid to drugs."

Meanwhile, Naples Informed Parents were not "sitting back doing nothing." Within a year they had grown from 10 parents to more than 500, and they accomplished the following:

- They organized drug abuse teach-ins for teachers, set up reference libraries on marijuana in all the junior highs and high schools in Naples. They trained parents to present the latest scientific information on pot to fourth, fifth, and sixth graders, and sponsored assembly programs on marijuana for parents and students.
- In Naples High a committee of parents, teachers, and students wrote a new student code of conduct and discipline including "no drug or alcohol use or possession on school grounds or at any school function." (For a first offense: a 10-day suspension and referral to appropriate police authorities. Second offense: the same, plus recommendation for expulsion.) At the end of every period every teacher had to turn in an attendance report. If a child was absent from school or class. the parent was notifed at once by a parent volunteer working from the school office. And, if a student's grades fell dramatically (often a sign of drug use), the parent was notified without waiting for "report card Results? Said Bill Barton: "Students are now far more motivated. They have a healthier, more optimistic attitude about school. They dress better, look better, have a lot more interest in extra-curricular activities and sports. And SAT scores have gone up. The kids who didn't smoke pot used to feel uncomfortable about it. They don't any longer. And the number of users has decreased markedly. As one youngster told me recently, "We're starting to make it cool not to smoke pot."

NIP parents also put pressures on city and county legislators who passed bills banning the sale of drug-related paraphernalia. And, by talking to store owners (who could lose money should parents decide to boycott their stores) NIP stopped the sale of such drug-promoting publications as High Times which once were conspicuously displayed on newsstands and in bookstores.

Through its newsletter and speakers bureau NIP also helped inspire and start parent

Meanwhile, in every state of the nation, similar groups were starting. On May 16, 1980, a unique press conference was held in a historic room in the U.S. Senate. The president of a new national organization stood at the podium. Behind him sat the Director of the White House Drug Policy Office, four senators, seven congressmen. Before him were TV cameras, reporters, and a standing-room-only audience which included representatives of the military, the Drug Enforcement Administration, the U.S. Coast Guard, the State Department, and the National Institute on Drug Abuse.

The president of the new group had never before set foot in Washington, D.C.; not even as a tourist. Yet, with remarkable aplomb, he announced the formation of the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth (NFP), which represented 370 parent groups throughout the nation, groups which ranged in membership from a dozen to several thousand.

The president started his speech by saying, "I am trying to catch up with the others, for I am their leader."

He concluded by saying: "The parents in this movement come from a wide variety of backgrounds, political and religious persuasions, socio-economic groups. We are, however, totally united in one aspect. We are dedicated to the concept of bringing up our children drug free. Ladies and gentlemen, our potential is awesome. We have within our grasp the opportunity to change the course of a nation. And I believe we will do that. The need is so great that we cannot fail."

Then, as the illustrious audience applauded with huge enthusiasm, Bill Barton of Naples, Fla., president of the new national organization, sat down.

The National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth, 9805 Dameron Drive, Silver Spring, Md. 20902, represents more than 1,000 parent groups throughout the United States and gives them a national voice. Each of these groups may be as "local" and independent as it wishes. But all may avail themselves of services offered by NFP. In addition, those member groups which adopt NFP bylaws can automatically become tax exempt.

Membership in NFP is $10 per individual, $25 per group. With membership comes an NFP Parent Group "Starter Kit." (For nonmembers the kit is available for $2.) NFP also has a speakers bureau and a national newsletter.

Also available is an NFP booklet, "How to Combat Drug Paraphernalia in Your Neighborhood and State," $4. Thanks to NFP members, a law banning drug paraphernalia has been signed in more than 20 states and the NFP is now working on a national effort to extend the ban to all 50 states. (The parents ask, "How can there be a legal multimillion dollar industry which sells paraphernalia to use and enhance the use of illegal drugs?")

NFP is also working in other ways to combat the pervasive influence of pro-drug groups such as the National Organization for Reform of Marijuana Laws (NORML) which is now promoting legalization of marijuana. Such groups have been operating for more than a decade and have been called by some legislators, "the most successful lobby in the history of the country."

Prior to the formation of NFP as an umbrella organization to represent all parent groups for drug-free youth, there were five organizations which did, and are still doing, a fine job in offering parents, schools, PTAs, etc., accurate information about marijuana and other drugs, and keeping parents aware of drug abuse issues. Three of these groups also stimulate the formation of parent and school groups for drug-free youth throughout the country. Their booklets are extremely helpful. The five organizations American Council on Marijuana, 767 Fifth Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. Founded in 1976 to provide resource lists and literature on the harmful physical and psychological effects of marijuana. In addition to this specialized literature the council provides education and training programs for specific and specialized audiences. Recent programs have focused on training sessions on marijuana for drug abuse counselors, industrial counselors, teachers, parents, doctors, and nurses. ACM has also produced an excellent film on marijuana and driving titled, "Danger Ahead—Marijuana on the Road" (available through the council for rent or purchase). Another film, "Marijuana and the Workplace," is now in production.

Committees of Correspondence, 24 Adams St., Danvers, Mass. 01923. Nationally-known experts in area of drug-abuse prevention prepare a comprehensive Drug Abuse Issue of the Month, giving the most accurate and up-to-date information on each issue, and suggesting to whom correspondents can write for greatest effectiveness. These issues are widely used in classrooms and by parent groups and other organizations. Group membership: $15, individual membership: $7

Citizens for Informed Choices on Marijuana (CICOM), 300 Broad St., Stamford, Conn. 06901. Founded in 1978 to educate the public about the dangers of marijuana and to discourage its use, particularly by adolescents and preadolescents. CICOM has conducted national news conferences and drug abuse prevention programs in 19 states. These programs and CICOM materials, which have been distributed in England, France, Italy, and other parts of the world, have resulted in numerous drug abuse prevention parent-peer groups. CICOM's four-part booklet, Helping Your Child Resist the Marijuana Culture, offers step-by-step advice to parents who want to keep their children away from drugs, $2. Founded in November, 1977, their thrust is to unite parents with other concerned adults who have an influence on the daily lives of children: school administrators, religious leaders, law enforcement officers, juvenile court judges, physicians and nurses, mental health professionals, etc. Their 167-page booklet How to Form a Families in Action Group in Your Community tells how to organize such a cooperative venture. The booklet alone is so specific in setting out organizational details that it has stimulated the formation of several hundred groups throughout the nation. Single copies $10. Quarterly newsletter with updated information on drugs and the adolescent drug scene: $3. Membership: $1 per family. Families in Action also has a Drug Information Center which currently contains more than 60,000 documents. Their staff of volunteers will answer specific questions in areas ranging from the drug paraphernalia industry and pro-drug lobbies, to drug smuggling, to medical information, and

ROY SCHEIDER

An update on the successful career of Phi Psi's star of stage and screen

Roy Scheider, a ruggedly handsome, quietly intense actor, has in the last seven years carved a solid and luminous career from blockbuster movies such as KLUTE, THE FRENCH CONNECTION, JAWS and JAWS II, and MARATHON MAN. To continue this tradition, audiences are again exposed to Scheider's charisma in the highly regarded ALL THAT JAZZ, directed by Bob Fosse.

Scheider, with his taut boxer's body, his Monochromatic coloring and his substantially broken nose (a result, in fact, of an early career as a pugilist), has established himself as one of the most exciting screen actors in this country today. Interestingly enough, it was the French who discovered Roy's considerable magnetism well before his compatriots did. Films like THE OUT-SIDE MAN and THE ATTEMPT brought dynamic box office results in France and made him an international success. However, it took THE FRENCH CONNECTION and JAWS to bring Scheider to the front ranks of American stars.

Born in Orange, New Jersey, Roy attended Franklin and Marshall College in Lancaster, Pennsylvania, where he soon attracted attention to student productions, primarily comedies, winning the Theatre Guild's Theresa Helburn Acting Award twice. Initiated into The Penn Eta Chapter in 1954, his initial break came with his college's production of RICHARD III, which was enthusiastically reviewed by THE NEW YORK TIMES. This review was read by impresario Joseph Papp, who gave Scheider his first professional acting assignment as Mercutio in the New York Shakespear Festival's 1961 production of ROMEO AND JULIET.

Roy later became a member of the Lincoln Center Repertory Company, and also gained solid stage experience in productions by the Boston Arts Festival, the American Shakespeare Festival, the Arena Stage in Washington, D.C. and the American Repertory Company. In 1968, he won the coveted off-Broadway Obie Award for his performance in STEPHEN D. His other off-Broadway shows have included SERGEANT MUSGRAVE'S DANCE and THE ALCHEMIST. His roles in Shapespeare and other dramatic works have contributed to his versatility, and he can play either a pimp or a tough cop on the sceen with equal authenticity.

"My career's going very well in films now, but it didn't happen for years. I worked mainly on the stage and in New York television, and in supporting roles in major films. No one remembers, but I was in PAPER LION, LOVING, STAR, PUZZLE OF A DOWNFALL CHILD, and STILETTO, all before KLUTE brought me some attention." He also starred in innumerable television dramas for STUDIO ONE, HALLMARK HALL OF FAME and NYPD.

Adolescent alcoholics need help, too

Alcoholism is not limited to adults. Among adolescents it has reached frightening proportions, a trend that has child psychiatrist John Lester, M.D., worried.

"Alcoholism is possibly the most important social problem that we now have. We are running the risk of turning out a whole generation of kids who are not able to function because of their addiction," he said.

Within the past five years, the same pattern and trends have developed among adolescent alcoholics as among adults. For example, approximately 8% of both adult and teen-age drinkers become alcoholics. They use the same excuses and rationalizations for drinking and have many of the same personality characteristics. According to Dr. Lester, teen-age alcoholics usually have a parent who is an alcoholic. They may have dependancy problems and may be looking for a quick relief from distress or a short-term escape from reality. Often they feel victimized or sorry for themselves and are over-sensitive to criticism and are easily provoked to anger.

"I feel very strongly that these kids can be helped and are salvageable."

On a positive note, adolescent alcoholics are usually able to form friendships and relationships, particularly with adults, easily. They are often quite articulate and usually quite social.

One difference, however, is that teen-age alcoholics are usually equally addicted to marijuana or other drugs, whereas adults do not necessarily have a dual addiction.

"Alcohol and marijuana are substitutes for one another," Dr. Lester stated. "You almost invariably find a teen-age alcoholic using both as a crutch."

One difference between adults and teenagers, however, is that addiction can come more quickly among teen-agers. Sometimes it is a matter of weeks instead of years as with adults.

Just why the number of adolescents alcoholics is increasing is open for debate. Dr. Lester believes that teen-agers today are more traditional than five years ago and are turning to more socially accepted forms of escape.

"Kids today are facing a lot of pressures that have to do with survival. They are looking for escape, and alcohol is the traditional escape in our society," he said.

The tip-offs for a parent or teacher that an adolescent may be an alcoholic are (1) temperamental behavior combined with (2) a significant failure in academic grades. Dr. Lester explained that a teen-ager who suddenly displays a Dr. Jekyl/Mr. Hyde personality and drops from A grades to C's or D's is signalling that something is wrong.

So what can be done to help the teen-age alcoholic?

The first step is to see a child psychiatrist, preferably adolescent and parents together because both must work together to effectively overcome the problem. The adolescent alcoholic may be admitted to a psychiatric unit such as the one at Trinity for observation and evaluation. If the teen-ager can admit that he has a problem and is willing to solve it, then there is a 75% chance that treatment will be successful.

The most successful treatment for adolescent alcoholics comes through four to six weeks of intensive therapy in a hospital alcoholism treatment unit. Follow-up with a child psychiatrist and with self-help groups such as Alateen, Alcoholics Anonymous and Al-Anon is also recommended.

"I feel very strongly that these kids can be helped and are salvageable," Dr. Lester said. "Psychiatry as a profession has for too long failed to address the problem . . . Adolescent alcoholism is a serious problem because these kids run the risk of throwing their whole lives away unless they find help."

"Alcoholism is possibly the most important social problem that we now have. We are running the risk of turning out a whole generation of kids who are not able to function because of their addiction."

Phi Psi in Brazil

A Real Life Christmas Story

Steve Murphy, Washington '63, has a dream. The 37-year-old banker wants to help Rio de Janeiro's poor kids.

And instead of merely talking about the problems of Rio's poor, Brother Murphy has taken his dream several steps towards reality. For five of the last six years, he has organized an annual Christmas party for the "street kids" of that city, mobilizing friends, acquaintances and corporations who donate time, skills and products.

He has distributed several hundred invitations to the poorest children he and volunteer workers could find, inviting them to come in off the streets to a party at his Copacabana townhouse. The first year he did it, in 1976, about 60 kids showed up.

The next year there were a hundred. This past Christmas, Murphy's party spilled happily over into the Rua Emilio Berla deadend hillside site as 231 poor kids from all over Rio de Janeiro showed up to eat and drink and receive presents from Santa Claus, who distributed gifts donated by local companies.

But Murphy, who divides his time between Brazil and Boston, and who is a Bank of Boston vice president, wants to do more than just offer a once-a-year party for a few underprivileged Brazilian kids.

He would like to see his annual event expanded into an on-going community effort to "open a real dialogue" with the kids—from age 4-13, approximately.

How?

"By opening 'half-way houses,' places where the kids can stay for a few days or longer if they need to be with people who care."

Murphy's dream "ideal" would be for caring individuals from both the foreign and the local Brazilian "privileged" classes to open up "a thousand" half-way houses.

But recognizing reality, he says he would like to at least start up one such house, which in a small way would make a contribution towards helping bridge the gulf between the haves and have-nots in Brazil.

Murphy was not always a social crusader. He came to Brazil to work with the Banco de Boston but only got involved in the poor kids' project—which he would like to call "Friends of Pixote" after the award-winning Brazilian film which showed the devastating conditions of life for the street kids in San Paulo—while sitting on Avenida Rio Branco one day and watching some young shoeshine boys.

He got to thinking that he could, in a modest way, help the underprivileged youths, "throw a really good party for them so that at least one day a year they can be treated with dignity."

He enlisted friends, started drumming up corporate support and today is seeking to interest a church group or two in taking on the challenge of operating a permanent site for kids, patterned on some Catholic church programs in the U.S.

"One of our hopes," says Murphy, is to locate a real corp of people and get this project going in various neighborhoods."

Christmas days Murphy and his team of volunteers can be seen going up into the Morro do Salgueiro to distribute Christmas packages in the slum. He says he would love to have more volunteers join him on the outing.

Some of the corporate sponsors of the "Friends of Pixote" project have included Coca-Cola, Braniff, Pan Am, Marriott, Casas da Banha, Lojas Americanas, Flecha Carioca, Gabriel Habib, Banco de Boston (employees), Unibanco (employees), Concentrados Nacionais, Gordon's, Caloi and Panificadora Puma.

The project is also sponsored by Rio's American Society.

Phi Psis, chapters and friends of the Fraternity wishing to volunteer future time, products or services can write Brother Murphy at P.O. Box 2016, Boston, MA 02106.

And as if Steve isn't busy enough, he still finds time for Phi Psi as he tries to organize a Boston Alumni Association, asking area alumni interested to contact him at the Bank of Boston: 617/434-8307.

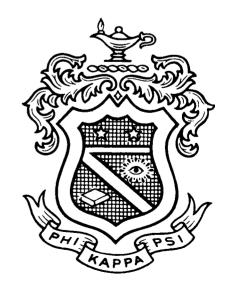

The Fraternity's Founders envisioned a Brotherhood whose members would embrace and come to know the "great joy of serving others." Steve Murphy is a Phi Psi.

PRIDE (Parent Resource Institute for Drug Education) Georgia State University, Atlanta, Ga. 30303. Founded in 1977 to focus on the education and mobilization of parents for the prevention of adolescent drug abuse. It drew upon the successful effort of an Atlanta parents' group that developed the concept of "parental peer pressure" to reverse drug-oriented adolescent peer pressure, thus initiating locally, and expanding nationally, the parent movement for drug-free youth. PRIDE's Annual Southeast Drug Conference was the first to bring updated scientific research on the health hazards of marijuana to parents who hope to counter the mythology of "harmless marijuana." At its 1980 Conference PRIDE initiated the National Federation of Parents for Drug-Free Youth, after the number of parent groups grew from two in Georgia to hundreds nationwide. PRIDE organizers have provided on-site consultant services to parent groups in communities throughout the United States. PRIDE continues to provide parents, educators, physicians, counselors, and other concerned citizens with the most current research information on drugs of abuse. It also helps them organize parent peer groups, parent-school teams, and community action to eliminate adolescent drug abuse. PRIDE provides packets of constantly updated information on drug education and research, as well as about effective organizational strategies for prevention and early intervention. These packets ($10 each) have been requested by nearly 30,000 people nationally. Contact PRIDE for its list of films, slide shows, and cassettes available for minimal charge. George H. Yardley, III

The answer to some tough NBA trivia questions

For those who pride themselves on basketball trivia, here's a question that will certainly cause some shock waves to the memory:

Name the first player—six-time National Basketball Association all-star—to score more than 2,000 points in the regular season?

Hint: It wasn't George Mikan, Bill Sharman, Bob Pettit, Bob Cousy, or Willie Naulls.

Still suffering from brain fades?

Try this one, then: What player broke Hank Luisetti's Pacific Coast Conference scoring record and held it for just 30 minutes?

The answer to both questions is one and the same: George Yardley, Stanford '47, one of eight from Orange County inducted into the OC Hall of Fame in 1981.

The road to fame for Yardley stretched from the beaches of Balboa Island to the Farm of Stanford and the Zollner-Pistons of Ft. Wayne and Detroit.

The George Yardley of today is a 53-year-old Santa Ana businessmanengineer who lives comfortably in Newport Beach with his wife of 29 years, Diana.

He maintains a competitive desire for athletic competition and finds his release by playing tennis despite a plastic left knee.

He's been retired for 20 years and when he goes to the Forum, where he's a Laker season-ticket holder, few people recognize the man who first broke the 2,000-point barrier.

His company, which bears his name, is a successful engineering-consulting firm which does substantial work for the Fluor Corp. and employs 36 persons.

"Basketball and volleyball were my total consuming interests when I was young," Yardley said. "There wasn't much organized volleyball and basketball was more glamorous, so I gravitated to it."

But he was far removed from the prep stars who dream about NBA glory while being given the rush from universities across the land.

In the fall of 1946, he was a gangly 6-1½ former high school center who matriculated to Stanford University with the idea of getting a college degree and playing basketball.

He was an unlikely candidate for future success on the basketball court—a non-scholarship, walk-on prospect who was relegated to the junior varsity as a freshman, in a time when first-year players were eligible for the varsity. Although Brother Yardley undoubtedly benefitted from the counsel of his father, George H. Yardley, Jr., Chicago '20, himself an outstanding athlete.

Yardley never did receive that scholarship, but by the time he left Palo Alto in 1951, he had fulfilled both goals—and then some.

He made the transition from being an All-Sunset League center in 1946 to becoming an All-Pacific Coast forward in the 1948-49 and 1949-50 seasons—with some help arriving in four extra inches he gained while at The Farm.

As a Sailor, Yardley didn't make the varsity until his senior year. As an Indian (as the Stanford athletes were known in those days), he didn't start until a junior.

But his greatest seasons came near the end of his NBA career, when he became the first player to eclipse that 2,000-point barrier in the '57-'58 campaign.

Yardley, performing for the Detroit Pistons, averaged 27.8 points a game as the NBA's leading scorer in 1957-58, totaling 2,001 points in the 72-game regular season.

"Scoring the 2,000 points was only incidental to me," Yardley related. "What I was really happy about was breaking Mikan's record. It meant I had broken two of my heroes' records even though I had Luisetti's only for 30 minutes."

The NBA record didn't last long either, but at the time, it was considered a remarkable feat.

Reported the Associated Press on March 10, 1958: "Professional basketball's 2,000-point barrier, considered all but inaccessible a few short years ago, has gone the way of the standing guard and the center jump."

Yardley had joined the then-Ft. Wayne-Zollner Pistons (Fred Zollner owned the team and attached his name to it) for the 1953-54 season.

He wasn't a starter until the next season, but the 6-5½ forward who earned the nickname "The Bird" for his leaping ability quickly became a scoring star.

Mikan, considered basketball's first dominating center at 6-9, had scored an NBA-record 1,932 points in the 1950-51 season and held it until the 70th game of the 1957-58 season. By then, the Ft. Wayne club had moved to Detroit and Yardley had moved into position to pass Mikan.

Yardley did it with a flair, scoring 49 points against Mikan's old club, the Minnesota Lakers, to give him 1,953 for the season.

The 2,000-point barrier was next and Yardley had two games to do it.

Yardley was 25 points short going into the final game at Syracuse. He suffered a poor shooting night (8 of 22 from the field), but the eighth field goal was a can't miss and gave him the record.

He scored on a breakaway slam dunk.

"In those days," Yardley recalled, "only two or three guys on each team could dunk the ball."

In that season, Yardley was held to less than 10 points just three times and scored more than 50 points three times.

Yardley broke his hand the next year, missing the final half of the season, and in 1959-60 was traded to the Syracuse Nats for whom he averaged 22 points a game.

Abruptly, he retired even though he says now, "I was playing as well as I had ever played."

Yardley received a civil engineering degree from Stanford and had become a partner in a Santa Ana firm.

"My partner called and said he was leaving, so I could have the business," Yardley recalled. "I had some money saved and I knew the business had a good future with potential. It's the reason I retired."

Yardley had fond memories and funny memories of his career. He chuckles today about the night he held the PCC single-season scoring record at Stanford for a half hour.

"I had broken Luisetti's record by four points and Bill Sharman (playing in Los Angeles for USC) had broken it by one point. Sharman was on the bench after breaking the record, but the wire reported I had scored three points more, so Sam Barry (USC coach) put Sharman back in. He broke the record after our game was over," Yardley said.

He made good money for his day—he received $30,000 in his 2,000-point season—but he has no regrets he stayed a year longer at Stanford to gain his college degree.

After his eligibility ran out, Yardley was the No. 1 draft choice by the Pistons, but didn't sign for three years, two of them in the Navy at Los Alamitos.

He doesn't begrudge the significant salaries NBA players earn today, but says, "It doesn't help them any.

"The players really have no goals, nothing to look forward to after retiring," Yardley said. "There is no such thing as enough money because there is always somebody who'll take it away from you.

"Most of the players in school today are only there to become pro athletes and they have no expertise on going into other things," Yardley said.

"Even Jerry Lucas, for all his brilliance, went bankrupt. Most of those guys don't build for the future and suffer a terrible letdown. It's life in reverse," Yardley said.

Letters To The Editor

We're still calling this SHIELD section "Letters to the Editor" because we've not received very many suggestions for an alternative column heading . . . we would be pleased to consider additional titles so be encouraged to forward suggestions on to the Fraternity Headquarters.

In response to our December '81 article on cartoonist Art Sansom, Ohio Wesleyan '40, we received the following letter from a Houston Brother, Thomas R. Conner, Texas '67:

There are other Phi Psis who have enjoyed success as cartoonists. Roy Crane, Texas '22 created the classic cartoon character "Buzz Sawyer."

Also, Shelton Smith, Texas '69, was the editorial cartoonist for the Austin American Statesman for several years and was well known around the State Capitol for his caustic barbs aimed at State officials.

In response to the article "Alcoholism: an Unfashionable Disease" from the same December issue, we were pleased to receive the following letter from the Chapter President of Florida Beta, Joseph Russo, Florida '80:

I enjoyed reading the article "Alcoholism: an Unfashionable Disease" . . . I currently serve on the IFC's appointed Alcohol Policy and Education Committee. Since this fall we have been working on educating the U. of Florida's Greeks on the proper use of alcohol and its effects when abused . . . THE SHIELD's article was good, short and to the point. I think many of our Brothers take alcohol and its problems for granted and perhaps through this article, Chapters will be more qualified to spot, as well as help, those Brothers who are alcoholics.

The Phi Psis in Atlanta are preparing for the 1982 Grand Arch Council, and our recent SHIELD article promoting GAC attendance elicited the following response from John Cashin, Colgate '47:

I happen to be a Brother (of) New York Epsilon, and have currently 3 restaurants in Atlanta and will have a fourth downtown by the time of the (GAC). I will be more than pleased to meet and greet any Brothers who may care to stop by. The newest "Cashin's Intown" restaurant will be in the Southern Bell HQ Building at the North Ave. Marta (bus) stop located at West Peachtree and Third Street.

Hope to see you there.

The President of the Stouffer Corporation and a good Phi Psi, James M. Biggar, Case Western Reserve '47, found time in his busy schedule to peruse the last issue of THE SHIELD, and responded with the following:

Having read the latest issue of THE SHIELD, which covered the Grand Arch Council in Atlanta, I couldn't resist the temptation to write you about our PineIsle Resort. It is located on Lake Lanier just a 50 minute drive northeast of downtown Atlanta.

August is an outstanding month weather wise with much sunshine and very pleasant afternoon breezes. The golf course was designed by Gary Player, Ron Kirby and Associates and is both challenging and exciting to play. The frequent involvement of water on many of the holes offers the golfer many opportunities for a truly rewarding shot.

There are four outdoor tennis courts right next to the 18th green and another three courts, which while covered by a protective roof, still allows the breezes to pass through. With over 500 miles of shoreline and many islands with picnic beaches, Lake Lanier is the ideal location for many forms of boating. The sailing academy is located right at PineIsle and we also have our own water skiing activities.

The trout and striped bass at Lake Lanier have provided many thrills to the fisherman and once again guides are available through the hotel.

Brother Biggar has offered to send promotional brochures on Stouffer's famous Pinelsle Resort to any Phi Psi interested in visiting that facility either before or after the GAC. Inquiries for the brochures should be made directly to: The Stouffer Corporation, 29800 Bainbridge Road, Solon, Ohio 44139.

Sitting here at the SHIELD editor's desk on a winter day both too cold and too grey, somehow the following letter seemed an appropriate way to end the column for this issue. ... today, while listening to the news ... gloom, unemployment, energy crisis, wars ... it occurred to me your readers might enjoy the Saga of the Birds ... Just like Columbus, we have "discovered" South America. We are now in Columbia (a democratic republic, known for its respect of human rights) where, for the first time in many years, we can walk the streets with little fear, while enjoying a cost of living among the lowest in the hemisphere.

It all began when we found a lovely, old coconut plantation on the Caribbean Sea. And, to complete its unique setting, when we loked away from the Sea we saw, towering over everything, 19,000 feet high and snow-capped the year 'round, majestic Mount Columbus. We knew instantly . . . we were home!

It may be hard to believe . . . hundreds of waving, green palms, blue sky and Sea, pounding surf, golden sand, snow-capped (and skiable) peaks . . . but it is all here, on the Pan American Highway near Santa Marta, the oldest (456 years) city in all of the Americas.

So we have a new love: our beach and home in Columbia. We have found something excitingly different and, being human, have to pass it on. (We are retired Navy, who dared to dream, and are making it come true. At time's difficult, but never boring!). If you share an interest in our part of the world, feel free to write us, via air mail, at P.O. Box 5222, Santa Marta, Columbia, South America. It may take a while, but we promise to answer each and every letter.

Now, from beautiful Santa Marta, we wish you salud (health), dinero (wealth) and much amor (love)!

Juanita N. Bird (Mrs. Lewis Bird)

Mrs. Bird's letter makes her sun, sand and surf exciting and attractive! In editing the several dozen Chapter newsletters, we couldn't help but notice that inclement weather was an important, unusual factor in college life the last few months . . . you might find it interesting that a majority of Chapters mention weather in their reports, a subject not often in the written word of today's young men. The past winter was indeed a memorable one for most readers of THE SHIELD.

BEN KING, Brooklyn Poly '06, received a visit from two undergraduate Phi Psis over the Christmas holiday, which in and of itself is not unusual . . . except Brother King lives in London, England, and the undergraduate Brothers attend school at Arizona State University! Richard E. Napolitano, Arizona State '79, and Kenneth V. Bates, Arizona State '80, President and Vice President, respectively, of Arizona Beta were in England visiting Ken Bates' Bristol home and decided to meet Brother King whose association with the Fraternity was highlighted in the December SHIELD. Ben King was quite surprised and delighted to greet his visitors, and Brothers Napolitano and Bates expressed mutual enthusiasm for meeting Ben.

GEORGE EMENY, Cornell '27, a Cornell fund representative, is now residing in Tequesto, Florida. He and his wife Jeanette spent a couple of weeks this summer as guests of the Charlie Cleminshaws, who had exchanged their Los Angeles home for a month for a house near Cambridge, England. The Emenys also spent some time visiting other friends and places in England and France.

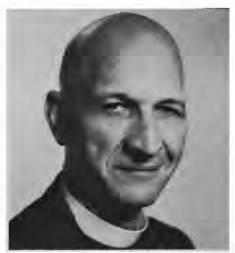

W. CROAN GREENOUGH, Indiana '32, former chairman and chief executive officer and now a trustee of TIAA-CREF, has been elected to the board of trustees of Radcliffe College. Brother Greenough has completed work as chairman of the Committee for Economic Development's subcommittee that recently published a report, "Reforming Retirement Policies." The committee is an independent research and educational organization of 200 business executives and educators.

JOHN G. LIFE, DePauw '36, is retiring as secretary and treasurer of Indianapolis Life Insurance Company. He has held the offices of secretary and treasurer since his election in 1974 after joining Indianapolis Life in 1953 as an inspector in the mortgage loan department and was named assistant manager of the department in 1956. Brother Life served as assistant secretary of the company from 1968 until his election as secretary and treasurer.

BURR BLODGETT, Syracuse '36, was honored posthumously as the "Outstanding Alumnus" of his New York Beta Chapter in ceremonies one year ago this past Founders Day. In a commemorative address presented by R. G. Dower, Syracuse '34, Brother Blodgett was called "a friend to many," and of "favorable influence especially on the younger generation." Mr. Dower went on to remark that "To my knowledge, he never refused an opportunity to be of service to his Alma Mater and his Fraternity . . . serving as a member of the Home Association as well as the Board of Governors and as President of the Alumni Association is evidence of the constancy of his love for his Fraternity . . . We shall miss him! His passing has resulted not only in a tremendous loss for his family, his friends, his University but his Fraternity. Rarely does a Brother give back as much to his Fraternity as did this man . " A plaque evidencing the presentation of this New York Beta's first Outstanding Alumnus Award was installed in the Chapter home

The Reverend R. Patrick O'Donnell

REV. R. PATRICK O'DONNELL, Chicago '41, a member of the Glenmary Home Missioners, was in Philadelphia to accept the Legion of Honor Award in the Chapel of the Four Chaplains at Temple University December 27, 1981.

Jake Schmidt

JACOB H. SCHMIDT, Michigan '42, retired from the FBI in 1975 and is now working full time for the San Diego City Attorney's Office as well as private investigative consulting for a corporation.

WILLIAM T. (BUD) BLAIR, Ohio Wesleyan '47, was recently re-elected chairman of the Council of the State Chamber of Commerce at its annual meeting in Montana. Brother Blair, who has been with the Ohio Chamber for 25 years, is a member of Governor Rhode's Development Advisory Council. He serves on the board of directors for the Ohio Trade Association Executives, Chamber of Commerce Executives of Ohio, University Club of Columbus, and the board of trustees of the Center of Science and Industry in Columbus.

JAMES I. TARMAN, Gettysburg '49, has been named Pennsylvania State University's new athletic director. Brother Tarman has been serving as associate director of athletics since 1973.

Dr. John Taggart Ziegler

DR. JOHN T. ZIEGLER, Gettysburg '49, a Carlisle orthodontist, received the Gerald A. Devlin Award for distinguished service to the Middle Atlantic Society of Orthodontists. Brother Ziegler is a past president of numerous dental organizations including the Harrisburg Dental Society, the Middle Atlantic Society of Orthodontists and the Fifth District of Pennsylvania Dental Association. He is a diplomat of the American Board of Orthodontics and a fellow of the American College of Dentists.

Henry L. Gilliam

HENRY L. GILLIAM, Texas '50, has been named vice president and general council of Premco Petroleum, Inc.

ROBERT M. ALLAN, Beloit '56, has been named Sales Manager, Customer Equipment for American Can Company's Folding Carton Division. He will be responsible for carton packaging equipment for the United States, headquartering in Greenwich, Connecticut. Brother Allen has been with the company for 22 years and has represented it in Williamsport, Pennsylvania, Boston and New York City. He resides in Wilton, Connecticut with his wife, Judy; and two children, Susan and Scott.

EDWIN W. BARR, Lafayette '58, joined Clevepak Corporation January, 1982, as Vice President/Director of Human Resources. Brother Barr was formerly Vice President/Human Resources for Mark Controls Corporation and before that was in personnel management with American Optical Corporation, ITT Honeywell and Chase Manhattan.

Lee A. Derrough

LEE A. DERROUGH, Kansas '64, has been promoted to president of Mid-American Enterprises.

THOMAS CROSLEY, Iowa State '66, in May, hired his first employee, pledge son RON LICHTY, Iowa State '69. Brother Crosley, a computer consultant, left Bell Northern Research Company in 1978 to open Softwest, a mini/microcomputer software and consulting company located in Sunnyvale, California. Brother Crosley has recently begun writing his first book, a text on microcomputer operating systems, to be published by Mayfield Publishers.

LARRY J. BELL, Eastern New Mexico '69, was elected by a vote of the Chamber of Commerce Board of Directors December 22, 1981 to serve as president of the Midland Chamber for 1982. Brother Bell served on the chamber as vice president in 1979 and 1980, and as the organization's treasurer in 1981. In addition to those posts, he has also chaired the Parking Task Force and served on the Farm and Ranch Committee and the Industrial Foundation of Midland, Inc. Brother Bell has served on the boards of several organizations including the United Way, Salvation Army, Boy's Club, March of Dimes, and Arthritis Foundation. He has served on the board of Friends of Eastern New Mexico University and the Alumni Association. Brother Bell has a wife, Ellen; and three children, Matthew, Brian and Amv.

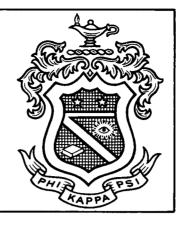

FRANK L. HOLADAY, Texas '74, was recently promoted to Tax Supervisor of Peat, Marwick, Mitchell & Company in Dallas, Texas. Brother Holaday received his MBA degree in 1978 and is a Certified Public Accountant specializing in tax.

HAROLD 1. BARR JR., Johns Hopkins '75, has been named an Associate of the Society of Actuaries. Brother Barr successfully completed five examinations administered by the Society on mathematics, probability and statistics, risk theory, compound interest, numerical analysis and life contingencies. The Society of Actuaries, the largest professional organization, advances knowledge of actuarial science, maintains high standards of competence and professionalism, and conducts actuarial education and research programs. Brother Barr currently resides in Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania.

STEVEN M. HARBER, Southern California '80. has been declared officially Phi Psi's most recent hero. On December 3, Brother Harber and Robert Stewart, a member of Chi Phi fraternity, rescued a young woman who was being dragged into a car by a would-be kidnapper, then tailed the suspect and aided in his capture. The USC co-ed had just parked her car near her sorority house, when the suspect approached her and attacked. Harper and Stewart were returning from class, heard the cry for help, and after determining the young woman was all right, told a parking lot attendant to call campus police and took off after the attacker and captured him. A security officer in a patrol car arrived a short time later and took the suspect into custody. The young lady involved was shaken but did not require hospitalization, thanks to her defenders.

Akron

Enthusiasm

Greetings from the Ohio Iota Chapter at the University of Akron. The beginning of a new year has brought about much change and enthusiasm for the Brothers.

The biggest change and most important factor which has helped the Chapter is increased support and participation by our Alumni. These are Brothers Denny Goellner, Chapter Advisor; Dan Schwitzgable; Gene Sitarz; Dave Fantini; Joe Mikolaj; Ronald Shreffler; and our most recent alumnus Kevin Flemming. Their experience and advice is helping our Chapter grow and thrive on the U of A campus.

Founder's Day was held February 20 and was a fine evening. This event was an excellent opportunity for the undergraduates to become better aquainted with our Alumni. Dinner was held at the University Club and was followed by dessert and a party at the Chapter House. The undergraduate chapter thanks all of those who attended and made the evening an enjoyable success.

We are also proud to announce the initiation of 5 new members: Bob Sweitzer, Jerry Lee, Randy Bush, Phil Gibson, and Dan Weitz. These fine Brothers are hard working and enthusiastic, not only about making Ohio Iota the most improved Phi Psi chapter and house on campus, but the best chapter.

Leading our way to this goal are our newly elected officers who have taken their respective positions and have begun to implement their programs and resources for the good of the Chapter. These men are Bob Sweitzer, GP; Jim Schulte, VGP; Bill Chris, AG; and Randy Bush, BG.

On campus and in Greek affairs the Chapter is working hard and is spreading the name of Phi Kappa Psi. Brothers Don Dick and Bill Chris are both chairmen for Greek Week committees, and Bill Gould is on the IFC Hazing Investigation Committee; associate member Mike Kesling is the Junior IFC representative to IFC. Also we have had the greatest number and percentage of members participating in and completing the Dance Marathon, a Greek sponsored event for charity. We also had the greatest percentage of members donating blood for the Red Cross Blood Drive, and the highest percentage attending Greek Formal. We are also looking forward to hosting our own Phi Psi Hot Leggs Contest and participating in the Delta Gamma's Anchor Splash.

Once again social activities have been very successful, due to the work of Social Chairman Jim Schulte, who has made it his responsibility to see that the Chapter participate in respectable social contact with as many sororities as possible.

Due to the efforts of the Brothers, we have redecorated and rehabilitated much of the Chapter House. We have recently started up a repair fund: which we have been able to save $100.00.

We would like to welcome Rich Filhour, our transfer from Ohio State, to Ohio Iota.

Also Cherry, our faithful Chapter mascot is still with us. She wants to hear from all the Brothers of Ohio Iota and those in the Akron area.

Thanks goes to the Brothers of Cal Theta who called and asked about our famous Hairy Buffalo party and recipe. Some of the Brothers hope to travel to our western chapters this summer and Cal Theta is definitely on their list.

Ohio Iota is a growing and building Chapter. With the combined efforts of undergraduates, alumni, and associate members we will continue to prosper. Best of luck to all Phi Psi's!

Alabama

We're Building

After the Christmas break, we at Alabama Alpha began our Spring Rush Program, and as of January 28, we were happy to have pledged three exceptionally sharp men: Franklin John Alexander, Dennis Andrew Perkins, and Jeffery Allen Mobley. These men, as well as the men that will join them, should contribute to our great Chapter here at the University of Alabama.

Just before Christmas break, we warmly invited six men into our Brotherhood: Ralph Michael DeSanctis, Warren Laird Jr., Anthony Charles Williams, Richard Hollis Johnson, Steven Williams, and Dave Wooten. They have already contributed much toward the growth and strength of our Chapter, and hopefully, will give much more.

At Founder's Day, the big topic was our house. The plans for its remodeling were well on their way, so the Chapter was very pleased because, with a house we can be proud of, the chapter could rush better.

Again, we really do appreciate the exceptional and loving support from our great alumni with the rebuilding of the house.

Our Chapter's yearly awards were presented earlier this year. They go as follows: Solon E. Summerfield, C. Earl Stafford; Ramsey Scholarship Award, Michael T. Gunter; Outstanding Pledge, Ralph M. DeSanctis; Outstanding Active, C. Earl Stafford; and Oustanding Alumnus, Fred Clay.

The Parties and activities on the agenda this spring were: Haunted House Swap, intramural softball and tennis doubles, a hundred and one Brother's functions, and many, many other parties.

Reorganized Chapter

Greetings from the PA Beta Chapter! We have had a very eventful first and second terms here in Meadville. Our Chapter has undergone a major reshaping in that nine undergraduate Brothers were elevated to alumnus status and are no longer active. The remaining Brotherhood forms a nucleus around which to build for the future. I am certain that more information will be forthcoming.

We have elected the following new officers: GP, Bruce Baron; VGP, John Usdin: P. Mark Friedman and Tun Guenther with Dan Walczyk as assistant P; Ag, Bob Michelini; BG, Dave Kuhn; Hod, Ted Gore; Phu, Tim Conarro; and HI Brit Hyde. Our new Fraternity Educator is Mike Slotsky, who is working with twelve very fine young men. These include: Tony Cassapulla from Hawthorne, NJ; Tim Burgess, Chevy Chase MD, Mitch Krinsky, Beruely Heights, NJ: Mike Eberts, Roxbury NJ; Harold King, New Paltz NY; Mike Basile, New York City; Rocco Arcieri, Centereach NY; Dave Gallogly, Bruce Blough and Joel Geraci, Pittsburgh; Dave Resek, Washington; and John Benjamin from Suffern, NY. These are enthusiastic pledges who are looking forward to improving the Chapter. We are also working hard to get a strong third term pledge

The activities of several brothers around campus deserve note. Tom Guenther and Brit Hyde have been elected vice-president and treasurer of the Senior Class, respectively. Mark Friedman was the recipient of the Chapter's Solon E. Summerfield Award. Bob Michelini is the president and charter member of Kappa Kappa Psi, a national honorary band fraternity.

Our plans for third term include our revamped Phi Psi "500" charity event, which is always fun. We encourage our alumni to look forward to our forthcoming newsletter. Come visit the Chapter when you are in the area.

We wish all the Chapters the best of luck during their remaining school year.

Representing 184 years of Phi Psi membership, these three Tucson Brothers were honored at the Founders Day celebration February 19. Holger A. Lollesgard, Chicago '12, center, received recognition as "70 years a Phi Psi," and Oliver S. Hulley, Purdue '21, left and Denton V. Lates, Columbia '29, right, were both awarded 50 year certificates as members of the Golden Council.

Arizona

Involved Brothers

The Arizona Alpha Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi continues on its upward growth. Spring rush this year was led by Rush Chairman Ralph Parisi and netted us three outstanding pledges: James Lyndon of Peoria; Jeff Sippo of Tempe; and David Pirc of Sierra Vista. We would also like to congratulate our new initiates Brian King, Jonathan James, Ralph Parisi, and Ken Kadisak.

The new officers for this semester are: Mike Wendlin, GP; Jonathan James, VGP; Brian Kenney, P; Francis Bidleman, AG; Ken Kadisak, BG; David Morgenstein, Hod; Pat Duffy, SG; and Brook Hammond, Phu. Ken Kadisak was appointed the Fraternity Educator for this semester.

Founders' Day celebration for 1982 was held at the Arizona Inn. Many of the alumni showed up to help us celebrate. The Brothers would like to especially thank Brother Whitey Davis for offering to pay for our dates.

The Big Activity for Arizona Alpha this Spring, as always, is Minsky's. Minsky's is the annual show that the Phi Psi's put on at the Spring Fling Carnival held by the University each year. This year we are putting the show on with the help of 110 beautiful Alpha Delta Pi's. If any Phi Psis happen to be around the University of Arizona near April 1-5 they will not went to miss the spectacular show!

Special thanks goes to Brother Rick Whitford for the time and energy spent rebuilding our booth.

Individually, the Arizona Alphans continue to be very much involved in the University community.

Pat Duffy, who has spent the past year serving on the student senate, is this year running a campaign for President of the Student Body. The election dates were March 10 and 11. The Phi Psi's here have combined a strong campaign for Brother Duffy; one I predict at this writing has turned out successfully.

Other Phi Psi's are actively involved in various activities which include: Francis Bidleman on the ASA Board; David Morgenstein is a group commander in ROTC and David Clair is working out steadily in hopes of being able to bicycle race in the 1984 Olympics. Steven Smith, who was scheduled to graduate last May, succeeded in qualifying for a degree in Anthropology, yet decided to stay and go for a second degree in Archaeology and Geology.

Arizona State

Non Stop to the Top!

After a most rewarding fall semester, the Brothers of Arizona Beta are on our way to another great semester.

This past semester, ten outstanding men were initiated into our Brotherhood: Tim Wiebe, Gary Thomas, Mac Parfet, Arozina; Lou Gil and Robert Arendt, New York; Paul "Bud" Brown, Florida; Peter Cushing, California; Evan Prigoff, Tennessee; Dana Walters, Illinois; and Paul McKean, Maryland.

This Spring of '82 is once again led by a fine line of quality officers: Richard Napolitano, GP; Kenneth Bates, VGP; Howard Scheuner, P; Robert Pucci, AG; Robert Carrillo, BG; Ken Walbridge, SG; Evan Prigoff, Hod; Lenny Drucker, Phu; and John Edmondson, Hi.

This past Spring Rush, the Brothers' united efforts resulted in a strong pledge class. Our 13 outstanding pledges include: Jeffrey Fisher, California; David Rose, New Jersey; John D'Aoust, Colorado; Chris Poindexter, Illinois; Stuart Ebaugh, West Germany; Todd Erickson, Maine; William Pritchard, Tennessee; Mark Schofield, Ohio; Steve Susan and Mike Ettinger, Illinois, John Frickelton, Missouri; Douglas Walker, England; and Dan Pierce, Nevada.

Arizona Beta was pleased to have Gary Angstadt, Executive director, John Donnell, National President, and Tim McCourt, Chapter Consultant, visit our Chapter. It was a pleasure and rewarding experience to meet and listen to three prominent men of our Fraternity. Thank you, Brothers.

We installed a new fence along the perimeter of our yard, thanks to our Housing Corporation and Alumni Association. This new addition definitely lifted the spirits of our Chapter, not to mention improved the outside appearance of the house.

Our fall formal was once again held at the elegant Phoenix Playboy Club. Among the awards presented were: Outstanding Active, Richard Napolitano; Sweetheart, Laura Kreider; and for the first time, there were two oustanding pledges, Peter Cushing and Mac Parfet.

Over the Christmas Break, Brothers Ken Bates and Richard Napolitano paid a visit to Ben King, Brooklyn Poly '06, in London. They were very touched by his deep love for Phi Kappa Psi and enjoyed meeting this great man. This is a prime example of how the brotherly love for Phi Psi can go on forever.

Several Brothers have achieved positions in several prestigious organizations on campus. Brother Robert Carrillo is a member of Devil's Advocates, Blue Key National Honor Fraternity, and chairman of the ASU Student Foundation Golf tournament. Brothers Mac Parfet and Richard Napolitano are members of the Greek Relations Board, a disciplinary committee for the fraternity system.

Our Founder's Day Banquet was held February 19th at the house. We were pleased by the support from our alumni and we would like to give special thanks to Art Gross, Sandy Chamberlain and Craig Tribken.

The Chapter decided to install a new kitchen, to enhance the Brothershood at the house. The cost will be approximately $18,000, and completion is expected by August 30, 1982.

The brothers at Arizona Beta are preparing for ASU's Greek Sing, Greek Week, and our annual Phi Psi "500." With the tremendous quality we all share, our finish in these events should be strong.

Brothers Bodnar and Edmondson wish to thank their brothers from Nebraska Beta for "the best formal they could ever attend." Our Chapter bestows our best wishes for the Brothers' future endeavors.

We would like to extend our greetings to Brothers of Arizona Beta who have transferred to other schools. To brothers Doug Gould, Harmon Anderson, Rich Geiger, Steve O'Brien, Bud Brown, Curt Grandia, Darren Gray, Otto Timmons, and Terry Teebken, we wish you all the best.

Arkansas

Continuing Success

Hello again from Hog-Heaven! Arkansas Alpha helped to bring the Ozarks into Spring with its first annual "Come Out of Hibernation Party." Our first attempt at a campuswide party was an overwhelming success. Activities included a live band, beer relays, and a sorority "Miss Teddy Bear" contest. An "Arson Party" with Delta Gamma sorority was made indirectly possible by the torching of our joint homecoming parade float by members of the Sigma Alpha Epsilon (hereafter Sigma Arson Epsilon) fraternity. Other social activities included a Jeff-Duo function between Delta Delta Delta and Phi Mu sororities and the Phi Gamma Delta and Phi Kappa Psi fraternities.

The future of our Chapter will be in good hands with the initiation of eleven men into the secrets of Phi Kappa Psi: Matthew L. Jones, Camden; Joel B. Tyler, Slidell, LA; J. D. Crow, Jr., Camden; Michael K. Collier and James F. Hayley, Pine Bluff; Chris B. Evans, Van Buren; Terry L. Madden, Fort Smith; Richard A. Beem, Clinton; Jeffrey D. Gaines, Mustoe, VA; Jeffrey A. Jacks, Pine Bluff; and David A. Kelloway, Atlantic, IA. Under the direction of Fraternity Educator Gary Thornton, Arkansas Alpha has four Spring pledges: Gregory D. Pennington, Bearden; Nelson W. Blackford, Jeffrey C. Edwards, and David C. Jordan, of Pine Bluff.

Excellent leadership for our Chapter this spring term was given by Grant Downer, GP; Ken Harper, VGP; Gordon Wilbourn, P; Alan Dobbins, BG; Greg Garland, SG; Tim Scott, AG; Tim Wiseman, Hi; Mitch Ballard, Phu; and Scott Schreiber, Hod.

Several members of Arkansas Alpha represent Phi Psi in campus-wide organizations. We congratulate Gregg Burgess on becoming the first Phi Psi on the Arkansas Razorback Cheerleading Squad. Brother Luigi Chiechi is the current vice-president of the Arkansas Booster Club. Also, Gregg Fisher wads voted into the Order of Omega.

Our Founder's Day Banquet at the Fayetteville Hilton was very memorable. Special thanks go to our guest speaker Brother Dean Sims, Kansas '42. That same class of Kansas Alpha 1942 produced another great Phi Psi, meaning none other than our Chapter Advisor David J. Evans, Jr. Brother Evans has been behind the success of this Chapter from the very start.

New strides toward renovation of the Arkansas Alpha Lodge were begun this spring. This included completely reconstructing the first floor and the application of the letters to the front of the lodge. Then as a break from all this activity, the annual Spring Formal was held at the William's Plaza Hotel in Tulsa.

The Brothers of Arkansas Alpha wish all Phi Psi's the best of luck and a hearty 'High! High! High!'

Ashland

Busy Semester

The Brothers of Ohio Theta have had the busiest semester that the "Hilltop" has seen in recent history.

New officers include Frank Fraas, GP; Doug Murray, VGP; Scott Bontempo, AG; Larry Schuman, P; John Heffernan, BG; Keith Connors, SG; Dave Morell, Hod; Tom Himes, Phi; Tom Hiller, Hi; and Dan Monacelli, Song Master.

The annual Dale-Roy Christmas party was a huge success again, due to the effort of Bob Black and Tom Spatafora. The Brothers entertained 50 residents of the Dale-Roy home for several hours. Santa Claus (Tom Himes) passed out gifts to all our guests.

With the help of Bob Petrina the sisters of Sigma Kappa of Indiana U. of Pennsylvania graced 642 Broad St, much to the chagrin of the Ashland sororities. The Brotherhood paid a return visit in late March.

A revitalization of the alumni program is underway. All alumni are asked and encouraged to attend the 16th anniversary of the Chapter on April 16th. Please call the house at (419) 289-4866. Social chairman Bob Zak has a weekend of events planned for everyone.

A reunion is planned next fall for the Spring Pledge Class of 1971, the Chinese Army. Sixty-two strong, the 'army' was the largest pledge class ever at Ohio Theta. We hope to see as many of you as possible Homecoming weekend. For information call the house. The "Army" is considering a summer gathering, contact Bill Bates at (914) 446-4514.

We would like to hear from all alumni; your correspondence with us is always welcome. Congratulations are in order-for recent graduate Jim Baker, and his wife Robin on the birth of their son Joshua.

The executive council returned to Ashland a week early to refinish the kitchen and T.V. room floor and paint the kitchen and dining room.

Our Solon E. Summerfield winner J. Keith Connors continues to remain active. After stints as AG, and P, Keith now is the SG and rush chairman. Other committee heads are: Governing and Grievence Doug Murray, Finance Mike Burkholder, Psimon Dave Fergeson, Activities Dan Sexton, Scholarship Jay Billy, Alumni Mark Franklin, and Membership Jay Billy. Dan Sexton has set up the Delta Zeta Swing-A-Thon. Congratulations are in order for new sophomore president Bob Zak and I.F.C. president Tom Spatafora.

At the present moment we are leading intramurals. Dave Morell, Jack Leonti, and Jay Billy captured Heartland Conference wrestling titles.

This spring the Phi Psis will continue to fill varsity rosters.

The lacrosse team is dominated by Phi Psis Kevin Rose, Mark Wyland, John Dorsey, Rick Sorkow, Jay Billy and Captain Jim Hague.

Joe Bettura leads the Eagle hardballers from his centerfield position. Scott Bontempo hits the links as the golf team looks for a national bid.

We are pleased to report that our pride and joy Psimon is back in top shape again. The St. Bernard mascot welcomes all visitors to Ohio Theta.

Auburn

Improved House

Alabama Beta is proud to announce the initiation of three fine gentlemen into the Brotherhood of Phi Psi: Mike Robertson, Mike Downing, and Ed Hillmann. They show great promise. Winter Rush was not very productive due to the below zero temperatures but we are eagerly looking forward to Spring Rush.

Fall quarter did see a number of improvements made on the house. For instance, we finally got the right side of the house painted. We also had new railing built on the deck to replace the old one (which gave all it had). Finally, we were able to get the pile of whatever it was moved off the lot in back of the house. Good riddance to a familiar landmark.

We are gearing up for the traditional A-Day festivities here at Auburn on May 1st. We will have our usual afternoon feast and theme party later in the evening. Afterwards, the Chapter will be migrating to Ft. Walton for the annual House Party on May 7 and 8. We hope to see our alumni at both functions!

100 Years Strong

With the beginning of the new year, Wisconsin Gamma initiated five outstanding new members. This new class consists of: Phil Rogers, St. Joseph, MI; Joe Carroll, New Canaan, CT; Bill Severa, Bloomingdale, IL; Tom Baker, Raton, NM; and Kimmo Walden, Valkeakoski, Finland. Although this group isn't as many as we hoped, we have as always stressed quality.

This term's officers are Charles Day, GP; Guy Oberwise, VGP; Chip Pettibone, P; Blaine Kloeckner, AG; Linc German, BG; Steve Credan, SG; Ed Lowrie, Hod; Andy Schumacher, Phu; Terry Jones, Hi; and Steve Penava, steward. Blaine Kloeckner was also elected this term's Social Chairman. With this type of quality leadership, the term should be one of the best ever.

The Centennial celebration in November was a great success. Of the 200 people in attendance Buf Norgren, '62, came the furthest-from London, England and Jack Thompson, '17, represented the earliest initiation class. The alumni were welcomed by Bill Korst, '45, who presided as Master of Ceremonies, and received greetings from Executive Director, Brother Gary Angstadt, and the new President of Beloit College, Roger Hull, a Sigma Chi from Dartmouth. Jon Mason, '78, was there to explain the 1976 rebirth of Wisconsin Gamma, and Jeff Van Hoosear, the GP, described the present status of the Chapter and members. The Banquet was also Wisconsin Gamma's chance to repay the hard work of John Lind, '61, and Dr. Warner Mills, '78. A plaque was given to John in appreciation for his persistent and unrelenting work in reestablishing Phi Kappa Psi on Beloit's campus.

Scholastically, the Chapter ranked second among the seven Greek organizations on campus, with a cumulative grade point average of above a 3.00. Dan McKee, Dirk Damrau, Stuart Ginsberg, Steve Penava, Ed Lowrie, Jim Meyer, Joe Coyne, Pat Esposito, Chip Pettibone, Dave Bizzaro, Bob Symonds, and Jeff Van Hoosear were named to the Dean's List.

Wisconsin Gammans have excelled in athletics as well. Brother Chip Pettibone, a dominating figure in the water, is keeping the Swim Team afloat. The president of the Hockey Club, Pat Esposito, along with Steve Credan, Pete Kozelka, and Joe Carroll are striving to improve the Ice Team. In addition, Brothers Blaine Kloeckner, Linc German, Phil Rogers, and Joe Carroll are anxiously awaiting the start of the baseball season.

Several other Brothers have been chosen to participate in numerous seminars and semesters. Jay Byers and Dave Bizzaro are currently overseas participating in Beloit's French and Spanish seminars respectively. Mark Underwood and Dan McKee were chosen to be 2 of the 25 participants in the Sea Semester Program administered out of Wood's Hole, Massachusetts. Last term's president Jeff Van Hoosear was chosen to represent Beloit on the Washington Semester Program at American University.

In closing, we appreciate the support shown us in the past and strive to ever uphold the good name of Phi Kappa Psi here in Wisconsin. With the amount of support our alumni have shown us already we can only anticipate an even brighter future at Beloit. We would also like to thank the many Chapters who sent their congratulations on our 100 years of existence.

Bowling Green Bathtub Race Coming Soon

With all the attention at Bowling Green being focused on the hot Falcon hockey team, the Brothers of Ohio Zeta still managed to achieve our goal and take in nine new pledges, one of the largest Winter pledge classes on campus. These men are: Scott Tillet and Matt Rock, Marion; Joe Adams, Adrian, MI; Rich Gaw, Fairview Park; Jim Gerker, Ottoville; Terry Reynolds, Portsmouth; John Muellauer, Cleveland; Jeff Krahenbuhl, Fairfield; and Doug Lynch, Youngstown. Fraternity Educators Jeff White and Keith Rittenhouse see great potential in this pledge class, which has already sponsored several worthy projects in the house.

Seven new Brothers were accepted into the Chapter on February 1, 1982. These men are Dave Fisher, Perrysburg; Bill Keating, Fremont; Larry Bender, Akron; Chris Gulliford, Findlay; Brian Fischer, Perrysburg; Rich Weiland, Upper Arlington; and John Cigas, Brooklyn. We are now up to Badge number 483, and should see our 500th initiate in the fall of '82.

The fall '81 "Honky Tonk" date party was a great success. This Western Style theme party is quickly becoming one of the most popular date parties on campus. The Brothers and their dates stomped and hollered to the tunes of a really rowdy countrywestern band, "The Sleek Brothers." The winter '82 date party was also a really good time. Several other events, including sorority teas, movie nights, and open parties made for a great year socially at Ohio Zeta. One of the more noteable teas was a marriage theme tea with the Chi Omega sorority. In order to get a drink, the Brothers would have to get married to one of the girls. By the end of the evening, several Brothers reported being married many, many times.

Brothers Keith Reinke and David Brussee were among the select few on this campus to be named to "Who's Who Among American College Students." Brother Jeff White was this year's recipient of the newly established Scott David Morrison Award, which is given annually to the Brother of this Chapter who, in the opinion of the Chapter, displays the best qualities of a model Phi Psi. Several other important positions on campus are being held by Phi Psi's this year, including Director and Associate Producer of the Miss B.G.S.U. pageant.

The annual Phi Psi Bathtub Race, set to be held the first week of June, is already being planned out in great detail. Chairman Jeff White and Assistant Steve Levitt have sent letters to all the major radio and TV stations in the area, inviting them to enter. This bathtub race and the party beforehand should prove to be one of the biggest events of the spring at Bowling Green

Our Chapter is very strong this year, and growing stronger all the time. Any Brothers who would like to take off and make a road trip to Ohio Zeta are more than welcome. We'll show you a good time!

Bucknell

Solid

The concerted effort of the Brothers of Pennsylvania Gamma, under the leadership of Rush Chairmen Jeff Karlovec, George Tsougarakis and Craig Toland and a strong Senior Class, made the Fall Semester's Rush program a smashing success. We are proud to report that thirty-nine fine young men became pledges to our Brotherhood. The class includes Chris Abate, Morris Plains, NJ; Jeb Brackbill, West Newbury, MA; Greg Brouse, Ellicott City, MD; Rich Callaghan, Summitt, NJ; Bill Cline, Valley Forge; Jeff Cropp, Potomac, MD; Steve Dawson, Haverford; Tom Dee, Berwyn; Matt Dickson, Melville, NY; Al Fagan, Camp Hill; Steve Fields, Rochester, NY; Dan Fitzgerald, Newark, NJ; Greg Furst, Baltimore, MD; Gene Gorab, Allendale; Andrew Huntley-Robertson, East Greenwich, RI; Mike Penn Gamma boasts a 39-man group of pledges for 1982, gathered here in front of their Bucknell University home.

Kelly, Keswick, VA; George Krupka, Bethlehem; Todd Matthew, Simsbury, CT; Bryan McAdam, Lindenhurst, NY; Mike McLaughlin, Garden City, NJ; Mike McLaughlin, Short Hills, NJ; Scott Melville, Plymouth Meeting; Mike Menzer, Charleston, WV; Rob Nichols, Shaker Heights, OH; Mark O'Dea, Watchung, NJ; Jeff Ohl, Northport, NY; Jim Owens, Wayzata, MN; Mark Pearce, Parkton, MD; Jon Peter, Durham, NC; Rob Rhein, Wynnewood; Rob Reiner, Baltimore, MD; Bill Sollitto, Medford; Eric Sutherland, Elyria, OH; Andy Swank, Rye, NY; Brian Tarasi, Sewickley; George Thompson, Oakmont; Darryl Voight, Kensington, MD; Bill Walsh, Scotch Plains, NJ; and Jim Weller, Melville, NJ.

The leadership of the Chapter house continues in fine fashion with the election of George Tsougarakis, Corey Temple, and Doug Hitchner as President, Vice-President, and Treasurer, respectively.

Congratulations are extended to Mark Brotherton and Paul Devlin on their selections for the first team of all-stars in soccer in the East Coast Conference. Mark was also elected Co-MVP of the conference as well as a Tri-State All American.

Also worthy of mention, is the election of Mike Yorio as President of Bucknell's Chapter of the American Society of Civil Engineers.

Spirits are high as we are looking forward to a good Spring, which will be highlighted by Roman Orgy & Ship Wreck. Beginning on May 5th will be the climax of House Party Weekend.

As always, all alumni and fellow Phi Psi's are more than welcome.

Butler

Doing Well In New House

The icy blasts of winter may have stopped Butler University for 3 days, but the weather certainly did not hinder the Brothers here at Indiana Zeta. We are still in the process of settling into our new home. We have much work left to do—the third floor and kitchen need to be finished—but we are all happy to be together. Recently purchased furniture looks beautiful in the formal living room.

Maintaining our fine tradition, we are once again the top male housing unit academically for the fall term. One more semester will make 13 straight years of our earning the highest GPA of the male houses. Fifteen members on Dean's List and the four-points of brothers Jeff Draper, Bill Hollenberg, Ralph Blessing, Brian Strautman, and Darryl Wells helped immensely.

The weather also did not prevent the initiation of Gary W. McPherson, of Indianapolis, on January 31 nor the initiation of Mark J. Stewart, Indianapolis; John A. Scircle, Elwood; E. Christian Barham, Carmel; Geoffrey L. Hybarger, Covington; Michael Plantz, LaPorte; Mark G. Kopetsky and Duane R. Denton, Indianapolis; Ivan W. Fuller, Camp La Jeune, N.C.; and David G. Jackson, Hartford City on February 6. Indiana Zeta has now initiated 151 Brothers. We are doing well.

Not only is Indiana Zeta doing well as a Chapter, but so are the Brothers doing well on their own. Bill Hollenberg has been accepted to Northwestern U. and Ohio State and awarded a Fellowship and sizeable stipend from both. Darren Matthias was awarded 1981 Encore Awards for his roles as best supporting actor in Wizard of Oz and as best actor in Pippin. Ralph Blessing, our Solon E. Summerfield recipient, is number one in his class in the College of Business. And Ken Massaroni is the overall director of Spring Sing 1982.

Elections were held on January 20: Jeff Draper, President; Brian Strautman, Vice President; Roger Malcom, Treasurer; David Ashley, Recording Secretary; Ralph Blessing, Chaplain; Bob Kelley, Messenger; Bruce Phillips, Sergeant-at-arms, and Mark Johnson, House Manager are the new officers.

Our new house has kept us warm and together through the winter, but we are looking forward to an exciting Spring schedule. Chris Staton is directing us and the women of Delta Gamma in Spring Sing. Our Phi Psi "500" is April 17 with the mini-bike race and "Queen-of-the-Pits." And with 3 sports left in intramurals, we hope to further improve our third place standing—our highest

We gladly welcome anyone who would like to visit the newest Phi Psi house. We are very proud of it and thankful for all the people who have helped us make our dream come true with their time, effort, and financial support. If ever you are in the Indianapolis area, we encourage you to stop in. We would be delighted to show you around.

California

Continued Growth

The fall and winter quarters were busy ones for California Gamma, as the Brothers set about their various academic and athletic pursuits in successful fashion.

This past fall Cal Gamma concluded our best football season ever with a third place finish out of a possible 250 teams in intramural football. Go Scary Cows! Mooooo The Running Rebels basketball team continued the winning spirit by bouncing their way into the playoffs. Continued success is expected in softball, volleyball, and soccer.

The winter rain and cold did not dampen the Phi Psi spirit as we initiated twelve new members. They are Ed Armstrong, Berkeley; Mark McClelland, El Cerrito; Warren Nagler, Beverly Hills; Don Huang, Manhattan; Brett Schlaman, San Jose; Mark Stailey, Shingle Springs; Taylor Reid, Mill Valley; Albert Guarino, Pasadena; Bill Lutz, Glendale; Dave Sandusky, Fairfax; Chris Valvo, Port Chester; and Paul Jardetzky, Stanford.

Along with our new initiates we elected new officers for the Chapter, and expect much effort from them, and rightly so; Don Larson, GP; Brad Jones, VGP; Warren Nagler, P; Jim Orr, BG; Mike Loscavio, Hod; Jeff Flarity, Phu; and Mike Torres, Hi. All work hard and provide the dynamic leadership necessary for success.

On January 23, we held our fifth annual bounce-a-thon to Stanford. Thanks to the help of alumni, parents, and friends we raised $2,500. With the donations we hope to finance the construction of a new redwood deck, planned to be completed by the Fall of 1982

We now eagerly await two important celebrations; Founders Day and our Winter Formal. Founders Day begins with dinner at Spenger's Fish Grotto and then moves to the house for dancing and cocktails. Those attending will be sure to enjoy the festivities. This year's Winter Formal takes place on March 6, at the Claremont Hotel in Berkeley. The social committee decided to have a masquerade ball in hopes of improving the looks of all the girls and guys who attend. The party should prove to be a success, and if so more masquerade parties are planned in the future.

All Cal Gamma alumni should watch for the California Line Newsletter, containing detailed information concerning Chapter matters. We will mail it out shortly. Has anyone seen Jeff Schrager? Goodbye for now!

House!

We would like to welcome our new officers for the 1982-83 year: John Schneider, GP; Scott B. Chaplin, VGP; Mike Zabrycki, P; Jeff Amberg, AG; Jim English, BG; Steve Garrett, SG; Greg Stone, Phu; Brett Holt, Hi; and Larry Schott as our Social Chairman.

Our newest group of excellent initiates includes Joe Antony, Eureka; Tom Holland, Granada Hills; Mike Zabrycki, Monterey; Jeff Amberg, La Jolla; Erik Eklund, Los Gatos; Scott Chaplin, Oakland; and Larry Schott, Los Angeles. Also, we would like to welcome to our ranks a new pledge class: Rick Dal Porto, Daly City; Sam Castaldo, Davis; Dave Wikle and Keith Kanner, Los Angeles; and Kris Ohlson, Castro Valley.

Since the start of the new academic year, we have leased a house near campus. We will be able to keep the house until the end of the year, when the house goes up for sale. We are hoping that we can put a down payment together by the end of the year, and if we can't, that the real estate market is still in a precarious situation.

We appreciate the new house, and are grateful for having it. We installed a new rug, installed Phi Psi's good name, and held the fall rush events there. We are planning extensive spring rush events at the house, which includes The Second Annual Hawaiian Bash to attract new pledges, a cocktail party, softball with the Chi Omegas, and Pledge Golf Day.

On February 20th we took an exciting ski trip with our Phi Psi Ladies to Tahoe City. We also ventured down to Berkeley for the Founder's Day Celebration at Spengers. On February 14th, we are proud to announce, we held the initiation of our new pledge class at Incline Village.

Finally, we would like to recognize some of our outstanding graduating seniors: Doug Adamson, Business Manager of the school newspaper, The California Aggie; Rick Kitamura for his philanthropic activity in the Hunger Project; and Tom Holland, President of the Agricultural Economics Association.

Good Year

Winter Quarter began for California Epsilon with the initiation of our twelve fall pledges. The new initiates are: Peter Barbis, Steve Guinn, Fresno; Matt Hagan, Torrance; Steve Kehela, Tarzana; Dan Leanse, Beverly Hills; George LePorte, Baldwinsville, NY; Jeff Noe, Chatsworth; Craig O'Rourke, Newport Beach; Andy Reikes, Riverside; Mike Tobian, Glendale; Dan Toomey, Valencia; and John Vlautin, Reno, NV.

The new officers for Winter and Spring are: Jack Noe, GP; John Shepherd, VGP; Bob Morse, P; John Wasley, AG; John Irons, BG; Lewis Averill, SG; Mike Prestridge, Hod; Don Bohay, Phu; and Bill Gillis, Hi.

In keeping with the Phi Psi tradition of leadership, California Epsilon continues to have her members involved in campus activities. Jeff Lewis is one of the Chief Justices for Interfraternity Council and John Wasley is director of the Greek Week Variety Show. Additionally, Brother Lewis was recently initiated into the Phi Beta Kappa fraternity. Jeff serves as a continuous inspiration to the younger Brothers.

Another Phi Psi extrascholastic activity is intramurals. Phi Psi is presently ranked number one in UCLA intramural competition. We participated in badminton, squash and football, winninge both the all-fraternity and all-UCLA title in football. Participating in rugby, soccer and basketball this quarter, we are continuing to hold a dominant lead over the campus. In addition to intramurals, varsity sports at UCLA have Phi Psis in their ranks. Lewis Averill is on the gymnastics team; Dan Leanse, ski team; George LePorte, windsurfing team and Doug Marshall, rugby team.

Coming up on May 14, 15, and 16, Mard. Gras, UCLA's fundraiser for Uni-Camp is already being worked on. Phi Psi's contribution, the award-winning "House of Horrors" has always been among the top ranking money raisers. Mardi Gras is a time when the entire Brotherhood pulls together and works side by side for the benefit of the underprivileged children of Los Angeles. If anyone is in Los Angeles during that time, we hope you can come by and join in the festivities.

Special Olympics Benefit

Hello once again friends from beautiful San Luis Obispo. Cal Eta is enjoying a great new year and is pleased to announce the addition of nine new Brothers from our 32nd National Pledge Class. Initiated on February 6, 1982, were; Stuart Mills Lee, Brian Michael Agnew, Steven Richey Smith, Steven William Norin, Jeffrey William Azevedo, Eric Graham Kirkpatrick, Daniel Gordon

Smith, John Bradley Breseke, and Michael Alexander Malaccorto.

The new year also saw the election of new officers. Our new cabinet for spring will be Chuck Hall, GP; Doug Morrisey, VGP; John Hermle, P; Ed Kitchen, AG; Tim Gill, BG; Pat McNerney, SG; Chris Gentile, Phu; Teo Zeolla, Hi; and Reid Goldenstein, Hod. Our Fraternity Educator to the 33rd National is Bill Spence; Rush Chairmen are John Hermle and Rob Layne; and Social Chairman is Dave Bui.

The Brothers of Cal Eta are Champions once again as we brought home the Interfraternity Council football championship trophy by defeating Delta Tau in the finals. The football team enjoyed an undefeated season en route to the title. Elsewhere the basketball team successfully reached the playoffs, and the softball team is anticipating a season as good as the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

Our social calendar was filled with many delightful events. Our annual Christmas Party on December 11, 1981 was highlighted by everyone dancing on desks and tables to the tune of "Start Me Up." Also on January 9, 1982 we had a four way exchange with Delta Tau, Alpha Phi and Sigma Kappa. The semiformal affair included dancing to a live band and was enjoyed by all.

In April and May Cal Eta has planned many important events. On April 11 is our 6th Easter Egg Hunt. The event brings smiles to many a child's face as he searches for hidden eggs in Laguna Lake Park. On April 18 our 3rd Annual Royal Run will be held. All proceeds go to the benefit of the Special Olympics. Poly Royal will be held April 23rd and 24th; which is headed by six Brothers of our Chapter. May 2nd thru 9th is Greek Week in San Luis Obispo as all fraternities and sororities compete in such events as Greek Sing, Tub Races, and Olympiad.

It will be a busy and jumping Spring at Cal Eta, so if you are ever in the neighborhood just hop right by friends, and we will be sure to show you a good time.

15th Anniversary

Last Fall semester saw Cal Theta fare well in almost all aspects of college life. Homecoming was a major event in the semester for us as we were defending champions in the float competition and, with the help of the sisters of Delta Delta Delta sorority, we expected to improve on our overall second place of last year. But, alas, it was not to be as we fell to a still respectable third.

Although we were unable to win any team championships, in intramurals we were able to play consistently in all sports. The fact that most of the Brothers are sophomores, and all teams' members are returning gives us high hopes.

The Chapter also boasts having Carlos Barba, the starting goalie on the league leading CSUN hockey team, among its members.

Brothers Bob Haney, Mike Reek and Mike Alcalay have been involved in student senate and are continuing this Spring.

The close of the Fall semester at Cal State, Northridge saw the Brotherhood initiate six excellent men from our last pledge class. The new Brothers are Steve Himber, Derrick Wright, Vince Johnson, Jerry Grant, Octavio Villalpando and Carlos Barba.

At the same time a new administration was elected into office. The new officers are: GP, Joe Pavone; VGP, Scott Braden; P, Bob Melford; AG, Richard Fong; BG, Danny Rosen; SG, Myles Koplow; Hod, Mike Cohen; Phu, Damon Grate; and Hi, John Soukup.

Spring fielded three excellent men from a very competitive rush and under the tutelage of Fraternity Educator Myles Koplow, pledges Gary Reinstein, Raj Puri and Ed Soriano should have little trouble.

Our fine pledge class isn't the only reason for excitement around the Chapter. Spring brings with it the 15th Annual Phi Psi "500" at CSUN. The date for this year's extravaganza is April 2nd and any Brother in the area is more than welcomed to stop by for the festivities. As always, the proceeds will go to the American Diabetes Association.

Welcome to Phi Kappa Psi, Cal Eta style! The California Poly chapter presents their newest members, initiated February 6th.

Life at Cal Theta isn't all work; we play a little too. This semester we have exchanges planned with the Tri-Delts and Sigma Kappas, and a mixer with the women's softball team. Also, we will be holding our Spring Formal on April 16th.

One final note, California Theta will be celebrating its fifteenth anniversary in June and all Chapter alumni are requested to get in touch with John Ciccarelli.

1100 Brothers

Friday night February fifth saw nine new initiates welcomed into the Ohio Epsilon Chapter, bringing our roll up to the 1100 level. Our new initiates are Marc Davidson, Newton, MA; Sam Del Rio, Parma Heights; James Fowler, New Castle, PA; Howard Kendall, West Haven, CT; Josh Makower, New City, NY; John Nicolacopoulos, Athens, Greece; Kevin Scott, Cincinnati; Dave Varley, Norwell, MA; and Mike Wurts, Kettering. Ohio Epsilon hopes that with nine new Brothers, we can continue to grow here on campus.

Ohio Epsilon also welcomes two pledges to the CWRU campus: Jim Bentley, East Liverpool, and Pat Prenger, Minster.

Our new officers for the semester are Marc Pinotti, GP; Dana Mehnert, VGP; Michael Kertes, AG; Jeff Vekony, BG; Mark Glogowski, P; Tom Kuchar, SG; Gary Powers, Hod; Dennis Youn, Phu; and Monte Nagy, Hi.

Our annual Founder's Day banquet was held on the 20th of February this year. Everyone attending had a good time and we are looking forward to getting together with everyone again in the near future.

Phi Psis continue to do well on the intramural level. Brother Jim Rozsits took second place in the racquetball tournament, while our bowling team stormed back after winter break to grab third place. The Phi Psi basketball team, after a slow start, came back to finish third in the fraternity division. The Chapter is looking forward to intramural softball and Greek Week as the Cleveland climate thaws and Lake Erie begins to smile on us once again.

Congratulations are in order for our house father, Don Kohler, who is heading to medical school next year. Congratulations are also in order for our Solon E. Summerfield award winner, Monte Nagy; our Outstanding Senior, Marc Pinotti; and our Outstanding Alumnus, John Ulrich (Our Area Director).

This semester marks the passage of six more individuals from undergraduate to alumnus status in Phi Kappa Psi; Bob Antenucci, Rick Mihran, Monte Nagy, Marc Pinotti, Jeff Riskin, and Eli Siegel will graduate this May from CWRU.

Everyone is looking forward to our spring thaw and heading south to Florida and then to the GAC in Atlanta later in the summer. We hope to see all loyal Phi Psi's there.

Help, Please!!

Salubrious Greetings to fellow Phi Psis. 529 West 113th Street, home of NY Gamma, recently experienced a serious run-in with New York City Housing Authority. The serious incident, based on a series of housing violations of our home structure, produced a mandatory ultimatum to correct all violations listed by their office. The violations, dating as far back as 25 years, precluded/ inspired our entire membership, including some alumni, to pool our resources. strengths and energies to save our wonderful home base-our beloved Phi Kappa Psi. Money was extremely difficult to come by. Most of the money raised by our Brothers came from our own pockets. Many, besides schoolwork, held down two jobs to contribute to the urgent campaign to raise funds, to save and preserve the present and future, not to mention past memories of NY Gamma. At this date all of the violations are corrected. A private contractor estimated remaining structural repairs at well over $25,000.

Some of our alumni, in a recent bid to raise money in order to restore our historic brownstone, have come through. We thank them gratefully. Unfortunately, though, these are but a few. We are therefore calling upon with utmost urgency, our fellow Brother Phi Psis for financial assistance to assure the longevity of our home, to complete our repairs. Any Brothers capable of contributing to our very worthy home-rehabilitation fund drive would be welcomed. Please send all contributions to N.Y. Gamma Home Rehab, c/o treasurer, Phi Kappa Psi, 529 West 113th Street, New York, N.Y. 10025.

The Brothers of NY Gamma would like to thank alumni Brothers Ernie Garbe, for his unending support and inspiration and Bill Lubic, who came to our aid and provided valuable legal assistance in our time of crisis. Thank You Both.

The Chapter recently initiated three outstanding pledges. Marko 'Blue' Schmitt, Seattle, WA, performed and toured with a Tibetan Performing Company, 40 miles north of mythical Katmandu. He, incidently, spent last summer renovating houses in Seattle (a valuable find!). John 'Tex' Lyon, Atlanta, GA, a composer/musician, and plays viola de gamba professionally when not at Columbia, and finally Amery Smith, NY, NY, a medieval French studies major. Some of our Brothers just can't keep out of the headlines. Miroslav Mandic, a current Fulbright Fellow, is completing a filmscript. Marc Matsil, again on academic leave, is off to Paris where his recent London hit Lagoona Fortuna, will be produced by the internationally acclaimed Transatlantic Repertoire Theatre. Brother Chris Ruhnke is currently studying painting in Munich, as we expect him back this spring.

Have a wonderful spring, and do drop in when in town.

"500" Magic

Even if the weather doesn't look like spring, our fine new pledge class reminds us that it is at least second semester. Our outstanding class of 26 are Loren Weaver, St. Petersburg, FL; Mark Bonnelycke, Rockland, MD; Ryan Keough, Vestal; Chris Thompson, Orleans, MA; Greg Harmon, Bascon Ridge, NJ; Ted Kalinka, Clifton. NJ; Eric Hedman, Schenectady; Chris Hatcher, Huntington; Tom Rabin, Irvington; Jamie Reavis, Cleveland, OH; Dave Rahr, Steubenville, OH; Rick Schuler, Ithaca; Ed Franzoni, Passaic, NJ; Jim Kilmer. Syracuse; John Mather, Montclair, NJ: Scott Taber, Rochester; George Daddis, Penfield; Tim Sergeant, Sodus; Jon Jarvis, Hartford, CT; Brian Quinn, Wilmington, DE; Mike Dau, Millington, NJ; Hector Cases, San Juan, Puerto Rico; Rich Shapiro, Middletown; Steve Koerner, Toms River, NJ; Brad Macomber, Fort Wayne, IN and Nick Finamore, Sudbury, MA. These young men have already demonstrated that they have the will to be Brothers and they should make Fraternity Educator Craig Clickenger's job very easy.

The spring is also very special at NY Alpha, because along with our annual run for the intramural crown, we are preparing for everyone else's run in our Phi Psi "500." This year the "500" has at its helm ablebodied Jim Talcott, and his first-mate is Joe Kabel. They began work long before Ithacans even thought of spring, but now, with May 1st rapidly approaching, there is a sense of magic in the Ithaca air, as Cornell gears up for what is unquestionably its largest springtime event.

For the spring term the Chapter is under the able guidance of Angel Milanes, GP, West New York, NJ; Jim Taschetta, VGP, Wakefield, MA; Tom Healey, P, Madison, CT; Brooks Turkel, AG, Plantation, FL; Jim Gast, BG, Winchester, MA and Joe Cullen, SG, West Hartford, CT.

It has been our pleasure to host Brothers from the University of Pennsylvania and the Pennsylvania State University, and a number of its pledges. We welcome all visitors, so if you're in the Ithaca area stop by and will help take the cold out, Cornell Style.

Active Spring

Greetings to all from the Brothers of Nebraska Beta. A new semester has arrived, bringing with it a chilling winter. To counter the cold, we have a busy schedule to keep us warm.

This semester signals a major change for the Chapter. The largest class ever to enter our ranks is poised to graduate, its members going on to pursue various avenues of graduate study and professional work. With that in mind, a strong rush directed by Scott Fairbairn produced twenty-one fine pledges. They are: Joe Bachtold, W. St. Paul, MN; T. C. Bredehoft, Wichita, KS; John Caffrey, Chicago, IL; Kevin Carter, Santa Ana, CA; Gabriel Doria, Bayonne, NJ; John Dovgan, Raton, NM; Jim Hagen, Plymouth, MN; Leo Herbers, Carrol, IA; Steve Holmes, St. Louis, MO; John Huber, Davenport, IA; Jeff Jacobsen, Marion, IA; Chris Lawler, Chicago, IL; Mike Lievens, Joliet, IL; Scott Magnuson, San Diego, CA; Mike McDowell, St. Louis, MO; Mark Michna and Sean Moran, San Francisco, CA; Brad Nielsen, Fremont; John Paulson, Palos Park, IL; Tim Quille, Bayonne, NJ; and Mike Tye, Kearney. The highlight of rush was the return of the Phi Psi kazoo marching band to Creighton Bluejay basketball games.

As usual, the calendar for the semester is busy and varied. In sports basketball starts things off as a talented I's team makes a run for the all-University title. Later in the semester the track and soccer teams will make a stand defending last year's championships. A note on last semester, the I's and II's football teams finished second and third in the University, with the II's being named coteam of the month. Congratulations guys!

The Muscular Dystrophy Dance-a-thon dominates the semester's community service. This is the fourth year of sponsorship for the Chapter, and co-chairmen Steve Grigone and Bill O'Leary are excited by the prospects of surpassing last year's donation of $6,500.

The social outlook for the semester is promising. Social chairman Randy Peragus has some exciting parties planned, the first a Kamikaze party. Founders Day banquet is always popular and Parent's Weekend is set for February 27th. However, the function most awaited, Spring Formal, looks to be a grand affair. Doug Nemmers and Kyle Galles have a gala celebration planned for the Brothers and alumni on April third.

Guiding the Chapter through this semester's activities are Jerry Mancuso, GP; Jeff Hagen, VGP; Scott Gieser, AG; Kyle Galles, BG; Dan Mayleben, P; George Hucal, SG; John Skowron, Hod; Greg Mikuls, Phu; and Kevin McCarthy, Hi.

In closing, the Brothers of Nebraska Beta send greetings to all our alumni, and extend an invitation to all Brothers to stop by and visit us.

Interaction

A need inside the Pennsylvania Zeta Chapter is being satisfied by looking into our communities to lend a hand to improve conditions both in the college and in society in general. Communication with our town officials has led to projects to clean area parks as well as provide us with other helpful suggestions of ways in which we, as a fraternity, can live up to our goals of productive interaction with our neighbors. The movement that was started last term gained the support and assistance of virtually every Brother in the Chapter. This is evident in the number of activities in which we are involved and the nature of their services.

Our pledge class for this school year contains seventeen great people. They are: Michael Albert Chung, Audubon; David William Dierk, Long Valley, NJ; Rodger Dursler and Andreas Werner Eisenberger, Hopatcong, NJ; Frederick Randolph Ensley, Wellesley, MA: Daniel Thomas Fitch, Wayne; Vincent Xavier Grbach, McKeesport; Craig Stevens Gunderson, Bernardsville, NJ; Bryan Glenn Hauck, New Columbia; Jeffrey Russell Johnson, Silver Spring, MD; Edward Florian Lazarski, West Chester; John Kevin Leighow, Bala Cynwyd; Douglas Lawrence MacDonald, East Greenwich, RI; Arthur Vincent Maselli, Vineland, NJ; Kenneth Joseph Oskowiak, Abington; James Lou Paterno, Nutley, NJ; and Douglas G. Ward, Washington Depot, CT. These men will assist us in our work projects by visiting a retirement home with the Brothers and by making our annual "Beach Party" (seven tons of sand, clams, a dock, a lighthouse, imported beer, and heaters for the proper atmosphere) a success. Another Brotherhood get-together will take place when we all hit the ice at a local skating rink for a "leisurely" game of hockey for all abilities. A new idea to expand our associations involves plans to invite local sororities over to the Chapter House for a cooperative party. And our charity offering this term will be a trip to the "Ernest and Julio Phi Psi" wine cellar for the highest bidder in a college charity auction. Of course, since our facultystudent social went so well last term, we are also arranging to have another one of these events.

The officers continuing this transition to greater interaction are: Charles D. Atkinson, GP; Michael T. Sagges, VGP; James E. Pennington, P; Robert C. Hudson, AG; Scott D. Silverwood, BG; David A. Krueger, Hod; Kenneth S. Greenblatt, Phu; Michael R. Stein, Hi; William J. Fisher, Social; Scott Harold Colby, House Manager; and David J. Ellis/Michael R. Stein, P.R. All of these Brothers have been working very hard to lead the Chapter in the activities of the school year and we feel as though we have accomplished something very worthwhile.

Us To Be Here

The Brothers of North Carolina Alpha have survived a University attempt at musical dorms. We extend thanks to all alumni who gave us support and a special thanks to brother Andy Schwab, whose dinner dates with the "lady Dean" were very successful.

All the Brothers appreciate the warmth shown by "Hayne's mother" during our tense moments.

This year's rush allowed us to be very selective and as a result, twelve outstanding pledges were taken. These fine gentlemen are: Paul Adler, Somers, CT; Brent Beazley, Los Angeles, CA; Ted Claypoole, Dayton, OH; Jon Crotty, Maitland, FL; Richard Ford, Durham; Jerry Konko, Sherborne, England; Billy Liakos, Roswell, NM; Art Middlebrooks, Kettering, OH; Bob Percival, Boca Raton, FL; Jon Perlman, Miami, FL; Eric Schulz, Wilmette, IL; and Tim Walter, Durham.

The spring semester has been as enjoyable as ever. Many Brothers and some pledges were a part of the First Annual Alan Talpalar Atlantic City Junkett. Brother Talpalar broke the bank at the casino as did three others. Other Brothers tried their luck at the Playboy Club, and though keeping little money, still came home winners.

The homefront has seen a rewarding social schedule, from the ice skating party, Valentine's Dance (with cupid Jerry Konko), the pledge formal and numerous sorority mixers, to the rewarding mixers with Meredith and UNC's Chi Omegas. Good job "little guy" and "flipper."

Sports news includes our fantastic IM program from "beer" keggers to basketball. Our 3-on-3 basketball tournament was a big success thanks to organizer Bill "First Round" Haynes. Brother Marc Flur, #1 seed varsity tennis and pledge Richard Ford, varsity basketball, continue to be victorious. Fraternity darts has become very popular, with Brother Rusty Fritz leading the charge. Even Brother Chris Davis will throw a dart or two, provided the target is right.

Duke Alpha even finds time to study. Our combined GPA is sixth highest of all male living groups. In addition to our natural brilliance, this may be due to the relaxed approach to school of many Brothers. Many Brothers find aquariums to be very relaxing room additions. Brother Kieth Coleman has found a correlation between exotic fish and girls. All the Brothers continuously look for patterns and crosses in their academic pursuits.

Spring Fever 1982

It's springtime in Gainesville, and the Brothers of Florida Beta are preparing for a busy semester. Congratulations go out to our four new Brothers, initiated November 23, 1981: Wesley Saults, Perry; Peter Murphy, Ocala; John White, Centerville, MA; and Jon Crumrine, Ft. Meyers. Spring semester also brings about a change of officers. We welcome our new officers, and look forward to progress under them: Joe Russo, GP; Dave Hines, VGP; Ian Jones, BG; Irvin Smith, AG; Andrew Houtz, SG; Bill Echevarria, Hi; Joe Nordmann, Phu; Scott Clinton, P; and Frank Skirlo, Hod.

Spring Rush was again handled by Brother Wes Dunn. Our smokers included a Procrastinators New Year's Eve, a Snowed Inn Ski Lodge party, Mardi Gras Night, Casino Night, Rock and Roll Night, and a Phi Psi Happy Hour. As a result, our two spirited pledges are Bernard Kaiserian of Alachua and Mark Adams of Brandon, MS. They will be under the guidance of Pledge Educator Ian Jones.

Once again, Florida Beta holds her head high among the fraternities of the University of Florida. The UF Interfraternity Council has again honored Phi Psi for scholastic achievement. The academic banner awarded last fall will remain at Florida Beta for having the second highest overall G.P.A. of the campus fraternities; we were .0048 grade points from first place. Scholarship congratulations also go to Brother Kerry Gates, the winner of the Solon E. Summerfield Scholarship Award. Brother Gates is a member and recently elected president of Sigma Lambda Chi, the Building Construction honorary. At the end of the semester, we will bid farewell and wish good luck to Brothers Glenn Winograd and Kerry Gates. Both are graduating, and their presence will be sorely missed.

Florida Beta also extends congratulations to Brother Wes Dunn, who was chosen as an alternate to the Florida Blue Key Speakers Bureau.

Brother Jon Crumrine, our activities chairman, says this should be yet another socially successful semester for Florida Beta. A social with Sigma Kappa sorority helped start things off right. Upcoming events include a slated Spring Formal, co-sponsored with Phi Gamma Delta fraternity, and a Happy Hour with Alpha Xi Delta sorority. There will also be the traditional hot tub and champagne party, and our famous Pre-Finals Toga Party in April. Also in April will be our seventh annual Phi Psi "500." We cordially invite everyone to attend this, our fund raiser for the Shands Hospital Camp for Diabetic Children. The event begins on April 2 with the Kick-off Party, with the race being run on Saturday, April 3. We look forward to seeing you there!

Our Founders Day Weekend went well, thanks to the efforts of Brothers Ian Jones and Peter Murphy. Over 100 Brothers, alumni, parents, and their dates enjoyed a fine banquet at the University Inn of Gainesville. Our featured speaker was Dr. James Scott, dean of Student Services at the University of Florida. Our congratulations go to the following Brothers, recognized for their contributions to the Chapter: Peter Murphy, Pledge of the Year; Joe Russo, Brother of the Year; and John Creswell, Alumnus of the Year. After the banquet, Brother Chris McQuigg stole the show with the presentation of the annual "Southwest Plantation Alumni Association" awards. Special thanks go to Brothers McQuigg and Dave Mayper for their contributions of new speakers for the Social Wing and towards the completion of our house alarm system. We thank all of the people who came for Founders Day Weekend and made it the success it was.

Phi Psi has also been involved in campus intramurals. We made it to the first round of the play-offs, losing to Delta Upsilon in the play-offs. Basketball finished with a .500 record, as did volleyball. At the present time, our soccer team, coached by Brother Jim Wood, is undefeated, and it looks like Phi Psi has an excellent chance of making the final rounds of the play-offs again.

Our annual Winter Retreat in the middle of beautiful downtown Nowhere went well this year. We have set our goals for the year, and will be working hard to achieve them. Meals and entertainment, provided by the "Retreat Rookies" were well beyond expectations. (Of course, our expectations weren't too high to begin with.)

The Brothers of Florida Beta are looking forward to the 1982 Grand Arch Council in Atlanta. We again expect to have our usual large contingency on hand to participate, and are looking forward to the chance to meet fellow Phi Psis from all over the country. SEE YOU IN ATLANTA!!!

Penn Eta Fights MS

The past year has been and continues to be a very productive one for Penn Eta. The major activity contributing to this success was our Multiple Sclerosis drive. Two hundred dollars was raised through the raffling of a television, and aluminum cans were collected by the Brothers for recycling. A special thanks goes to our P, Dave Abernethy who coordinated the event and donated much of his time. We plan to make this fund raiser an annual event.

In another fund raiser geared toward the Fraternity itself, the entire Brotherhood caddied at Lancaster's National Bridge tournament for the second year in a row. The money received was used for house improvements. Both the MS drive and the caddying were instrumental in bringing the Brotherhood closer together.

During the fall semester, the Chapter welcomed four new pledges: Bernard Dicassimiro, New Boston; Kevin Holloway, Potomac, MD; Dave Hoffman, Hanover; and Joe Hong, Hannonton, NJ. Also, we have an overseas pledge, Dan Junkins, who is spending the year in Germany. All these pledges have been very active in the Fraternity.

Initiated October 17, 1981 were three new Brothers: Dan Firth, Robbinsville, NJ; Bob Mahoney, Reading, MA; and Scott Ritter, Germany. Of the three initiates, two are new officers. Dan Firth is the new Hod, and Rob Mahoney is the new Corresponding Secretary.

Other new officers are Scott Fasnacht, GP; Alan Sutter, SG: Bob Gryce, Phu; Paul Cunningham, Hi; and Mark Liebriech, Rush Chairman. In addition Bob Gryce has been chosen to head a special housing committee to research new housing possibilities. We don't own our house, so all alternatives are being considered. Reelected were Carlos Miranda, BG, and Tom Curtin, VGP. All old and new officers are enthusiastic about this semester.

Our interaction with other fraternities has increased this past semester. Overall, we finished second in the academic standings for the second semester in a row. Active in intramurals, we were able to win the archery tournament. During Greek week-end, in every event there were Brothers representing and cheering on Phi Psi.

The Brotherhood was thrilled to see many of our alumni during homecoming weekend. Richard Feaster was especially interesting. He told us of past experiences he had at the house and was curious about our housing problems and offered many suggestions. We all felt very optimistic after he gave his ideas. All the Brothers are in varied activities. We had several presidents including Carlos Miranda of the Dance Club, Steve Romandetta of the Astronomy Club, Eric Nolle of the College Republicans, and Tom Curtin of the Strategic Games Society. The Brothers have a wide range of interests spanning from varsity football to WFNM, the college radio station.

We have had several theme parties, many focusing on specific types of music like big band, sixties, and new wave. We found our most successful parties were a mixture of all music. We also had barbecue parties for the pledges.

Our plans for this semester are the semiformal, the Founders Day celebration, many theme parties and saying good bye to five extremely active Brothers including Skip Soulier, Dave Abernethy, Thomas Curtin, Paul Cunningham, Nick Knisely, and Nick Hopkins. Good luck guys!

Georgia

Greetings from Dawgland!

The Bulldog Phi Psis returned to campus this winter quarter and after only five days of classes our world seemingly ended in one of Athens' worst winter storms.

Afraid that the weather would hinder our winter rush, Phi Psi worked harder than ever to pull in the pledges. Our efforts paid off in eight new pledges, a record for any winter quarter. These men are Mark Cimino and Alan Harris, Decatur; Miguel Bernales, Athens; Chris Baer, Atlanta; Michael Hancock, Savannah; Walt Massey, Riverdale; Doug Hughes, Jonesboro; and Jeff Cole, Marietta. Georgia Alpha may not be able to boast of our "small" but strong brotherhood for much longer.

Prior to rush, we initiated three new Brothers into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi: Charles Fulmer, Richard Anchors, and Edwin Drewa. These men are already involved in many Chapter functions.

Fall quarter ended with elections, and our new officers are already hard at work to make Georgia Alpha a better Chapter. The new officers are David Finney, GP; Eric Friedrichsen, VGP; Chris VanSickle, AG; Will Bosbyshell, BG; David Gilbertson, P; Richard Anchors, SG; Dick Beal, Hod; Chap Drayton, Hi; and Edwin Drewa, Phu. The main goal of the new officers is to organize the purchase of our Chapter home which we currently rent. Obviously, fundraising plays a major role in this quarter's activities, and we are working hand-in-hand with the alumni in Georgia to purchase our lovely Victorian house. Any help in this endeavor will be greatly appreciated.

May 21-22 will see the return of the Phi Psi "500" to UGA. Phil Curran is planning the event which we are running for the Muscular Dystrophy Association. This year's "500" will be the best ever at UGA.

Our Chapter congratulates Missouri Alpha on the addition of our former GP, Scott Peacocke. Scott was a valuable asset to our Chapter, and he is greatly missed at Georgia Alpha.

Best wishes to all Chapters for the spring months. We'll see y'all at the GAC!

Campus Leaders

The fifty Brothers of Penn Epsilon entered 1982 enthusiastically, as we mark our 127th year on campus. The coming year promises the fulfillment of our Chapter's tradition, campus leadership. This custom is reflected in all of our endeavors with the campus, and within the Brotherhood.

Athletically, several varsity teams boast the abilities of Penn Epsilon members. Juniors Bob Wheeler, John Blough, Tom O'Rourke, and Raul Marin lead Gettysburg's swimming team. Bowling team members include Brothers Ron Sorozan, Kirk O'Connell, Jim Watts, and Joe Conti. Other varsity members are Tom Staley, basketball; Doug Brouder, track; and John Regan, lacrosse. Penn Epsilon also boasts of several outstanding intramural teams, under the direction of the college's intramural coordinator, Brother Chris Farris. So far this year, we have taken intramural championships in bowling, billiards and basketball, finishing undefeated in all three sports.

Academically, Penn Epsilon continues to be a campus inspiration. In the first semester, we enjoyed an attrition rate of zero. Brothers Kirk Becchi and Bob Wheeler were elected into the Pi Lambda Sigma honorary society for business and political science majors; while Senior Brother Harlan Daubert received acceptance to medical school.

Penn Epsilon enjoys an admirable record of community service. Last fall, we hosted a campus-wide workshop on college/community/fraternity relations. The workshop/seminar, organized by Brothers Raul Marin and Jim Erickson, attempted to call attention to, and resolve problems faced by the entire fraternity system at Gettysburg. Working in connection with our faithful alumni, the Brothers of Penn Epsilon are dedicated to maintaining the prestige and importance of fraternities on campus. Also, we have recently sponsored several philanthropy projects to raise revenue for local charities.

Internally, 1982 holds much promise for Penn Epsilon. We are anticipating the 100th anniversary of Miller Hall, Phi Psi's first chapter house. Celebrations are planned for April and September. April's commemoration will be co-celebrated with Gettysburg College's sesquicentennial. September's anniversary party will be celebrated in grand style, on our fall alummi weekend. Presently, we are looking not only to the past, but also to the future. Our rush program, under the direction of Brother Andrew Katz, is proceeding well, as many interested freshmen have frequented our various rush functions. In the coming weeks, the Brotherhood will be faced with the difficult task of determining our new membership from among Gettysburg's finest freshmen. All of Gettysburg's students, moreover, have enjoyed Phi Psi's fabulous theme parties and mixers. Much credit for Penn Epsilon's social notoriety goes to our outstanding social chairman, Senior Dave Brown.

Chapter officers for Spring 1982 are Greg Imhoff, GP; Jim Marino, VGP; Lou Chiarlanza, AG; John Regan, BG; Rob Neducsin, P; Joe Silhavy, SG; Mark Schweizer, Hod; John Poliero, Phu; and Doug Brouder, Hi. Other officers include Jim Erickson, steward; and Kirk O'Connell, house manager. In addition to our officers, all of the Brothers of Penn Epsilon are looking forward to the coming semester, enthusiastically, as we reflect on our rich heritage and continue to be Gettysburg's finest fraternity.

Illinois

New Waves

As every semester at Illinois Delta, this spring promises an extremely busy and prosperous schedule. With new Brothers, events, and officers, Illinois Delta is now making "New Waves."

In December, election of new officers was held. Those elected were Todd Raufeisen, GP; Henry Awesome French, VGP; Joseph Leininger, External Vice President; Daniel Kelley, AG; James Mcnichols, BG; and Christian Hallen, P. Congratulations and good luck in their respective offices.

Socially, Illinois Delta is busy as usual. This spring, the sound of music and dance can be heard as Phi Psis and Pi Beta Phi Sorority practice and prepare for the Atius Sachem Mom's Day Sing. The show looks to be great under the direction of Eric Avram. Closer to the red stained bathtub, Illinois Delta is recuperating from the Little Rascals via the Pajama Party, while also planning the highly acclaimed Penthouse Party and of course, Spring Formal.

Intramurally speaking, Phi Psis are active. Our young, but undefeated basketball team is headed for the playoffs as the water polo team, having shined last season's trophy, is starting to practice. Looking further in the spring, our defending champion softball team will need to recruit, but Joe Leininger was quoted as saying, "As long as Ducky Davies can take the mound without any further complications, we look ahead to a great season."

In all earnest, I have saved the best for last. On January 16, Illinois Delta was privileged to initiate an exceptional group of men into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi-These 19 men promise to help Illinois Delta ride a higher and greater wave ever thought possible. With great pride, we now call these men our Brothers: James Glavin, Flossmoor; Bernard Gizzi, Morton Grove; James O'Neill, Chicago; Gary Ballesteros, Murphysboro; Greg O'Neill, Philo; Eric Branz, Elmhurst; Mike Trusner, Decatur; Al Sutherland, Mahomet; Abraham Pachikara, Murphysboro; Anthony Pasquenelli, Flossmoor; James Sanfilippo, Barrington Hills; Michael Burczak, Morton Grove; Tim Broeren, Champaign; Ken Crain, Chicago Heights; Doug Scanlan, Western Springs, and Peter Moreschi, Chicago. We look forward to the mid-semester initiations of: Jim Maurides, Glenview; Jon Taylor, Springfield; and Peter Voss, and congratulate Fraternity Educator Todd Raufeisen on a difficult, but exceptional, job well done.

This upcoming weekend we'll celebrate our Founder's Day Banquet. We would like to thank all our Brothers on the Board, and especially Chapter Advisor James Acheson, for the great concern and exemplification of Brotherhood they have all shown.

On campus early in April, Illinois Delta will sponsor the First Annual Campus Wide Bike Race. Later that month, Brothers of Illinois Delta will be honored with special awards. For nomination of the Hog Restler Award are Agriculture majors Joseph Hudgins and Joseph Ruggiero for their dedication in their respective fields, and further nominations go to Architect major David Pasquenelli for the Gold Brick Award.

Again we look forward to seeing and visiting our Brothers from around the country. Come by and see us.

Indiana

2000th Initiate

Our Chapter is proud to have initiated its 2000th member. The Brotherhood realized the importance of this event, so they decided to break tradition by having initiation in Indianapolis.

The milestone initiation ceremony was held on February 27, 1982 in a church near the Fraternity headquarters. Brother John R. Donnell, National President of Phi Kappa Psi, participated in the initiation of the Fall class. The Fall Class initiates are: Doug William Leyda, Kokomo; Brett Edwin Mann, Greenwood; John Robert Weibke, Anderson; Richard Gregory Walsh, South Bend; Robert Albert Green, Champaign, IL; John Michael Caron, Greenwood; Kevin Anthony Deloria, Marion; John Sentry Clifton, Ft. Wayne; Mark Allen Wegnor, Arlington Heights, IL, and Tony Eugene Ave. Lafayette. The reception was held at the Columbia Club. The dance was held back in Bloomington at the Chapter House.

Our seventh annual Christmas Open House went as planned. The Open House was attended by Brothers' parents, Fraternity and Sorority presidents, campus leaders, and university administrators. Doug Mohr and John Tuerf combined efforts made the annual Open House a success.

The Brotherhood and the Pi Beta Phi's pooled their efforts in collecting can goods for the needy. The philanthropic project was a success due to Steve Trick's leadership and the assistance of the Bloomington Rotary Club. This project was a new addition to the contributions the Chapter has made towards the community.

The can drive was one of three new activities. The second one was the hosting of the Alumni Interfraternity Council meetings. The AIFC meeting consisted of a squab dinner before the meeting. The AIFC is made up of alumni and the head of IFC here at Bloomington.

The Chapter also hosted a Bike Roller Race. The Roller Race was attended by an assortment of riders which were made up of primarily "Little 500" riders. Brother Beaman placed fourth in the race from our house. Brothers Gehris & Gilles tied for 5th.

The Chapter has a Brother and pledge (Devon "Todd" Rhoda and Tom Kern) on the varsity track team; also, Todd Rhoda is on the Cross Country Team.

Members of Indiana Beta continue their tradition of being active on campus. Currently we have Brothers on the Board of Aeons-Jim Tanner, Mark Oates, and Eric Knoll as Secretary of the Board of Aeons: I.U. Student Foundation—Kent Billingsley-Steering Committee and head of the Fashion show, Lee Putnam, Steering Committee, John Coleman, John Tuerf, and Tony Ave are gunners for Steering Committee; Eric Knoll, I.U.S. Budget Director, North Greek Senator, Blue Key; Mark Oates, Blue Key, Beta Gamma Sigma, I.U. "Rhode Scholar" candidate; Bob Claycomb, Director of the Mechanics Clinic. Workshop for Little 500 Riders, Brad Beaman, Riders Council; D. White, Accounting Club; Greg Gilles, the president of the Greek Ministry, Eric Ponader V. President of Student Athletic Council. And on Student Athletic Board are J. Dino Sarpa, Director, Doug S. Mohr, Chairman.

This year Indiana Beta is paired with Alpha Phi's for I.U. sing. The Alpha Phi's finished third last year. Both Chapters hope to do well this year. John Coleman is in charge of the show. Doug Mohr and Greg Walsh are in charge of the stage crew.

The preparations for the Greatest College Weekend are in gear. James T. Kirk has arranged for the "Late Show" to play after the "Little 500" is over. The Bike Team has Greg Gilles & Brad Beaman (Rider Council member) and Joe Gehris back this year. Brett Mann, Dave Shorr, Todd Lemon, and Todd Rhoda are rookie riders. The bike team has been training since September for the main event in April. The excellent riders combined with Coach Claycomb's new training philosophy gives us a good shot at first place.

Indiana Beta continues its tradition of excellence in relation to Olympic Athletes. Mark Spitz, John Kinsella, and Michael Stamn aren't the only Olympic Athletes. The house has Doug "D Clay" Moody (past first place Little & "Hall of Fame" 500 rider) trying out for the Olympic Bike Team in Colorado Springs. Good luck Doug! Scott Hamilton is touring Europe playing World Team Handball. Scott is another Olympic hopeful. Good Luck Scott!

The beginning of this semester, the Brotherhood was shocked and saddened by the loss of Gene Lundy, long time advisor to Indiana Beta. Brother Lundy was killed in a fatal car accident on his way to work. The Chapter house can't express enough appreciation for the time and effort he gave to Phi Kappa Psi.

Goodbye Winter!

After hibernating through another winter in the foothills of the Allegheny Mountains, the Brothers of Penn Nu are getting the most out of the longer days and warmer temperatures of spring.

Leading the members of the Chapter is our current GP Don Thomas. Don is leaving his mark through his leadership and organizational skills. Serving with Don as officers are Curt Schroder, VGP; Bob Marchesani, AG; Ernie Soter, P; Ed Pudlowski, SG; Jeff Thomas, BG; George Novak, Hi; Bill Firestone, Hod; and Ray Kraus, Phu.

Our lone initiate into the Brotherhood during the fall semester, Richard C. Murphy Jr. of Easton, PA, has firmly established himself as an active force in our Chapter's affairs. Rich is serving as our activities and assistant membership chairman this semester, and has filled the positions well.

A major addition to our Chapter during this semester was our acquiring the services of Kenneth P. Almes as Penn Nu's second Advisor. "Kenchy" is a founding Brother of our Chapter, owning Penn Nu badge number one. He will work with our Chapter's original advisor Bert A. Smith, Nebraska '39, in providing the Brothers with the wisdom and experience that only an alumnus can provide.

On the social scene, Penn Nu is enjoying another semester's worth of good times including Valentine, St. Patrick's Day, and hat mixers, along with the revelry that accompanies our weekly Friday night happy hours. Social Chairmen Ray Kraus, Mike Bova and Gary Lesnick are to be congratulated for somehow satisfying the Chapter's diverse musical taste at our social functions.

As always, Penn Nu is doing its share of community service work. In February, our third annual Superdance '82, which benefited the Muscular Dystrophy Association, set a tri-state area record for dancer participation. Looking ahead, plans are being finalized for our annual Phi Psi "500," which we are organizing with the help of Delta Zeta Sorority.

With the coming of spring, the Brothers of our Chapter always look forward to "Uncle Bert's Weekend," a Penn Nu tradition that consistently draws a big alumni turnout. Named for our endeared Chapter Advisor, Bert Smith, the weekend was originally held at his vacation home at Indian Lake, in Somerset County.

After "Uncle Bert" sold the house, the event has been held at Brother Tim Perkey's family vacation home, which is located directly across the lake from the property that Mr. Smith owned.

After a disappointing fall semester, the Phi Psi intramural program appears to be getting back on the track. Following strong finishes in volleyball and table tennis, our sights are set on capturing our 4th consecutive IUP intramural water polo crown. The Phi Psi dynasty shows no sign of ending, considering the fact that our "B" squad met our "A" team in last year's championship match.

The Brothers of Penn Nu wish Brother Curt Schroder the best of luck on his internship in Washington D.C. this summer with Congressman Bob Walker from Pennsylvania's 16th Congressional District.

And finally, the members of our Chapter wish all Phi Psis an enjoyable summer and hope we see you in August at the GAC in Atlanta

On Top

Iowa Alpha began 1982 after a very successful first semester. Under the leadership of Steve Flood, GP, we retained our plaque for the highest fraternity gradepoint on campus. This is the fifth semester in the past three years that we have received this recognition. Our Chapter is also leading the entire University in intramural points. Heading in to the second semester, we are currently 100 points ahead of the nearest competitor.

Another point that Iowa Alpha is proud to announce is the initiation of fifteen Brothers. Robert Love, Rock Island, IL; Thomas Swift, Des Moines; Scott Stephens, Deerfield, IL; Eric Jones, Libertyville, IL; Brian Cooper, Des Moines; Jeffrey Davick, Cedar Rapids; John Guhin, Bettendorf; Brian Beh, Andrew Miller, and Christian Hanson, Des Moines; Charles Wright, Joliet, IL; Thomas Dailey, Waterloo; Thomas Glavan, Joliet, IL; Raymond Kivett, Des Moines; and Marc Collins, Iowa City were initiated on January 22, 1982. Fraternity Educators Doug Stutesman and Todd Lincoln did an excellent job with these men and should be commended for their effort.

Early February marked the election of new officers: David Lind, GP; Scott Winterbottom, VGP; Marc Collins, P; Jeffrey Davick, AG; and Kurt Osmundson, BG. We at Iowa Alpha are confident that the leadership of these men will lead us to continual success.

Our Chapter would also like to recognize four Brothers who have been accepted at professional schools at the University of Iowa. Daniel P. Bartlett, Scott Donner, and Dave Hansen will attend Dental School, while Tom Thomas will be off to Law School next year. These men are part of a group of sixteen Brothers who have been accepted for professional studies in the last three years.

We at Iowa Alpha are thankful for a very successful year and extend our best wishes to all Phi Psi Chapters across the nation.

Growing Stronger

The Brothers of Iowa Beta started spring semester by initiating thirteen new members into our Brotherhood. They include: Peter Benson, Omaha, NE; Rick Brauer, Webster City; Tom Correll, Grinnel; Todd Goeders, Manson; Dave Jorgensen, Iowa City; Bruce Lemons, Cedar Falls; Jeff Morgan, Des Moines; Dan Nicholas, Iowa City; Mike Riordan, Barrington, IL; John Sandoz and Joel Seaton from Wheaton, IL; Mark Thomas, Spirit Lake; and Todd Wahler, Palatine, II

The beginning of spring semester also brought the pledging of three fine men. They are: Jefff Dewitte, Rock Island, IL; Mike Larimer, Moline, IL; and John Swift, Arlington Hts., IL. New officers for the semester were also elected at this time. Those sworn in were: Thomas B. Fischer, GP; J.

David Pepper, VGP; Robert D. Hermsmeier, AG; David D. Ingwersen, BG; Todd R. Wahler, Hod; John W. Sandoz, Phu; and Mark K. Scherer, Hi.

Along with the lovely ladies of Alpha Xi Delta, we Iowa Betans are busily working for another first place float in this spring's colorful VEISHEA parade. Brother Goeders is the parade chairman this year. Five other Brothers held campus positions during Greek Week 1982. Craig Ringstad and Robert DeGowin were on Greek Week Central Committee, while Miles Moore, Rick Larsen and Mark Thomas served on sub-committees. Brother Craig Marr was elected Vice president of the Judicial Board of IFC. Brother Tom Fischer was selected as Vice president of Fraternity Buyers Association and also student advisor for Homecoming 1982.

Once again we'd like to thank all of our alumni for their interest and support of Iowa Beta. Together we can continue to have a strong and successful chapter.

Maryland Alpha moves into spring with another successful Rush, thanks to Co-Chairmen Mark Lazarus and Brian Powers. The pledge class of 17 includes: David Abramson, Tenafly, NJ; Laurence Milgrim. Alpine, NJ; Anthony Massey, Metairie, LA; Richard Gordon, Mamaroneck, NY; Hiren Patel, East Walpole, MA; Michael Slack, Media, PA; Kyle Cunningham, York, PA; David Epstein, Yorktown Heights, NY; Brian Mullan, Chicago, IL; Kyle Upton, Metuchen, NJ; Michael Abele, Andover, MA; Lawrence Volz, West Chester, PA; David Kagan, New York, NY; Shawn Messick, La Canada, CA; Lawrence Kaminsky, Parsippany, NJ; Bradley Roth, Monsey, NY; and Jay Todd Miller, Potomac, MD.

Our Rush parties, thanks to Social Chairman Daniel Lavery, were once again the most popular on campus. The Grand Son of a Beach Party, the Hotel Party, the Arabian Knights Party, and the Pre-Valentine's Day Massacre were all widely attended by enthusiastic crowds. Maryland Alpha remains an intramural athletic power, competitive in all sports and battling for the overall leadership. An Alumni Reunion is scheduled for Homecoming Weekend with a reception on April 25. The arrival of warmer weather is the time for the Brothers of Maryland Alpha to sizzle as the hottest fraternity on campus.

Continued Progress

With a new semester upon us in Lawrence, the Kansas Alpha Chapter has plunged into it led by a new set of capable officers who were elected on Nov. 16: GP, Ellis Rainey; VGP, Kip Harkness; P, Mark Gunter; AG, Mike Doering; BG, James Pope; SG, Andy Flynn; Hi, Kevin Mebust; Phu, Tom Wingate; Hod, Phil Andre; and IFC Rep., Derek Davenport

At the outset of the new term, we added two young men to our existing pledge class: Ted Lister, Lenexa; and David Keithley, South Dakota.

Dressed in white tie (well, all but one) the Kansas Alpha Seniors are photographed enjoying the University of Kansas Chapter's Christmas Buffet.

On Feb. 13, 23 men were initiated into the esoteric traditions of Phi Kappa Psi: Paul Baker, Mike Bizal, Kelly Blackman, Denny Boresow, Scott Cooper, David Cunningham, Phil Hayden, Doug Hiemstra, Steve Huff, Kevin Kelly, Bill Linscott, Mason Linscott, Rich McDonald, Jim Metzger, Steve Osborn, Brian Reed, Reid Roberts, Bruce Sears, Mike Steinbacher, Lance Swearingen, Len Taulbee, Terry Warman, and Bill Winter.

Following the ceremonies, we held the traditional Initiation Party which was our tribute to an outstanding group of new Brothers. Continuing our superior social program, led by social chairmen Matt Rester and David Shapiro, we had a very successful Christmas Buffet, and are looking forward to the Jefferson Duo with the Phi Gamma Deltas (Mar. 6) and our Spring Formal on Apr. 3.

Our excellence on the athletic field has always been influential on the campus intramural program; this year has been no exception. In football, we were narrowly defeated in the finals of the intramural championships, thus earning second place out of the 23 fraternities. Basketball has just begun to roll with us winning our first two regular season games. We are looking forward to the playoffs and the defense of our first place finish of last year.

Along with the Gamma Phi Beta sorority, we hosted the 1st annual "Snowball Softball" tournament on Nov. 7. The tournament went over extremely well and proceeds went to the American Diabetes Association

Shortly after returning to the books, we invited our mothers up for the weekend of Jan. 16. Arranged by our housemother, Sally Alifano, the time spent was enjoyable for both the mothers and their sons.

Rush is an integral part of this semester and got off to a roaring start with our Casino Party on Feb. 6. We entertained some 40 prospective rushees and are on track for a successful rush program under the leadership of Brad Stanley and Stacey Harding.

Although dates and other particulars have not yet been set, the Chapter is gearing up for Phi Psi "500." Tim Caddone and Andy Flynn are coordinating our efforts in this yearly event, which includes the traditional sorority tricycle race and acompanying all-campus party. It should be another successful philanthropy for the Chapter and the participating charitable organization.

Finally, we want to thank all of the alumni for their spiritual and financial support. Without this support, it would not be possible to further our strong bond of Brotherhood.

Running Smoothly

Penn Theta has begun this semester with another fine pledge class. As is traditional, the twelve men were pledged on the first weekend back from winter break. Thanks to rush chairmen Andy Aghajanian, Andy Davison, and Robert Micera, our '82 pledge class will consist of Pennsylvanians Steve Morse, Allentown; Michael Murphy, Wayne; Ron Risch, Saxonburg; and James Viner, Villanova; New Jerseyites Karl Geiselhart, Andover; Dave Katko, South Amboy; Thabani Muller, Glen Rock; Bob Pursell Middletown; Larry Sheiner, Hillsdale; and Tim Snope, Flemington; and John Pappajohn, from Washington, D.C. and Luis Valledor, from Rio Piedras, Puerto Rico. They will be learning the ways of Phi Kappa Psi under the apt tutelage of Fraternity Educators Ed Opatkiewicz and Kevin Shea.

Senior Steve Wilson has been awarded the Solon E. Summerfield Award. Steve has held the office of President for two semesters while representing Phi Psi in the ASLG. Elections held in December have resulted in the following new Chapter Officers: Cole E. Brundage, GP; John Walko, VGP; Tito Fernandez, BG; Michael De Angelis, AG; Andy Davison, SG; Michael Sutka, P; Steve Wilson, Hod; Steve Buschel, Phu; and A. Kevin Cimei, Hi.

Penn Theta continues to excel in all campus activities. Academically our Chapter is ranked second out of seventeen fraternities. Our I.M. teams started sluggishly but are now moving steadily upwards in the ranking. Our intramural basketball team is undefeated to date while Tito Fernandez and T. J. Holden captured second place in racketball doubles.

After several disappointing football seasons, the Lafayette Leopards made a startling turn about. Phi Psi's own Ed Opatkiewicz, the starting tight-end, and John Walko, an offensive tackle, were part of this 9-2 season. Opatkiewicz finished off his impressive three year varsity career in an upset victory game over arch-rival Lehigh. Walko still has one more promising year ahead of him. On the baseball diamond this spring Phi Psi is represented by "Mel" Bridgman and Gary "The Legend" Hageman. Both saw action last year as freshmen pitchers and are looking forward to another successful campaign.

Our first Phi Psi "500," held last spring, proved to be a huge success. The race, which was run for the benefit of St. Anthony's Youth Center, raised over $600. Hopefully this year's take for the charity will be even greater. In another fund raising event the Brotherhood ran several hundred laps to raise money for the United Way Foundation. Two alumni, Steve Prevoznak and Reese Doughty, contributed notably to the Phi Psi cause by completing several elegant and unique circuits around the track.

Once again Cherry Alley produced a substantial turn-out of alumni. A strong connection between Brothers and alumni has helped to reinforce Penn Theta's life long Fraternal commitment. Their continued support is greatly appreciated by the Brotherhood.

Finally, we must make mention of the progress being made by several Brothers in their quest for the coveted Volkman Award. This year's most notable contenders include Jeff Dutt, Steve Berg, John Walko, A. Kevin Cimei, and the perennial favorite "Stretch" Sutka. Good luck, and may the, ugh, best man win.

Louisiana State Growing

Louisiana Alpha is proud to announce the addition of 5 men into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi. They are: Herb Bendillo, Randall Freeman, Christopher Randazzo, Robert Nance, and Peter Vetters. We are also pleased to announce the addition of 3 pledges: Jude Cambise, Paul "Bull" Nassaur, and Wilbert "Rocky" Clause. All of our new pledges are from the New Orleans area.

Officer elections for the Spring semester were held providing us with the leadership of Brothers Herbe Bendillo, GP; Kirk Andrews, VGP; Mike Hunnicutt, P; Randy Freeman, AG; Rob Nance, BG; Chris Randazzo, SG; Peter Vetters, Hod; and Randy Little, Phu.

Congratulations are in order for Brother Kirk Andrews who has been recently appointed the Director of Consumer Protection for the Student Government Association.

We began this semester with a combination theme party . . . a Welcome Back/ Jersey-Gymshort party. The party was held at Kirk's apartment and we all had a good time. Past GP, Charlie Salvaggio, was persuaded by the Chapter to go swimming after announcing his engagement to Ruth Stanly.

The Founder's Day celebration, which was a gathering of members and alumni, was celebrated in the usual Louisiana Alpha fashion. We began the celebration with an old fashion "cochon-d-lait"—(a pig roast). The celebration ended with a Phi Psi sing-a-long.

As usual Mardi Gras was a mega blowout, but unfortunately classes began the next

Therefore, we would like to extend an invitation to all Phi Psis coming to Mardi Gras in the future to contact us in Baton Rouge. Even though we don't have a house on campus many of us are from New Orleans and there would be no problem putting up anyone for a few nights.

We are looking forward to a planned exchange with the Alpha Delta Pi sorority. This exchange will be a combination picnic and softball game. We are also anticipating an exchange with the ZTA sorority.

Finally we would like to thank the Brothers of Virginia Beta for the hospitality shown to four of our Brothers on a road trip late last semester.

Homecoming Award

On December 5th, Minnesota Gamma Chapter initiated five men into Phi Kappa Psi; Dale Phillips, Nicholas Luciano, Dan Bjonkstand, David Skarupa, and Shawn Curley, all from Minneapolis.

On October 24th, our float won Mankato State University President's Award in the Homecoming parade. This winter started off with an election of officers: Jose Luciano, GP; Peter Durin, VGP; Jeff Oelfke, AG; and David Skarupa, BG.

Our spring rush is comparing well to our fall rush already, and we are looking for a very prosperous spring class.

Future plans are an alumni reunion in the cities, on March 26th, and big plans for Founders Day, May 8th are going on right now. We would like to hear from alumni for ideas and activities for Founders Day.

A Year to Celebrate

After returning from a month long Christmas vacation, all the Brothers were eager to get back to work and also ready to enjoy the second semester. As usual, the first two weeks of the new semester means fraternity rush and Ohio Lambda was right in the mainstream of traffic hosting over 700 men on the first two nights of rush. As the two week ordeal came to a close, we knew we had come out of it with great success as we pledged thirty-one oustanding young men. They are: Gary Alcock, Roland Emanuel, John Hurley, and Gregory Daily from Chicago; Dave Simpson and Daniel Newell from Cincinnati; Brett Butler, Frank Eagle, Tracey Green, Tim Kirkham, and Michael Oberndorf from Cleveland; John Foster, Greg Thomas, and Thad Toothman from Columbus; Michael Vance and Timothy O'Neil from Dayton; Greg Glosser and David Taylor from Toldeo; Kirk Bailey from Adrian, MI; William Morey from Canfield: Stephen Pike from Fairport, NY; Doug Sawyer from Grand Rapids; Greg Mulach from Granite City, IL; Scott Koenig from Lima; Guy Hart from Nashville; Jeff Miller from Newtown, CT; Andrew McMillin from Ontario, Canada; Jeff Folker from Oxford; Dave Amstutz from West Lafayette, IN; Chris Ebert from Willard; and Michael Bishop from Worcester, MA. I think congratulations are in order for Robert "Bee" Miller and Jeff Kosse who did a fantastic job as rush chairmen. With their outstanding leadership and guidance, we were able to pledge 31 strong individuals who will someday become the backbone of Ohio Lambda. Also Scott Gipson and Mark Foster deserve a lot of credit for being Fraternity Educators and they did a fine job of instilling the beliefs and values that comes with being a Brother of Phi Kappa Psi. After three months of a positive and anti-hazing pledge program, one can be self-assured that these fine young men will be a big benefit to Phi Psi and proud bearers of the badge.

Unfortunately, in order to meet deadlines with THE SHIELD and the fact that we have not had elections yet, I cannot list the new officers but you can be sure that they will be listed in the next issue in the fall. But after a year of devoted leadership, William Voegele will be handing over the presidential gavel. Will has done an excellent job of leading our Chapter and helping us maintain our reputation as one of Miami's finest fraternities! Also congratulations are in order for other outgoing officers. They are: Jeff Stone, VGP; William Putnam, P; Dave Lewis, AG; Scott Edson, BG; Mark Ricketts, SG; Brian Smith, Hod; Jim Jones, Phu; and Daniel Willmann, Hi. They all deserve our thanks for a job well done!

This semester also saw Scott Gipson take honors in the annual Delta Gamma "Anchor Splash" Beauty Contest. Along with this, coach Andy Oliver put together the fraternity swim team this year who competed in Anchor Splash.

As second semester started, we continued an excellent social pace with an Alpha Omicron Pi "Pajama Party" and a Delta Gamma "Talent Night." We are also looking forward to a "Toga" party with the Chi Omega's, a "Wrong" party with the Thetas, and our annual square dance with the Delta Zeta's. We are also busily planning our formal which will take place sometime in April.

In athletics this semester, our basketball team, coached by Tom Bath, presently has a 4-1 record, and is most likely headed to the playoffs. Our hockey team is also 4-1 and with the coaching of Brad Gair, Mark Foster, and Doug Dibble, it's a cinch that we'll make the playoffs. Also Phi Psi's have been training for this year's 20/20 bike race, an event which Phi Psi's have a tradition of having more teams qualifying to compete in the event than any other fraternity on campus. This year seems to be no different since we want the trophy to stay at the Phi Psi house!

Despite the busy first semester, congratulations are in order as we moved to third place in scholastic rankings among fraternities. We also raised $1300 in our first annual Phi Psi "500" soapbox derby with the money going to Cystic Fibrosis.

Ohio Lambda also continued its tradition of campus leadership with Brothers Andy Oliver, Jim Wilcox, Jeff Kosse, John Schafer, Joe Tanner, and pledges Jeff Folker and Mike Vance who were chosen to be members of the Miami University Student Foundation. Also, congrats to Mike Kelly and Chris Collier who were inducted into Beta Alpha Psi, an accounting honorary.

This year Ohio Lambda saw some significant additions take place to the Fraternity house. The Lenningtons donated a baby grand piano and it looks beautiful in the living room. Also, the Brothers built a professional-type bar and rathskeller in the basement and it has added to the social entertaining area of the house. We are extremely appreciative of the support we have received from Phi Psi Headquarters, alumni, and parents.

Congratulations are due Mark Foster and Brad Gair who recently were accepted to Ohio State's Dental School and to Tom Gridley who was accepted to U.S. Air Force Flight School.

Also, an important reminder is to inform all alumni that our "ten year reunion" celebration will take plce next fall during Homecoming. All alumni will be informed early next fall of further details.

Finally, as the semester comes to a close, we wish all of our Ohio Lambda seniors the best of luck as they enter a new and exciting part of their lives. Remember, as you joined Phi Psi, it was just a dream, but as you leave, it has become a reality!

Brothers Get Involved

Winter quarter marks the start of Greek Week planning. This year, unlike any recent, the Brothers of Michigan Beta are participating with unmatched enthusiasm. Five men have taken on responsibilities from Greek Feast to public affairs. This year Edward Sadilek is serving on the Song Fest Committee. Together with Steve Schwarzbek, the Chapter song fest officer, they have paired us up with the Alpha Gamma Delta Sorority for Greek Sing. Victor Cavataio, our resident HRI major and house steward, has decided to offer his expertise to the Greek Week activities. Vic is serving on the committee for Greek Feast. John Bogdziewicz, the Chapter spark plug and live wire, has decided to tap some of his energy into the Greek Week games. John has some excellent ideas and his position on the Games Committee will certainly trigger some enthusiasm into Greek competition, especially the Phi Psi tug-of-war.

This year Paul Highfield has decided to get especially involved in Greek life. Paul is not only serving as our newly elected Chapter president but is on the Greek Involvement Committee and is also chairman for Greek Week photography. Paul and the other Brothers mentioned above will undoubtedly be a credit to Phi Kappa Psi and a spark to the esprit de' corps within our Chapter house by their initiative.

This term's elections were held on 15 February '82 and our new officers are as follows: Paul Highfield, GP; John Bogdziewicz, VGP; Mark F. Miller, BG; Mike Hudson, SG; Duncan Moran, Phu; and Mike Rankin, Hi. Among the many ideas proposed by the new officers is the development of a strong committee and subcommittee system.

Late last fall another Brother of Michigan Beta was also working hard within the Greek system. Jon Moran was elected Vice President of the Interfraternity Council on Internal Affairs. Jonathon has been doing a good job and has just recently hosted an IFC meeting at our Chapter house.

Winter quarter has turned out an excellent pledge class. Six new pledges were sworn in to the ideals of Phi Kappa Psi: Neal Young, Northville: Rich Mcnulty, Howell; Dave Farmer, Muskegon; Dana Brault, Rochester; John Arundal, Portage; and Greg Germann, Bloomfield Hills. All have demonstrated a great enthusiasm for Greek life. On 12 February '82 the pledges staged their pledge raid. As each marked Brother unsuspectingly walked home from his Friday class the pledges abducted them and drove off to Northwestern University in Illinois. The pledge raid turned out well and all "kidnapped" brothers made it back to Michigan Beta safe the next day.

The final event of February was Founders

Day celebrated on the 24th. The entire Chapter along with local and not so local alumni chartered a bus to the University Club in Detroit. En Route to Detroit we stopped in Ann Arbor to rendezvous with our Colony at the University of Michigan. Twenty-two Michigan Alpha's joined us from Ann Arbor and then we all proceeded to enjoy the food and spirits. The evening ended with some good 'ole Phi Psi songs.

Going to the Top

During the past winter, many activities transpired at Minnesota Beta, despite the record cold temperatures and the large amounts of snow we received. We began with initiation, in which we are proud to announce eleven new Brothers as part of our Chapter. From Minneapolis and its suburbs are: Dan Lagermeier, Brad Bonewell, Mark Webert, Charles Phillips, Eric Lunas, James Weiler, and Rick Ollerman. From St. Paul we have Robert Page and Eric Crandall. We are also proud to have Pat Griffiths, Mankato, and John Sheehy of Milwaukee. Our spring rush should be strong with Paul Mason as our Rush Chairman and Randy Quale taking the position of the Fraternity Educator.

Soon after initiation we held elections. Our newly elected officers are: Hugh Kennedy, GP; Marty Basset, VGP; Dan Lagermeier, AG; Dave Hunt, P; Paul Mason, BG; Brad Bonewel, Hod; Eric Lunas, Phu; Robert Page, SG; and Jeff Corbun, Hi. We were glad to see so many Brothers running for these offices, as well as the overall interest in the elections themselves.

Following elections, we turned our attention to "Greek Week," and we performed respectively in every event, placing third overall, first in Volley Ball, third in Broom Ball and fifth in "Talent Fest." All of the Brothers gave a great deal of support. We are especially proud of Brother Dennis Dasow who was overall chairman. Under his direction everything went very well.

One big philanthropy project in which the men of Minnesota Beta are proud to be part of is "Campus Carnival," better known as "Carni." This event is the largest student run fund raiser on any campus in the United States. In the past two years we have taken a first and third place overall, and hope to do just as well this year.

Founder's Day was held March 5, and it was a great success, due to the turnout of our alumni. The Brothers of Minnesota Beta would like to thank the alumni for their support, and invite them to come visit the house at any time.

1st In Sports

Mississippi Alpha begins a prosperous new year as the leader in overall sports. The Chapter basketball team is currently in the playoffs, after a recent holiday tournament victory. The Chapter also posted the second highest grades on campus for last semester.

The Mississippi Alpha Initiation Banquet was held January 23. The newly initiated

Brothers are as follows: Joe Burns, Nashville, TN; Wesley Compton, Ocean Springs, Mike Fountian, Gautier, David Hamilton, Lexington, KY; Jim Hancock and Tv Hardin, Memphis, TN; Ken Hodges, Greenwood, Chris Jones, Monroe, LA: David Laser, Jonesboro, AR; Brian Lee, Benton, Mike Lee, Jackson, Mark Maffet, Biloxi, Mike McGee, Memphis, TN; Nate Ratcliff, Kirksville, MO; Bruce Smith, Wesson, Guy Stout, Monroe, LA; Kevin Underwood, Greenwood, Robert Wood, Ocean Springs and Mike Wright, Calhoun City. The Chapter also pledged two additional men: Hank Kuehn, Ocean Springs and Barry Shelton, Tunelo

The Chapter's annual Spring Formal will be at the Hyatt Regency in Memphis on February 20.

Enthusiasm Continues

After a very successful fall semester, the men of Missouri Alpha returned to campus in January to initiate twelve new members into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi. These men included: John Finnegan, Scott Matthews and Eric Mullikin, Chesterfield; William Mansfield, Tom Faulhaber and Victor Kelly, St. Louis; Gregg Ivers, Atlanta, GA; Jeff Hall, Clinton; Kevin Short, Kirksville; Gary Hill and Gordon Hill, Pleasant Hill; and John Amick, Kansas City.

In addition to these initiates, Missouri Alpha was happy to welcome the former GP of Georgia Alpha, Brother Scott Peacocke. Peacocke, a transfer from the University of Georgia, is majoring in journalism at Missouri.

The spring semester also brought four new pledges to Missouri Alpha. They include Alan Adams and John Copeland, St. Louis; James Darr, Kirksville; and Geoff Tolley, Amherst, NY.

For the spring semester Missouri Alpha was once again under the leadership of President John Abbott. Other officers for the semester included: Scott Wade, VGP; Scott Diener, AG; Randy Reiners, P; Ken Newman, BG; Ted Huff, SG; Steve Maass, Hod; Mike Sawicki, Phi; Tim Mankus, Hi; and Jamie Underhill, Pledge Advisor.

Despite the bitter cold and heavy snows, the Phi Psis at Mizzou were quite active on campus in intramurals and on the social scene.

On campus Ted Barr and Scott Debandt were selected as chairmen for "Greek Week" committees, while Barr, Scott Diener and Ken Newman continued to serve on executive student advisory boards. Gary Pener covered high school basketball for the local paper.

With spring came more intramural competition. MO Alpha was extremely competitive in basketball, swimming, soccer and wrestling, placing in all four sports. At press time Missouri Alpha was looking forward to an overall finish in the top ten out of some 35 competing teams.

On the activities scene the Chapter was once again very busy. Various events included: exchanges with the Kappa Alpha Theta, Delta Gamma and Gamma Phi Beta sororities; Mom's weekend; Greek Week Sing with the Alpha Gamma Delta sorority; Founders Day celebrations in both St. Louis and Kansas City on February 19; spring formal on April 17, and "Cabaret," our first large rush party of the year, on March 6.

Activities this summer will include rush functions in St. Louis, Kansas City and here at the house in Columbia.

Once again, the men of Missouri Alpha would like to extend an open invitation to all Brothers and alumni to come visit the house this fall. The doors are always open.

Coming On Strong

Fall Semester '81 was a big improvement for New Jersey Beta. Our membership increased by more than 80% to a total of 27 hard-working Brothers, making us the largest fraternity on campus. We are looking forward to a fantastic Spring semester, led by our new officers:

GP Leo Gotleib
VGP Keith Anderson
P John Williams
BG Joe Kody
AG Lee Stein
SG Patrick J. Browne
Hod William Dooley

Hod William Dooley Phu Jed Noah Hi Jo Sciara

Also, congratulations go to new Brothers Tom Hartman, Kevin Scheimreif, Joe Sciara, Jed Noah, Robert Taurosa, Lee Stein, Brian O'Kane, Joe Kody, Mike Reynolds, Joe Appello, William Dooley, and Joe Lemons.

We are also proud of our Chapter's GPA of 2.79, the highest on campus, and hope to raise it in Spring '82. Our GPA, membership, and positions in student government are fast making us the most respected fraternity on campus.

Last semester we swept the volleyball league and obstacle course, and retained last year's football supremacy. There were a few tight moments but pinpoint passing and "Noahs Lark" defense saved the day.

Upcoming activities include our annual Spring Formal, to be held on April 23rd in Squires Pub, a ski trip to Vernon Valley, and our basketball and softball teams shot at making this an all Phi Psi year in sports. Most important, however, is Founders Day, scheduled for Feb. 19th. We hope that all the alumni and active Brothers who attended this event had a fantastic time.

Many thanks also must be given to alumni Brother Kivior, who rescued many of our past Pledgemasters paddles from the old house. Brother Kivior also saved the shield that hung on the front door of the house. Repainted and refurbished, it now hangs in a place of honor for all to see.

To all our alumni, we thank you for your generous donations and the support you have shown for this new, fast growing, and ambitious Chapter. Keep in touch guys, we'll see you at the Brighton!!

Thank You, Alumni

The spring semester of Nebraska Alpha has proven to be very promising with the initiation of 17 new Brothers: Dave Kennedy, Bob Pazderka, Craig Kinnison, Mark Scudder, John Trouba, Dave Schmitz, Brent Hintz, Chris Mangan, Dan Harshman, Bob Armstrong, John Leader, Eric Anderson, Jeff Lindell, Mike Jorgenson, Jeff Petersen, Shawn Olson and Carl Falcone. We are sure they will uphold the Phi Psi tradition of leadership.

At our recent initiation banquet, we presented some of our annual awards. Our Alumnus of the Year was presented to Dave Myers of Lincoln. Undergraduate of the Year was given to Bob Gregg of Omaha. Mark Pope of Omaha was honored by receiving the Tim Martin Award in memory of our late Brother Tim. We are proud to honor these Brothers for their time and concern for a strong Chapter.

The alumni are hard at work again restoring the Chapter home. Landscaping along the east side of the house will make that area even more attractive. First floor remodeling with new carpet and new furniture will be greatly appreciated by the Brothers. We are very thankful for the Alumni Association and the strong support they give us.

Chapter officers for 1982 are Dave Mitchell, GP; Dave Goos, VGP; Joe Casey, AG; Mark Fesler, P; Scott Williamson, BG; Henry Schonewise, SG; Dwight Naber, Phu; and Mike Guenther, Hi.

On campus we are recognized as one of the leading fraternities when it comes to athletics. We are in first place in team sports which is determined by points scored for each individual event entered. Our volleyball team won All University for the second year in a row. The football team placed third in All University competition. Also, Brother Bill Goa was named Intramural Athlete of the Month for December and January by the director of intramurals.

Summer rush activities will be upon us soon, and many rush parties are planned throughout the summer. We have many good rushees from across the state, and if any alumni have any recommendations, please contact us.

Nebraska Alpha would like to wish all other Chapters and Colonies a good summer, and if you're in the area, feel free to stop by . . . you're always welcomed.

Northwestern

Academic & Athletic

The Brothers of Illinois Alpha are entering the warmer period of the year at Northwestern looking back on the successfull culmination of the Fall, with our initiation and on a well-rounded social calendar as well as successfull involvement in the University's activities by a number of the Brothers.

Winter quarter began with the end of Fraternity education and the initiation of seventeen new Brothers. These young men comprise another of a long line of fine Illinois Alpha initiating classes. They are: David A. Arai, Barrington; Neil B. Lilley, Prairie Village, KA; Frank C. Norman, Edina, MN; Stephen R. Olsen, Wheaton, IL; Michael S. Weingarten, Houston, TX; Andrew C. Deckas, Edina, MN; Eric R. Coleman, Beverly Hills, CA; Andrew B. Ellis, Stamford, CN; Steven T. Romick, Encino, CA; Douglas B. Gilbert, Maplewood, NJ; John B. Greenberg, St. Louis, MO; Lawrence M. Rubey, Centerville, OH; Scott P. Shepherd, Hillsborough, CA; Jeffrey W. Colin, Los Angeles, CA; Ronald P. King, Ada, MN; Kevin P. Dowling, Springfield, IL; and Richard F. Seyferlich, Elmhurst, IL. The last of these initiates possesses Chapter Badge number 1484, and the Brothers are eagerly anticipating that ever closer day when we can go over the prestigious 1500 mark.

Soon after initiation the Brotherhood held elections in which we selected a new set of officers. Those holding chapter offices are: Michael T. McCormick, GP; Neal A. DeYoung, VGP; Timothy W. Joranko, AG; James H. Windsor, BG; Frank C. Norman, Hod; Frederick G. Shedd, Hi; Kevin P. Dowling, Phu; and Dale J. Raar, P. So far these officers have served us commendably and we are sure the rest of their terms will be just as successfull.

Winter quarter found the Phi Psis involved in a number of University activities. Prominent among these were our Brothers involved in the annual Dolphin Show, with Steve Stark and Paul Burtis involved in directing and backstage (both Steve and Paul are now working on Northwestern's Waa-Mu Show—Steve as Assistant Producer and Paul as Head Stage Manager). We also entered two Brothers in the University's annual charity Dance Marathon. Both Kip Perry and Scott Shepherd completed the 30 continuous hours with little more than shaky knees and bags under their eyes.

Founders' Day at Illinois Alpha meant a day at the slopes in Wisconsin as our annual ski trip was again our most successful winter quarter social event. Our biggest social event of the year—Heaven & Hell (our annual all campus party for charity) is set for late April and looks to once again be Northwestern's most highly attended fraternity party. One campus magazine called Heaven & Hell N.U.'s best party of the year.

Illinois Alpha started early in Spring Rush with several functions during late winter quarter and we are hoping these efforts will lead to the formation of another fine group of young men to be connected with Phi Psi by the coming summer.

In sports, winter quarter saw John Enquist in the pool for the Wildcat swim team and Robert MacMurray and Scott Shepherd leading the crowds at N.U. basketball games as yell leaders. Spring has meant baseball and track for Northwestern's athletes and Phi Psi has found itself once again represented on both squads. Brothers John Trautwein, Blake Lynch, Paul Tichy, Mark Kirby, and Timothy Joranko are playing baseball for the 'Cats while Dale Raar manages the team. Brother Rich Seyferlich is running track for N.Y.

The Chapter is one of several involved in a new Greek Counselor program at N.U.

where a member of the Chapter is being trained in personal interaction, counseling, and University awareness in order to be a special aide to the Brothers' adjustment to campus life and to have a better knowledge of University opportunities.

The Brothers are also involved in an oncall platelet donation program where we are registered at a local hospital in case of a need for blood in an emergency.

Academically, Phi Psis are prominent on the dean's list and honoraries and have thus far been very successful in applications for law, medical, business, and graduate schools.

The Brotherhood of Illinois Alpha is looking forward to the tropical June weather with pride in its accomplishments so far this year and with anticipation of successful activity in the rest of the year, both in school and during the summer.

Marks 1500th Initiate

Things are changing at Ohio Delta and we're excited about it!

New officers elected in January are: Mark Steele, GP (back for another term); Scott Harris, First VGP; Alec McCurry, Second VGP; Jeffrey Bailey, AG; Steve Gilbert, BG; Cornelius Boersma IV, P; Jim Wyman, SG; John Gerzma, Hod; Scott Sutherland, Phu; John Sheley, Hi.

Drew Fisher was elected social chairman, and Doug Warmolts was elected rush chairman. Fraternity Educators for spring are Greg McCormick, Jeffrey Pluncket, Jeffrey Bailey, and Douglas Carter.

Ohio Delta welcomes winter quarter initiates Jeffrey Warmolts, Carl Miller, and Philip Mara, Columbus; Tim Turrittin, Worthington; Jim Beisel, Akron; Dave Wilson, Toledo; Chris Howerton, Mansfield; Anthony Tong-Villanueva, Marysville; Chris Halenar, Bellaire; Craig Smith, Elida; Douglas Knight, Princeton, NJ; Bruce Orendorf, Peoria, IL; and Jerry Milner, New Haven, IN.

There's a new era dawning at Ohio Delta. The 1500th initiate will join the Fraternity in May and we would like to take this time to invite all the Brothers back for this most historic event. Pledges for this spring quarter's 1500th initiating class include: Sean Kesterson, Columbus; Kirk McCoy, Reynoldsburg; William Oldfield, D. Ashley Lonsdale, and Phil Marlowe, Akron; Michael Amann and Joseph Heyd, Cincinnati; Tim O'Connor, Centerville; Mark Lowe, Marysville; David Novotony, Amherst; Christopher Vito, Wheelersburg; Sean McCormick, E. Palestine; and Craig Hutchins, Englishtown, NJ.

Ohio Delta is also proud of the accomplishments of her individual members: Mark Steele, Solon E. Summerfield Award and Greek Week Steering Committee; Steve Gilbert, outstanding pledge; Dave Geiger, Ohio Staters Incorporated; Tony Tong and Bruce Orendorf, O.S.U. Scarlet and Grey Show; Bob Pritchard, instrumental in getting tuition rollback; Bob Rust, All Greek Choir; Kris Howerton and Tim Turrittin, USG members; Alec McCurry, IFC and initiator of the all Greek philanthropy; Scott Harris, IFC and cabinet coordinator USG; and Rob Oller, OSU Track Team.

Brother Sam Rife, our Chapter Advisor, started the first ever chapter advisor's counsel at Ohio State. Thanks Sam!

The highlight of our winter formal was the announcement of our new sweetheart, Jo Ellen Granzow, who is also a member of the Delta Gamma Sorority here at OSU.

We are proud to announce that this will be Mom Vogt's 17th year as housemother of Ohio Delta. We love you Mom!

Spring quarter graduates include: Charley Wertz, Fred Ishler, Jerry O'Neil, and Herb Postle. Congratulations to Herb Postle upon his acceptance into the College of Dentistry here at OSU.

The winter pledge class ditched to West Virginia Alpha where we received a welcome that truly exemplified the meaning of Brotherhood. All involved had a memorable time and would like to thank the Brothers down in Morgantown for their hospitality.

We are looking forward with enthusiasm to our 1500th initiation this May, and plans are underway for much celebration. We thank our alumni for their support this year, and are looking forward to seeing all of you at Founders Day.

Ohio Wesleyan

Success

The Brothers of Ohio Alpha are in great spirits this winter as we look back on a very successful fall and winter rush which enabled us to acquire some fine pledges: Douglas Cherry, Fredrick Hunger, James Sauter, Thomas Nelson from Ohio; Jeff Johnson, Mike Videtti, Howard Saxon, Jim Hedges from New York: Todd Cracas, Phil Brockelman, Bill Martin from Connecticut; Greg Donovan, Fred Wynne, Tim Elwell, Eric Dimartino, Dave White from Massachusetts; Jonathan Welch and Rich DeGiacomo from Rhode Island; Steve DiNardo, Peter Day, John Riddell, Bryan Day from Pennsylvania; Pete Krasnoff from New Jersey; Pete Baker from Illinois; Charles Evans from Washington DC; and Tony Tatersfield from Mexico City, Mexico.

These men have already proven to the Brothers that they are worthy of the Phi Kappa Psi tradition. Our entire pledge program, modified from previous years, was said to be of the best format by a recent visitor that we played host to, Gary Goldstein, a Chapter Consultant of Phi Kappa Psi. Brother Goldstein also complimented on our Chapter as one of "The premier Phi Psi houses."

Ohio Alpha has also been doing quite well athletically as we have gotten ourselves involved in both varsity and intramural sports. Both of the captains on the Ohio Wesleyan varsity tennis team are Brothers, Andrew Huddle, '80, and Bill Crisp, '81. Furthermore, the varsity soccer team did quite well this past fall as Brothers John Gower, '80, and Scott Nelson, '81, led the team to the NCAA in division III and finished a strong fourth place in the nation after winning the Ohio Conference. This term, Brother Richard Spybey, '81, has been giving his efforts to the varsity basketball team which has been playing fairly consistently.

In the spring, the Ohio Weslevan community will look forward to watching Brothers Mitch Borcina, '80, John Gower, '80, Randy Roessle, '79, Henry White, '81, and Greg Donovon, '82 participate on the varsity lacrosse team which has been defending the mid-west championship for the past three years. We would like to also praise our Brothers who have participated in intramurals. In the fall, our team won the football division and placed second in volleyball. Also, this winter we are contending for the lead in basketball, handball, and soccer. Good luck men! Other events dominated by Phi Psi include the winning of the United Way basketball tournament.

Important academic contributions that Ohio Alpha Brothers have made include the induction of Brother Bruce Tall, '79, into the Kappa Delta Pi educational honorary society. Furthermore, Brothers Bob Buzzanco, '79, Bill Crisp, '81, Bruce Tall, '79, Carter Helm, '81, and Donald Bowditch, '81, concluded a motivated effort academically by achieving a grade point average of a 3.60 or better.

Other important areas that involve the Ohio Alpha Brothers include Brother Jay Young, '79, who is running for senior class trustee and Brother Jeff Wagner, '80, who is waging a successful campaign for student class president. We wish them both good luck! Also, Brother Young is planning to be wed on July 17th of this year and we would like to offer him congratulations. We would also like to congratulate Brothers Norman Lewis, '80, Scott O'Brien, '80, Pat McGraw, '80, and Bob McNamara, '81, for their nomination to the Interfraternity Council executive board, which regulates and monitors the affairs of all Greek life on campus.

In closing, we would like to invite all Phi Psis to our combined Cannon Banquet and Phi Psi "500" weekend on May 22nd. We look forward to any Phi Psi Brother visiting our Chapter whenever in the area. We won't disappoint you.

Oklahoma

Still Improving

As Oklahoma Alpha greeted the new year, we so greeted eighteen new pledges as Brothers. They are: Steve Murray, Chickasha; Kevin Kendall, OKC; Jon Pirkey, Woodstock, VT; Clint Strong, Spiro; Kevin Blatz, West Islip, NY; David Paine, OKC; Jeff Hall, Norman; Gary Sadeghy, Edmond; Neil Meurer, Smithtown, NY; Ron Todd, Tulsa; Scott Bowman, OKC; Barry McCurtain, McAlester; Tim McNatt, Wichita, KS; Steve Sutcliffe, Barrington, IL; Steve Dobson, Cheyenne; Kevin Curry, OKC; Curtis Johnson, Ponca City; and Darryl Sturgis, Spiro.

A strong spring rush, headed by Allen B. Wright, brought Oklahoma Alpha seven new pledges. They include: Kraig Valdez and Dan Carnes, OKC; Steve Sturges, Glenwood Landing, NY; Mike Chancellor, Shawnee; Jerry Lee Turner, Edmond; Scott Terry, Tulsa; and Roger Privett, OKC. These pledges will be under the leadership of Mark Davis, the most recent recipient of the Solon E. Summerfield award.

The fifty-three members of our Chapter are under the outstanding leadership of these officers: Tom Ruggiero, GP; Allen Wright, VGP; John D. Cuaderes, AG; David LeBlanc, P; Clint Strong, BG; Gary Smith, SG; Andy Shidell, Hod; Scott Stephenson, Phu; and Grant Hawkins, Hi.

Once again, the Phi Psis are being heard on campus, with the election of Dieter Murphy to Student Congress, and as treasurer of the College Republicans. A host of Phi Psis highlight the Sooner athletic team, led by Brother John "Bear" Sturges, and his recent trip to the Sun Bowl where the Sooners were unstoppable. John's brother, Steve, a new Phi Psi pledge, made the OU srestling team and hopes to begin varsity competition soon. Brother Steve Sutcliffe will soon start competition as a member of the university's gymnastics team. The track team is represented by Brother Kevin Foreman whose goal is to pole vault right into the NCAA finals!

We at Oklahoma Alpha look forward to a productive and enjoyable social semester. Brother Lee Purvis, our social chairman, planned a Valentine's Formal for February 12, held at the Skirvin Plaza Hotel in Oklahoma City. We also look forward to many functions with the sororities on campus. The semester will close with the traditional Phi Psi Phandago, the "Party of Parties" on the campus of the University of Oklahoma.

Finally, we would like to thank all the graduating members for all they have done to make Oklahoma Alpha what it is today. Without them, we wouldn't be here. We would like to wish all Chapters across the country a productive and successful year, and to our alumni, watch your mailboxes for information on our mortgage burning party. And as always would like to extend an open invitation to any Brother who wishes to stop and visit Oklahoma Alpha!

15 Years At OSU

We here at Oklahoma Beta are excited to be celebrating our 15th year on campus. Since the day we were chartered 215 men have been initiated into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi. The celebration was held here in Stillwater on April 24th.

In other news, the spring semester officers were: Don Wheeler, GP; David Draper, VGP; Kevin Muschinske, P; Phil Vasquez, AG; Steve Plaster, BG; Mike Meredith, SG; Steve Ray, Hod; Tim Laughlin, Phu; Ryan Moore, Hi; and Bobby Snider, IFC rep.

Four pledges from the fall semester were initiated. They are: Troy Holden, Vinita; Trey Morrison, Tulsa; Mark Barlass, Big Cabin; and Scott Cox, Broken Arrow.

Spring rush netted us 8 sharp pledges. They are: Tracey Collins, Jim Danne, Eric Howard, all of Tulsa; Don Sivard, Choctaw; Kevin Ramsey, Oklahoma City; Mark Vasquez, Midwest City; Jack Grace, Bartlesville; and Kent Jedlicka, Ft. Smith, AR.

In intramurals our volleyball team posted a 4-1 record with Rick Schuhr and Jeff Kembel leading the way. Brother Steve Ray continued the winning Phi Psi ways by placing 2nd in all-Greek fencing.

When Homecoming rolled around this year we found ourselves teamed with the Delta Zeta sorority. On a similar note we participated in Spring Sing with the Gamma Phi Beta sorority. All our work climaxed April 4 during Mom's Weekend.

Once again the Phi Psi's displayed their winning the Miller can collecting contest. Plans are being made for using the $1000 award for renovating the study lounge.

Our Founder's Day Formal was held in Tulsa this year at the Hilton on February 19th.

We extend an invitation to any Brother who may be passing through the Stillwater vicinity to stop by and see us. A Brother is always welcome.

Strong and Active

We the Brothers of Oregon Alpha are in the midst of another fine year. With consecutive successful rushes and increased Brother participation in Chapter functions, our Chapter continues to grow even stronger.

The winter/spring officers are: Scott Chambers, GP; Allen Scarce, VGP; John Dimmer, P; Scott Herbers, AG; Rob Webb, BG; Dave Bertelson, SG; Matt Matsushima, Hi; Devin Wate, Phu; and Tim Zweber, Hod.

Last fall Oregon Alpha initiated 13 new Brothers into Phi Kappa Psi. They are: Glen Duhe, Scott Herbers, Michael Hunter, Paul Jamptgaard, Steve Kokes, Matt Matsushima, Andy Nelson, Robert Payne, Adam Rittenburg, Kirk Stubblefield, Jay Wallace, Devin Wate, and Chris Wheelwright.

During our informal rush we have two new pledges. They are Mike Royse of Beaverton, and Kirk Bachmann of Gunnison, CO.

Oregon Alpha is preparing for a successful Founders Day. Some of the activities planned are a Pub Crawl, Continental Breakfast, wine tour, and a Champagne/Wine Dinner.

The annual Phi Kappa Psi boxing smoker among the fraternities is scheduled for May 8. This year the proceeds generated will be donated to the University's Library. Also this year, the smoker will "kick off" Greek Week and Parents Weekend.

Brother C. J. Balfe has announced his candidacy for Student Body President. His campaign is in full operation and has a successful outlook.

Brothers Jordon Yospe and John Ghilarducci, rush chairman, are working hard to make this spring rush a beneficial event for Oregon Alpha.

As always we would like to invite all Phi Psi's in the area to stop by and visit anytime. Scott Herbers Correspondent

Oregon State

Informal Rush

In spite of the dreary Oregon winters, Beta Chapter here at Oregon State University is still alive and kicking. January 9th saw the initiation of four new men. They are, in badge order: Rodney Lee Christison, Beaverton; Thomas Matthew Heath, The Dalles; and Timothy Andrew O'Keeffe, and John David Bollinger, both of Lake Oswego. All are assets to the Brotherhood.

Informal rush brought us two new pledges, Thomas Boothe of Los Gatos, California, and Rodney Powers of Corvallis. A success for the Chapter during the 1980-81 school year, we are looking through informal rush as a means of finding ten good potential Phi Psis by the end of this year.

Beginning in January, the new officers for the year are Bart Macomber, GP; Michael Pierson, VGP; Andrew Rux, P; Steve Long, AG; Erick Heath, BG; Matt Knox, SG; Tim O'Keeffe, Hod; Matt Heath, Phu; and Shawn Dryden, Hi. Fraternity Educator is Phil Allen and Formal Rush Chairman is Matt Knox.

Immediately following the election of officers, Oregon Beta held its annual retreat, this year near Silver Creek Falls, Oregon, where we discussed goals for the upcoming year. Again, rush was high on our list of priorities as well as maintaining our high standing in grades on campus and, as demonstrated by our fourth-place scholastic ranking last fall term, within the fraternity system.

One of the highlights of winter was Dad's Weekend, an opportunity for the fathers of Oregon State students to see the school and for the dads of new Phi Psis to see what the chapter is really like. We showed them a good old time in the traditional game and casino night in the basement.

The preliminaries for the Phi Psi Dribble have already begun, including donation collecting and the selling of Valentine's Day novelties on campus. The Dribble itself will take place April with Alpha Delta Pi Sorority and will include dribbling basketballs from here in Corvallis to Portland as a fund raising event for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation

In a closing note, we wish to remind colleges and universities everywhere that Oregon State Beaver basketball is number one and is just part of what makes us great. This shouldn't come as a surprise since, after all, OSU Coach Ralph Miller is a Phi Psi.

Ready to Roll

Penn Iota rolls into the 1982 spring semester boasting new officers, six pledges and an Archon. At the helm is Joel Steinberg, with Andy Weiss VGP, Mike Goldman P, and Loado Leo BG, Hod is Eli Zinner, Phu Tod Nasser and SG is Raghu Rangachar.

We'd like to thank New Jersey Alpha and Beta, New York Alpha, Beta, Gamma, Rhode Island Beta and Maryland Alpha for attending the District Council meeting at Penn this fall. The DC party featured the Philly premier of "Idiot Savant" while our own Jeff Bittner was elected District I Archon.

Credit Eli Zinner, Rush Chairman, for our new pledges: Tony Neglia, Trumball, CT; Jeff Finkelstein, Miramar, FL; H. Kenneth Hardie, Springfield, PA; Jamie Cole, Hollywood, FL; Bill Staples, Pittsford, NY; and Bryan Sclar, Plantation, FL. Initiation is set for Founder's Day. As three pledges live in Florida, you can guess where we'll be spring vacation if Social Chairman Evan Farr can rent a Winnebago!

Two pledge/Brother football contests notched victories for the Red and Green.

The first ended in a muddy comeback 21-9, the second was a snowy blow-out 35-14.

Tradition has been revived with the first running of the Phi Psi "500" in two decades. Pledges Sclar and Hardie finished well ahead of the competition at 3-2 odds. Hopefully next year we can expand it into a campus-wide event.

Our annual 'Start the Year Right' party came off a great success. Better yet a new and soon to be repeated 'Hotel Phi Psi' party (a different drink in every room) attracted more freshmen and coeds than our house could hold. Add to this Thursday Beer Nights and "Evan's Chain-Reaction Chile" and our Spring Rush is in full swing.

Thanks to Brother Wurtiburg, Sports Chairman, Phi-Psi has competed successfully (no defaults) in intramural football and volleyball and manned 2 squads for basketball. This year we know we'll beat Kappa Sigma! (They've been kicked off campus.) Brother Rugart competes on Varsity Squash.

Brother Barnes is heading our annual Phi Psi 5 Miler. Both fun and competitive runs will be held on March 28 for the benefit of the Leukemia Society. Brother Gumas was the chapter recipient of the Summerfield Scholarship Award. He boasts an "A" average as a junior physics major and should do well in the National selection.

House Corporation Execs. Carl Sheppard, '68, Woody Wadlinger, '58, and, Rich Lobron, '78 repeat as President, Vice-President and Treasurer respectively, with graduating Neil Harris, '79 secretary. We're holding our breath until house renovations begin this spring, and somebody finds a pool table. We invite all Phi Psis and alumni to catch a Penn basketball game (We'll sneak you in somehow). Remember, spring is Road-Trip season, and we're ready!

$30,500 Raised for Charity

Great things are happening at the Penn Lambda Chapter. Thanks to donations from the alumni, the 403 Fund has allowed us to completely renovate our bathroom and install a new door and combination lock security system. The pledges and the Brothers also combined to build an "L"-shaped bar and a tales table in our party room.

Fall additions to the Brotherhood include Steve O'Reilly, Upper St. Clair; David Zlogar, Harrisburg; and Thomas Brown, Allentown. Winter initiates include Donald Coccia, Harrisburg; Michael Gleyze, Montoursville; Douglas King, Mechanicsburg; Jeffrey Maierhofer, Englewood, CO; Gregory Pautler, Lancaster; Richard Riegel, Wilmington, DE; John Riva, Middleton, NJ, and Joseph Wilson, Williamsport. These men plus six or more pledges in the spring will keep our Chapter going strong.

A new slate of officers has been elected to guide the Chapter till the end of spring term. They are Charles Dent, GP; Tim Sommer, VGP; Dan Martone, P; Chris Thomson, AG; Randy Repcheck, BG; David Zlogar, Phu; Barth Getto, Hod; Thomas Thompson, Hi; Carl Suffredini, SG; Tom Aichele and Scott Gardiner, Rush Chairmen, and Mike Smoyer, Social Chairman.

Phi Psis continue to make their mark on campus. In the fraternity academic rankings we jumped from thirtieth out of fifty to fourth; first among fraternities with more than twenty members. Penn Lambda also played a major role in the IFC Dance Marathon, the largest individual philanthropy at any college in the nation. The Phi Psis and their partners, the Chi Omega Sorority, under the leadership of Fred Kelley, raised $10,500, the second highest amount. The $95,000 raised will go the The Four Diamonds Fund for cancer treatment of young children. With an estimated $20,000 that will be raised on April 17th in this year's "500" we will again have raised more money for charity than any other fraternity on the Penn State campus. Dave Dixon, the IFC president, and Paul Martin, Rules and Regulations chairman, were a very important part of the administration of this year's marathon. Rich Evans photographed the entire marathon and his pictures will be used for Dave Dixon's national IFC conference presentation. Another active Brother was John Rommel, drummer for the crowd pleasing band, "Emanon." Eleven Phi Psis were among the 502 dancers, the largest number from any fraternity.

Elsewhere on campus Tim Sommer is in charge of security for Greek Week, while Scott Gardiner, Steve Blumenthal, Doug Moyer, and Jeff Maierhofer are on the nationally ranked Penn State soccer team. Carl Sufferdini enjoys tooting his sax in both the marching and jazz bands.

Penn Lambda is ranked in the top ten in intramurals thanks to strong performances in the football playoffs, tennis singles, and basketball. We are also definite favorites to win the IM bowling championship with a high series of over 1000. With our strong soccer, softball, badminton, and tennis doubles teams, it is very likely we will be in the top ten at the end of the year.

April 17th is the date for the 14th annual Phi Psi "500," chaired this year by Paul Martin and Doug Laderer. The race kicks off Greek Week, in which we will be trying to repeat as overall champions. with Pi Beta Phi Sorority. Our traditional Spring Formal and Mother's Day celebration promise to be highlights of the upcoming months.

As always we are psyched and we urge any Phi Psis in the area to stop and visit us at 403 Locust Lane. Have a great Spring!

Phi Psi Fever

As we approach spring break, the "Button Fever" spreads rapidly through the Indiana Delta Chapter. "The Button," located at Ft. Lauderdale Beach is a favorite for Phi Psi partying and socializing. Phi Psi "Crazy Greg" Newell, Manager of the Button, not only provides one of the most exciting spring breaks for the Brothers of Indiana Delta, but he is also a major contributor to the Phi Psi Grand Prix Program.

With "Crazy Greg" and Al Leewood's help, we have been able to purchase a brand new kart for the 160 lap Go-kart event which attracts 20,000 spectators and proves to be one of "The Greatest Spectacles in College Racing." Grand Prix is sponsored solely by alumni and interested area corporations. With freshman rookie driver, Bille Goedde and Crew Chief Brent Hendrickson, we expect to build upon an already present Phi Psi winning tradition. We would like to extend an invitation to all Alumni and all area Chapters to join us at the track and for the weekend festivities.

As we initiated 12 new Brothers, we welcomed the company of alumnus Ike Uland, class of '26. Ike, with his wife Pic, visit us occasionally. Their visits always prove to be beneficial to the spirit of our Chapter.

Initiation welcomed Brothers Ronald R. Bentson, Plato Center, IL; Gary L. Billingsley, Palm Harbor, FL; James Camp Jr., Noblesville; Mark Cartwright, Glenn El-lyn, IL; William J. Goedde and Roger J. Hinton, Haubstadt; Ty Hite, Greenfield; Brian Maxwell, South Bend; Stephen T. McClure, Lebanon; Eric Seidensticker, Carmel; Kevin W. McQueeney, Greenfield; and Angus Porraro, Pompano Beach, FL.

Indiana Delta welcomes two new Brothers to West Lafayette. Welcome Brian Kelm, Iowa Beta, and Darren Taylor, Arizona Beta,—hope you enjoy Boilermaker hospitality.

Congratulations to Brother Mike Pelligra for a successful completion of a term as Purdue Student Association Senator.

As this newsletter comes to a close, I would personally like to request letters from any and all alumni who have not been able to visit us here at 359 Northwestern. All of us would like to hear about you and your conquests. With your letter we will in turn write you back with a list of current addresses of your pledge class. Any other addresses will be available and distributed upon request.

Prepared

As the Brothers of New Jersey Alpha begin the spring semester they are joined by seven new Brothers: Mike McMannus, Matt Gerland, Russ Miller, Bob Milana, John Maxwell, Ron Blum and Ron Overton. These new Brothers have already proven to be an asset to the Chapter.

The house underwent a total renovation during the month of January. The halls were given a fresh coat of paint and a new rug installed throughout.

Phi Psi will also be starting the new semester with new officers. Taking over the job of GP will be Bill Kirby in whom the Brothers have shown great faith. The other officers will be; John Yankoski, VGP; Louis Wisnowski, P; and Kenny Wenk, BG.

New Jersey Alpha was very honored to have three of its Brothers named to the All East Coast Conference soccer team. Jim Canning and Tom Tuffy were selected to the ECC first team and Peter Kepes was given an honorable mention.

During the fall semester Phi Psi ventured to Atlantic City, went on a fishing trip to Belmar and was involved in many other activities. On tap for next semester is a weekend in Wildwood and possibly another fishing trip.

Rush Important

The Brothers of the South Carolina Alpha returned from Christmas break to pledge four fine young men. They are Brady Jones, Spartanburg; Brian Clemmens, Lexington; Craig Bartosh, Summerville; and Andy McDonald of Penfield, NY.

November 14th saw the initiation of five new Brothers: Rob Jones, Greenwood; Jon Foster, Anderson; Jeff Salter, Camden; and Tom Sluder and Tom Wagner of Columbia.

The "O'Kaysions" were secured for Founders day, February 19th at Rock Ridge

Country Club in Columbia. Bob Knudsen received the James Scott Outstanding Alumnus Award. Jesse Burke received the Outstanding Brother award for being such a motivator in the Chapter as a whole.

"Youth" would be the best word to describe the new officers for the spring semester. Almost the entire EC was initiated either last spring or last fall. They are: Dean Foster, GP; Steve Eure, VGP; Jay Spateholts, P; Rob Jones, AG; Jon Foster, BG; Jeff Salter, SG; Tom Sluder, Hod; Gene Nelson, Hi; and Jimmy Delk, Phu.

March 4th commemorates the 125th anniversary of the original charter of the South Carolina Alpha. A country hoedown and band party are planned to celebrate this historic day for Phi Psi.

John Steinberger did such an outstanding job with spring rush that he was re-elected for summer and fall rush chairman. Three major summer rush parties are planned. They will be held in Greenville, Columbia, and Charleston. The Columbia party will probably be held at Lake Murray, and a Crab Cracking is planned for that party. Alumni will be informed of the dates for these events as soon as they are solidified.

Southern California Cal Delta Comes of Age

In the past, Cal Delta has written of building. While enthusiasm and Brotherhood remained high, numbers needed to be increased. With the initiation of twenty-two new Brothers, however, Phi Psi has come of age on the Row. The initiates, which give Cal Delta a roll call 75 members strong, are as follows: Mark Petruska, San Marino; Hank Hunfreville, Lancaster; Dan Boyd, Newport Beach; Kent Phillips, Palos Verdes; Jim Dunphey, Torrance; Dave Mast, Newport News, VA; Pete McClafferty, Lafayette; John Wright, Rolling Hills; Shawn Campbell, Palos Verdes; John Lear, Hunington Beach; Foti Defterios, Los Angeles; Jeff Cobb, Rolling Hills; Curt Baker, Rochester, NY; Bob Hodges, Palos Verdes; Matt Matthews, Rolling Hills; Kelly Davis, Capistrano Beach; Gregg Davis, Englewood, CO; John

Reilly, Dover, MA; Fred Wilcox, Stockton;

Jeff Patterson, Palos Verdes; Kevin

Kollenda, Laguna Beach; and Dai Meagher,

Piedmont.

Rush this spring promises to keep our numbers high while maintaining quality. Fourteen pledged Cal Delta. They are: William Wong, Palos Verdes; Mike Eisenberg, Palos Verdes; Jay Fischer, Boston, MA; Will Snow, Rolling Hills; Mark Wilson and John Basso, North Hollywood, CA; Joh Campbell, Orange Grove; Mike Gillespie, San Francisco; Mike Burney, Fullerton; Los Rosenberg, San Pedro; John MacIntosh, Modesto; Grant Heslov, Palos Verdes; Brad Saylor, Saratoga; and Tom Fenwalt, Palos Verdes.

Spring semester promises to be a great one all around. Our social calendar includes a "Camelot" party at the luxurious Biltmore Hotel. Also in the making are exchanges with the Delta Gamma's and the Pi Phis. Athletically, the Brothers plan to get together for good times and good competition.

Year Of Progress

At Texas Gamma, the spring semester is already turning out to be one of distinction, progress and enthusiasm. The Brothers of Texas Gamma strive to maintain a well rounded fraternity by stressing academics, athletics, and good times. In order to enhance our efforts at keeping a high academic standing we began offering a $100 scholarship to the pledge that finishes the semester with the highest GPA. In athletics, our strong Brotherhood and competitive nature compels us to aggresively strive for the coveted "All Greek Trophy." This fall we finished strong enough in football, bowling, tennis and racquetball to become one of the ton contenders.

This semester we have already won the preseason intramural basketball tournament and are favored to win the regular season tournament. Last year we won both fast and slow pitch softball and we are ready to make a repeat performance. We observed Founder's Day on February 20 with a barbecue and party at our house on 331 West Hopkins St.

This spring we had a highly successful rush program. We dropped nine bids and received nine pledges. Later, we received six more pledges through open rush. The pledges for the spring semester are Frank Edward Baker, Hugh Richard Baker Jr., Richard Marion Bevis, Dan Burks, Nick Garza, Mike Gillman, Kris Gavlar, Scott Hickfang, Robert Jackson, Arthur Oran Jenkins, John Andrew Lemler, David Edward Reddell, Paul Nicholas Sudella, Lee Douglas Sterling and Jeffrey Wayne Willis. Pogi Howard, our spring rush chairman, should be commended for a job well done.

The officers elected for the spring semester are as follows: David Miller, GP; Stephen Grace, VGP; William Pommerehn, AG; Brad Moore, BG; Kevin Pillsbury, P; James Alley, Hod; Billy Robbins, Phu and Steven Raley, Hi. The new administration tends to take a progressive stance, stressing academic achievement and tight money management.

New Members

Louisiana Beta has started the spring semester off with seven pledges; two new ones, David Landry and Chris Rogers; and five holdovers, Curtis Bean, Richard Blackwell, Dwayne Fatherre, Andrew Hubchen, and Lonnie Richard. These men are sure to be assets and we are looking forward to having them as Brothers.

On February 5, the Phi Psi Brotherhood grew by six members. Our newest initiates are: Darren Eldridge, Warren Lewis, Charlie Smith, Greg Spicer, Greg Thibodeaux, and Barry Vasher. After the Ritual was completed we showed these guys what college life was all about.

Help week was held the 15-17 of January and several changes were made to the house. Most noticeable is the addition of a front porch. The new officers are: Gustave Lamperez, III, GP; Mike Gordon, VGP; Charles Doty, P; Andrew Navard, AG; Marc Pelletier, BG; Marc Pelletier, SG; Mike Annis, Hod; Raymond Noel, Phu, and Durwood Keller, Hi. On February 26 we held Las Vegas night, our annual charity event. This year the money raised went to The Helping Hands Fund. On the 19th of February we held our Founders Day banquet. Still to come is the second annual Phi Psi Phantasy Phling, better known as the Ph Phactor party.

Over the Christmas break eight Brothers ventured to Colorado for the first Cajun-Colorado Skiing Expedition. A great time was had by all the adventurers and we would like to thank Colorado Alpha for the use of their house.

20 New Brothers

The Brothers of Cal Beta are proud to report that the undergraduate membership nearly tripled with the initiation in November of twenty new Brothers into the Fraternity; Alan Aronson, Seattle, WA; Vivek Bhargava, Oregon, OH; Al Carlson, Setauket, NY; Walt Coughlin, Littleton, CO; Steve Diez de Pinos, Tucson, AZ; Frank Dustin, San Marino, CA; Brad Fishman, Birmingham, MI; Tom Garrett, Fullerton, CA; John Genga, Detroit, MI; Joel Henry, Hamden, CT; Mike Hoffer, Downey, CA; Joe Isner, Spokane, WA; Craig Jankowsky, Tulsa, OK; James Jurczewsky, Wichita, KS; Chris Kenyon, Bethesda, MD; Greg Koshkarian, San Diego, CA; Clete Kushida, Los Angeles, CA; Larry Widrow, Stamford, CT; Mark Wilson, Church, VA; and Peter Wirth, Atherton, CA.

Elections were held soon after the initiation festivities had subsided, and the Chapter installed a dedicated new group of officers: Mahesh Makani, GP; Walt Coughlin, VGP; John Genga, P; Alan Aronson, AG; and Mike Hoffer, BG.

In December the Chapter presented a benefit showing of two films on campus and raised $1000 to aid Hodgkins disease research at Stanford University Medical Center. The films were presented in honor of Brother Craig Henry, who is recovering from his battle with this disease.

February brought Founder's Day, and a chapter trip up the Bay to Berkeley for dinner and an evening of Fraternal spirit with the Cal Gamma Chapter. The evening was every bit as enjoyable as November's annual Big Game lunch, when the Betans and Gammans left San Francisco wondering what had hit them. Winter was a busy quarter, and a packed social calendar helped bring the group together. Highlights included a three-day ski trip over President's Day weekend, and a viciously waged Broomball battle with the Alpha Phi sorority. When not running off to these events, the Phi Psi intramural basketball team was running up and down the court, engaged in stupendous displays of athletic prowess.

The Chapter has been working closely with the University on plans to build a nonresidential lodge on campus for the currently houseless "mobile fraternity," as we are often referred to. Further details may be had from Tom Garrett (415/969-7573) who is heading up the project for us.

Finally, congratulations are in order to Alumnus Rico Hernandez, who was elected Archon of District VI in the Fall. Rico graduated from Stanford last Spring, and is currently attending business school at Berkeley, where he is a member of the Cal Gamma Chapter.

Syracuse

Tradition

This spring '82 semester New York Beta is dedicated to working hard towards the goals to which it has pledged itself!

Due to a controversial and greatly debated incident, our spring rush has been revoked. We anxiously await the fall of 1982, at which time we are confident we will once again seek and gain a fine pledge class.

The Brothers of New York Beta has actively and enthusiastically participated in numerous events this semester. The attitude found within our Chapter is very conducive to effectively maintaining those principles which our beloved founders William Henry Letterman and Charles Page Thomas Moore set forth one hundred and thirty years ago!

New York Beta's Founder's Day Celebration took place at Drumlins Country Club in Syracuse. A strong turnout of undergraduates, alunni, and wives/dates allowed for a most memorable evening. A cocktail party get-together and delicious dinner were held at this affair. Sophomore brother Gary Halpern received the spring '81 pledge class "Neophyte Scholarship Award." Sophomore Brother Ron Wimpfheimer was awarded the same distinction for the fall of '82. Furthermore, Brother John Powers, '57, received the "Pops Lonergon Award," given to an alumnus for outstanding contributions to the New York Beta Chapter. Brother Powers has been our alumni treasurer for the past 20 years, and he plans to retire from this position at the end of this year. Also, Syracuse University Chancellor and President Melvin A. Eggers was our distinguished keynote speaker at the dinner. Following the formal festivities at Drumlins, the brothers attended a social party at Pi Beta Phi sorority.

The annual Syracuse University Dance Marathon, which raises funds for The Muscular Dystrophy Association, was once again a huge success! New York Beta, through the dedicated efforts of all our Brothers always generates a large sum of money for this charitable enterprise, and this year was no exception! Brothers Paul Kenworthy and Dan Leyden deserve much praise for their hard work. These two Brothers showed a lot of talent as co-chairmen of the Casino Phi Psi. They organized the many behind-the-scenes details and motivated the entire Brotherhood to strive earnestly for this significant cause. Along with Kappa Alpha Theta sorority, New York Beta ran numerous fund-raising events in order to solicit money for M.D. Together, we received sponsors for our "10-Hour Run Around Walnut Park." Fortunately, this event received local media coverage. Also, we held a "Casino Night at The Jabberwocky," an often frequented entertainment establishment and bar in Syracuse. We received a percentage of the admission price, while everyone enjoyed the lively sounds of the bands "Screentest" and

The fall of '81 pledges of New York Beta, Syracuse University.

"1.4.5." Our casino is held at a couple of locations prior to the grand finale at S.U.'s Manley Field House during Marathon Weekend.

Other committee heads were: Blackjack, Jim Grace/Mark Alexander; Games of Chance, George Wolke; Finance, Charles Bantis/Paul Rossi; Security, Michael Mojo; and Beer, Chris Casazza. A true sense of Brotherly love and unity were the assets gained by all of us here at New York Beta as a result of our loyal and concerted efforts towards the ideals of The Marathon.

On Saturday, February 13 we had our annual Valentine's Day Semi-Formal. Our social committee headed by Brothers Leonard Walczyk and Rick Searight did an excellent job organizing this fun occasion. The social chairmen have really done a very credible job this semester. Such theme parties and events as the annual Four Greek Houses Toboggan Party, the "Red Party," and The "Charlie Silvernail Drinking Club" have epitomized our busy social calendar.

Furthermore, the legendary New York Beta Polar Slide, which is a ramp extending from the second story of the Chapter house out towards College Place, was a huge success. Brother Paul Rossi was the overseer of construction operations. As a result of the many man-hours of work sacrificed by the Brothers, the unique Polar Slide complete with banked turn became a reality and was available to those courageous individuals willing to accept the icy challenge!

Thanks to a concerned commitment initiated by New York Beta Capital Improvements Committee Head Howard Saslow, our Chapter has acquired a new washing machine and dryer and a new set of curtains for our living room. The committee also plans to build a new retaining wall for our parking lot before summer vacation.

Brother Charles Debrow is working at Syracuse radio station "WJPZ—99AM" as a news broadcaster. Brother Timothy Poth is a member of the S.U. ski racing team.

New York Beta has shown competitive interest in its intramural athletic program this spring. Our "B" basketball team is currently undefeated, while our "A" team is 0 and 3. Volleyball stands at 2 and 1. We have also shown a solid effort in swimming, riflery, and track.

The Brothers at New York Beta wish to encourage correspondence and communication from our alumni. All Phi Psi's are always welcome at 113 College Place! We look forward to seeing you!

Academic Endeavors

Warmth and sunshine begin to mark the end of another winter term as thoughts of spring prevail here in East Tennessee. Once again we find ourselves attempting to maintain the most improved academic status for this school year. We were properly entertained by the Brothers of Vanderbilt for the recent District Council, and feel that new Archon Byron Norfleet will enhance this District as its Executive Council Member. Three Brothers represented Tennessee Epsilon; Duncan Winter, Tom McNeal, and John Walker. Plans to attend the GAC in Atlanta this August were met with wide-eyed enthusiasm from all!

Congratulations to the following alunni for their admittance into law school: Felix Dowsley, Louis McElroy, and Boyd Venable. Founders Day activities are in the planning as our newly elected alumni coordinator, Dale Underwood, has been helpful in our attempts to get alumni support on the right track.

Recent activities include the usual attempt at intramurals, a Skid Row party, and various extracuricular functions. Spring quarter promises to be our best display of athletic prowess, usually finishing first or second in our league in tennis and softball.

With commencement approaching this Spring, we will bid farewell to several Brothers: Anthony Burzese, and Duncan Winter. Their contributions have been unparalleled!

Clearly, we all look forward to an eventful Spring and wish the best for our Brothers across the country in the days ahead.

Cold Spring Start

Although spring has come to Texas, the winter weather has yet to conceed. The opening of the spring semester here at the University of Texas saw a snow covered campus, much to the delight of many students and especially the Brothers of Texas Alpha.

The semester took off with great speed as we have initiated into the Brotherhood thirty-two new Brothers. We have also joined to the ranks of pledgeship ten spring pledges. We hope to round out the spring pledge class with five more, making a total of fifteen pledges for the spring.

As always Texas Alpha is active within the Greek community and the University campus. The big event this spring for Texas Phi Psis is "Saturday-fest." With the help of Alpha Delta Pi sorority and sponsored by Shlitz, "Saturdayfest" is sure to be a success. What is it? "Saturdayfest" is a day long celebration to help raise money for Cerebral Palsy; our goal this year is $10,000. The celebration will center around a carnival, with four or five bands playing throughout the day. Many doorprizes will be given away, including a trip to Hawaii. The date for this Phi Psi extravaganza is April 17th, so if any Brothers are planning a trip down south this spring, try to work it in . . . we would love to have you come celebrate with

As all Brothers know, one of the major goals of a Chapter is to promote the name of Phi Kappa Psi across the campus and the surrounding community. This spring Texas Alpha has undertaken a project that we hope will accomplish this goal in good style, the "Phi Psi Sweetheart Calendar." This calendar will encompass the whole school year starting with the Fall 1982 semester. Important dates pertaining to the University and the Greek community will be included on the pages as well as sporting events for all Longhorn fans. The idea is to make the calendar as functional and good looking as possible so that every dorm room will have the name of Phi Kappa Psi on its wall. To help facilitate the possibility of success, the Brothers have invited the top sororities on campus to choose a sister, who best exemplifies the qualities of their sorority, to grace the pages of our calendar. The Brothers will also choose one or two independent girls, who show off the true beauty of Texas women.

Founders Day this year falls on February 20th. Brother Allen Schoolcraft, Texas State Representative, will offer words of encouragement to those in attendance at the banquet on Saturday. That evening another Founders Day Blowout will take place—it's guaranteed.

At the helm of Texas Alpha this spring is J. K. Ivey, GP; Barry Jones, VGP; Bennett Grayson, AG; Chris Boening, BG; Chris Bennett, P; and David Szymaszek, SG.

From the Brothers of Texas Alpha we wish the very best for each Chapter, and extend an invitation for all alumni to come by and see what Texas Alpha is up to.

Texas Tech Good News

Since my last letter there has been good news from the Brothers at Texas Tech University . . . We have a new location directly across from the campus on University Avenue! Our new number is (806) 747-7175 and we still have the same mailing address: Box 4225-Tech Station; Lubbock, Texas 79409.

But wait till you hear the rest of the news . . . we finally have squared away the purchase of land on "Greek Circle!" This news has been long awaited and the Brothers are very optimistic about our accelerating growth. It is projected that maybe as soon as the summer's end we may start work on the foundation of a new house. Our alumni are now expected to rally to our aid and help the Chapter in any way possible. A feeling of excitement is definitely in the air.

Once again we are proud to announce our new officers: Michael Steinberg, GP, Marietta, GA; David Webb, VGP, Lubbock; Richard Giese, AG, Fond du Lac, WI; Robert McNaughton, BG, Abilene; Mark Bahr, P, Racine, WI; Ron Yorston, Hi, Dallas; Robert Reister, Phu, Sherman; and Mark Ramsey, Fraternity Educator from Lubbock. This is a group of highly gifted men with alot of ability!

This semester started off in traditional Texas Beta style with three outstanding rush parties. There was a Ski mixer, a "Bourbon" Cowboy party, and the ever popular and fraternally famous Phi-Psi Pajama party! And I shouldn't forget the Hawaiian Lau with a smoked pig.

With the fun there also comes the serious business of being students. Texas Beta did not disappoint anyone with a grade point average ranked fourth on campus among the Greeks and the pledge class number one! We can honestly boast about our abilities and on our sharpness. Our long line of gifted Brothers is alive and very much active today. We invite all calls from our fellow Brothers, especially alumni. Also, we encourage our alumni to drop by our new location so we can show off all of our handywork in renovations that Jerry Simmons freely supervised. The trophies of yester-year shine brightly and stand waiting for the stories to be told.

This semester is the start of a promising future for Texas Beta. The Brotherhood formed long ago is encouraged to again recall their college days and introduce themselves to the new Brothers. Involvement is the key to success in the Brothers of today and with hard work this key will open new doors for the Brothers that come to Texas Beta in the future! The good news constantly pours in . . . Founder's Day was unprecedented!

When are you going to drop by? We can't wait! We'll show you why we're called the best group of men at Texas Tech!

Keeping Busy

Greetings from Ohio Eta and Toledo! Ohio Eta has a new look at the Chapter house. Repairs and new fixtures such as gutters, roofing and doors have been made possible through our Alumni Association here at Toledo. I would like to take this opportunity to thank the Alumni Association again for their help and hard work. Thanks!

Our fall quarter began with the election of Chapter Officers in November. Our officers this quarter are Wesley Schaub, GP; Kenneth Czerniakowski, VGP; Philip Cleminson, P; Thomas Carson, BG; and our rush chairman for next quarter is Dennis McBride, a recent initiate of Ohio Eta, who has been an asset to the Fraternity.

We are very proud here at the University of Toledo since the varsity football team went to the California Bowl last December. The Rockets had an overwhelming victory over San Jose State 27-25... a triumph for the Rockets in the inaugural California Bowl. Brother Richard Clegg accompanied the Toledo Rockets to Fresno as a member of the varsity cheerleading squad.

Christmas was upon us and Ohio Eta participated in three service projects for the community. Brothers worked at the Northwest Ohio Lung Association Christmas tree with money donated to the children's fund, the American Red Cross Blood Drive, and the Old West End Retirement Home where the Brothers held a Christmas party for the retirees.

We are very proud to announce Ohio Eta's selection of the Solon E. Summerfield award. This prestigious award was given to Brother Dan Morrison who is a senior in communications. His campus activities include student government, Peppers Honor Society, Blue Key Honor Fraternity, IFC President, Freshman Advising Registration Program Director, Who's Who in American Colleges and many more. Congratulations Dan.

Ohio Eta stands strong in campus leadership as well as academically. Brother Nick Daudelin, former MAC swimming champion, incurred an injury and was unable to swim this year. With his talents and height, he was selected to play with the varsity volleyball team with Brother Dhuey Cronk here at U of T. Brother John Manore is a member of the varsity track team which is hosting the MAC Conference Championships this spring. As for sports, Phi Psi at Toledo is getting stronger. Recently we placed fourth overall in the intramural swimming meet and Brother John Hanudel placed first in diving. John is currently in training for the Regional YMCA diving championships in hopes for a place at Nationals. The best of luck to you John! Academically, Ohio Eta is represented in three honor societies, and seniors John Manore and Richard Clegg made the Dean's List last quarter in the College of Education.

In closing, we would like to wish all the Chapters a successful and happy Founder's Day and to Cal Epsilon—we hope our GAC banner looks nice in your chapter house and look forward to seeing it in Atlanta!

Valparaiso

Continuing to Improve

The close of the 1981 fall semester saw the completion of another fine academic term for Indiana Epsilon. Phi Psi lead the campus with a GPA of 2.970. This was Phi Psi's third number-one GPA ranking at Valparaiso in the past four semesters, and the highest individual Fraternity GPA in several years. Many house improvements were also completed, among them the aquisition of a new washer and dryer, new venetian blinds for the living room, and the renovation of the "Wolf Den," our bar room. The bar was reconstructed with much appreciated assistance from Mr. Klaus Schmidt of Hawthorn Woods, Illinois, father of Brother Mark Schmidt, '81.

Our spring semester began with the happy return of five of our Brothers from Valparaiso's overseas study program, four from Cambridge, England and one from Reutlingen, Federal Republic of Germany. However, we said, "Auf wiedersehen and safe journey," to Brothers Al Rose, '80, and Peter Schoedel, '80, who will be studying in Reutlingen and experiencing the European culture.

Rush chairman Gave Gross '80 saw the culmination of his earnest efforts as rush came to a close on January 29. A recently revised Fraternity Education program was implemented, and is being overseen by Marc Miller, '79. The strong 22 member spring pledge class consists of Ken Austin, Carpentersville, IL; Kevin Boysen, Milwaukee, WI; Paul Bushur, Indianapolis; Andy Cortwright, Riverside, IL; Jon Dorn, Buffalo Grove, IL; Tim Eckart, Lansing, MI; Dan Grundmeier, Alta, IA; Jon Hilgenkamp, Plymouth, MN; Dave Jacques, Joliet, IL; Scott Keegan, Schaumburg, IL; Brian Larsen, Waukegan, IL; John Lisius, Milwaukee, WI; Tim Mech, Sheboygan, WI; Eric Moe, Watseka, IL; Joe Pesch, Washington, NJ; Paul Pancner, Fort Wayne; Craig Raabe, Glastonburg, CT; Andy Rickus, Birmingham, MI; Dave Smith, Naperville, IL; Eric Smith, Defiance, OH; Ted Tahlier, Green Bay, WI; and Kris Ursin, Treasure Cay, Bahamas Enthusiastic participation in our intramural sports programs has produced championships in both cross-country and bowling. Numerous additional fine performances turned in by the Brothers will help our Chapter markedly in the competition for the coveted Intramural All-Sports Trophy.

The organization of an efficient, smooth running committee system was initiated under Chapter GP Ron Rapp, '79. Through the committee system many projects have been undertaken by the Brotherhood; one such project was a highly successful food drive for a local church.

As the year progresses our Chapter looks forward to a full social calendar, Spring Weekend events, and especially to Founder's Day activities. A number of Brothers will be attending both the Chicago and Indianapolis celebrations. We hope to take this opportunity not only to commemorate the 130th birthday of Phi Kappa Psi, but also to enjoy fellowship with other Phi Psis and to communicate with our alumni. We look for our alumni to increase their interest and participation in the Chapter as we accomplish old objectives and establish new ones.

Indiana Epsilon continues to grow stronger and flourish as we carry out the noble traditions of Phi Kappa Psi. The Brothers at Valparaiso are looking forward to a successful spring semester in which the Chapter and its members continue as leaders within the Greek system and the University as a whole.

New Furniture Plans

Optimism abounds here at Tennessee Delta as we prepare for the onset of spring. Having reached the milestone of our 1000th initiate last fall, the Brothers were not content to rest on their laurels as we geared up for freshman rush this past January. Rush chairmen Doug Reighart and Robert Rudder led the way as 23 outstanding men were pledged. Pledging this January were Andy Burns, Winnetka, IL; Mike Crane, Melbourne, FL; Scott Dickson, St. Paul, MN; Wick Irwin, Buffalo, NY; Todd Kolba Ft. Worth, TX; Larry Lefebvre, Lilburn, GA; Brian Lemaster, Atlanta, GA; Don McBridge, Milwaukee, WI; Jeff Melcher, Augusta, GA; Bobby Miller, Calvert City, KY; Bob Modica, Nashville; Joe Partlow, Lexington, MA; Ron Richter, Cincinnati, OH; Bruce Ripley, Upper Montclair, NJ; Walt Robinson, Chattanooga; Jeff Rosenblum, Memphis; Paul Sherer, Hartland, WI; Scott Stevenson, Lake Bluff, IL; Ed Shellswell-White, Birmingham, AL; Paul Wight, St. Louis, MO; Art Williams, Summit, NJ; Chris Wood, Pittsburgh, PA; and Bill Wood, Jacksonville, FL.

Our Founder's Day celebration proved to be a great success this year. Over 700 invitations were sent to our alumni, and the turnout was encouraging and much appreciated. The Friday night pledge party and the Saturday night band party provided memorable entertainment for all. The culmination of a fine weekend was the annual Founder's Day luncheon held Sunday in the Chapter house. The guest speaker was National Secretary Bryan Muecke, Founder's Day also marked the kick-off of our furniture fundraising drive. The Brothers and pledges have worked to install new carpeting in the living room. Now we are staging a drive to raise enough funds for much-needed new living room furniture. With the generous support of our alumni, we feel that the achievement of our goal is within sight.

In intramural sports, the basketball team finished the season under the able guidance of coach Bill "Joe B." Fowler ranked #1 in our league. We are eagerly awaiting the playoffs. The softball team is looking forward to the start of the season.

Several Brothers have been making their mark around campus this semester. Varsity football player Chris Hageman is attempting to rehabilitate his surgery torn right knee in time for the coming SEC season. Bob Boone, Scott Draper, and Don McBride are all contributing to the varsity soccer squad. Tom Sheedy is involved as a manger for the Vanderbilt basketball team. John Utterback was recently elected secretary of the Interfraternity Council. Jeff Rosenblum is a member of the cheerleading squad. Dave Kleinfelter is the Sports Editor for the campus newspaper. Many other Brothers are involved in various campus activities.

Chapter officers for the semester include Sandy Gullquist, GP; Andy Mindlin, VGP; Mark Corbett, P; John Parran, House Manager; Brett Combs, Fraternity Educator; and Rob Williamson, AG. We are proud to have our own Byron Norfleet serving as Archon of our District.

Not to be overlooked are our scholastic achievements this past semester. We are presently ranked number 2 in GPA among all campus fraternities.

We are looking forward to our Formal this year which will be held at Kentucky Dam Village State Park, April 16-17. We invite any of our alumni or Brothers from other Chapters to stop by and see us anytime.

Optimistic Spring

The Virginia Alpha Chapter of Phi Psi has remained active throughout the past year, and is looking forward to new activities in the near future. We have recently begun spring rush as we attempt to bounce back from a rather disappointing fall rush. However, prospects for the spring look much more encouraging, and a larger spring pledge class is anticipated.

These new pledges will join a fraternity whose athletic prowess is astounding in the intramural community. Last year, Phi Psi placed in the bottom third of 35 fraternities on the grounds; this year, the determined efforts of the Brotherhood has resulted in a top ten position in the fraternity standings. Included in this rise to the top was a championship in football, a second place effort in tennis by Randy Robertson, and a surprisingly strong showing in soccer. We are now in the midst of the basketball season, a sport in which we have won three years in a row. We are the favorites once again, and thus far, our record is a perfect 6-0 as we enter the playoffs. The team is led by Dave Moran, Greg Case, Greg Gagnon, Pete Domencini, Pete Mester, Brad Felker, and Rob Wold.

In order to raise more money for the Chapter, Brothers Baldwin, Meaney, Madden and Rogers, have begun a raffle for all alumni. The winner of the raffle wins two tickets to the ACC basketball tournament in early March, a prize any ex-Wahoo would cherish

Socially, Virginia Alpha consistently provides the Brotherhood with a diversity of activities. This past Midwinters weekend was filled with the sound of music, the music flowing from the instruments of three separate bands. Scheduled events include two rolls, a few cookouts, and of course more bands, especially for Easters Weekend.

Special thanks goes to our Tutor-in-Residence, Jeff Horner, whose advice in a number of situations has proved to be invaluable. As new elections approach in a few weeks, his experience will be a valuable asset in the transition from old to new officers. The departing officers are: Greg Case, GP; Chris Rodgers, VGP; Chris Meyer, P; Rob Wold, AG; John Baldwin, Rush Chairman; Mike Meaney, Social Chairman; and Peter Mester, Kitchen Manager.

Working Toward Prominence

Thanks to the strong leadership of former GP Kevin Ledzian, the Virginia Zeta Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi concluded 1981 with a string of monumental accomplishments. An excellent fall rush, organized by former Rush Chairman Paul Restina, resulted in the initiation of five new Brothers: Jeff McConnell, Gate City; Phil Hamilton, Greenville, SC; Kurt Lambrecht, South Boston; Ariel Friedlander, Richmond; and Alan Williams, Baltimore, MD. This group represented our largest fall pledge class to date.

During the fall quarter we also undertook our most successful fund raising project ever—an aluminum recycling competition sponsored by The Miller Brewing Company. Thanks to a determined effort made by the Brotherhood, we collected over one thousand pounds of aluminum in six weeks and finished second among all the participating campus organizations. For our efforts we received just over thirteen-hundred dollars in prize money as well as an impressive trophy.

We started off the new year by electing new officers. They are Barney Roger, GP; Drew Groszer (our Solon Summerfield Scholar), VGP; Russell Hillsley, AG; Bob Sismour, BG; Terry Idol, P; Zinn Morton, SG; Kenny Cole, Hod; Randy Haswell, Phu; and Alan Williams, Hi.

Our must current rush effort has brought us three enthusiastic pledges: Mike Cohen, Springfield; Mike Cellentano, Islip, NY; and Don Baker, South Boston. Under the leadership of Fraternity Educator Kenny Cole, they are sure to become welcome additions to our Chapter.

Our primary goal at present is the formation of an active Alumni Association and Housing Corporation. Kevin Ledzian, Alumni Relations Chairman, is working closely with Chapter Advisor Bob Wagner and Alumnus Brian Wilson to arrange a festive weekend May 21-23 for all Virginia Zeta Alumni. The weekend will be highlighted by our fifth-anniversary spring banquet. Also on May 22 a crucial meeting for both alumni and undergraduate Brothers will be held at which the frameworks for the Alumni Association and Housing Corporation will be laid. We realize that our alumni serve as the basis for our Chapter, and we encourage all of them to attend.

Cold Days, Warm Hearts

Winter arrived with a vengeance here in beautiful Crawfordsville, but Indiana Gamma warmed up on February 6th with the initiation of thirteen fine men into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity: John Berck, Wes Dennis, Tom Bradburn and Vince Scott, Indianapolis; Scott McLain, Lebanon; Greg Hockemeyer, South Whitley; Bob Dion, Elkhart; Doug Johnson, Munster; Glen Leer, Arcadia; Bob Elizondo, Gary; Stu Douglas, Lynhurst; Jeff Winters, Pekin; and John Groskopf, St. Charles.

The Brothers also welcomed a new pledge into the house. Ron Rodriguez transferred to Wabash from Western Kentucky University this winter and is currently attempting to adjust to an all-male campus, as well as preparing to take on the responsibilities of Brotherhood.

Elections for this term were held in early December. Replacing Doug Fraser as GP is Clyde Dawson, who finished up a successful term as P. Other officers are: Fred Roetter, GP; Dave Hornback, P; Tim Thobe, BG; Greg Kajfez, Phu; Page Wiggins, Hod; and Denis Kelly, Hi.

Phi Psi continues to be a strong presence on campus as Wabash College enters its Sesquicentennial year. Brothers grabbed leadership positions in sports and other campus organizations. Clyde Dawson was elected Secretary of the Interfraternity Council. Merlin Nice is a sophomore starter for Wabash's highly-ranked basketball team; while Dave Soper, co-captain of the track team, received the Senior Award of Merit.

As we anxiously await the summer, Indiana Gamma wishes you the best of health and success in the ideals of the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi.

Spring '82

With spring approaching and winter in the past, the men of Washington Alpha would like to recognize twelve new Brothers brought into the fold: Dave Newell, Jeff Likes, Jay Jackson, Chris Dickinson, Rob Bony, Rob Perrin, Mark Hall, Jacques Nguyen, Dan Gage, Jon Puro, Keith Brown, and Eric Leyde. This brings the total number of initiated members since Washington Alpha's founding in 1914 to 1,233.

New officers for the spring are Mark Crisler, GP; Jim McDonough, VGP; and AG; Mike Williams, P; Ed Taylor, BG; Mark Wood, SG; Matt Ohlinger, Hod; Glenn Olarte, Phu; and Greg Olson, Hi.

The annual Toilet Bowl was held in January, after the pledge test. This football game pits the Brothers against the pledges. This year's game was played in the mud and cold and as usual the Brothers won by a score of 35-0.

We would like to thank all alumni that attended the Founder's Day celebration in February and we hope that all the fond memories experienced as an undergraduate returned when you visited the Chapter House.

Welcome and a "Hi, Hi, Hi!" to our newest pledge, Hyung Song, who comes from Olympia, Washington.

There is a new face around Washington Alpha, it's our new Siberian Husky pup—"Kodiak." Be sure to look for him when stopping by the house.

Greek Week is only a month away and already the Brothers are looking forward to it. We hope to do well in the events and in the school year ahead.

Domination

Another fine rush program is winding to a close under the chairmanship of senior Clayton T. Hardon. Decreasing male enrollment and increasing administrative pressures make each year a larger challenge in the neverending search for quality pledges, but the Brothers of Pennsylvania Alpha are rising to the occasion. The high point of the rush program centered on our "Around the World" party for which each wing of the house was decorated as a different country. The party was a huge success and is sure to help our rush efforts.

The Mother Chapter won the Third Annual Greek Sing for the third straight year.

The W&J varsity football team, dispite a losing campaign, had a few bright spots contributed by Brothers.

Jeffery Doyle, '82, a 220 lb. sophomore, was voted to the All-Presidents Athletic Conference after a magnificent season at defensive end. Senior Pete Soom was also elected to the All-PAC team, as the leading punter in the conference. Max Regula, the team captain, was presented with Academic All-America honors and also was awarded a Division III NCAA postgraduate scholarship which he will use next fall when he is planning to enter law school. The team was well represented by the Chapter with sixteen varsity performers. Dominic Papalia, William Krahe, Paul Cessar, Mike Thomas Chris Dunn, Dan Crain, Clay Hardon, Ted Zierden, Tim Bracken, John Kelly, Chris King, Louis Dayich, Ray DiCarlo, and Gary Wilson all participated in the Presidents' season.

Clay Hardon was elected president of the lacrosse club which is also peppered with Brothers. Mike Sisk, Paul Schofield, Jeff Doyle, Chris King, John Kelly, Richy Finoli, and John Barry are all looking forward to this year's competition.

Chapter President, William T. Dymond, received the Solon Summerfield Award for his service to the Fraternity and his outstanding scholarship.

The W&J wrestling team is almost completely sponsored by our Chapter.

Dave Krivus, at 142 lbs., was a 1981 All-American selection as a sophomore and is well on his way again this year as he is unbeaten thus far. Thomas Morrell, 177; John Glusica, 190; Tim Morrell, 167; Jeff Mills, 134; and Tom Noble at 190 are all contributing winning efforts.

Life at W&J is, as in years past, dominated by Phi Kappa Psi. We can be found in all aspects of college life setting the trends. The Brothers of the Mother Chapter extend a hardy welcome to all area Brothers . . .

Washington and Lee Campus Leadership

Winter term has begun here at Washington and Lee and the newly elected officers have assumed their positions. The officers for the 1982 school year include: President Jody Harris, Baltimore MD; Vice President Eric Campbell, Garden City, NY; and Treasurer Ken Robinson, Fairfax, VA.

Outside the Chapter, Virginia Beta members are showing strong leadership in campus activities. Steve Corbeille has been appointed Head Dormitory Counselor, Mark Anderson will be an Assistant Head Dorm Counselor: Jim Clark, Mark Lukes and Trey Mamo are newly appointed counselors. Seven members of the Chapter are participating in Varsity sports this winter and spring. Three members are playing lacrosse, two are baseball players, three are on the track and field teams, two are swimmers, as well as one hoopster. During the fall, Sophomore Rand McLain, Miami, FL, was named an All-American in water polo. Sean McNulty, Baltimore, MD, is serving as an assistant lacrosse coach for nearby Virginia Military Institute. Virginia Beta also captured the team titles in intramural swimming and wrestling.

Overall the Chapter is in excellent shape both physically and internally with its members. The upcoming months are especially important as the pledge class is preparing for initiation on Feb. 27. There are five new pledges since fall rush. Included are Craig Westbrook, John Long, Scott Van Meter, Gary Clements, and Jeff Reichert.

The winter social schedule will be out-standing with the traditional "Hall Crawl" kicking off W and L's 75th annual Fancy Dress Weekend. Soph. West Virginia Dominating Greetings from West Virginia Alpha. Having experienced another successful semester, we would like to share our achievements with you as we continue our academic and intramural excellence, as well as our social involvement begun here some 92 years ago.

Our GP for this semester is Bradley Williams with Anthony Finamore as VGP. Other newly elected officers include Edward Stike, BG; Robert Cortez, Hod; Richard Mundrane, Phu; and Philip Compton, Hi. These officers all had a hand in making our Founders Day a success this year.

Founders Day was celebrated on February 20 and was highlighted by having John R. Donnell Jr., National President, as our guest speaker. Jack Bowman, '58, served as Symposiarch for the afternoon's affair. Award presentations were as follows: the Harlan B. Selby Award to Brad Williams for most enduring contribution by a senior; the Solon E. Summerfield Award to Trey Hornor for scholastic excellence by a senior; the Jeffrey C. Carmichael Award to Jeff Heddaeus for greatest contribution to intramural sports; the Scholarship Award to Phil Compton and Mike Sullivan for maintaining the highest GPA in the Chapter; the Corson-Brashear Award for scholarship within the newly initiated pledge class to Matt Mazanek who also won the Best Pledge Award; and the Most Active Phi Psi Award was given to Jim Hamer.

Twenty-two fine young men were welcomed into our chapter on this date. They are: William J. Armstrong, Thomas E. Burns, and Eric J. Mitro, Pittsburgh, PA; John Deiriggi, David Z. Kendrick, James C. Wang, and Steven D. Reed, Fairmont; Curtis P. Miller, Anthony J. Null, and Steven C. Tomer, Parkersburg; Darin Eames, James D. Summers, and Bradley L. Thomas, Morgantown; John B. Davis and Charles W. Kersting, Clarksburg; Craig H. Shelton and Jeffrey C. Wasson, Huntington; Franklin M. Dunn, South Charleston; David N.

DiCarlo, Alexandria, VA; Stanley P. Wellman, Fairfax, VA; Matthew J. Mazanek, Hermitage, PA; and Joseph W. Chambers, St. Petersburg, FL. Newly initiated Brother Chambers is one of the top players on the W.V.U. tennis team.

West Virginia University's athletic teams are having outstanding seasons in many sports. The Mountaineers won the Peach Bowl with many Brothers and alumni alike joining in the New Year's festivities. Our basketball team has cracked into the national ratings for the first time in over a decade, and the success has led to some great social activities. Our intramural basketball team has followed the Mounties' lead and has dominated the All-Campus intramural schedule.

Our major fund raising project for the year is a Leukemia Radiothon which was established in 1977 in memory of C. B. Shingleton, '75, who died of leukemia. To this date, over $70,000 has been raised for leukemia research. This year's activities will be highlighted by our Second Annual Run For Leukemia on April 25.

Our spring pledge class consists of eleven fine young men. They are: Chuck Bennett, Bill Visnic, Steve Magnone, and Leonard Tost, Weirton; Ray Harron, Bridgeport; John Prendergast, Fairmont; Dave Warne, Washington, PA; Chris Cates, Houston, TX; Todd Barlow, Morgantown; Tom McLister, Rockville, MD; and Dennis Greza, Bruceton Mills.

John Miesner recently was elected to a position on the Board of Governors, the governing body of campus affairs. Also, an alumnus was awarded a high honor recently by W.V.U. Hale Posten, '21, was named the 1981 Outstanding Alumnus by the Univer-

Progress

Yes, readers of THE SHIELD, there is an Ohio Beta Chapter. Our Chapter is not only alive; it is vibrant, progressive, and growing. The recent steps forward made at Ohio Beta have been astounding.

This year rush was extremely successful. We are proud to announce that we took twenty-one new pledges this term: Charles Newton, Rochester, NY; Craig Riddell, Bryn Mawr, PA; Hector Jose Riquezes, Caracas, Venezuela; Thomas Yih, Bedford; Beau Bolce III, Cincinnati; Fredrick Cole, Lexington, KY; William Connelley, Hamburg, NY; Daniel Floyd, East Aurora, NY; Thompson Ford, Grand Rapids, MI; Jay Hicks, Granville; James Holtvoigt, Miamisburg; Greg Benson, Poland; David Biederman, Cincinnati; Richard Kimmey Jr., Perrysburg; Brian Murphy, Alexandria, VA; Jeff Freedman, Euclid; Timothy Kilonsky, Hudson; Thomas Patterson, East Aurora, NY; Alan Scott and Robert Brownley, New Canaan, CT; and Stuart Baker, Rochester, NY.

New officers have been elected for 1982. They are: James E. Lesko III, GP; David Williams, VGP; Chris Kunkle, P; Derek McKelvey, Asst. P; Gregory Billstone, AG; Daniel McNichol Jr., BG; Charles Jenkins, Hod; George Smith, Phu; and Steven Trinter, Hi.

Local alumni were invited to a Founders Day party which we hosted on February 20. Our other social events include the annual Pledge Dance, an Irish Wake, and a Green Man party.

We have made numerous improvements to our Chapter house this year. New furniture for the front lounge was purchased, the parapit roof has been repaired, and new furniture for the kitchen is being considered.

California, Santa Barbara Cal Zeta Reestablished!

We are pleased to announce the reestablishment of Cal Zeta at the University of Califonia, Santa Barbara. With the help and guidance of Phi Psi's Chapter Consultants, Timothy McCourt and Gary Goldstein, the colony was established with twenty-one members on Oct. 30, 1981. In October, two of our members represented us at the District VI Council at Washington Alpha and in December, we were recognized as a full member of the UCSB Interfraternity Council and have been represented at each of the weekly meetings.

Socially, we have been very active with both the fraternities and sororities in numerous exchanges. We were very successful during Christmas with a night of caroling. We have kept in touch with the other Chapters in our district; in February we visited Cal Epsilon (UCLA), and are planning a trip to Cal Beta (Stanford). We are looking forward to meeting the Phi Kappa Psi alumni of Santa Barbara County, as we have an alumni banquet planned for March 26, 1982.

Our Colony is looking forward to a bright future expanding with quality members. We have just pledged our first group of nine fine men. We are confident of obtaining our charter in the fall, as we look forward to our installation as a Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi.

Michigan Moving Right Along

Things are moving well at the Michigan Alpha Colony in Ann Arbor after only a few months of being back on campus. We now have thirteen initiates of the Colony, many of which are now officers. Ten of these were initiated last November. They are: Robert Scott Russell, GP, Ann Arbor; Albert Joseph Titran, VGP, Troy; Robert Paul Schlueter, AG, Troy; Michael Lee Vernier, Rush Chairman, Troy; Alan Martin Koschik, P, Atlanta; Eric Randall Ball, Troy; Blaine James Dennis, VGP pro tem, Flint; Kevin Robert Dasen, BG, Flushing; Jeffrey Michael Gibson, Hod, Farmington Hills; and Dan Charles Plitt, Phu, Garden

City. The other three were initiated in early February: Stephen Hawley Youtsey, SG, Coldwater; John Frederick Doss, New York, NY; and Mark Douglas Pakkala, Flint. All are hard at work to help reach our goal of becoming a Chapter.

Rush was held at the Michigan Union building on campus because we had no house of our own at the time. Even without a house, it was a great success and we have sixteen quality pledges to show for it: Dennis James Wiser, Dewitt; Jayson Chong Sang Pang, Honolulu, HA; Kevin James Sobnosky, Hudson, OH; Paul William Vicory, Aurora, IL; Theodore Douglas Shaw, Livonia; Bruce Warren Chaffee, Midland; Robert Francis Revnew, Grand Blanc; Andrew Stanley Paterson, Westfield, NJ; Robert Douglas Goetsch, Troy; Gregory James Morton, Sterling Heights; Timothy Richard Lohraff, Buchanan; Braeton Grant Taylor, Potomac, MD; Andrew Vincent Antrassian, Taylor; David William Rexford, Birmingham; Daniel Joseph Isola, Harper Woods; and Eryn Lee Czuchna, Rockford. These men are already responsible for many important contributions to the Colony and will be of great assistance in the future.

As of mid February, we were looking at several housing alternatives with the help of Jack Klein, our House Corporation president. We hope to move into a house by next fall. Michigan Alpha Colony wishes to thank Jack Klein along with Gary Goldstein, Chapter Consultant, and Todd Salen, our Colony Advisor, for all their time and support.

The Michigan Alpha water polo team has jumped off to a great start. On February 7, they beat Theta Chi by a score of 14-1 to increase their record to 2-0.

Founder's Day is set for February 24 in Detroit. All are anticipating a great and unforgettable evening.

Spirit throughout the Colony is high and Michigan Alpha is moving right along.

Arizona

The Arizona Alumni Association heads into the new year with a full calendar of activities planned. Kicking off the new year was a Founder's Day celebration held at the Arizona Beta Chapter House. We thank the undergraduates for inviting us to use the Chapter House for this event. Thanks to all who attended and to the undergraduates who helped organize the event.

In the late fall the Arizona Alumni Association held a very successful cocktail party at the University Club in Phoenix. The event was extremely well attended, having generated considerable interest from many Brothers with whom we had lost contact.

Other events planned for the year include several more "happy hour" cocktail parties, a summer party, some special interest events and a celebration of Arizona Beta's 20th year.

In addition to the above, the Arizona Beta Housing Corporation, in conjunction with the Arizona Alumni Association, is embarking on a kitchen fundraising drive. Somewhere out there, we know that there is someone who wants a kitchen named in honor of them. Our thanks to those who are working so hard on this project.

We would like to welcome three new members of the Arizona Alumni Association. Former National President Bob Elliot, Ohio Wesleyan; Paul Gregory, Rider; and Mike Fiery, West Virginia.

The Arizona Alumni Association dues of $15.00 are now payable. Please help us to continue expanding our calendar of events by supporting us in this way. Any questions on upcoming events should be directed to Craig Tribken at 274-4881.

Welcome South, Brother!

All Phi Psis in Georgia are hoping that the 1982 GAC in Atlanta on August 11-15 will be the largest and best ever. "Welcome South, Brother!" is the theme and the local alumni committee is planning a fantastic, festive time for all who attend. So, mark your calendar today!

Founders' Day was a rousing success. Our celebration included a motivating and informative talk by our own, John Donnell, Case Western Reserve '59, President of Phi Kappa Psi. And, Bert Fridlin, Purdue '59, was elected to serve as Atlanta AA President for 1982. Twenty Brothers and pledges of Georgia Alpha Chapter joined with us in honoring our Fraternity's Founders. We were pleased to hear an outstanding progress report on Georgia Alpha which included initiation of four new Brothers and formal pledging of eight men.

Alumni in Georgia are continuing their support of the University of Georgia Chapter by participating in a fund-raising program to purchase the Georgia Alpha chapter house and make it into a permanent Chapter home.

Cooperation and commitment are at an alltime high for this project led by Jim Waldo, Allegheny '50, who is continuing to do an outstanding job as President of the Georgia Alpha House Corporation.

1982 is going to be a great year for Phi Kappa Psi in Georgia. We hope that you will share in it with us by coming to the GAC in August and let us say to you, "Welcome South, Brother!"

The 1982 Founder's Day Banquet was held at the Union League Club through the courtesy of Bob Halliday, our vice-president. Representatives from Beloit, Illinois, Northwestern and the Valparaiso Chapters joined the assembled alumni and shared with them the happenings on campus. Silver and Gold Council awards were given out and this year's project of an alumni directory for the Chicagoland area was described. Nominated for office for 1982 were the following: Pres.-Joe Quilici, Illinois; 1st VP-Jack Novak, Northwestern; 2nd VP-Bob Halliday, Illinois; Treasurer-Tom Whiting, Purdue; 3rd VP-Pat Kirby, Minnesota; 4th VP-Jerry Piper, Missouri; Secretary-Frank Whiting Jr., Illinois; 5th VP-Jim Humphrey, Case Western Reserve; Chaplain—Kent Yowell, Colorado.

The 1981 project, a banner for the Chicago Alumni Association, was displayed prominently before being packed up to be presented to the GAC this summer in Atlanta. Our Association is entitled to two delegates who will make this presentation. Alumni delegates pay their own way. Alumni who can serve as these delegates please contact your Association president. His telephone number is 443-7512. The date of the GAC is August 11-15, 1982.

1982 dues of three dollars may be sent to Thomas Whiting, Treasurer, 2245 Drury Lane, Northfield, Illinois, 60093. This will make sure that you get your notice of the 21st Annual Closed Invitational Golf Tourney, to be played this summer.

Columbus

Despite unusually severe winter weather here in Columbus and most of the rest of the midwest, the Columbus Alumni Association continues to grow, with several Phi Psis coming to lunch for the first time during these past several months. Once the weather moderates and makes the noontime trek to the Athletic Club easier and more pleasant, and all of the "snow-birds" come back home, we expect that attendance will show an even greater increase.

As this is being written, we are looking forward to the observance of Founders' Day in Columbus, with a luncheon at the Ohio Delta Chapter House on Saturday, February 20. In addition to the customary Phi Psi fellowship, we'll enjoy a program that features, among others, Louis de la Foret, Louisiana State '66, an anchorman on Channel 10 News. To encourage alumni from other Chapters to share in this Founders' Day celbration, invitations were sent to 65 non Ohio Deltans who have attended other Columbus Alumni Association functions, or at least have indicated an interest.

As always, we welcome Phi Psis of all ages, from all Chapters, at our regular luncheons every Friday (except holidays) at 12 noon, Columbus Athletic Club, second floor main dining room. Call Joe DeVennish's office (228-3450) for reservations.

The Detroit Alumni Association enjoyed a fine turnout of area Phi Psis at its 1982 Founder's Day Dinner at the University Club in downtown Detroit. The program included the traditional songfest competition along with reports from the Brothers of Michigan Beta and the Colony members of Michigan Alpha. John Burke, Treasurer of our Fraternity, was the keynote speaker. The program also included ten, twenty-five, and fifty year pin presentations to loyal Phi Psis, along with the election of new officers.

Many events are already on the drawing board for this year, including the annual golf outing. We encourage all to attend as a good time is had by all. Mailings will be sent as soon as the plans are finished.

The Detroit Alumni Association is totally dependent upon your dues. Checks for the $6.00 dues should be made payable to: PHI KAPPA PSI, DETROIT ALUMNI ASSOCIATION, and mailed to Jef Farland, President, 8769 N. Territorial, Plymouth, Michigan 48170.

Kansas City

Hello to one and all! I apologize to all of the alumni in the Kansas City area who have been looking for some news. There's a lot to catch up on, so I'll try to fill you in and keep it short.

The 1981 Founders Day was a complete success. Officers that were elected are Charles Allis, president, Chip Dickey, vice president, Dave Fields, treasurer, and Dave Manco, secretary. Charlie, Chip and Dave Manco are Missouri; Dave Fields is Kansas. Four 50 year pins and fourteen 25 year pins were awarded. The 50 year pins went to Joshua Hall, Washington and Lee, Ben Crissey, Brown, Bob Law, Iowa, and James Cleary, Missouri. The evening was rounded off by a great speech from Jean Madden, sportscaster and Missouri alumnus and the presentation of the man of the year award to Harvey Fullerton of Colorado. Some of the more distinguished alumni present were Judge Floyd Gibson, Curt Williams and Joel "we earn it!" Cansler. Oh, by the way, Missouri Alpha undergraduates won the scholarship award and Kansas Alpha won the song contest.

We convened again in August for cocktails at the Rockhill Tennis Club, guest of our fearless leader, Mr. Allis, and again in December for partaking of Christmas spirit and cheer, guests of Mr. John Boyd of Kansas (and national fame).

We are planning our 1982 Founder's Day celebration on February 19th, when we will be electing new officers, awarding man of the year and 50/25 year pins. By the time you read this, all of this will have taken place, but in case you missed the bash, come to lunch any Thursday at the University Club in Kansas City for good food and to catch up. We hope to see any and all K.C. area alumni soon!

Mecklenburg County, North Carolina

It was the night before the great snowstorm of 1982 when the formal organization of the Mecklenburg Alumni Association began. On January 11, a hearty group of Brothers from eleven different chapters met in the sun room of the Barley and Rye to sign the petition, approve the by-laws, and select interim officers. Serving as officers until the first business meeting will be Earl Friend, Washington & Jefferson, as president, Don Etheridge, Duke, as treasurer, and Flynn Brantley, South Carolina, secretary. Serious discussion of the name for the Association resulted in the rejection of several alternate forms (Charlotte, Piedmont, Metrolina) which were deemed too restrictive or too vague. Mecklenburg names the conty in which most of the members live and a cusily identified in the Carolinas as Greater Rockford is in Illinois.

The range of chapters and years of initiation offers a potential for excitement in the Association. Interest and participation by Brothers from as far away as Rhode Island Alpha and Nebraska Alpha, and initiates from the mid-'30's to the late-'70's give evidence to the nationwide and life-long influence of Phi Psi

The first business meeting followed the celebration of the 130th Founders Day. Gathering on February 26 at the Myers Park Country Club for cocktails and dinner, the Brothers later elected officers for the coming year. With doctors, lawyers, salesmen, engineers, accountants, and at least one professional student, the Mecklenburg Association invites all Phi Psis in the area to join us. Quarterly events are being planned with rather informal intermediate sessions for "executive adjustment." For more information, contact in Charlotte, Flynn Brantley—392-2088.

At the time of writing this article we are preparing for a Founders Day Extravaganza. We plan to have a dinner at Spengers Fish Grotto in Berkeley with our Phi Psi Ladies. The Cal Gamma Chapter plans to have a post-dinner party at the Berkeley Chapter house. If you missed Founders Day I will give you a full report in the next SHIELD.

HELP!!! We need your help. We would like to locate any Phi Psis who are living in the San Francisco Bay Area. We are trying to locate any Phi Psis who have recently graduated. We are trying to bring our mailing list up to date and we would appreciate your help. Please send any names and addresses to me.

In honor of our illustrious Founder, William Henry Letterman, we are planning "Billy Day," a trip to an Oakland A's baseball game to watch "Billy Ball" and a post-game "Billy Bar-B-Que." If you are on our mailing list, you will receive all the details soon. If you would like to join us or if you have any questions, call me.

If you know any friends, relatives or neighbors who will be attending one of the universities in the San Francisco Bay Area (University of California—Berkeley, Stanford or University of California—Davis) and you think they would be good Phi Psis, please send me their names, addresses and phone numbers. I will forward the names to the appropriate rush chairman.

Don't forget our monthly lunches on the first Friday of the month in San Francisco and on the last Thursday of the month in Concord. Please see listing in SHIELD for details, or contact me (telephone 415/798-2970). This is a great opportunity to meet new Phi Psis in your area or re-establish old friendships formed in old Phi Psi. HIGH! HIGH! HIGH!

Omaha

Though it has been fiercely cold in Omaha this winter, the Fraternal activities have warmed our spirits (at times, they even glowed!) and helped us to survive. The Association held a very successful affair at Sam Amata's, Creighton, "Deli." The occasion was the large screen viewing of the Creighton-Nebraska basketball game. The C.U. rooters got quiet quickly and turned to enjoy each others company rather than watch the rout. The gathering was fun and could easily become a tradition when the game is at Lincoln.

Reports have it that the Creighton Chapter did well in rush with over twenty new pledges. Congratulations . . . the alumni members look forward to meeting the neophytes at local functions. We also like the new metal letters at the Lodge.

The monthly luncheon meetings are on the Third Thursday at Jack Savage's, Nebraska, "Trovato's"—50th and Underwood at noon have been working out well. So far it has been a good place for undergraduates and newcomers to meet some of the local alumni. It's also a great place for old friends to meet and keep in touch. The dialogue has been valuable at times. Everyone is invited—put the date in your book and let this custom grow and flourish.

Local alumni again are quite prominent in the area. Thousands saw Jim Ensign, Mississippi, president of The Playhouse Board, escorting Jane Fonda around during the "Golden Pond" premiere. Gene Spence, Nebraska, certainly was in the news when he was voted to presidency of the Omaha Public Power District board. Now, if he can cut our electric bills!

A fine crowd is expected at the banquet on Founders Day. Bob Reynolds, Nebraska, is the speaker. President Mark Weber, Creighton, and vice-president Dallas Focht, Iowa State, are running this happy affair complete with reports, toasts and award-giving. More about who got what in a later letter.

If you're new in town, or just wish to renew some ties, join us at "Trovatos" on the Third Tuesday.

Lockwood . . .

For ten years, from the fall of 1899 to the fall of 1909, George B. Lockwood brought out THE SHIELD seven times a year without fail. During that time his own career sent him on to an Indianapolis newspaper and from there to Washington as executive secretary to the vice president of the United States, a forgettable Phi Gam named Charles Warren Fairbanks. Thereafter, he stayed in the capital to found and edit a weekly journal, The National Republican. His loyalty to "Old Phi Psi" never dimmed. and his generous investment of talent and judgment in the Fraternity was a source of strength beyond measure. Charles Van Cleve, who knew exactly whereof he wrote, summed him up: "From the beginning it was easy to see that Brother Lockwood intended to make THE SHIELD more than a financial success. He intended to make it a revenue producer, and, to the amazement of all but himself, he succeeded. There has been a freshness and vigor in the work of our present editor which seems to prove that in the reincarnation of our journal, the faith of Smith, the pertinacity of Van Cleve, the vigor of Little, the sprightliness of Rush, the business sense of Gretzinger, the literary taste of Bray, had been fused into one superb soul who followed no precedents, but who somehow knew how to make things go . . . he far surpassed any of us in the vigor and force and business-like ability with which he conducted the journal, which in a number of ways excelled any fraternity journal in the country . . . Each of my successors I think approached more and more nearly to what we conceived to the ideal fraternity journal, but I think none of us would claim that we approached it so nearly as has George Lockwood . . . To be true to itself. Phi Kappa Psi must rise up and call George B. Lockwood blessed."

Let George Lockwood speak for himself: "Old Phi Psi, old Phi Psi, our faith to thee is plighted; Till life is past our love shall last And we shall stand united; And tho' a myriad friendships sweet May crown the coming years, For our lost comradeship we'll sigh with tenderness and tears."

Scheider . . .

"I think a New York actor has a certain advantage in that he probably has had more experience and training in all facets of acting," explains Scheider. "The chances are he's had many more performances per se under his belt, whether they're on stage or television or whatever. I feel I have an advantage myself... I mean I've done over 80 plays. My career from 1960 to 1971, when I did FRENCH CONNECTION, was in the theatre, and having played that many roles of great variety, I had a history of work on which to draw."

Unlike other film actors who longingly talk about returning to the stage with the same passion Ponce de Leon must have had discussing the Fountain of Youth, Scheider is content to work in movies. "My film career is going well now and I like the work I'm doing. I'm working with excellent directors in what I think are good films. I want to go back to the stage, but not now. There's no 'must-return-for-my-art' sentiment at all."

Scheider can indeed point with pride to his recent forays into motion picture acting. His co-stars have been Jane Fonda, Gene Hackman, Robert Shaw, Dustin Hoffman, Laurence Olivier; his directors Alan Pakula, Stephen Spielberg, John Schlesinger, and William Friedkin, for whom he worked in both THE FRENCH CONNECTION and SORCERER, as well as Jonathan Demme, for whom he recently starred in LAST EMBRACE.

To Roy, acting affords the unique opportunity to play out many different moods, to develop different aspects of his personality that the average person keeps repressed. "That's the attraction in acting," he says, scoffing at the conventional idea of success and recognition being a primary motive. "To be all those different people, to live out all those different lifetimes—it's a little like being God. You choreograph your own death so many times." Despite the obvious introspection of Scheider's acting, he insists that "taking a role home" is not part of his thespian philosophy. "I've never felt the behavior of the character effects my real behavior. I think I can be upset by a character, brood over a character, even spend a sleepless night over a character, but it doesn't last.'

Roy, his wife Cynthia and daughter Maximillia, make their home in New York. Cynthia, a film editor and documentary producer, was the assistant film editor on THE FRENCH CONNECTION, THE SEVEN-UPS and SORCERER. She has just completed her first full-fledged film editing assignment on BREAKING AWAY, written by Phi Psi Steve Tesich, Indiana '62.

Scheider, who describes himself as a cross between a night-owl and an insomniac, feels most at home in New York, "because it is a night city." He rarely feels like sleeping before 3 AM and, when working on a film, has to condition himself to get to bed by eleven each night. To add to his hectic film schedule and the inundation of film scripts at his door, Roy is also part owner of the Joe Allen restaurants in both LA and Paris.

Who knows . . . perhaps next year THE SHIELD will once again report on Brother Sheider, as Phi Psi's most recent Oscar winner?

"Fraternity Row" makes its SHIELD debut in this issue, the first of what we hope to be many from the artist's pen of John F. Hummel, Jr., Penn State '74, who recently accepted the position of official Phi Psi cartoonist. John is a past Fraternity Chapter Consultant, and currently resides in San Francisco.

Meet the New Archons

Phi Psi's government is unique in the Interfraternity world, entrusting six undergraduates on a ten man board with the responsibility of serving in leadership capacities at the highest level. Meet the new Archons, elected last fall, who will serve until the fall of 1983.

Jeffery Dean Bittner joined Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Pennsylvania on March 25, 1979. Jeff's District I covers the Fraternity's Chapters in the Northeast, from Rhode Island down to Virginia, and has 12 Chapters altogether. Brother Bittner is an Arts and Sciences major, whose home is in Nazareth, Pennsylvania.

Robert Francis Marchesani, Jr., District II's new Archon, was initiated by the Pennsylvania Nu Chapter on December 10, 1979. As a Junior at Indiana University of Pennsylvania, Bob is active in the IFC and intramural sports and serves Penn Nu as Corresponding Secretary. Brother Marchesani hails from West Chester, Pennsylvania, and will lead a District that surrounds Phi Psi's birthplace in Western Pennsylvania, containing 14 Chapters.

James Michael Jones was elected District III's Archon, and is a Junior at Miami University in Oxford, Ohio. Initiated April 23, 1981 by his Ohio Lambda Chapter, Brother Jones plans on using his extensive experience in campus politics and communications skills to better intra-District interchange among the 15 Midwest Chapters.

Byron Douglas Norfleet is an active leader in the Tennessee Delta Chapter at Vanderbilt University. Initiated March 16, 1980, the Junior from Manchester, Tennessee has been involved in his state's House of Representatives and an enthusiastic worker in his Chapter's alumni relations program. Now serving District IV as Archon, Brother Norfleet will work with Phi Psi's 14 most southeastern Chapters.

Burns Harris Davison III was elected District V's Archon last fall at his home Iowa Beta Chapter, where he joined Phi Kappa Psi on December 15, 1979. The Des Moine's Junior follows in the footsteps of his father and grandfather, both of whom were initiated into the Fraternity. With a District of 14 Chapters running from Minnesota to New Mexico, Brother Davison sees communication with the Chapters important in his duties.

Enrico A. Hernandez is the new District VI Archon, serving Phi Psi's enthusiastic 14 far West Chapters. Initiated originally October 3, 1978 by the California Beta Chapter at Stanford, "Rico" has transferred his membership to the Cal Gamma Chapter at the University of California, Berkeley, where he is pursuing a Masters of Business Administration degree. Calling San Jose home, Brother Hernandez was instrumental in the reorganization of his Cal Beta Chapter, and serves Cal Gamma as a Tutor-in-Residence.

James W. Scott Housing Fund had exceeded its goal. Special thanks go to all of the Brothers who gave money to help the Housing Corporation. Thanks to your efforts, the Housing Corporation will receive matching funds from Brother Jim Scott, Cornell. (If you are late in sending in your donation, please do as soon as possible.) Jim Scott was the first Chapter Advisor to S.C. Alpha. While he no longer holds that position, he continues to be a loyal supporter of Phi Psi in South Carolina.

All S.C. Alpha Alumni are encouraged to attend the 1982 GAC to be held in Atlanta. This will be an excellent opportunity for all of us to get together. It will also allow us to participate in the government of the Fraternity. Based on other GACs, everyone finds time for Phi Psi Fun.

South Central Kansas

The South Central Kansas Alumni Association celebrated Founders Day on February 19th with a banquet at the Wichita Club. Making our second annual Founder's Day a success was Gary Angstadt, Executive Director of the Fraternity. New officers for next year were announced at the meeting and they are as follows: Bob Arbuckle—president, Jim Saffels—vice-president, John Ziegelmeyer—treasurer, Randy Westfall—rush coordinator, Walter Jones—secretary, and Paul Brooker—director. This event has been met with much enthusiasm the past two years and we are already looking forward to the next year.

Stepping back to 1981 we would again like to thank the alumni Brothers in Hutchinson for the festive Christmas party on December 4, for both Alumni and their wives. This party was greatly enjoyed by those in attendance and we do appreciate the hospitality of our Hutchinson Brothers.

Our Alumni Association sponsored a rush party for area rushees on January 9 and this was a big success with forty in attendance, including a number of undergraduates from the Kansas Alpha Chapter. Brother Paul Brooker donated the use of his office complex for this party and we do appreciate his sincere help in an effort to pledge more area boys. Our Association is planning to sponsor additional rush functions in the months ahead and therefore encourage you to contact the respective rush chairman or alumni rush coordinator with names of prospective rushees.

Texas South Plains

The S.P.A.A. continues to strive forward in its quest for housing for Texas Beta, with the purchase of a .75 acre lot adjoining Greek circle. This land was acquired at a cost of $10,200 which leaves $20,000 in the housing fund. Hopes are bright that a Chapter house will stand on this earth someday.

Founder's day was enjoyable to all who attended. David Norman, '66, was voted outstanding alumnus, in recognition of his going to bat for the undergraduates against the I.R.S. The undergraduates showed off their new quarters (1301 University) during a cocktail hour before the dinner. All the alumni present made sure that the Chapter knew that they have it easy compared to how it use to be in the "old days."

The S.P.A.A. continues to grow with more alumni Brothers becoming involved as times goes on. In December a group of Brothers from the Midland Alumni Association traveled to Lubbock and met with local alumni. In order for our Association to continue to grow we need you! Of over 600 alumni Brothers from Texas Beta, only a fraction are active. Please, join in and help to reaffirm the bond you have with the Fraternity. You do make a difference!

This correspondent is looking forward to attending the 1982 G.A.C. in Atlanta and hopes to bring back many good ideas to the Association. It is also the intent of this writer to show the proper Texas hospitality to all those less fortunates who were not born in the Lone Star state. Till August . . .

Yet he seems unable, not to mention unwilling, to take on any of the chilly dignity that often accompanies wealth. He has a residual, sincere interest in people, asking as many questions of others as they do of him, and expresses an exuberant sense of wonder at first sight of anything fresh or unfamiliar.

He remarried several months ago, to a Beverly Ricono, a Palm Springs real estate agent, and although he acknowledges the fact when asked, he does not wear a wedding ring and seems more hesitant than usual in volunteering information, almost as though by doing so he was being vaguely disloyal to his late wife's memory.

His feelings on the matter are alluded to indirectly, and have a subtle air of self-justification about them, as when discussion Lillian Gish he pauses to remark, "Lillian is so lovely and she's always been beautiful with me. She knew I loved Mary and did the best I could for her, and she wants me to be happy for every bit of the rest of my life."

He clearly realizes that, for better or worse, his name is inextricably entwined with that of Mary Pickford and he feels a strong sense of responsibility for keeping her memory as evergreen for others as it is for him.

The questions asked by the audiences tend to be equally divided between old men and women remembering and curious young film students discovering.

During a recent stop at the Akron Civic Theatre, accompanied by a fine organ score, "My Best Girl" came to roaring life in front of a generous-sized crowd, while its male star proved he can still charm an audience, as well as play the trombone.

The living room of Pickfair is the founding site of the Academy where Mary, Charley Chaplin and Douglas Fairbanks created the coveted prize.

of honey and spun sugar so intense as to turn the strongest stomach, Mary Pickford actually was an extremely naturalistic actress and a superlative comedienne whose screen character was invariably headstrong, spunky and self-sufficient, while the woman behind the character was meltingly beautiful in a demure cool, almost English manner.

She and her future husband were stars who were more than stars. They were idealizations of the public's dreams and their films transcended shallow stereotypes by the absolute conviction with which they were made, a conviction that was reciprocated by the audience. Taken all in all, they made life better, sweeter, richer and happier for two generations, as great stars actually could do in that time when the movies had a certain continuity, and the audience had a certain innocence.

"Did the show go well?" asks Rogers afterward, with that hungry, eager vulnerability that never leaves any actor. "It's sort of hard for me to tell, because I don't watch the movie; brings back many memories, too many memories.

"I'm always a little tentative about doing this because, well, a couple of times I've been talking to someone and I'll overhear someone saying 'He was married to Mary Pickford.' And they say 'Who was she?' That hurts me a little, and then I realize that I'm an old-timer to people. These films are all 50 years old or more and, well, it seems like about 10 or 15 years. I've just lately realized that the days that make up a life are so short, that people should live every day, be happy and do the best that they can all the time.

"Hell, I'm over and done with. I probably should have worked harder. Maybe I couldn't have done what Cary Grant did, but I could have done my own thing. When I was making movies, I knew something was happening—I was getting 30,000 fan letters a month—

The fourth floor pictured here houses many of the Oriental objects d'art collected by Buddy and Mary over five decades. but I honestly didn't know why. The critics weren't too kind to me and that would tear my heart out, because I didn't want to be an actor in the first place. I wanted to do what Rudy Vallee and Fred Waring were doing.

"I should have trained a little bit and worked a little bit. I guess that's my main regret, but then I don't consider myself to be a sophisticated man. I think I could have been a pretty successful banker, but I don't think I was bright enough to be a lawyer. Either way, I'd say I'm a man that knows my way around Kansas better than I do Beverly Hills. I can't say that I ever even thought about myself particularly. I always wanted to build up Mary. You see, I loved her."

The Fraternity is pleased to be the recipient of gifts related directly to Phi Psi, or art and furnishings of the founding era. The Fraternity's Headquarters, Heritage Hall, provides a setting designed to appropriately display these items related in some way to the Fraternity or to society circa 1852.

The handsome grandfather's clock pictured at top is the newest addition to the Founders Room of Heritage Hall. While nearly all the office and other furniture in Phi Psi's Headquarters are antique, this clock is a reproduction but with authentic detail.

Over seven feet tall, the classic time piece has a warm sounding tubular bell chime which may be overheard if telephoning Heritage Hall at the appropriate moment.

The Fraternity was able to acquire the clock thanks to a generous contribution from Dr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Letterman, Missouri '38, and their son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon S. Letterman, West Virginia '72, direct descendents of Founder William Henry Letterman.

A hearty Phi Psi thanks goes to the generous Letterman family for this thoughtful gift!

In addition to his many activities in the I.U. community, Brother Stempel served Indiana Beta as House Corporation Treasurer for 26 years, and was an Emeritus Director at the time of his death. His students, including one Pulitzer Prize winner, recall him as a demanding instructor and stickler for accuracy. Aspiring journalists learned from his insistent directive: "You had better get it right, or you will be selling apples on the street corner." President of Sigma Delta Chi professional journalism society, in 1934 and 1935, Brother Stempel had among his several awards the Bronze Medal presented to him in 1963 by the Columbia School of Journalism. Survivors include two sons, John D. Indiana '79, and Thomas R.

W. LEONARD RENICK, California '21, died of a heart attack in San Francisco on December 3, 1981. A dedicated member of that Chapter at the University of California Berkeley, he served on its House Corporation and was an officer of the Northern California Alumni Association.

A 1925 graduate, Mr. Renick was one of the University of California's most prominent and dedicated supporters. He was the first of thirty-four Renicks and relatives to attend the University of California. He was a retired stock and bond broker who spent his career in San Francisco but travelled the world, always as a Phi Psi and meeting Brothers along the way.

As an undergraduate Mr. Renick was coxswain of the Freshman Crew and later the Senior Class Yell Leader. His affiliations on campus included Rally Committee, Skull & Keys, Winged Helmet, Beta Beta, UNX and Alpha Kappa Psi economics fraternity. He later was President of the San Francisco Junior Chamber of Commerce and during World War II he served as a Naval Officer.

As an Alumnus, Mr. Renick served forty-five years on the University of California Scholarship Committee in San Francisco. He was one of five founders of Bear Backers which raises funds for athletic scholarships at Berkeley. He served as a member of the University Alumni Council, and as a Trustee of the California Alumni Foundation and as its Vice-President and Treasurer.

Mr. Renick was a three time recipient of awards by the University of California. In 1970 he received the Alumni Service Award and in 1981 the Wheeler Oak Meritorious Service Award for leadership in fundraising. Earlier he was awarded an Honorary Big C for his help to intercollegiate athletics. He also helped Cal Gamma in is fundraising campaigns and was a frequent visitor at the Chapter House.

Survivors include the widow Helena of San Francisco and a son Lud Renick, California '47, of Pasadena, California and six grandchildren.

Annual Report

Introduction

"We would like to press home upon every Chapter at the beginning of this college year the Internal Growth importance of giving serious thought to the permanent upbuilding of the Fraternity from within. Every Chapter has within its keeping, in the institution which is the field of its activities, the good name of Phi Kappa Psi. A fraternity is to be judged, not so much either by the brevity or the length of its Chapter roll, as by the grade of its Chapters, that is of the men belonging to them, in every institution in which it is represented. The Chapter which fails in the vigilance necessary to not only maintain but increase its prestige from year to year, is injuring not simply itself, but the whole Fraternity. The problem of strengthening the Fraternity from within is one which should demand not merely the thought, but the effort of every member of Phi Kappa Psi. There has been a notable advancement along these lines in recent years, and the movement forward should be accelerated. The disposition of the Fraternity in the future will be, and ought to be, to remove from the roll Chapters which lag behind during a period when the Fraternity generally is moving forward."

The above quote from the October 1904 issue of THE SHIELD addressed the question of Fraternity growth in typical, straightforward, Phi Psi fashion! In this the 130th rendering of our annual report, growth both internal and external are appropriate measures of our progress. We can state with no uncertainty that Phi Kappa Psi is as strong and vital today as ever in our history. And yet at the same time, we know that there is always so much more that can be done.

For example, the Fraternity ended another successful fiscal year on May 31 (audited reports were not available for this issue, but will be highlighted in the next SHIELD). But Phi Psi funds continue to be comprised of more alumunus than undergraduate dollars. The decrease in number of pledges, from 1,679 reported last year to 1,462, and the nearly stagnate number of initiates yielded fewer funds from the undergraduates to operate Phi Psi than one year ago. In this same time period, alumni participation in the Fraternity's ongoing contribution campaign, the Alumni Support Program, increased a dramatic 17.4% in dollars raised, and increased an equally dramatic 11% in terms of numbers of participants. Phi Kappa Psi is nearly unique in the interfraternity world, in that a majority of our income is derived from non-undergraduate sources, i.e. investment income and alumni gifts. It is a logical long-term goal for the Fraternity to move in the direction of generating a higher percentage of funding from undergraduate sources.

Escalating costs continue to tax the resources of Chapters, House Corporations and the Fraternity. Universities are raising dormitory and tuition charges by 12%-17% annually, but House Corporations hestitate to insure sufficient income by raising rent charges competitively. Cutting financial corners in all areas of operations is definitely the order of the day, but some costs increase beyond our ability to control . . . postage for THE SHIELD doubled in January, and there is debate on doubling those charges again! Only those organizations who can meet such financial challenges head-on and maintain services vital to their constituency will survive.

Phi Psi certainly had challenges other than financial in this report year, March 1, 1981—February 28, 1982. At a time when undergraduate interest in joining fraternities is climbing steadily upward, two of our Chapters were forbidden by their Universities to recruit new members through the rush system routine on their campus. One Chapter was charged with conducting pledge activities alleged to be in violation of antihazing ordinances, and the other Chapter was charged with violating that University's policy regarding use and sale of alcohol. Both situations could have resulted in the loss of a Chapter, but on both campuses, the Chapter, local alumni, University administrators and Fraternity staff worked cooperatively in effecting positive and dramatic change. It has been Fraternity practice in recent years to separate individuals from the Chapter who are determined to violate anti-hazing or other rules of order; rather than throw the proverbial baby out with the bath water and punish an entire Chapter for the actions of a few of its members, this method of handling antisocial behavior on an individual basis has been satisfactory. Part of the task is to convince University administrators working with Greek systems that this method is indeed preferable to the "kick-the-Chapter-off-campus" syndrome still prevalent in some administrative circles.

Another challenge in the report year involved a University whose premeditated effort to usher in "co-ed" fraternities claimed our Chapter, and threatens other fraternities on that campus. Rather than program adequately for women whose arrival to the formerly all-male institution is recent, the administration has decided that campus fraternities are an (Continued on page 137)

Welcome South, Brothers!

August 11-15 Hyatt Regency Atlanta, Georgia

Phi Kappa Psi's 61st Grand Arch Council will be held at the magnificent Hyatt Regency Hotel, Atlanta Georgia Wednesday through Sunday, August 11-15, 1982. Registration will begin at 2:00 P.M. Wednesday, August 11, with an official welcome to Atlanta beginning at 8:00 P.M.-an informal get together for all Phi Psis, their ladies and special guests. The Grand Arch Council will adjourn at about noon on Sunday, August 15. Between the opening gavel and the closing ceremony, there will be an exciting program, full of fun and business, for the enjoyment of all in attendance.

Atlanta

Host to the 1982 GAC, Atlanta promises to win the hearts of visitors from both sides of the Mason-Dixon line. A commercial giant in the Southern U.S., and more than a growing metropolis, Atlanta is called a magical place where the 20th century rubs elbows subtly with graceful natural surroundings.

The many parks within Atlanta offer a pleasant variety of ways to slow down and enjoy the countryside. Grant Park (certainly NOT named after Ulysses S. Grant, but after Lemuel P. Grant who planned the breastwork fortifications for the 1864 Civil War Battle of Atlanta and who donated the original acreage to the city) is Atlanta's oldest, and also houses the City Zoo. At the northern edge of the city is Piedmont Park, home of the Piedmont Botanical Gardens, and just a short drive from Atlanta is the famed Stone Mountain Park, boasting the world's largest single mass of exposed granite, on which is carved the relief sculptures of Confederate President Jefferson Davis, and his famous generals, Robert E. Lee and Thomas J. "Stonewall" Jackson. Stone Mountain is prized for its picknicking, camping and fishing facilities as much by Atlantans as by visitors.

If the more tranquil surroundings of Atlanta are not quite what you had in mind, there are a host of activities just steps from the GAC Hyatt Regency Hotel. The "Gone With The Wind" Museum, the Omni Coliseum (home of the NBA Hawks) and a variety of restaurants and night spots are nearby. Or travel a bit farther to the Memorial Arts Center to hear the Symphony Orchestra, or enjoy the collection at the High Museum of Art. One of the most beautiful theaters in the U.S. is alive and well and living in Altanta. The Fox Theater, with its elaborate architecture is second in grandeur only to New York's Radio City Music Hall.

The Phi Psi ladies program will include tours of historic Atlanta highlights such as the Swan House, former Atlanta's impressive skyline as viewed from Grant Park.

The Swan House, complete with swans in pools surrounding the Atlanta estate, is on the ladies tour.

home of the Inman family, the wealthy railroad magnates. The house is richly decorated and beautifully landscaped. The swan motif is incorporated into the architectural detail and furnishings, hence the name. The GAC local committee has arranged for plenty of time for touring, shopping and relaxation for the ladies, and children, too, will enjoy the spacious Hyatt swimming pool.

Hyatt Regency

The heart of modern Atlanta is Peachtree Center, a look at tomorrow today... with office towers, covered skyways connecting its buildings, charming garden plazas, works of art, shops, restaurants, a unique dinner theater and much, much more.

A major attraction of Peachtree Center is the Hyatt Regency Atlanta, the Center's first hotel and an essential part of the exciting complex . . . so much a part that you won't even have to venture outdoors to enjoy all that the center has to offer.

Step into the lobby and you know immediately why the Hyatt Regency Atlanta is the most talked about hotel of the past decade. The famous open atrium lobby stretches upward, a great expanse of skylit space some 23 stories high. Glass elevators, a floating cafe, balconies everywhere all combine in this exceptional hotel. Just completed renovation of guest and meeting rooms makes the Hyatt the place to be come August.

GENERAL INFORMATION Delegates

Each Chapter should immediately elect three Grand Arch Council delegates—two undergraduates and an alumnus. Alumni Associations in good standing* are entitled to three GAC delegates.

Chapter Advisors, Area Directors

Every Chapter should induce its Phi Psi Chapter Advisor and Area Director to attend the GAC and should contribute to his travel expense if possible. This investment will lead to valuable dividends in the way of counsel, advice and guidance.

Bulloch Hall, the Greek Revival childhood home of Theodore Roosevelt's mother, located in the North Atlanta Metro area.

^{*}An Alumni Association must have paid $50 to the Fraternity Headquarters for each of the two years immediately preceding the GAC to be eligible to vote. The payment, due May 1 of each year, includes $35 for the general expenses of the Fraternity and $15 for the Endowment Fund.

Credentials

Delegates should present the original credentials form at the convention registration desk at the Hyatt Regency when you arrive.

Attendance at Council Sessions

At least one delegate from each Chapter and Alumni Association entitled to representation must attend each session of the GAC. The fine for missing a roll call is $10. Each delegate has one vote. According to the Fraternity's By-Laws, Chapters and Alumni Associations shall not instruct their delegates to vote in any specific way upon any matter. Every undergraduate, alumnus, pledge, or Colony member, whether an accredited delegate or not, is cordially invited and sincerely urged to attend the 1982 GAC. All members are welcome to come to each session and are given the privileges of the floor.

Delegate Expense

An allowance is provided each Chapter and Colony to help cover the travel expenses of delegates. The Fraternity does not reimburse expenses of Alumni Association delegates.

This allowance may be distributed among the delegates in any manner prescribed by the Chapter or Colony. Allowances will be paid at the designated hour the last day of the GAC.

Chapter and Colony Records

Delegates should bring the Chapter's or Colony's most recent financial statement or audit. No additional books or records are necessary unless specifically directed by the Executive Council.

Arrival and Departure

The first function of the GAC begins at 8:00 P.M. Wednesday, August 11, with adjournment as close to noon as possible on Sunday, August 15. You should plan your arrival and departure accordingly. Delta air lines is offering special GAC rates to Atlanta . . . call toll free for additional information 800/241-6760 (in Georgia, 800/282-8536).

Honors and Awards

Outstanding scholarship, leadership, publications, and other awards will be recognized at the GAC awards luncheon, Friday, August 13. Please be certain your Chapter has submitted copies of its newsletter and rush booklet to the Fraternity headquarters so they may be included in the competition. There are various other GAC nominations and application forms deserving Chapter attention mailed throughout the Spring.

Standing with the Fraternity

It will be embarrassing to both the officers of the Fraternity and individual Chapter delegates if the GAC is told of any debt owed the Fraternity. When the Fraternity's fiscal year ends May 31, the books are audited for submission to the Grand Arch Council.

Chapter officers are requested to determine the exact financial position of their chapters with the Fraternity, and to make arrangements to pay any outstanding debts before August 11. Any Chapter whose account with the Fraternity is in arrears 90 days or more will not be entitled to vote upon any matter coming before the GAC. Each Chapter, however, must be represented at the GAC.

ENDOWMENT FUND NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the biennial meeting of the Endowment Fund of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity will be held on Saturday, August 14, 1982, during the 61st Grand Arch Council at the Hyatt Regency, Atlanta, GA, for the purpose of electing a Trustee and transacting business as required by the Articles of Incorporation of the Endowment Fund.—Ralph D. Daniel, Secretary-Treasurer.

Ladies and Guests Program

An especially interesting program has been designed for the Phi Psi ladies and guests as outlined above. The Atlanta GAC ladies committee promises a large helping of Southern hospitality for the August visitor . . . Brothers, bring the entire family!

Six Flags Over Georgia

Provisions have been made for an exciting Phi Psi afternoon at the nearby Six Flags Over Georgia amusement park. On Friday afternoon, August 13, transportation will bring you to a funfilled theme park designed to enchant visitors of all ages. Transportation, entrance to the park, and dinner will be provided for an additional $20/person charge.

July 1982

Focus on Phi Psis

Chapter Consultants Timothy P. McCourt, Washington '78, right, and Gary M. Goldstein, California '78, conducted 103 visits to Phi Psi's chapters and Colonies this past academic year.

Indiana Beta became Phi Psi's first Chapter to award Badge number 2000 this report year. Pictured above are those new Indiana University initiates enjoying the historic moment.

existing, built-in reservoir of social life and housing, and that it is cheaper to systematically take over the all-male fraternities than to accommodate the women appropriately. Our Chapter was offered a $60,000 "no interest" loan by the University to accept females as members with no concern for the consequences.

Today's undergraduate Chapter leader in Phi Kappa Psi is faced with an ever-changing college campus. In 1970, part time students made up only 32% of the college population; today, that figure is 42%. Also in 1970, only 41% of college students were female, and now, for the first time in the 200 year history of American higher education, a majority of college students, 52%, are female. Rising tuition costs, scarcity of college loans, shrinking campus enrollments, fewer "traditional age" 18-21 year-olds on campus—all go towards making recruitment of talented men to Phi Psi's ranks challenging. Those Chapters whose programming expands to meet the needs of a modern student will excel. Those Chapters who ignore the realities of a changing fratenity climate, especially in the area of Fraternity Education, will go the way of the dinosaur.

In spite of the above problems, Phi Psi's 130th report year was a good one. Two Chapters were reorganized, at Allegheny College and the University of Tennessee, and we welcomed the new Cal Zeta Colony on board at the University of California, Santa Barbara. And, three new Alumni Associations were chartered, at Wichita, Kansas; Baton Rouge, Louisiana; and Midland, Texas. In addition a concerted effort was made to improve the quality and content of THE SHIELD, and we sense that the Brotherhood noticed the changes.

Records are set to be broken. Alumni Support data, Chapter membership levels, Chapter reorganizations, new Colonies, new Alumni Associations, new Chapters—all are hallmarks by which we can measure success or lack of it in Phi Kappa Psi, and we will strive to build in all areas. But if we are not about the business of educating young men, the leaders of tomorrow; if we are unable to foster friendships that are sincere; if we are not giving the tools for use beyond the college years; if we teach not the ideals of balanced living envisioned by our Founders; no matter what our "numbers" read, we've missed wide the mark.

There is much to be done. With continued hard work of all in Phi Kappa Psi, a year hence, we will not merely look back upon another year of accomplishments, but we will have an even stronger foundation on which to base our plans for the future. "We shall live and we shall flourish!"

Membership

The year in review listed 1,395 new initiates on Phi Psi's Grand Membership Roll, bringing to a total 73,423 men who have joined the Fraternity since Letterman and Moore combined purpose in 1852. The Chapters pledged an average of 20 men, initiating an average 18 of them. The 1,462 pledges reported this year compares to 1,679 last year . . . we estimate that last year's comparatively high number involved several Chapters' "catching up" on reporting pledges.

Progress continues on finding "lost" addresses of our members. This report year, nearly 1,300 Brothers were added back on the rolls. This area of Phi Psi membership will get additional attention.

Colonies

The Fraternity operated two Colonies this past year, at the University of Michigan, Ann Arbor, and the University of California, Santa Barbara. Both Colonies will regain Chapter charters upon installation, returning Michigan Alpha founded in 1876 and lost in 1972, and California Zeta, whose existence spanned 1969-1972.

No Loss of Chapters

During the year under review, no Chapter charters were revoked or suspended.

Numbers in Chapters

Even though the average Chapter size increased slightly over last year, only one Chapter, Penn Gamma at Bucknell, reported over 100 members, with 107 Brothers on their roll. Rhode Island Beta's 99 men at the University of Rhode Island was second, with Creighton's 97 member Nebraska Beta Chapter third, and West Virginia University's famous West Virginia Alpha Chapter fourth with 95 Brothers.

The Oregon Alpha Chapter at the University of Oregon slated 86 members, with one less member reported by Tennessee Delta at Vanderbilt. Both the Ohio Delta Chapter at Ohio State and the Texas Alpha Chapter at the University of Texas recorded 82 Brothers at Founders Day, 1982. The only other Chapter with membership in the 80's was Illinois Delta at the University of Illinois with 80 men.

Four Chapters reported membership in the 70's: Ohio Lambda, Miami University (76); California Epsilon, UCLA (75); Missouri Alpha, Missouri (72); and Indiana Epsilon, Valparaiso (71).

Thirteen Chapters recorded membership in the 60's: Kansas Alpha, Kansas (69); Indiana Alpha, DePauw (68); Pennsylvania Epsilon, Gettysburg (68); Indiana Gamma, Wabash (64); Mississippi Alpha, Ole Miss (63); California Delta, USC (62); Pennsylvania Nu, IUP (62); Virginia Beta, Washington & Lee (62); Indiana Delta, Purdue (62); Iowa Alpha, Iowa (60); Minnesota Beta, Minnesota (60); New York Alpha, Cornell (60); and Ohio Alpha, Ohio Wesleyan (60).

There were nine chapters reporting 50-59 members, fourteen Chapters had 40-49 Brothers recorded, and eleven Chapters had membership in the 30's. Please see pages 140-141 for complete statistics on the membership of each Chapter and Colony.

District III has Largest Chapters

For the fourth consecutive year, District III's 15 Chapters had the largest average size, with 53.27 men per Chapter, beating out District II's 51.07 man average for 14 Chapters. District VI posted a 47.67 man average for 13 Chapters. The 14 Chapters in District V listed a 46.50 man average, followed by District I's 45.91 men of the 12 Chapters. District IV reported an average of 36.92 men for its 14 Chapters, up slightly from 36.78 men recorded one year ago. District I's average size increased the most dramatically, up 8.83 men per Chapter from last year.

Phi Psi's first Badge number 2000 was awarded this year to John Robert Wiebke of Indiana Beta. Thus the Indiana University Chapter blazes the way to a new membership level and becomes the charter member of our 2000 Club. Indiana Beta was founded in 1869, and has a total of 2,005 initiates.

The exclusive 1500 Club, open only to those Chapters claiming 1,500-1,999 initiates, gained no new members this year. Kansas Alpha at the University of Kansas joined the Club in 1976, and now records, 1,625 Brothers on its rolls. The Ohio Wesleyan Chapter, Ohio Alpha, joined in 1980, and has 1,545 initiates. In 1981, three Chapters joined the Club: West Virginia Alpha at West Virginia University with 1,527 initiates, Pennsylvania Gamma at Bucknell, now with 1,524 Brothers; and Pennsylvania Beta at Allegheny College, recording 1,508 on their roll. Kansas Alpha was founded in 1876, Ohio Alpha in 1861, West Virginia Alpha in 1890, Pennsylvania Gamma in 1855, and Pennsylvania Beta also in 1855.

Two new members of the 1000 Club were welcomed this year joining 30 other active Chapters (and the Michigan Alpha Colony) whose membership total 1,000 to 1,499 Brothers. New to the Club are the California Epsilon Chapter at UCLA, founded in 1931, and the Vanderbilt University Chapter, Tennessee Delta, founded in 1901. California Epsilon now records 1,006 members, and Tennessee Delta lists 1,000 Brothers on their rolls.

Initiates

As reported above, the chapters initiated or transferred a total of 1,395 men during the 1981-1982 period, down slightly from 1,397 last year. The Ohio Delta Chapter at Ohio State recorded the largest number with 68, followed by the Rhode Island Beta Chapter at the University of Rhode Island with 57. Oklahoma Alpha at the University of Oklahoma reported 48 initiates while California Delta at the University of Southern California recorded 46 initiates. Indiana Beta at Indiana University and Nebraska Beta at Creighton tied with 40 new Brothers each.

Pledges

This year, 72 of the Fraternity's 82 Chapters reported 1,462 pledges, for an average of 20 men per Chapter. This compares to 1,679 reported last year. Two years ago, 1,582 men pledged, and the year before that, 1,419. Fraternity law provides that pledgeship terminates: 1) upon initiation into the Fraternity; or, 2) upon expiration of two semesters or three quarters grade reporting periods from date of pledging.

Housing

Changes in housing for the various Chapters this report year include California Iota, University of California-Davis, securing rental property to serve as a lodge; Maryland Alpha, Johns Hopkins, winning a legal battle for the right to purchase their current house; the Texas Tech, Texas Beta, Chapter moved from one rented lodge to another; Alabama Alpha finalized plans for renovating their University of Alabama Chapter home; Penn Iota at the University of Pennsylvania rented the other half of their doubletownhouse, thus doubling their capacity; the Cal Beta Chapter at Stanford began work on a lodge; and both Colonies, the University of Michigan, Michigan Alpha, and the University of California-Santa Barbara, Cal Zeta, begin work on securing competitive housing. The only loss of housing was experienced at Colgate, when the New York Epsilon House Corporation was forced to donate the Chapter home to the University because of financial and other pressures.

This brings to a total of 49 Chapters whose homes are owned by Phi Psi House Corporations. Fifteen Chapters occupy houses owned by the college or university, fifteen rent houses privately, two are provided dormitory sections, and three occupy lodges.

Fraternity Headquarters.

Fraternity Headquarters

Phi Psi's Headquarters marked its fourth anniversary June 1, 1982, in Historic Lockerbie Square. The Indianapolis facility at 510 Lockerbie Street continues to provide an outstanding base from which to operate in an area where neighborhood development continues to markedly increase property values. The permanent Headquarters and museum helps maintain operating costs at growth levels far below inflation. Heritage Hall has welcomed over 4,260 Phi Psis and friends from across the country since opening.

Chapter Visits

During the 1981-82 academic year, the Fraternity's Chapter Consultants conducted 103 visits to Chapters and Colonies. In addition, extensive reorganization work was undertaken at Pennsylvania Beta and Tennessee Epsilon. Nearly 30 other new Chapter development and special visits were made. There were 37 other visits made by Fraternity officers, not counting the several personal visits made by Phi Psi's active Area Directors.

Staff Appointments

The Fraternity continues to enjoy the services of outstanding young men attracted to the Chapter Consultant ranks. Since the rendering of the 129th annual report, Gary M. Goldstein, California '78, left the field staff on April 1, 1982, Steven A. Fawthrop, Washington '79 reported for duty March 28, 1982, and Kenneth A. Harper, Arkansas '80, joined the HQ team June 7, 1982. Consultants Fawthrop and Harper will travel with senior Consultant Timothy P. McCourt, Washington '78, therefore increasing to the number of three Chapter Consultants in Phi Psi's broad domain for the first time since January of 1979.

Meetings

In the year under review, the six District Council/Woodrow Wilson Leadership Schools were conducted, involving 64 Chapters, 6 Alumni Associations, 435 undergraduates and 42 alumni. We thank the following host Chapters for their hard work which produced well-done events: Penn Iota—District I; Ohio Delta—District II; Ohio Lambda—District III; Tennessee Delta—District IV; Iowa Beta—District V; and Washington Alpha—District VI.

The Executive Board of the Fraternity, composed of the four senior officers—the President, Vice President, Treasurer and Secretary, met officially only once separate from the full Executive Council this report year, on March 28, 1981, at the Omni International Hotel in Atlanta, Georgia.

The Executive Council, composed of the four alumnus Executive Board members and six undergraduate Archons, serves as the chief governing body of the Fraternity between meetings of the Grand Arch Council. The EC had two meetings, on May 9, 1981 and December 12, 1981, both at the Fraternity's Headquarters, Heritage Hall. As always, minutes of the Executive Council meetings are available to any Phi Psi, through the Fraternity Headquarters, for a charge of $3.50 to cover photo-copying and postage.

1981 Alumni Support Program

Recognizing gifts received March 1, 1981—February 28, 1982

New Record Set!

For the ninth year in a row, Phi Psi's generous alumni have broken the previous year's giving record. The final roster listed 4,905 gifts received from 4,811 alumni (we especially thank those Brothers who gave twice!). The total this year was $145,412, compared to $123,835 last year, an increase of 17.4%. The average gift per donor was $30.23, up from $24.14 last year. We are particularly pleased that 514 of Phi Psi's loyal contributors gave for the very first time this year. Every Phi Psi on our Honor Roll of Contributors is to be thanked for his participation in last year's program.

The current 1982 Alumni Support program began on March 1, 1982, and will run through February 28, 1983. Therefore, gifts received since this March 1 will be recognized in the Summer, 1983 issue of THE SHIELD.

The Fraternity has asked for voluntary alumni contributions for 30 years. And, for most years, alumni response has been steadily increasing. The overall grand total of contributions received through the support program stands at $1,401,910.25. Alumni generosity this year resulted in a dollar amount that surpasses the first 10 years of alumni gifts, 1952-1961, combined!

Alumni Support Vital

The Fraternity's finances operate to minimize the expense borne by our undergraduate Brothers. For even though a great majority of Phi Psi's resources of time and funds are devoted to services rendered to Chapters and Colonies, the undergraduates fund less than one half of the Fraternity's operating budget . . . this is in large part thanks to the high level of alumni participation in making dollar gifts to the Fraternity. Had we not this generous level of alumni giving, undergraduate pledge, initiation and conference fees would more than double if we were to maintain current services. Alumni Support money helps sustain such ongoing programs as Chapter Consultant work with the undergraduates, Fraternity publications, and undergraduate seminars such as the Woodrow Wilson Leadership School.

Honor Roll of Contributors: March 1, 1981—February 28, 1982

Each year, the names of those who participated in the preceding year's Alumni Support Program are published in THE SHIELD. This year's Honor Roll listing 4,811 Brothers is led off by the giving club recognizing those generous donors of $250 or more, the "Order for the 80's." We point out that all donors are listed in the Honor Roll proper, pages 149 to 154 by Chapter affiliation. Those members who gave an amount entitling them to special recognition are listed again in the appropriate giving Club.

The current 1982 Program is still open for contributions, through February 28, 1983, and all alumni and undergraduates are invited to participate please. Those desiring to give may forward their contribution to the Fraternity Headquarters . . . give now to reserve your proper place in the 1982 Honor Roll of Contributors in next year's annual report!

The new record set by the 1981 Alumni Support Program was due to larger gifts from a greater number of contributors. We were very pleased that 473 more Brothers gave than last year. Thirty-nine donors gave $250 or more, 272 Brothers contributed $100 or more, and 805 Brothers gave $50 or more.

Letters To The Edin

THE SHIELD Editor's mail bag was bombarded with comments on the April issue, and the feature article on Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Kansas '23, was especially popular even Budy himself called to tell us how pleased he was with it! Buddy said he's heard from so many Phi Psi friends as a result of the story. The following two letters we think are particularly worth sharing:

I was interested in your article on Charles "Buddy" Rogers because one time when I was still in school we brothers at Washington Alpha Phi Psi had brother Rogers to dinner at the chapter house. It was either 1938 or '39 and the boys found out that brother Rogers was in Seattle for something, I don't remember what, but we called his hotel and asked him to dinner that coming Sunday and he accepted. We asked him to sign the guest book, which he did, and wrote in the book, "a grand dinner."

I read my SHIELD every issue and go [thru] the chapter letters and the Chapter Eternal section very closely.

John M. Meehan Washington '37 Bellevue, WA

And from another reader . .

Good Job! THE SHIELD is really coming along. The April '82 issue was GOOD. Enjoyed the lead article and emphasis on SUC-CESSFUL PHI PSIS such as Rogers and Scheider. Enjoyed the effective use of color photos. The constructive articles on drugs and alcohol were a nice addition and the questionnaire a nice means of enhancing communication.

Good luck on your continued efforts.

Dr. K. J. Lee Minnesota '68 Corvallis, OR

The other issue in the Editor's mail recently is that regarding the naming of this column. Brother Ernie Lunsford, Iowa State

'74, of Merriam, Kansas offered the following:

Since reading the Letters To The Editor section in the December 1981 SHIELD, I have been waiting for a name for this particular section of our magazine. I fully expected to see a title for the column in the April issue, but .

Letters to Lockerbie, as suggested by Brother Brim is a very appropriate title. Having briefly lived in Indianapolis last summer and fall, I was able to read about and see the development of this area of the city. Indianapolis is proud of this restoration project, and it is very pleasing to see that the Fraternity located its national headquarters on Lockerbie.

So, I hope others will respond, culminating (or at least I hope so) in the official naming of "Letters to Lockerbie."

As and alternative column heading, Brother James L. Reason, Michigan, '47, of Van Nuys, California suggests the following:

Instead of "Letters To The Editor" (which is obvious as they are published in THE SHIELD), I think a more appropriate column heading should indicate FROM coupled with an attention-getter.

With this in mind, I should like to suggest for your consideration:

FROM

PHI PSITES

(Views and sites seem a natural combination) As a second choice:

PSIGHTS

We'll leave this decision to the readers of THE SHIELD . . . opinions on the naming of this column, or other comments regarding THE SHIELD in particular or Phi Psi in general may be forwarded to:

PHI KAPPA PSI FRATERNITY

(INCORPORATED)

Founded 1914

Projects and Programs for 1982

Endowment Fund of Phi Kappa Psi . . . Rewarding Excellence

THE ENDOWMENT FUND . . . rewarding excellence

High ideals, no matter how inspiring, cannot survive in words alone. They must be embodied in actions. The Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity believes that its principles are expressed best through the lives of its members. To that end, the Fraternity's Endowment Fund is committed to stimulating and rewarding performance in scholarship, leadership, and public service. The Endowment's trustees are charged with the task of using the funds contributed by the Fraternity's members and friends both to support standards of excellence and to help young people achieve their educational goals and to develop their talents as fully as possible.

PIONEER IN SCHOLARSHIP LOANS

When the Endowment Fund was founded in 1914—largely through the efforts of Dan Gardner Swannell, Michigan 1983, and John L. Porter, Allegheny 1886—its aim was to make loans to deserving members. Even in the early 20th Century only a few, limited scholarships were available at American colleges and universities, and banks seldom lent money to students. It was also long before the day of government loans or grants for educational purposes. Hence the Endowment Fund became a pioneer in the American fraternity movement by providing assistance to students who could find no other source of financial support. Today the Endowment Fund, which was incorporated in 1922, carries out its work as a private foundation through a variety of programs.

Since 1914 a succession of trustees—eighteen Phi Psis from fifteen different Chapters in all—have conscientiously used the money intrusted to them for the larger and lasting benefit of college students. Just as the Fund's principal has been prudently invested in sound securities, the income has been spent with resourcefulness and care. An investment of any kind involves an element of risk. But, in the case of the Endowment Fund, it is a matter of taking a risk on the lives, educations, and later careers, the very futures, of young people worthy of support. Over a period of almost seventy years nearly 2,500 students have received the support, and hence the endorsement for their future, of the Endowment Fund.

SUMMERFIELD AWARDS

Since 1960 the Endowment Fund has presented the Solon E. Summerfield Awards. Each chapter and colony of Phi Kappa Psi may nominate one of its undergraduate members on the basis of his record in scholarship and leadership. All members thus chosen receive both a certificate and a check for $100; in addition, each recipient's name is added to the Summerfield Award plaque in the permanent possession of the chapter and is publicized in college and hometown newspapers.

Chapter or Colony selections are made during the fall semester and submitted to the Fund's office by mid-November. Then the Fund's scholarship awards committee meets to consider the candidates and makes recommendations to the trustees. The committee is made up of alumni members of the Fraternity who have been or are currently working in higher education.

The late Solon E. Summerfield, Kansas 1899, was a prominent New York businessman and philanthropist whose commitment to academic achievement and leadership is carried on by both the University of Kansas and the Endowment Fund of Phi Kappa Psi.

OUTSTANDING SCHOLARS

From the annual list of Summerfield Scholars three "Outstanding Scholars" are selected for special awards of $3,000, $2,000 and $1,000. It is customary that the awards be applied to the cost of graduate or professional study, but other uses of a more general nature—travel, research and related expenses—are allowable. Each Outstanding Summerfield Scholar is also given a plaque.

FOUNDERS FELLOWSHIPS

The bequest of Tannye and W. Grant Shockley, Missouri 1909, enables the Endowment Fund to award the Founders Fellowships to five members of the Fraternity who intend to undertake graduate or professional study. The fellowships are presented annually in memory of five great Phi Psis: William Henry Letterman, founder of the Fraternity and physician; Charles Page Thomas Moore, founder of the Fraternity and jurist;

C. F. "Dab" Williams, longtime secretary of the Fraternity and journalist; Sion Bass Smith, Fraternity leader and attorney, and W. Grant Shockley, mining engineer and philanthropist. In keeping with Brother Shockley's belief "in the pursuit of excellence," the Founders Fellowships recognize superior achievement in scholarship, leadership, and service.

Members of the Fraternity are invited to submit applications to the Endowment Fund's office in midwinter. The scholarship awards committee considers the entries at its annual meeting in late spring and makes recommendations to the trustees. Each Founders Fellowship is worth $2,000 and is presented with a certificate. All five fellowships are open to applicants from or for any field of study. Though each applicant is asked to describe his leadership and service contributions to his chapter and the Fraternity as well as to his university and community, academic qualifications are generally given greater weight.

BEN KING SCHOLARSHIP

The Ben King academic award comes through the generosity of Benjamin King, Brooklyn Polytenchic 1906. An engineer and manufacturing executive in Great Britain, Brother King has established an annual scholarship for engineering students with the request that it should go to "someone who's working his way through college as I did."

The stronger the applicant's academic record, the better. Undergraduates who are majoring in engineering will be given preference, but students in applied sciences and technology may also be eligible. The amount of the Ben King Scholarship may vary, but is likely to be at least $1,000. The scholarship awards committee will consider applications at its annual meeting in late spring.

TUTORS-IN-RESIDENCE

The Tutors-in-Residence program places able Phi Psi graduate and professional students in the Fraternity's chapters and colonies for the purpose of providing academic counseling and general guidance to the undergraduate members. Five or more such Tutors may be selected each year, and their appointments, though usually limited to one academic year, are occasionally renewed.

The Endowment Fund grants an annual stipend of up to $2,000 for academic expenses, depending on the tuition and fees charged by the Tutor's graduate or professional school. The alumni house corporation of the host chapter is expected to give the Tutor room and board. Overall, the total worth of the Tutorship may amount to about $4,000-$5,000.

The Executive Council of the Fraternity determines which chapters and colonies are eligible for Tutors-in-Residence: the list is available from the Fraternity Headquarters. Prospective Tutors should, of course, be able to manage both the academic demands of advanced study and the broad responsibilities of counseling other students. Accordingly, applicants should have, in addition to academic proficiency, a record of leadership in their own chapters and institutions.

Selecting the Tutors involves the Fraternity's executive staff members, who interview the applicants so that they can advise the trustees. Applications may be made to the Endowment's office at any time during the year, and recommendations are submitted to the trustees on a continuing basis. Any member of the Fraternity who is interested in this program should ask the executive director of the Fraternity, or the director of the Endowment Fund for application forms and information.

LOANS

The Trustees do continue to make emergency loans to students for educational purposes, but they ordinarily regard the Endowment Fund as a lender of last resort. Since 1914 nearly 900 loans have been given out at low rates of interest. As the loans are subsequently repaid, the money is reinvested in other young college students. Loan application forms are available from the Endowment's office.

Because financial institutions and other agencies are now willing to issue loans to students, the trustees of the Endowment Fund have increasingly preferred to give the money outright through a number of scholarships, fellowships, tutorships, prizes, recognition awards, and special grants. Moreover, they have sought to use the resources at their disposal in ways that can be of benefit not only to the immediate needs of younger people, but also to the lasting aims of the fraternity movement as a whole and the higher education community in general.

GRIFFING-TATE FRATERNITY EDUCATION AWARD

To encourage academically and morally sound programs of fraternity education for Phi Psi pledges, the Endowment Fund will give a prize of $1,000 at the Fraternity's Grand Arch Council to the chapter that designs and carries out the most effective program. The award honors the contributions of the late Henry S. Griffing, Oklahoma 1926, the Fraternity's first director of fraternity education and author of the Fraternity Manual, and Winston R. Tate, Kansas 1918, past president of the Fraternity and leader in fraternity education.

Any Chapter of the Fraternity that wishes to compete for the Griffing-Tate Award must present to the Grand Arch Council's fraternity education committee a documented account of its program with particular attention to: academic performance, pledge retention, community/campus service, leadership training, alcohol awareness, results of the Fraternity examination, and the absence of hazing in any form. Any program submitted for consideration must be entirely consistent with the academic standards of the Chapter's college or university and with the principles of the Fraternity as stated in "The Edict" and "The Statement of Fraternity Education."

The award will be given biennially at the Grand Arch Council upon the recommendation of the Fraternity Education Committee of the Endowment Fund.

COMMUNITY SERVICE AWARD

The Endowment Fund encourages community service programs by offering a prize of $1,000 to the Chapter or Colony for the most outstanding program. The biennial award is made at the Grand Arch Council through a special committee whose recommendations are submitted to the trustees of the Fund.

To compete for the award, a Chapter or Colony must present to the committee evidence of what it has accomplished. It is hoped that an entire Chapter will become involved in a single project or a continuing series of activities that will be of genuine benefit to its community. Though no project should be undertaken primarily to gain favorable publicity, it is helpful to have the Chapter's presentation documented with newspaper, television, or radio coverage.

WOODROW WILSON ACHIEVEMENT AWARDS

The Fraternity receives support from the Endowment Fund in providing for the Woodrow Wilson Awards for Scholastic Achievement. The awards are named in honor of the great American president, who was initiated into Phi Kappa Psi at the University of Virginia in 1879 and then transferred his membership to the Johns Hopkins chapter in 1883. The awards are made to chapters and colonies of the Fraternity that attain first place in the academic ranking of their institutions' fraternities. Each receives a plaque and a financial grant, the amount of which is determined by the trustees. The awards are presented at the Grand Arch Council on the basis of the chapters' standing during the previous biennium.

From time to time a special Wilson Award for Outstanding Scholastic Achievement is given to a chapter that has consistently ranked first on its campus over an extended period.

OTHER GRANTS AVAILABLE

Beyond the stated fellowships, scholarships, tutorships, awards and prizes the Endowment Fund regularly makes available, there are other opportunities for members of the Fraternity, students and alumni alike, to request financial support. The trustees of the Endowment welcome proposals for worthy projects in scholarship, research, the arts, continuing education, and other educational endeavors.

An applicant should describe the project, the expenses involved, how long it may take, any special circumstances that apply, and whether financial support is possible from other sources. This information should be sent to the Endowment Fund office. The proposal will be evaluated by advisors competent to judge its merits, and a recommendation will be forwarded to the trustees.

OTHER EDUCATIONAL PROGRAMS

The Interfraternity Institute, conducted each summer at Indiana University in Bloomington, brings together student personnel administrators and fraternity professional staff members to consider topics of common interest. The Endowment usually sponsors two or more participants from the nation's colleges and universities at the week-long session, and occasionally sponsors a member of the Fraternity's own staff. The Center for the Study of the College Fraternity, also based at Indiana University, receives support from the Fund for its continuing research projects and the resulting publications. The Center is the outgrowth of the American College Fraternity Bicentennial Commission, which also received support from the Fund for its comprehensive survey and forecast, Fraternity for the Year 2000. The Endowment is a charter member of the fraternity foundation division of the National Interfraternity Conference.

FRATERNITY SUPPORT

Within the Fraternity itself the Endowment has contributed to the training sessions and workshops that are organized for newly employed chapter consultants and newly elected Archons. From time to time the Endowment also pays the expenses of speakers at such Fraternity events as Founders Day celebrations, Symposia, District Councils, Woodrow Wilson Leadership Schools, and special chapter anniversaries.

FUND DEPENDS ON VOLUNTARY SUPPORT

Unlike foundations of some other fraternities, the Endowment Fund of Phi Kappa Psi does not engage in fund-raising activities. The annual voluntary support solicitation which all alumni receive is the responsibility of the general Fraternity. Nonetheless, the Endowment Fund also welcomes financial contributions from members and friends. Having depended since 1914 on the generosity of those who want to assure that its principles will live and flourish, the Endowment Fund has been able to help hundreds of able and responsible young students complete or continue their studies to the eventual benefit of their communities and society at large. In recent years its programs have grown to support academic and chapter improvement, fraternity education, and community service. The resources of the Fund have benefited not only students and the Fraternity, but also America's colleges and universities as a

During the Heritage Project undertaken by the Fraternity, the Endowment Fund served as the recipient of contributions made toward the purchase and renovation of the Headquarters building. Subsequently, the Endowment has helped to maintain the museum, archives, and library portions of the Lockerbie Street townhouse. While that effort on the Fraternity's part has been concluded, the Endowment continues to welcome gifts for the purpose of enlarging the number and size of the programs it carries on. Gifts made to the Endowment Fund are deductible for income tax purposes.

To help a good man fulfill his promise is a true affirmation of what Phi Kappa Psi stands for. To invest in the potentialities of the rising generations is to share in "the great joy of serving others." The Endowment Fund of Phi Kappa Psi intends in the future, as in the past, to do the best it can for those of merit.

From the Archives . . .

The Fraternity is pleased to be the recipient of gifts related directly to Phi Psi, or art and furnishings of the founding era. The Fraternity's Headquarters, Heritage Hall, provides a setting designed to appropriately display these items related in some way to the Fraternity or to society circa 1852.

The beautiful oil on canvas painting pictured here was donated to the Fraternity recently by Dr. Robert W. Mouser, Wabash '49 and family. The 20" x 34" work in gold frame is from the brush of the famous artist William McKendree Synder, 1841-1931, and is a view of the Ohio River as seen from Hanover College near Madison, Indiana. The painting was acquired by Brother Mouser's grandfather who was a riverboat captain . . . in order to make the painting more personal, Brother Mouser's grandfather asked the artist to add a paddlewheeler to the river's bend, and Mr. Snyder accommodated the request.

An interesting aside to the artist's subject, is that the river view painted is as seen from the President's home at Hanover, which for nearly all of his life has been the home of Jeffrey J. Horner, Vanderbilt '77, a good Phi Psi who served Virginia Alpha as a Tutor-in-Residence this past academic year. Jeff's father is the President of Hanover.

A warm Phi Psi "thank you" goes to Brother Mouser and his family for their gift! The painting is appreciated by all who visit Heritage Hall, and is an appropriate addition to the Fraternity Archives.

RESULTS OF THE PHI PSI SURVEY

The December '81 and April '82 issues of THE SHIELD contained within their pages a survey designed to help Fraternity leadership determine member interest in a number of areas. Reprinted below are the survey questions with per cent responses given by the 631 alumni and 35 undergraduates (1½% response of membership total) who participated. Thank you for your interest! The information has already proven helpful as Phi Psi charges into the 80's.

ТΗ	FS	нι	F١	n

- The Fraternity's sportsware program provides a source for quality merchandise for those interested, and supplies some revenue for Fraternity operations. Do you find SHIELD advertising for Phi Psi items offensive? 2.2 Yes 97.8 No
- 2. A number of other fraternities are exploring the possibility of opening their magazines to national advertising. THE SHIELD is a logical organ for ads promoting men's personal care products, clothing, automobiles, etc. Would you personally find advertisement for nationally known products in our magazine offensive? 21.8 Yes 78.2 No
- 3. Which sections of THE SHIELD do you find yourself reading with greatest interest? Please rank order the following general sections, with #1 representing the section most interesting to you, and #5 ranking that least important:

 #1 Chapter Newsletters #4 Alumni Association Newsletters #2 Feature Articles #3 From Here to There #5 Chapter Eternal
- 4. Some of our interfraternity contemporaries charge for their magazine, finding it difficult to keep up with skyrocketing postage and printing costs. If the Fraternity charged, for example $5/year, for THE SHIELD, would you most likely keep your subscription current? 58.0 Yes 42.0 No

MARKETING VENTURES

- 5. Two years ago, the Fraternity offered a group life insurance program for members and their immediate families. Did you find the solicitation by mail and then via THE SHIELD annoying? 20.4 Yes 79.6 No
- 6. Would you be interested in other offerings of personal group insurance programs? 24.0 Yes 76.0 No
- About two and a half years ago, the Fraternity offered a Bulova Accutron watch with a Phi Psi Coat-of-Arms dial... the watch is still available through THE SHIELD. Do you recall finding the mailing for this distasteful? 7.5 Yes 92.5 No
- 8. The sale of various items identifying the owner with Phi Kappa Psi attempts to serve both undergraduate and alumni. The Phi Psi tradition of not displaying our Greek letters, for example, can be maintained through this practice as well. However, some members have stated that they find the display of any Phi Psi-identified products undignified, other than of course the Badge . . . do you agree? 12.0 Yes 88.0 No

GENERAL INFORMATION

- 9. a. If your Chapter is still in business...how often do you hear from the undergraduates? 3 times/year b. If your Chapter is inactive...would you like to see it re-chartered? 70.1 Yes 29.9 No
- 10. If you are not involved currently, would you care to become acquainted with Phi Psis in your area through an alumni association? 49.1 Yes 22.5 No
 - ☐ (I'm already involved) 28.4

WILLIAM MILFRED BATTEN—Distinguished Alumnus

From Main Street in Reedy, West Virginia to Wall Street in New York City, Brother William M. "Mil" Batten, Ohio State '29, has served well those associations he has chosen throughout life. Now, in his 53rd year of membership in Phi Kappa Psi, Brother Batten continues to bring honor to our fair Fraternity. In ceremonies conducted at the 1982 Grand Arch Council Banquet August 15 by president John R. Donnell Jr., William M. Batten was conferred the title of "Distinguished Alumnus." His words shared with the convention that evening brought to life the experiences of one of American's most talented and accomplished businessmen, flavored with warm and interesting accounts of Phi Psi life at Ohio State during the depression era.

Born in Reedy, West Virginia in 1909, Brother Batten came to Ohio State and pledged the Ohio Delta Chapter in 1928, and tells us that he "went through a full year of pledgeship living in the Chapter house, to help put myself through school, and since I was the only pledge living in the house at the time, I was often too handy to get ahold of! I fired the old coal furnace, served meals, awakened the house in the morning, and performed scores of other chores . . . I functioned as low man on the totem pole when the other pledges were out of reach."

Mil Batten became a familiar name at Ohio State in the early 30's. He was president of the student body, and was a member of several honor and leadership societies. And, he served well his Ohio Delta. Some of his most vivid Phi Psi memories of those days include serving as Chapter Treasurer "back in the bad old days when banks all over the country were failing, and I was responsible for $300 of treasury funds needed for the fall. I agonized over holding the principal and foregoing interest, or risking loss of it all if the local bank failed. In view of the current New York Stock Exchange position in which I've become a strong proponent of reasonable investment risk-taking, perhaps I should not admit that I chose the safer course at Ohio State and withdrew the money. However, it wasn't my money, so timidity may have been justified. As it turned out, the bank later closed and merged with another bank."

Brother Batten's cautious handling of Chapter accounts continued. He tells us "as president of Phi Psi my senior year, I was in charge of the Spring Dance, with $85 to spend for an orchestra. So, I booked an orchestra, but declined their suggestion for spending an extra $55 for an unknown vocal roup to sing at the dance. I was soon to regret my decision, for, although I don't remember the name of the orchestra, within a few months the 'unknown singing group' was well on their way to national fame, never to again be within Fraternity-dollar reach. Since then I've had to take considerable ribbing for being 'the only person alive' who was unwilling to spend $55 for an entire evening with The Mills Brothers!"

Mil Batten was showing signs, even in his undergraduate days, that he was willing to take financial risks, with his own money. He recounts the time between his junior and senior years at Ohio State, when he offered to save Ohio Delta the costs of operating the house over the non-revenue producing summer months by leasing the house himself. Then, he personally ran the property as a boarding house for summer students, and helped earn his tuition for his senior year.

"Mil Batten", circa 1932

Graduating from Ohio State in 1932, Brother Batten joined the J. C. Penney Company on a full-time basis in 1935. Always cognizant of development and change, Brother Batten's career with Penney's has been likened to "walking the fine line between getting promoted and getting fired." A Fortune article stated catagorically that, without Mil Batten's prodding, "it is likely that Penney would have missed the great suburban retailing boom of the 60's, remaining rooted in small-town America, still a sleepy giant going nowhere."

Starting as an extra salesman with Penney in Parkersburg, West Virginia, Mil Batten rose through the ranks to the Board in 1955, served as Chairman of the Board and Chief Executive Officer for 10 years starting in 1964, and retired in 1974 as Chairman and Chief Executive Officer. In "the Batten years," 1958-1974, Penney sales lept from $1.4 billion to $6.9 billion, heralding changes in operations from small town to suburban shopping centers, cash to credit sales, clothes to big ticket items like appliances, and the famous change toward catalogue sales. Some of his notions for change pitted his ideas against those of J. C. Penney himself, who was still on the Board . . . Mr. Penney guarded his middle name, Cash, quite literally!

Active as President Reagan's appointment to the Commission on Executive Exchange, Brother Batten has served on the boards of AT&T, First National City Bank, First National City Corporation, the National Council for U.S.-China Trade, and Texas Instruments, which he still serves. In addition Brother Batten is a Director of American Productivity Center, and the Boeing Company. He has been awarded honorary degrees from seven institutions, and his business, civic and achievement awards are literally too numerous to list.

To William Milfred Batten go the Fraternity's congratulations for service to our country and especially its business community. As an outstanding leader in his Chapter, his college and throughout career, he is truly worthy of the title, "Distinguished Alumnus."

1982 Welcome South, Brothers! Grand Arch Council

The 1982 GAC was considered by those in attendance to be one of the very best ever, held in the beautiful Hyatt Regency in exciting Atlanta, Georgia . . . the night life and southern hospitality of our alluring host city met and exceeded all expectations. The 61st biennial meeting of Fraternity members and friends drew nearly 450 participants in the three and one half days of Phi Psi work and fellowship.

The GAC began Wednesday evening, August 11 with a party hosted by the Alumni Associations from Atlanta, Indianapolis and Southern California. Members and guests enjoyed various games of skill and were able to "purchase" Phi Psi sportsware with their winnings. The business of the convention began at 9:30 a.m. the next day, after an opening breakfast with greetings offered by Paul D. Coverdell, Missouri '59, minority leader of the Georgia senate who read the Governor's proclamation of "Phi Psi Days," August 11-15, 1982 in the great state of Georgia. Other official greeters from the Atlanta Phi Psi community included David A. Lieser, Ohio State '56, the Director of Regional Development with the Atlanta Chamber of Commerce. Only three Chapters failed to respond to the GAC roll call, with 27 Alumni Associations joining in the deliberations. A spirit of cooperation and unbridled enthusiasm marked both formal and informal activities throughout this the Fraternity's grandest meeting.

GRAND ARCH COUNCIL OFFICERS

Attorney General Paul J. LaPuzza, Creighton '66, administered the oath of office to the permanent officers of the Grand Arch Council. The officers were: SWGP, John R. Donnell, Jr., Case Western Reserve '59; SWVGP, John K. Boyd III, Kansas '59; SWP, John A. Burke, Miami '72; SWAG, Bryan P. Muecke, Texas '75; and SW Hods, Jeffery D. Bittner, Pennsylvania '79; Robert F. Marchesani, Jr., IUP '79; James M. Jones, Miami '81; Bryon D. Norfleet, Vanderbilt '80; Burns H. Davison III, Iowa State '79; and Enrico A. Hernandez, California '81.

COMMITTEE CHAIRMEN

The GAC Committee Chairmen performed both thoroughly and efficiently, completing all committee work in record time by Saturday afternoon. President Donnell expressed his personal appreciation and that of a grateful Phi Kappa Psi to the 1982 chairmen: Credentials, Augustus R. Jones, Mississippi '69; Publications, Richard J. Christ, Arizona '77; Alumni Relations, Burns H. Davison II, Indiana '51; State of the Fraternity, David F. Hull, Jr., Louisiana State '66; Fraternity Education, Byron W. Cain, Jr., Vanderbilt '70; Constitution, George W. Humphries, Oregon '50; Membership, John W. Ciccarelli, Cal State-Northridge '72; Finance, J. Smith Harrison, Jr., South Carolina '72; Extension, John J. Ziegelmeyer, Jr., Kansas '70; and Scholarship, Timothy L. Michael, IUP '78.

John K. Boyd III, Kansas '59, was elected the 49th president of Phi Kappa Psi on Saturday, August 14. The Kansas City native has been involved in Phi Psi service at the Chapter, District and National level for over 20 years, and has served on the Executive Council since 1976.

VARIED SCHEDULE OF EVENTS

The business and social schedule for all attendants of the 1982 GAC was a busy and varied one. In addition to the general sessions and committee meetings routine to the work of a GAC, the Atlanta convention was honored to have as a guest Mrs. Eileen Stevens, founder and director of the Committee to Halt Useless College Killings. Mrs. Stevens' powerful message on the importance of ridding fraternities of hazing was received Thursday, August 12, and on Friday morning, a mock hazing trial was conducted by principles Paul J. LaPuzza, Creighton '66, Harry A. Light, Florida '77 and Donald H. Durbin Jr., Miami '78.

Once again at this convention, GAC workshops were on the agenda, for Saturday, August 14. There were seven workshops, with topics and their leaders as follows: "Fraternity Education," Donald H. Durbin Jr., Miami '78; Chapter Publications," Haldon C. Dick, Bowling Green '55 and Robert M. Danielson, Oregon '61; "The Ritual," Kent C. Owen, Indiana '58; "Alumni Relations," W. Todd Salen, Illinois '77; "Rush," Franklyn D. Donant, Santa Barbara '64; "Community Service," John a. Dille, Vanderbilt '77; and "Alcohol and Your Chapter . . . do they mix?," Stephen K. Beard, Oregon '74 and Joseph Russo, Florida '80.

The Order of SC had its first instance of "third generation" membership at the Atlanta GAC with the initiation of John R. Donnell Jr., right, with his father the senior, trustee and chairman of Phi Psi's Permanent Fund. President Donnell's grandfather, Otto D., was initiated into the SC in 1934, John Sr. in 1962, and now John Jr. in 1982.

Scholarship Director Theodore J. Urban, Northwestern '46, at right, was privileged to recognize Indiana Zeta at Butler University for their 12th consecutive year in achieving "#1 on campus" in scholarship.

LADIES PROGRAM

The 1982 GAC ladies program provided a variety of entertainment opportunities for those who cared to participate. On Thursday morning the ladies visited the white-columned Georgia Governor's Mansion, the Italian Renaissance style Swan House built in 1928 as a private residence, and an 1840's Georgia farmhouse, the Tullie Smith House. Shopping at the South's largest mall rounded out the day. On Friday, the ladies toured downtown Atlanta and saw the gold-domed State Capitol building, the Atlanta/Fulton County Stadium, and other sites. The highlight of the day was a visit to the Cyclorama, where the 1864 Civil War Battle of Atlanta was experienced by sitting in the center of the 50 foot high, 400 foot circumference painting in the round. Saturday's tour included the famous Atlanta Toy Museum, lunch at the Swan Coach House, and drives through the elegant northside residential section, Buckhead. The chairman of the ladies program was Phi Psi's first lady, Mrs. John R. (Marcia) Donnell, Jr. The committee consisted of Mrs. John (Liz) Bair, Mrs. Robert M. (Melissa) Beal, Mrs. W. Albert (Ginger) Fridlin, and Mrs. James V. (Marilyn) Waldo.

President Donnell, left, presents the coveted "Most Improved Chapter" Award to Oklahoma Alpha, University of Oklahoma.

PHI PSI BIENNIAL AWARDS LUNCHEON

The Fraternity's Awards Luncheon was held on Friday in the Condor room of the Hyatt Regency Atlanta. Vice President John K. Boyd III presided over the assembled Brothers and guests as several presentations were made. A list of awards follows. The luncheon ended with a particularly moving presentation made by past Phi Psi president Louis D. Corson, West Virginia '34, who transferred to the Fraternity the diamond badge crafted originally for Founder Charles Page Thomas Moore and given to him on the occasion of the Fraternity's 50th anniversary in 1902. Brother Corson's physical condition was obviously weakened, but his spirit courageous as testified to by the standing ovation given him at this great moment. Exactly one month and a day later, Brother Corson joined the Chapter Eternal.

NEW EXECUTIVE BOARD ELECTED

On Saturday, August 14, the new executive officers of the Fraternity serving for the next two years were elected as follows: John K. Boyd III, Kansas '59, President; George W. Humphries, Oregon '50, Vice President; John A. Burke, Miami '72, Treasurer; and Bryan P. Muecke, Texas '75, Secretary. These four officers join the six undergraduate Archons elected last fall composing the Executive Council.

Outgoing President Donnell, right, received a gift from the Fraternity in recognition of his outstanding leadership rendered. Incoming President Boyd made the presentation of the needlepoint coat-of-arms.

Director of Alumni Associations W. Todd Salen, Illinois '77, at left, congratulates George W. Humphries, Oregon '50, who represented the "82 GAC Outstanding Alumni Association" from Southern California. George was elected Phi Psi's vice president in session the next day.

President Donnell and William M. "Mil" Batten, Ohio State '29 right, are shown enjoying the GAC Banquet, where Brother Batten was conferred the title Distinguished Alumnus. The current Chairman and chief Executive Officer of the New York Stock Exchange, Brother Batten charmed and inspired the convention with his words later in the evening.

GAC BANQUET

Ralph D. "Dud" Daniel, Arizona '47, the Executive Director Emeritus of Phi Kappa Psi served as Symposiarch of the GAC Banquet Saturday evening. The banquet hall was jampacked with 402 members and guests who enjoyed hearing from outgoing president John R. Donnell, Jr., incoming president John K. Boyd III, and were inspired by the words of William M. "Mil" Batten, Ohio State '29, the Chairman and Chief Executive Officer of the New York Stock Exchange, who was bestowed the title of Distinguished Alumnus at the banquet.

Driving "all night to be on hand," Indiana Zeta House Corporation members H. Peter Isenberg, Butler '75, center, and Raymond E. Volpe, Butler '78, right, received from Director of House Corporations John J. Ziegelmeyer recognition as the Fraternity's "Outstanding House Corporation" for constructing the first brand new Chapter Home in Phi Psi in nearly two decades, for their Butler University Chapter.

Endowment Fund Chairman Ruddick C. Lawrence, Washington '31, (left), announced the distribution of nearly $20,000 in fellowships and awards at the GAC, including the selection of Gustave O. Lamperez III, Southwestern Louisiana '78, as the 1982 Outstanding Summerfield winner.

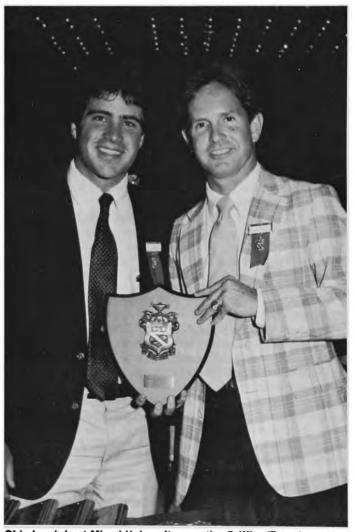

The plaque reads "In recognition of the qualities of loyalty, leadership and faith in the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity" for the Award named in honor of Edward H. Knight, Wabash '93. This GAC recognized one most deserving, Samuel D. Rife, Ohio State '55, left, Advisor to his Ohio State Chapter, in ceremonies conducted by vice president Boyd.

Oregon Beta was judged to have the best alumni newsletter at the GAC, thus Ernest H. Garbe, Columbia '40, right, gave to the Oregon State Chapter a plaque from the award's sponsor, the New York Alumni Association.

In recognition of her 15 years of dedicated work with the Fraternity Headquarters, Administrative Assistant, Carol J. Klima was given the '82 GAC Ladies Silver Bowl by President Donnell, and a standing ovation from the Awards Luncheon crowd!

Ohio Lambda at Miami University won the Griffing/Tate Award for excellence in Fraternity Education. Director of Fraternity Education Byron W. Cain, Jr., Vanderbilt '70, right, made the presentation.

ORDER OF THE SC

The 31st biennial meeting and initiation of the Order of the S.C. was held Friday evening, drawing five new members to their ranks: John R. Donnell, Jr., Case Western Reserve '59; Robert A. Gibson, Allegheny '53; Gary B. Angstadt, Indiana '70; Fred H. Clay, Jr., Alabama '67; and Stuart W. Rhodes, Indiana '69.

The Order of S.C. is unique in the world of fraternities and was founded at the 1920 GAC in Minneapolis. Eligibility for membership in the Order includes attendance of at least seven GAC's. None of the 17 charter members survive today. To date 186 Phi Psis have been inducted. Of that number, 65 are living.

The Pennsylvania Eta Chapter at Franklin and Marshall was deemed excellent in the area of Chapter finance, and so the Director of Chapter Finance, John W. Dickinson, Michigan State '65, left, made the appropriate presentation.

1982 HOST COMMITTEE

W. Albert "Bert" Fridlin, Purdue '59, served as chairman of the 1982 GAC committee, and was assisted by John C. Bair, Gettysburg '47, Robert M. Beal, West Virginia '41, Albert S. Tippit, Texas '50, James V. Waldo, Allegheny '50, Edward E. Tate, Jr., South Carolina '72, and Charles H. Marsh, Georgia '76.

PRESIDENT'S REPORT

President John R. Donnell Jr., shared his feelings with the assembled Brothers at the first business session by stating: "For the past two years I have lived Phi Psi with an intensity that only 47 others of our 75,000 initiated Brothers have been privileged to do. It has been a very special honor . . . I am pleased to report to you that I feel very good about Phi Kappa Psi, as each of you should also. By all objective standards, we are stronger than ever. Our financial picture is sound. Initiations are up. Alumni support, as measured both by the members involved in the work with Chapters and dollars contributed in our support program is at an historic high-. . I have noticed in my travels a level of interest also at a high among both undergraduates and alumni, to make Phi Psi and the Phi Psi experience the very quality experience that it can and should be. The renewed emphasis on Phi Psi values and traditions is exciting and gratifying, especially when we reflect back on the turmoil that we suffered in the era of the '60s and early '70s . . . no matter what our present position, however, we are never without challenges. And I believe there are three areas that we must address . . . if we are to prosper through the 1980s . . . growth must be a priority . . . without sacrifice of Phi Psi standards . . . Fraternity Education must be cultivated . . . through use of more thorough and constructive programs in the Chapters . . . and stewardship of Phi Psi's financial resources is always a part of the leadership responsibility . . . My Phi Psi experience and that of thousands more, undergraduates and alumni alike, has been enriched by all [our combined] efforts."

Long-time Advisor to the Alabama Beta chapter at Auburn, James C: Warman, West Virginia '45, was given recognition by President Donnell, right.

MEMORIAL SERVICE

Sunday morning August 15, delegates were led in the traditional memorial service, by past Fraternity president Webb M. Mize, Mississippi '30. Brother Mize was joined by Rev. Edward E. Tate, Virginia '33, who eulogized the loss just a few days previous of Winston R. Tate, Kansas '18, the most senior of Phi Psi's past presidents. Brother Winston R. Tate had passed away August 7.

GAC ATTENDANCE

The 61st GAC in Atlanta, with 413 registered participants, including 38 ladies and guests, was down a bit from last convention's 446 participants in Indianapolis. The Centennial GAC in Pittsburgh in 1952 remains the recent years record holder with 471 members and guests enjoying that convention. The 59th Grand Arch Council in Kansas City saw 420 present for the meetings.

ACCOMPLISHMENTS

1982 GAC...

- Elected John K. Boyd III President, George W. Humphries Vice President, John A. Burke Treasurer and Bryan P. Muecke Secretary.
- Elected Eugene A. Conley Endowment Fund Trustee
- Increased the pledge fee to $35, and the initiation fee to $170, effective January 1, 1983.
- Made several minor changes in the constitution in preparation for a reprinting of that document.
- Mandated that a Director of Extension be appointed.
- Mandated several procedures to maintain accurate member addresses.
- Mandated that the Fraternity Manual be revised when the current supply is exhausted.
- Directed that an aggressive extension policy be maintained.

Through various committee reports, the following recommendations were made:

- That the Endowment Fund consider certain increases and development of its current programs.
- That the 1984 GAC consider raising the scholarship requirement for initiation.
- That all Chapters pay all Fraternity fees promptly, and that initiation should not take place until the fee is collected.
- That the Fraternity's policy on overdue Chapter accounts be continued as in the past, calling for a 10% per month fine on accounts overdue 90 days or more.
- That Chapters seek local alumni advisors to work solely with the Chapter Treasurer, and that, while a Phi Psialumnus would be preferable, membership need not be a requirement for the position.
- That certain characteristics of the Fraternity Manual be retained and others changed during the upcoming revision.
- That THE SHIELD be maintained as the Fraternity's most tangible contact with alumni.

- That "outside" advertising be allowed in THE SHIELD, with certain restrictions.
- That the Fraternity continue the search for a suitable author and adequate funding for the 25 year addition to the Centennial History.
- That the Fraternity establish a minimum of six new colonies over the next two years, at solid educational institutions, taking into account the Greek climate and area alumni interest in those institutions.
- That priority for colonizing be in rank order as follows:
 - #1 former Chapters
 - #2 existing local fraternities
 - #3 in geographic regions surrounding currently isolated Chapters
 - #4 new colonies
- That a professionally done multi-media presentation be made available for Chapters as a recruitment tool.
- That current Fraternity rush materials be updated.
- That Chapters stress as part of the Fraternity Education process the importance of continuing to serve as "A Phi Psi for Life!" in the alumnus role
- That Chapters recognize annually alumni that serve in advisory capacities.
- That all Chapters establish quantifiable goals and objectives and design a plan to reach them.
- That models be developed to insure Chapter adaptability for the Fraternity of the 21st Century.
- That additional Chapter Consultants be secured.
- Several specific recommendations on individual Chapter problems were recommended.
- That the "Statement on Fraternity Education," originally adopted at the 1980 Grand Arch Council, be reaffirmed.

For a complete list of 1982 GAC Amendments to the Laws, Mandates, Directives and Recommendations, please contact the Fraternity Headquarters.

The Phi Kappa Psi Statement On Fraternity Education

(Adopted at the 1980 Grand Arch Council)

Reaffirmed by the 1982 GAC

Pledgeship, freely offered by a Fraternity Chapter and freely accepted by an individual, is the period of education, training, and service that prepares one for initiation into a fraternity. Initiation into full membership and Brotherhood is a privilege, not a right, conferred on a pledge by the members of a private, voluntary society.

The pledge is expected to prove himself worthy of the privilege by demonstrating academic competence, good character, knowledge of the Chapter and the Fraternity, and loyalty to the Fraternity and its members. He is expected to fulfill whatever requirements may be asked of him, provided that these are legal, ethical, and moral.

It must be understood that no pledge is automatically entitled to be initiated. He must prove himself personally acceptable to the members of his Fraternity Chapter. If a pledge is found unsuitable for whatever reason, the Fraternity Chapter should either ask him to resign or cancel his pledgeship as soon as incompatibility becomes evident. In that event the separation of a pledge from the Fraternity Chapter should be carried out humanely and discreetly. The pledge should always bear in mind that his conduct reflects not only on himself and his Fraternity, but on his college and the Fraternity movement at large.

- 1. The pledge shall be assured that his Fraternity Chapter will conscientiously foster and safeguard his health, safety, and well-being.
- 2. The pledge shall be enabled to pursue his academic studies and educational interests through the help and support of his Fraternity Chapter.
- 3. The pledge shall be properly housed, fed, and provided with adequate facilities for study, if he lives in a house operated by his Fraternity Chapter.
- 4. The pledge shall be free to associate with whomever he chooses, provided that such associations do not bring disrepute to the Fraternity.
- 5. The pledge shall be prepared for initiation into his Fraternity throughout the course of a period of education, training, and service as conducted by his Fraternity Chapter. He will be eligible for initiation upon the satisfactory completion of the stated requirements.
- 6. The pledge shall not be subjected and cannot consent to being hazed; that is, any physical, mental, or emotional indignity or objectionable activity that might be required under the threat of dismissal from the pledge class, whether implicit or explicit.
- 7. The pledge shall not be required to perform any duty or take part in any activity that violates any law, ordinance, or university regulation, or is contrary to the dictates of his own conscience.

- 8. Phi Psi Authors

If you've written a book, the Fraternity Headquarters would be honored to receive a copy, autographed if possible, for inclusion in the Woodrow Wilson Library of Heritage Hall. Our library of books by and about Phi Psis can only grow with your help.

Also, we would like to include from time to time a SHIELD column devoted to Phi Psi authors and their recent work. Titles, author and publication information, and brief reviews of 100 words or less will be printed. Submissions may be made to the Fraternity Headquarters.

Tex Schramm's Alltime Phi Psi Football Team

by Jay Langhammer

or many years, members of Phi Kappa Psi have been among the leading players and coaches in the game of football. The Fraternity lays claim to a Heisman Trophy winner, Outland Trophy winner, countless All-Americans and nearly a hundred pro performers. To honor those Phi Psis who have been great on the gridiron, we have prevailed upon Dallas Cowboys President and General Manager TEX SCHRAMM, Texas '40, to give us his alltime first team selections. Tex assessed the qualifications of the leading candidates at each position and has provided us with an outstanding group of stars from the past sixty years. Other leading players have been named to the Honorable Mention list. Every known Phi Psi pro player has been included on the first team or Honorable Mention list and is designated with an asterisk.

Long known as one of pro football's most knowledgeable and successful administrators, Tex Schramm has seen the pro game make tremendous strides during his lengthy association with the NFL. After several years as a sports writer, he joined the Los Angeles Rams in 1947 as publicity director and rose to General Manager before departing for CBS in 1957. When Dallas was awarded an NFL franchise in 1960, Tex was named the club's General Manager. In 1966, he was elevated to club President while still retaining his GM duties. Under his leadership, the Cowboys have had 16 straight winning seasons, five Super Bowl appearances and two World Championships.

n obvious choice for

Tex Schramm's all-time Phi Psi first team is Heisman Trophy winner NILE KINNICK from the University of Iowa. His big year was 1939 as he won the Heisman, Maxwell and Walter Camp Trophies, was a unanimous All-American and Big Ten MVP. He excelled as a runner, passer, punter, place kicker and defensive back and is a member of the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame and Citizens Savings Hall of Filling the quarterback slot is USC's BILL NELSEN, a pro standout for ten seasons with the Pittsburgh Steelers and Cleveland Browns. His career totals are 963 completions for 14,164 yards and 98 touchdowns. He led the Browns to two Eastern Conference crowns, played in the 1970 Pro Bowl and completed 13 straight passes twice. Bill's best season was 1969 when he completed 190 tosses for 2,743 yards and 23 TD's.

Fame.

Joining Kinnick and Nelsen in the first team backfield are FRED MORRISON of Ohio State and ORV MOHLER of USC. Fred was the 1950 Rose Bowl Player of the Game then appeared in the College All-Star Game.

He joined the Chicago Bears in 1950 and was the league's leading punter as a rookie. He was traded to the Cleveland Browns in 1954, then was the NFL's third-leading rusher in 1955 with 824 yards, earning him a trip to the Pro Bowl. In his seven pro years, Fred rushed for 2,420 yards and averaged 41.8 yards as a punter. Orv Mohler was one in a long line of great USC runners and had an All-American season in 1930, rushing for 983 yards and scoring 17 touchdowns. His career total of 2,025 rushing yards still ranks in the top ten at Southern California.

Moving to the offensive line, the receivers chosen by Tex Schramm are HAL BEDSOLE of USC and RICH KREITLING of Illinois. Hal was an outstanding pass catcher for the Trojans, setting five school records. He was All-AAWU in 1961-62 and All-American in 1962. His USC career totals are 82 receptions for 1,717 yards (a 20.9 average) and 20 TD's. Hal starred in the Rose Bowl and also appeared in the Hula Bowl, Senior Bowl and College All-Star Game before starting a threeyear pro career with the Minnesota Vikings. Rich Kreitling received All-Big Ten honors in 1957-58 and played in the College All-Star Game. He joined the Cleveland Browns in 1959 and had his best season in 1962, catching 44 passes. In five pro seasons, Rich caught 123 passes for 1,775 yards and 17 touchdowns.

Nile Kinnick

Southern Cal's RON YARY leads the offensive blockers and ranks as one of the best tackles in football history. A two-time All-American at USC, he won the Outland Trophy as the nation's top lineman in 1967 and was the first player selected in the 1968 pro draft. During 14 pro seasons with the Minnesota Vikings, Ron has been named All-NFL six times, All-NFC seven times and has gone to seven Pro Bowls. The other offensive tackle is KLINE GILBERT, a 1952 All-American and All-SEC pick at the University of Mississippi. Following an appearance in the College All-Star Game, he joined the Chicago Bears for a solid five-year pro career, culminating with selection to the Pro Bowl squad after the 1957 season.

Iowa State University provides both of Tex's offensive guard picks. STAN CAMPBELL was All-Big Seven and team captain in 1951. He played in the East-West Game and joined the 1952 Detroit Lions NFL championship club. Following military service, he played four more seasons with the Lions before being traded to the Philadelphia Eagles in 1959. He was a regular for three seasons and played on his third NFL championship club in 1960. Stan closed out his nine-year pro career with the Oakland Raiders in 1962. CHUCK WAL-TON played in the Senior Bowl and Blue-Gray Game following his Iowa State career then went to the Canadian Football League. He was All-EFC with the Montreal Alouettes in 1963 and All-CFL with the Hamilton Tiger-Cats in 1966 before moving to the NFL. Chuck spent eight years with the Detroit Lions, most of them as a regular.

Hal Bledsoe

Don Paul

Holding forth in the pivot spot is BILL VOHASKA, the University of Illinois team captain in 1950. That same season, he was named All-American and All-Big Ten. Following his college career, Bill played in the College All-Star Game.

Lindon Crow

Rich Kreitling

The alltime defensive unit chosen by Tex Schramm has a good cross section of oldtime stars and contemporary players. At one defensive end post is Iowa's BILL FENTON, an All-Big Ten defender in 1952 and an All-American third teamer in 1953. He was the Hawkeye captain in 1952 and team MVP in both 1952 and 1953. Bill was also Iowa's Conference Medal of Honor winner in 1953 and played in the College All-Star Game. Brown University's JOHN SPELLMAN was the Bruins team captain in 1923 and started an

The defensive tackles are GENE

GOSSAGE of Northwestern and FRANK SUNDSTROM of Cornell. Gene was All-Big Ten and a Wildcat cocaptain in 1959. He then played in the East-West Game, Senior Bowl and College All-Star Game before joining the Philadelphia Eagles' 1960 NFL championship team. He played two more years with the Eagles before moving to the Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the CFL for the 1963-64 seasons. Cornell's Frank Sundstrom was a two-way standout who earned All-American honors in 1923. He was elected to the National Football Foundation College Football Hall of Fame in 1978.

Leading the linebackers is one of the NFL's best in the 1950's, DON PAUL of UCLA. He was Bruin team captain in 1943-46-47 and All-Coast the last two seasons. He played in the Rose Bowl and East-West Game before joining the Los Angeles Rams in 1948. He led the Rams defensive unit for eight seasons, making All-NFL in 1953 and going to three Pro Bowls. Don also played in four NFL title games and later served the Rams as an assistant coach.

Also named at linebacker is ED CAMERON of Washington and Lee, a member of the National Football Foundation Hall of Fame. He was the Generals' team captain in 1923-24 and gained All-Southern honors in 1924. He played pro ball with the 1926 Detroit Panthers and later was head coach and Athletic Director at Duke University for a number of years. The third linebacker is two-way performer LEIGH "POLLY" WALLACE, Iowa State's first all-American in 1920. He was All-Missouri Valley three times and team captain in 1921.

Leading the defensive backfield is USC's LINDON CROW, who joined the Chicago Cardinals in 1955. In his second pro season, he was named All-NFL after picking off 11 passes to lead the league. A regular during most of his ten pro years, he also played with the New York Giants (1958-60) and Los Angeles Rams (1961-64). Lindon totaled 38 career interceptions and played in three Pro Bowls.

Another longtime pro star was DICK ALBAN of Northwestern. As a collegian, he played in the East-West Game and Senior Bowl and was the school's Conference Medal of Honor winner. He joined the Washington Redskins in 1952 and had his best year in 1954, intercepting 9 passes to rank second in the NFL. He was traded to the Pittsburgh Steelers in 1956 and spent four solid seasons with them, finishing his career with 30 interceptions.

Syracuse University product CARL KARILIVACZ was a good pro defender for eight seasons with the Detroit Lions, New York Giants and Los Angeles Rams. He played in four NFL championship contests and had 13 career interceptions. LARRY WACHHOLTZ of Nebraska was an All-Big Eight player in 1965-66 and an All-American in 1966. He co-captained the 1966 Cornhusker team and starred in the Orange Bowl, Sugar Bowl, Senior Bowl and Coaches All-American Game.

Two fine college stars were chosen by Tex to handle the punting and placekicking duties. USC's DES KOCH was the nation's punting leader in 1952 with a 43.7 average on 47 punts. The following season, he averaged 44.6 on 22 boots. He's still the Trojan career leader with a 43.7 average on 102 punts. In the 1953 Rose Bowl, Des averaged 50.9 on 7 punts, including a career high of 72 vards. Nebraska's PAUL ROGERS ranks among the Cornhuskers' alltime kicking leaders and holds the school record with a 55-yard field goal against Kansas in 1969. He also booted 4 field goals, including a 50-yarder, in the 1969 Sun Bowl. During regular season play, he accounted for 89 extra points and 20 field goals. Paul was the All-Big Eight kicker in 1970 and also played in the Orange Bowl and All-American Bowl.

Tex chose two honorary coaches for his alltime first team: GEORGE "LEF-TY" JAMES of Bucknell and BOB VOIGTS of Northwestern. "Lefty" was an assistant at Cornell for 13 years before being elevated to head coach in 1947. Over the next 14 years, he posted a good 66-58-2 record, ranking him as the second-winningest coach in Cornell history. He also served as an assistant coach on several College all-Star Game squads. Bob Voights was an All-American tackle during his undergrad days then served his alma mater as head coach from 1947 through 1954. His 1948 Wildcat squad won the Big Ten crown and defeated California in the 1949 Rose Bowl contest. Bob also spent time as an assistant coach with the Cleveland Browns and College All-Star squad.

undreds of other Phi Psi footballers have starred on the gridiron and we want to mention a few of the greats who are included on the Honorable Mention list. Among the backs are College Football hall of Fame members RALPH "MOON" BAKER of Northwestern and BART MACOMBER of Illinois; 1950 All-American BOBBY REYNOLDS of Nebraska; 1951 All-American and Big Ten MVP BILL REICHARDT of Iowa; 1959 All-American DWIGHT NICHOLS of Iowa State: and pro star GENE GEDMAN of Indiana:

Linemen of note on the Honorable Mention list are former pro tackles GARRY PUETZ of Valparaiso and DAN FICCA of USC; pro receiver MIKE HAFFNER of UCLA; pro linebacker BRAD COUSINO from Miami of Ohio; 1930 All-American end FRANK BAKER of Northwestern; All-American tackles BURT INGWERSEN of Illinois, CHUCK McGUIRE of Chicago, and ALBERT TATE of Illinois; and All-American guards ELMER WILLHOITE of USC and RALPH FLETCHER of Illinois.

We also want to mention some other fine Phi Psi coaches over the years. SOL METZGER of Pennsylvania carved out a successful career at such schools as Baylor, Pennsylvania, West Virginia and South Carolina from 1904 through 1924 and posted a 71-39-8 record. LEO CALLAND, the Rose Bowl Player of the Game for USC in 1923. was head coach at Whittier, Idaho and San Diego State from 1925 through 1941, posting a 67-63-6 mark. Cornell's ALVAH KELLY served Brown, Colgate and Hobart as head coach from 1951 through 1970. Washington and Lee's ED CAMERON was Duke's head mentor in 1942-45, posting a fine 25-11-1 record. Currently serving as assistant coaches in the National Football League are four Phi Psis: RICK ABERNETHY of Kansas (Kansas City Chiefs); DAVE LEVY of UCLA (San Diego Chargers); BILL NELSEN of USC (Tampa Bay Buccaneers); and LES STECKEL of Iowa State (Minnesota Vikings).

The Theatrical Adventure of Two Ohio State Phi Psis and the Way Thereto.

Thurber

"I used to think the Nugents were the maddest people in the world, until I worked with Thurber." So an interviewer quoted Elliott Nugent, co-author and leading actor in The Male Animal, a new comedy which had opened at New York's Cort Theatre on January 9, 1940. The mad capers which resulted from the two-fold problems of professor Tommy Turner, whose wife has been reattracted to her halfback beau of a decade past, and whose job has been placed on the line because a red hunting trustee has found out that he intends to read a letter by Bartolomeo Vanzetti to one of his English classes, were enjoyed by audiences and critics alike. And although the authors, when asked about the setting, maintained that Midwestern University could be just that-any campus in the midwest-the signs pointing to their own academic home, The Ohio State University, are many: The big game is against arch rival Michigan and will lead to the Rose Bowl; the home team is the "Scarlet Stampede;" the student whose editorial has brought out the Vanzetti matter is from an old Chillicothe family; Tommy's wife threatens to run off with her halfback hero to an inn in Granville; reference is made to Hennick's, a long-time student oasis in the campus area; and the site of recalled romantic irritation is a spring dance (Nugent had been chairman of a May Dance committee) at the Phi Psi house, fraternal home of Tommy Turner, Joe Ferguson (the hero), James Thurber and Elliott Nugent.

Although the actual writing of The Male Animal required only a few months, the play was the realization of a plan conceived many years earlier, variously reported as while its authors were both students at Ohio State, or shortly afterwards, when Thurber acted as best man at Nugent's 1921 wedding to Norma Lee. In his book Thurber: A Biography, Burton Bernstein cites Helen Thurber as remembering that the idea came to her husband while he was standing on the garage roof of their Woodbury, Connecticut home-plausible enough. He wrote to Nugent outlining the basic romantic comedy plot. The latter, cool to the idea at first, saw an opportunity to work the academic freedom theme into the play (the vehicle of the Vanzetti letter was Thurber's contribution), and so in the spring of 1939 the Thurbers went to California. By the end of summer the play had been worked into rough shape, ready for the road tryouts that led to its Broadway opening. In addition to the Columbus setting, it should be noted that Dean Frederick Damon was openly modelled after Dean Joseph Villiers Denney, a favorite professor of both Thurber and Nugent while at Ohio State: Joe Ferguson bears a strong resemblance to Chic Harley out of Bolenciecwcz (whom Thurber described in "University Days" as "not dumber than an ox [but] not any smarter"); and that Tommy Turner might seem to share more than a few characteristics with Thurber himself.

Who were these two writers whose talents came together to create what has been described as one of the minor classics of the American stage? Let us look briefly at their earlier lives and careers, and at the crossing of their paths.

James Grover Thurber was born, in his own words from the Preface to The Thurber Carnival, a 1945 anthology of many of his outstanding pieces to that date, "on a night of wild portent and high wind," December 8, 1894, in Columbus, Ohio. His father, Charles Leander Thurber, was a hard-working though not particularly successful political clerk; his mother, Mary Agnes (Fisher) Thurber, a would-be actress whose practical jokes were legendary. He was the second of three sons. During his boyhood the family lived at various addresses—six of them on what is today Columbus' near east side. There was one brief period away from his native city, just after the turn of the century while Charles Thurber was working as secretary to an Ohio congressman. For two years the family lived in Washington, D.C. and Falls Church, Virginia.

It was during this period that an accident occurred that would have a profound effect on James Thurber's life. The brothers played a William Tell sort of game, during which the archer would shoot at his target from the back with a blunt arrow. The chosen marksman was unusually slow in getting adjusted on one occasion and James, the target, turned to see why—just in time to take the delayed arrow in his left eye. Thus he became blind in one eye before entering school, and through sympathetic reaction was to become completely blind later in life. The accident, in fact, prevented his entering school on schedule

When the family returned to Columbus, Thurber did begin his education, attending Sullivant School, Douglas School and East High School. His academic career was solid though not outstanding. The juvenile writings that survive do not really show the genius that was to develop, but at least one piece does incorporate an early version of the all-American day dreamer, Walter Mitty. In the eighth grade prophecy which he wrote, another member of the class has invented a "seairoplane" on which the group is traveling. Trouble arises when a rope becomes entangled in a part of the machinery located at the far end of a long beam extending over its side. It is James Thurber who saves the day for all aboard by walking out on the beam and unfouling the rope. This life-saving act is given a typical Thurberian anti-heroic twist when he stumbles on returning to the craft and is saved only because his unusual length allows him to land in the ship.

In the summer of 1913, James Thurber was enrolled at The Ohio State University. His first year there was less than successful. though he did show his amazing memory in a psychology class where he was able to score better that 75% on a recall test on a 1000 word article which the professor had read. Military science, however, was a disaster. and his social life hardly better. Rushed by one fraternity, he was blackballed. Though he registered for classes the following fall, he rarely attended, and for all practical purposes dropped out of school. He registered again for the fall of 1915 and attended classes during the first semester, including a botany course in which he experienced troubles with a microscope later to become a part of "University Days." Problems with military drill continued, and he again dropped out for the spring term. This time it required personal intervention by the president of the university, William Oxley Thompson, to reinstate him the following autumn.

The house in which the Thurbers lived during these years, located at 77 Jefferson Avenue in Columbus, is now owned by an educational organization called the Metropolitan Learning Community. It is in the process of being repaired and restored and will serve as the locus for a writer in residence program, the annual holder of which will be chosen by a national board of advisors and will occupy the house during his tenure. This house is the setting of at least three of Thurber's well known stories published in My Life and Hard Times: "The Night the Ghost Got In," "The Night the Bed Fell," and "More Alarms at Night." A support organization, the Thurber Circle, has been formed and welcomes membership from any friend of Thurber (or Nugent), or any advocate of its purposes.

Elliott Nugent's route to college could scarcely have been any further removed from that of James Thurber. He was born on September 20, 1900 in the library of his maternal grandfather's house in Canal Dover (now Dover), Ohio. The theatre was in his bloodstream. His father John Charles Nugent, was an actor who attracted his wife, Grace (Fertig) Nugent, to the life of the stage. The young couple took their son on tour with them whenever they had work. In his autobiography, Events Leading Up to the Comedy, Nugent recalls that he was carried onto the stage before he had learned to walk, and that he spoke his first (albeit unwritten) lines at the age of two: "Mama, I want a drink of water." Before he was four his parents had gone into vauderville and young Elliott learned to imitate some of the popular performers of the day. He made his official debut during the following year when a sudden cancellation on a Los Angeles Orpheum bill was filled by "Master Elliott, the Boy Monologist." By the age of ten this act had been enlarged to "Master Elliott and Baby Ruth" to accommodate his two year old sister. Early in life Nugent gained the experience of living and working the the theatre from coast to coast.

Even while on the road Mrs. Nugent saw to it that her son kept up with his formal education, and he relates that he soon learned to locate the local library and became an avid reader of James Fenimore Cooper, G. A. Henty, Jules Verne and Bert Standish. The time came though when it was decided that Grace Nugent should retire from the stage so that Elliott and Ruth could attend school regularly back in Canal Dover.

Elliott Nugent was a popular student, athletic, poised, handsome, and of course the worldly experience that he had already amassed could hardly have hindered this. By the time he reached high school he was a member of a band of local boys who called themselves simply "The Bunch," though this association was temporarily strained when he joined a national high school fraternity, Alpha Pi. Wounds were healed though, and he was elected captain of the track and football teams.

He was not happy with the review that the Dover Daily Reporter gave him as male lead in Pinero's The Schoolmistress in his senior year: "Elliott Nugent played a long and difficult part without forgetting a line." Of this notice he wrote in his autobiography, "That was damned faint praise for a 'professional."

His initial thoughts about college centered on Yale (academic home of Frank Merriwell) and later Princeton (the school of living track star Ted Meredith), but during his senior year in high school his mother was diagnosed as having dangerously high blood pressure. Because his father was away from home for long periods earning a living, a school closer to home seemed advisable. Of the two possible selections (the other being Western Reserve University in Cleveland), the one chosen was The Ohio State University, about two hours south in Columbus.

In the fall of 1915 Nugent, along with two friends from Canal Dover, entered Ohio State, rooming together above Hennick's Soda Shop, across the hall from the freshman football star, Chic Harley. Rushed by three fraternities, he pledged Phi Kappa Psi, though he did not go to live in the house. He went out for football, which he played only briefly—until he was injured in a collision with a much larger player. He also took first place in an interclass 100 yard dash.

It was at Ohio State that James Thurber and Elliott Nugent met. In an American Literature class the professor read a student paper entitled "My Literary Enthusiasms." This paper impressed Nugent, who discovered the identity of its author and spoke with him after the class. This same fellow student-whom Nugent remembers in his autobiography as a great talent with a good sense of humor but a hermit, lanky and lonely in his private shell—also turned up in a journalism class. They slowly became friends, and Nugent, with Jack Pierce, a fraternity brother one year his senior who was an editor of the student paper, the Ohio State Lantern, took an interest in Thurber and began a campaign to sell him to the fraternity members. Sell him they did, and he became a member, joining in the rituals of "hell week" with good spirits despite the fact that he was by this time four or five years older than his fellow initiates.

In the 1916/17 academic year both were sophomores, Nugent in regular course and Thurber for the third time. Both joined the Lantern staff as well as that of the Sun Dial, the university's humor magazine. Nugent was also a member of the Strollers Dramatic Society and appeared in their spring production, H. H. Davis' Mrs. Gorringe's Necklace. James Thurber had begun to come out of that shell.

The following year both were very involved with campus activities. They were issue editors of the Lantern, and often helped each other in putting the next day's paper to bed, after which they would go to Marzetti's, a popular newspaperman's hangout; Thurber became editor of the Sun Dial, and appointed Nugent as one of his associate editors: both were now members of the Strollers (Nugent, on their board of directors), and appeared in Arnold Bennett's one act play A Question of Sex. The role which Thurber played was double cast, and it is not clear just how late his participation came about. The Lantern reported the other four roles as cast on February 26, with one yet to be filled. On March 14, Charles W. Racine was announced as the final cast member. It was not until after the play was presented that the paper mentioned Thurber's name in connection with it. He played the role in the last two of the three performances given. Prof. William (Billy) Graves in his review of the production pointed out that Nugent "has more finish and naturalness of acting than any member of the Strollers, as he has had much more experience than anyone else." Of Thurber's thespian art the student reviewer noted his "poise and attention to details." That spring Elliott Nugent was elected president of Strollers for 1918/19.

Because of America's entry into the war, many of the male students went into the armed forces during the year. Thurber and Nugent were left to do an increasingly high portion of the writing for the Sun Dial. In the Thurber Collection of The Ohio State University Libraries is a copy of the November, 1917 issue with contributors indicated as well as one of the December number with a note in Helen Thurber's hand, "Unmarked, but safe to say over half the prose and verse is by Thurber."

Both men were made members of the national journalism honorary Sigma Delta Chi, and in the spring both were elected, or "linked," as members of Sphinx, the senior men's honorary society. Thurber had not yet gained full self-assurance according to his friend's recollection. Elliott Nugent had been one of the first choices announced, and in looking through the crowd assembled for the ceremony he could not spot James; however, when his name was finally called Thurber did appear. He had been standing well in the background, so that if he were not chosen he could quietly disappear.

Nugent's other activities were many. He was on the editorial staff of the Makio, the OSU yearbook; was a member of Bucket and Dipper, the junior men's honorary; and was president of the junior class. He also found time to appear in a production of Gaspell and Cook's Suppressed Desires put on by the Drama League, a local theatrical group.

Neither Nugent nor Thurber was back on campus in the fall of 1918. The former was in training at the Great Lakes Naval Station. Inasmuch as the war had ended, though, his service responsibilities were shortened, and he was back in Columbus for the second semester, having accumulated enough credits so that he was able to graduate with his class in the spring of 1919. Thurber's academic career had reached its end. Though he was not entirely certain of this when he left to take a job as code clerk with the State Department, he reached his decision fairly soon thereafter, and he wrote as much to Nugent in a letter dated June 28, 1918.

After graduation Nugent went to New York, where he sought and found acting jobs and also worked on scripts with his actor/playwrite father. It was while appearing in Dulcey that he met Norma Lee, who soon became Mrs. Nugent. James Thurber, as mentioned earlier, was best man at their wedding. J. C. and Elliott Nugent's play Kempy was successfully produced in New York and on tour, and this was followed in 1925 by another father-son effort, The Poor Nut, which Elliott had outlined the year previous. This play was set at Ohio State and based on college life. Beyond doubt, its leading character is James Thurber.

The Poor Nut concerns the troubles of John Miller, a student of twenty-two, who is described in the stage directions as "lanky, awkward, sensitive face, metal-rimmed glasses and misfit clothes." Miller has been corresponding with Julia Winters, a Wisconsin co-ed whose picture he had seen after she was chosen Miss Wisconsin. In this correspondence he has described his popularity and athletic prowess in a quite Walter Mittyish manner. Julia comes to Columbus when the school team visits for a big meet, the real John Miller becomes known, and the resultant tangles provide the basis for the comedy. If the description alone were not enough to point to Thurber, one might also point out that Miller, who was not pledged to a fraternity as a freshman, is very anxious to be accepted. A friend, Wally Pierce (Jack Pierce?) is instrumental in his being invited to a pledge dinner, and Professor Deming (Denney?) is a faculty friend and advisor. Furthermore Miller had been so upset by the fiasco of his freshman year, when he spilled soup all over himself at another pledge dinner, that he dropped out of school. There are also interesting twists. The hero gains his acceptance by defeating the Wisconsin foe in the track meet, and it is his superiority as a student of botany that wins the girl (the right girl, not Julia). In many ways Tommy Turner is John Miller a decade and a half later. The Poor Nut, like Kempy, was a mild success, playing for a year in New York and for another in Chicago and on the road.

Thurber also gained added dramatic experience during the twenties, albeit on a less professional level. After his State Department stint, which he served in Paris, he had returned to Columbus where he went to work as a reporter for the Dispatch. Although he did not resume studies, he did reestablish a connection with Ohio State through a newly formed dramatic organization, the Scarlet Mask Club. This was an all male group of a type moderately common on college campuses at this time, which presented musical plays, complete with chorus line. The maiden effort had been in 1919, before his return, but Thurber wrote or co-authored the next six productions: Oh My Omar (1920/21), Many Moons (1921/22), A Twin Fix (1922/23), The Cat and the Riddle (1923/24), Tell Me Not (1924/25), and Amorocco (1925/26). The club tried out its plays before alumni and other groups in Ohio, with excursions into Kentucky and West Virginia during Christmas vacation, before presenting them at the Columbus Auditorium or the Hartman Theatre during the winter. On these trips, whenever a cast member was too drunk or otherwise unable to go on, the author had to be ready to step into his role.

There was also an attempt at professional playwriting during these years. Thurber and his new wife Althea (Adams) moved to Jay, New York, where he worked on a play called Nightingale, which was never produced. The copyright deposit script survives in the Library of Congress and a facsimile is in The Ohio State University Libraries. After this, James and Althea went to Europe where he, like many others at this time, tried to write the great American novel. This also came to naught, and they returned to New York where he wrote some pieces that were published in the New York World and other papers. After some time of these frustrations Thurber met E. B. White and Harold Ross and became associated with a two year old. weekly, The New Yorker. His first published piece in this magazine appeared in 1927; his first drawing, in 1931. By the premiere of The Male Animal well over 300 additional pieces and nearly 450 drawings had been published there and elsewhere. He also had eight books to his credit.

Elliott Nugent's career continued to flourish. Before he went to Hollywood in 1929, he had appeared in nine plays and had written eleven in collaboration with his father. He had been working there as actor and director for nearly a decade when his college friend sent him the outline of a romantic comedy.

In February, 1940, after the play had established itself on Broadway, Thurber wrote of Nugent, "After ten years in Hollywood Nugent can still write clear English sentences, which is to me a wonder unmixed," and "The only disagreeable thing about Nugent is that he is never disagreeable to his friends." For his part, Elliott Nugent wrote of Thurber in a brief obituary that appeared in the Buckeye Phi Psi, after recounting some of the experiences of their college years, "Nothing could ever conceal Jim Thurber's . . . keen mind, his wonderful humor, his generosity or his great brave heart.

"May God rest his restless soul."

THURBER HOUSE RESTORATION, WRITER-IN-RESIDENCE PROJECT ANNOUNCED

Phi Psis everywhere will want to join in supporting a most unusual and innovative project recently announced in Columbus, Ohio, James Thurber's boyhood home.

A living memorial to Phi Psi's renowned author and cartoonist is being developed, the first portion of which is restoration of the lovely old Victorian home occupied by the Thurber family at 77 Jefferson Avenue in Columbus. This is where Jim Thurber lived on the day the dam broke, where the ghost got in, and where the bed fell one fateful night. Built more than 100 years ago, it is now listed in the National Register of Historic Places and is destined to become a center for a significant program of national prominence.

The restored Thurber House will be the center for the James Thurber Writer-in-Residence Project. It also will house a collection of drawings, manuscripts, photographs and other Thurber memorabilia. A National Advisory panel of persons prominent in the literary arts has already been selected and will choose annually from among the country's finest new authors a person to be the Thurber Writer-in-Residence, to live in the Thurber House, teach in the Ohio State University's School of Journalism, write for the Columbus Dispatch, conduct seminars at the Thurber House, and to produce literary pieces inspired from daily contact with the James Thurber spirit!

Developed under the aegis of Columbus' Metropolitan Learning Community, the project already has involved a number of local Phi Psis through the Thurber Circle, a group of Thurber devotees who have contributed generously of their time, talent and money to get the undertaking off the ground.

Approximately $150,000 is needed to provide for restoration of the House and startup costs for the Writer-in-Residence Project. All donations are tax deductible. Join today in supporting the Thurber Project.

Limited Edition Serigraph, commissioned by Phi Kappa Psi and signed by the artist, William Albert Ware. The 16" x 24" parchment print is available for purchase on a first come, first served basis, at a cost of $19.75 each, which includes $1.75 postage and insurance fee. The print arrives suitable for framing.

The artist's works include covers or illustrations in publications such as the Saturday Evening Post, Sports Illustrated, Time and Newsweek. Mr. Ware's serigraphs normally sell in the $150 price range, but the Fraternity was fortunate to utilize his talents when the oil portraits of Founders Letterman and Moore were commissioned for the new Fraternity Headquarters, Heritage when Mr. Ware helped display the portraits in Heritage Hall, the concept of a serigraph combining the Founders' portraits and Heritage Hall came forward and the significantly reduced price resulted. Each print purchased will contribute financially to the Fraternity.

We anticipate the prints selling out quickly, so you may wish to order now to insure availability.

From Here... And There

WILLIAM J. HAGENLOCHER, Carnegie '32, was the 1982 recipient of the Distinguished Service Award, presented annually by the Canton (Ohio) Regional Society of professional Engineers. The award is presented to outstanding members of the Canton Chapter for professional development of engineers and students and the advancement of engineering in general. Brother Hagenlocher, who has been in the engineering profession for 50 years, is a past president of the chapter and still active as a part time employee of Hammontree and Associates, a local consulting firm. He is a past president of the North Canton Rotary Club and past district governor of Rotary International. A 32° Mason, he is also an elder in his church and remains active in community affairs. Bill and his wife Genevieve have three married daughters and six grandchildren.

ROBERT B. LEE, DePauw '32, Supreme Court Justice in Colorado for 13 years, has decided to retire next January and will not seek retention in the election this year. Justice Lee, a former president of the Eighteenth Judicial Bar Association, a former deputy district attorney and a private attorney in the district for 20 years, served as a district judge for eight years until 1969 when he was named to the higher bench.

EDWARD G. WARMINGTON, Oregon '33, was awarded the "Man of the Year" Award on May 18, 1982 by the Construction Industries Alliance for the City of Hope, marking his half-century mark as a homebuilder next year. In 1933 he joined his father, William C. Warmington, California '09, building custom homes including residences of some famous Hollywood personalities and other notables. The Warmington Company carried out their ideas with quality materials and workmanship keeping an eye on costs, which brought great demand for their construction services. During World War II Brother Warmington took time off from homebuilding to work for Douglas Aircraft. In 1945 he returned to the building business joining his brother Richard C. Warmington, Southern California '35, and became the company's second generation president in 1950. He and his wife, Virginia, have four sons including James P.

Edward G. Warmington

Philip C. Strick

Warmington and Robert P. Warmington, both Southern California '62. Now his son Jim heads the company as president. Ed Warmington's singular education at the side of master architects in his early days and his insistence on high quality at an equitable price has made his mark, and has been a big contributor to housing in Southern California through three generations.

PHILIP C. STRICK, Chicago '39, was recently elected as the President of Methodist Hospital in Sacramento by the Board of Directors. A member of the board since 1977, he has served as Vice President, Chairman of the Finance Committee, member of the Executive Committee, Property, Development and Investment Committees. Brother Strick has also served as a director of the Eleanor McClatchy Performing Arts Center and is currently active as a member of the Grants Review Committee of the Sacramento County Commission on Aging. He resides in Sacramento with his wife Phyllis.

OWEN K. GARRIOTT, Oklahoma '49, has recently recently returned to the astronaut office, where he and a fellow scientist have been designated to serve as mission specialists for the Spacelab—1 flight, scheduled for launch in September, 1983. The first earthorbital Spacelab flight is planned for 7 days during which extensive tests will be made. Brother Garriott was in 1973 science-pilot for Skylab-3, the second manned Skylab mission, in orbit for 59½ days.

WARREN G. WATWOOD, Chicago '50, has been appointed to the newly created position of Vice President/Copy Director at Vitale Advertising Inc., New York, specialists in banking and financial advertising. Brother Watwood brings to Vitale 16 years' experience as a Senior Copywriter on banking, financial and media accounts at Doremus & Co. His previous experience as a copywriter was with Ogilvy & Mather and Cunningham & Walsh.

JOHN E. JOHNSON, Washington '50, and ROBERT EDGERS, Washington '49, pledge brothers at Washington Alpha, were both selected by the Who's Who in the West, 18th Edition, 1982-1983, in their latest publication. Brother Edgers is the executive vice president of Simpson Timber Co., Seattle; and Brother Johnson is president of Travelreps, Los Angeles.

LYNWOOD G. ELLIOTT, Texas '51, who passed away in June, 1978, was honored by the Texas Alpha Educational Foundation Board of Advisors with a permanent endowment fund, the Lynwood G. Elliott Memorial Scholarship Fund. The Fund currently has received approximately $5,000 in donations. The first recipient of this scholarship is Scott Texas. If you are interested in making a contribution, or would like more information please contact Floyd C. Saxon, President, Texas Alpha Educational Foundation, P.O. Box 1304, Austin, Tex. 78767.

DOUGLAS W. McCALLUM, Washington '58, has been elected president of the 2,000 member Washington State Association of Life Underwriters for 1982-83. A New York Life agent in Bellevue, Washington since 1963, Brother McCallum is qualifying and life member of the life insurance industry's Million Dollar Round Table. He is also a founding director of the First Western Bank in Bellevue.

JOHN S. WISEMAN, Ohio State '69, has been elected vice president, regional manager of Mortgage Guaranty Insurance Corp., the principal subsidiary of MGIC Investment Corporation. Brother Wiseman joined the company in 1977 as an account executive. Prior to that, he was a real estate investment manager for Greater Ohio Realty Investments, Columbus, Ohio. He graduated from Ohio State where he received a B.S. in business administration in 1972. He is a member of the Columbus Mortgage Bankers Association.

Robert W. Searl, Jr.

ROBERT W. SEARL, JR., Ohio Wesleyan '69, is serving his third season as head coach of the men's soccer team and director of intramural sports at Nazareth College (Rochester, N.Y.). Brother Searl returned to his alma mater with his soccer team this fall to participate in the Fred Myers Invitational Soccer Tournament. Nazareth finished third defeating Oberlin 2-1 in the consolation game. The Golden Flyers tied Ohio Wesleyan 1-1 in the opener, but the hosts advanced to the championship game on tie breaker penalty kicks. Searl, who was coached by the late Fred Myers, played college soccer at Ohio Wesleyan University between 1968-71.

Harold W. George

HAROLD W. GEORGE, IUP '70, has been promoted to Division Superintendent for Equitable Gas Company's Production and Transportation Department. He will head Division K, located in Weston, W. Va. Brother George most recently was division supervisor for Division F in the Production and Transportation Department. He joined Equitable in 1975 as a corrosion technician. He is a member of the National Association of Corrosion Engineers and the West Virginia Oil & Gas Association. He and his wife Kathleen are the parents of a daughter, Kimberly and reside in Bridgeport, W. Va.

ROGER L. SORENSEN, Case Western Reserve '74, joined the faculty of Jordan College in Cedar Springs, Michigan as Adjunct Professor. He'll be teaching two courses each semester in the 1982 academic year; field biology and man's impact on the environment in the fall, and intro. biology and human anatomy in the spring.

DOUGLAS E. JOHNSTON, DePauw '76, has just completed law school at Valparaiso University School of Law and is working for General Electric Co. in Arlington, Va. in its patent lawyer development program. Brother Johnston became a member of the Indiana State Bar in June, 1982.

REV. JOHN P. SCHLEGEL, Creighton '79, the former assistant vice president for academic affairs at Creighton University, was appointed academic dean at Rockhurst College in Kansas City on July 15, 1982. Brother Schlegel, associate professor of political science was at Creighton 13 years. He served on several boards in Omaha, including the Chamber of Commerce, and Omaha Tomorrow Task Force. Brother Schlegel has served in the appointed office of Chaplain for Phi Kappa Psi since 1980.

Editor's Note: Copies of the Fraternity's audited financial reports for end of fiscal year May 31, 1982 are available to any Brother, at a cost of $3.50 to cover postage and handling, through the Fraternity Headquarters.

Editor's Note: The Executive Council met on August 11, 1982 and again on August 15, 1982, just prior to and following the 1982 GAC in Atlanta. Space limitations in THE SHIELD do not allow for printing minutes of the meetings, but copies are available at a cost of $3.50 (to help defray postage and printing expense) to any Phi Psi through the Fraternity Headquarters.

G. Richard Locke, right

G. RICHARD LOCKE, DePauw '80, has won lots of awards and recognition at De-Pauw University, but he admits he was completely surprised to be named the winner of the private university's prestigious Laurence I. Wood Achievement Award. The $500 Wood Award, goes annually to the outstanding member of the junior class. It is granted to the DePauw student who has demonstrated superior academic competence, has given generously of his or her time and talent to student activities, and holds the greatest promise as a future citizen and leader. His competition was the other 546 members of the class of 1983 at DePauw. He was recently elected president of DePauw's Academic Council and plays varsity golf on an NCAAbound tourney team, holds down a job as a physics lab assistant, and was awarded a scholarship to the Charles Edison Foundation Institution on Comparative Politics and Economics this past summer at Georgetown University. On top of all these activities, Brother Locke holds down a 3.96 grade average as a pre-medical science-computational mathematics double major. He was also recently elected to Phi Beta Kappa. After graduation Locke plans to go to medical school. Rick is the son of Dr. and Mrs. G. Richard Locke of Decatur.

In Chapter Eternal

The Fraternity suffered the loss of two past presidents recently, highly esteemed both within and without Phi Kappa Psi, and both active at the local and national level from nearly the day of initiation throughout life. On August 7, WINSTON ROUSSEAU TATE Kansas '18, passed away, and on September 14, DR. LOUIS DAMARIN CORSON, West Virginia '34, also joined the Chapter Eternal.

In addition to his particular devotion to the areas of Fraternity Education, "Win" Tate served Phi Psi in numerous appointed offices. Brother Tate served as Fraternity Treasurer from 1940-1946, and as president from 1946-1948, and chaired the Grand Arch Council in Estes Park, Colorado. Win's survivors include his wife, Louise, who maintains now their Kansas City home.

Dr. Corson, a retired educator, served at the time of his death on the Scholarship Awards Committee of the Endowment Fund, Phi Psi's educational foundation. Brother Corson was Vice President of the Fraternity from 1960-1962 serving on the Executive Council chaired by Webb M. Mize, Mississippi '30. Lou was then elected president at the '62 GAC at Ashevile, North Carolina, and chaired the convention of 1964 in Denver, Colorado, serving as Phi Psi's 39th SWGP. Lou's survivors include his wife Joan Stifel Corson, and two daughters, Miss Linda Corson and Mrs. Fredrick P. (Joan) Stamp, Jr. Brother Stamp is Washington & Lee '53. The Corson family is from Wheeling, West Virginia.

Both Brothers Tate and Corson were members of the Fraternity's Order of SC, Win having been initiated into the Order in 1938, and Lou in 1950. Winston Rousseau Tate answered the GAC roll call 21 times, and Brother Corson attended 23 GACs, never missing since 1936, including the 1982 Grand Arch Council ending just a month prior to his death. Brother Tate was Phi Psi's 30th SWGP.

The loss of Win and Lou leave the following as sole surviving past presidents of Phi Kappa Psi (with their years as SWGP):

Willis Lyle "Casey" Jones, West Virginia '27: 1954-1956 Robert Roy Elliott, Ohio Wesleyan '35: 1958-1960 Webb Morse Mize, Mississippi '30: 1960-1962 Robert E. Leber, Gettysburg '46: 1964-1966 Walter Lee Sheppard, Jr., Cornell '29: 1968-1970 Philip M. Cornelius, Indiana '25: 1970-1972 Mark D. Sullivan, Northwestern '57: 1972-1974 Tom James, Texas '48: 1974-1976 J. Kenneth Potter, Ohio Wesleyan '51: 1976-1978 Robert W. Chamberlain, Arizona State '62: 1978-1980 John R. Donnell Jr., Case '59: 1980-1982

OLIVER B. MARTIN, Michigan '07, died March, 1981

H. O. HIRT, Wittenberg '07, died June 19, 1982. Brother Hirt was the Founder and President Emeritus of of Erie Insurance Exchange and Erie Insurance Group. Following graduation in 1911 from Wittenberg he taught high school biology in Fairfield, Iowa and history at Terrill School for Boys in Dallas, Texas. However, his teaching career came to an end in 1915 when he contracted tuberculosis. On May 15, 1922, Brother Hirt, by chance, entered the insurance business and soon became the top auto insurance salesman in the Erie branch office of the Pennsylvania Indemnity Exchange of Philadelphia. Although selected to manage the Scranton branch of Pennsylvania Indemnity, he resigned in late 1924 to organize his own company in Erie, the Erie Insurance Exchange. Hirt saw the organization he started more than 57 years ago grow to a Group of five companies offering various insurances. Erie Insurance is the largest writer of auto and homeowners' insurance in Pennsylvania among several hundred Pennsylvania based companies, and the third largest among all insurance companies operating in the state. Brother Hirt received many awards and citations in recognition of his long service and outstanding contributions to the insurance industry. A pioneering leader in the insurance world for more than a half century, Hirt served as president and manager of Erie Insurance until October, 1976, when he was succeeded by his son, F. William Hirt, Wittenberg '43. He continued to serve as "Founder and President Emeritus" until his death. In addition to his son, Brother Hirt is survived by a daughter; four grandchildren; two nephews and a niece.

Akron

Growing!

Ohio Iota is alive and growing! Greetings from the University of Akron. In the past months we have achieved many goals that we had set for the Chapter. We are pleased to welcome our most recent initiates; Gerald Kesling, Portage Lakes; Brian Grady & Tim Elsass, North Canton; and Chuck Sutherland of Bainbridge. With the activation of these new Brothers, we now have 13 active members in our Chapter.

Also at this time, I would like to announce the pledging of six exceptional young men: Rich Loney of Maple Hts.; Clifford Lee, N. Canton; John Vertolli, Canton; Dave Ross, Tom Flower, and Dan Maione, all of Tallmadge. We wish them much success in their pledgeship to the Chapter. It is new vitality such as this that will continue to bring Ohio Iota to new heights in its history.

The goals of the Chapter can only be met through hard work and successful leadership. The men chosen to do this were James Schulte, GP; Don Dick, VGP; Bob Sweitzer, AG; and Jerry Lee, BG. The ability of these men and the support of the Chapter, working together, will help us accomplish all that we set forth to do.

November will prove to be a very exciting and busy month. Highlighting the week of Nov. 8-12 is the Second Annual Phi Psi Best Legs Contest. Last year we were able to raise $600 for the Burn Unit of Akron Children's Hospital. This year we are attempting to surpass that amount in an effort to aid them in their most needed and worthy effort to save the lives of children and adults in the Akron area. Closing the month on Sunday Nov. 21, we will be welcoming the parents of many Brothers at our Phi Psi Parent party.

Ohio Iota has been the proud recipient of many awards from local recognition as well as from the Fraternity. On the campus of the University of Akron the Chapter was chosen to be the "Most Improved House on Campus" by the Interfraternity Council. During the "Greek Week" activities on campus, the Chapter received numerous awards and trophies for their participation in many events. We were pleased to receive the most individual firsts of all participants. During the Annual Songfest Competition the Brothers received the award for "Most Original Performance" for their rendition of "Swing Low Sweet Chariot."

On an individual basis, Chapter president James Schulte received the "Vukovich-Hayes" Award for his outstanding service in the Greek system on campus. Brother Bob Sweitzer was the recipient of the first "Outstanding Young Greek Award" at the University of Akron. He was chosen from all of the new initiates of each fraternity on campus. Brother Mike Sebald was nominated for the "Outstanding Greek Award." Collectively, the members of Ohio Iota have become leaders in the Greek system on the campus of the University of Akron and we will continue to do so in the future.

Brothers Dennis Goellner, Bob Sweitzer, and Brian Grady were able to bring back to the Chapter many enjoyable and informative experiences from the 61st GAC in Atlanta. They were able to meet the Brothers from many Chapters and Colonies of the Fraternity. During this time they were able to discuss many of the common cares and concerns faced by the individual Chapters.

Ohio Iota came home a winner from the GAC with a Honorable Mention for "Most Improved Chapter" and a $100 award from the Endowment Fund of the Fraternity for their service project, the Best Legs Contest, to benefit Akron Children's Hospital Burn Unit.

Our house has a new look to it these days. The outside has been painted and the inside has undergone many major improvements. A new mural brightens the entrance way of our home. We were very pleased to show our home to the Brothers of Ohio Epsilon from Case Western Reserve in Cleveland at our recent Hairy Buffalo party on Sept. 17. Also we were pleased to welcome John Burke, Treasurer of the Fraternity, to our home on that occasion.

Through the efforts of Brian Grady, our Social Chairman, we will be enjoying a dinner or dessert with every sorority on campus this semester. As of this writing, we have been pleased to have the women of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority to our home for a "Pimp and Prostitute" party. The participants were dressed to act out their respective parts and fantasies. More recently, the women of Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority were welcomed to a "Pajama Party". This event was rewarded with the presence of alumni from both our Chapter and theirs.

It is involvement by the Brothers, and events such as these, that makes Ohio Iota a strong and leading Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi on the campus of the University of Akron. It is also these same events that help us grow to a more prosperous future in our Fraternity.

Alabama

Revitalization Complete

Upon returning this fall, the Brothers were very excited over the progress on our house. This enthusiasm led to a strong pledge class of eighteen gentlemen: Bill Buckner, John Higginbottom, and Alan Logan, Birmingham; Joe Sloan and Phil Williams, Huntsville; Scott Beard, Silas; Brad Gray, Mobile Mike Gray, Northport; John Hall, Lexington; Paul Lett, Clanton; David Owsley, Auburn; Brad Pruitt, Dothan; Barry Short, Cordova; Brian Buchanan, Lexington, KY: Mark Dixon, Vienna, VA; Mike Jacobsen, Saratoga, CA; Sandy Leeds, Yonkers, NY; and Dave Pecher, Orlando, FL. These men have already had a very positive influence in the Chapter, and we look forward to their initiation into the Brotherhood. We also welcome our three newest members: Jeff Mobley, Natural Bridge; Frank Alexander, Jasper; and G. Phillip Cook, Haleyville.

Years of planning were culminated this past summer with the beginning of the remodeling of our house. Work began on June 7 and was completed in mid-October, just in time for Homecoming festivities. Thanks to the relentless efforts of our House Corporation, which is under the direction of Fred Clay, we once again have a beautiful house that all Alabama Alpha brothers can call home. We would like to thank all of our alumni and other Phi Psi's who were responsible for the Revitalization of Alabama Alpha, which is once again a prominent part of Capstone life.

To the surprise of some, our hastily formed softball team captured second place in our division and a spot in the playoffs. Mike Gunter won the all-campus tennis championship. Our intramural football team is currently 2-0 and looking forward to a probable playoff berth. In scholastics we had the highest GPA among Alabama's twenty-six fraternities, and we have no plans to relinquish this honor.

Chapter officers are as follows: Michael Gunter, GP; Warren Laird, VGP; Christopher Hill, P; Richard Johnson, AG; Max Ray, BG; Rod Fields, SG; Ralph DeSanctis, Hod; Steven Williams, Phu; and John Ellis, Hi

Renewal

Diversity is the key ingredient for Penn. Beta's fall term renewal. The eighteen member Brotherhood is actively involved in a wide range of campus and community activities. The assortment of individuals will result in a successful rush and a strong reputation on campus.

Michael Slotsky, GP, is involved with Student Government and served as an Orientation Advisor. Michael Eberth, VGP, is a sophomore and a returning letterman for the football team. He was also elected GAC representative for 1982. Ted Gore, P, is an economics major and anticipates a career in business. David Gallogly, AG, is a member of the chamber and college choirs. Rocco Arcieri, SG, is a trumpet player in the wind ensemble and jazz band. Tim Burgess, BG, is active in the college Republicans and the International Relation club. Harold King, Hi, is a wide receiver for the football team. Alan Redfern and Daniel Walczyk both serve as Phu and are disc jockeys for the college radio station. Dan also plays for the lacrosse club. David Resek, Hod, is a percussionist in the wind ensemble and a member of Alpha Phi Omega service fraternity.

Senior Bruce Baron spent his summer in Israel working on archeological digs. Bruce served on the college judicial board and is planning a career in medicine. Timothy Conarro was a member of the water polo and tennis teams. David Lasher spent his junior year abroad and served this year as an Orientation Advisor. Jonathan Usdin and Joel Geraci are both dancers in the Orchesis dance group. Mitchell Krinsky is a runner for the varsity cross country team. John Benjamin plays the flute and is a perspective geology major. Sophmore Mike Basile is an Okemienne member, a Christian fellowship group on campus.

Due to a successful rush last year followed by the initiation of eleven new brothers, Penn. Beta is confident that their plans for reestablishment will be accomplished.

Recently the Chapter has been working hard to establish alumni support. A newsletter will be sent in October and plans for a reception during homecoming weekend are being made. All the brothers at Penn Beta are looking toward this year with anticipation. Our 128 continual years of tradition is enough to inspire any of our Brothers to strive toward our Fraternal ideals.

Arizona

Onward and Upward

As an another cold Tucson winter approaches, the Brothers of Arizona Alpha are well prepared. We have gathered suntan oil, tennis balls, sunglasses and nine outstanding pledges. They are: Andres Armonta Diaz, Sierra Vista; Robert Joseph Drust II, Lake Havasu City; Jonathan Miles Garrett, Lacon, IL; Andrew Scott Johnson, Phoenix; David Peter Mercik, Enfield, CT: Craig Andrew Porter, Scottsdale; Jeffrey Scott Schroer; and William Wesley Zimmer, Tucson.

Although things are looking up at Arizona Alpha, we are not easing up. Our efforts at finding a house continue. We have set up a special fund to help with a down payment. Any and all contributions to this fund would be welcomed and greatly appreciated. We feel that for us to grow and prosper the way a Phi Psi Chapter should, a house is a must.

Arizona Alpha continued in its strong scholastic tradition by achieving the highest fraternity GPA on campus for the spring 82' semester. We have reached the top and we plan to stay there.

Phi Psi excellence at the U of A is by no means limited to the classroom. We are proud to announce that Pat Duffy was elected president of the Associated Students of the University of Arizona for the 82-83 school year. Francis Bidleman is serving as Pat's legislative director and is also on the director's board of the Arizona Students Association. Ralph Parisi is serving on the Faculty Senate. Jon James is on the Bookstore Managerial Board and David Morgenstein is on the Domicile Classification Board. Mike Wendelin achieved the rank of Senior Patroller in the National Ski Patrol. This past summer Dave Morgenstein traveled to the Philippine Islands and to Diego Garcia as part of his Air Force ROTC training.

Finally, we placed three brothers (Ralph Parisi, Francis Bidleman, Jon James) and three pledges (Bill Zimmer, Bob Drust, Jeff Schroer) as student hosts in the summer orientation program for incoming freshman. Mike Wendelin and Ralph Parisi represented Arizona Alpha at the GAC in Atlanta this past summer. They brought back many valuable ideas that will help to make us a better Chapter. Brothers Wendelin and Paris; said they particularly enjoyed meeting with Brother Walter Murphy of Mississippi-Alpha.

This semesters slate of officers is David Morgenstein, GP; Richard Whitford, VGP; Steven Smith, P; Jonathan James, AG; Kenneth Kadisak, BG; Michael Wendelin, SG; Ralph Parisi, Hod; Brook Hammond, Phu; and Mark Taylor, Hi. Our social chairman for this semester is Steve Smith and Steve is doing a great job.

In early October we held a Westerner at the beautiful ranch home of Don Matlock, Arizona 53'. Homecoming was a big success also. The undergraduates hosted a pre-game reception for the alumni. It was a great opportunity for the alumni and undergraduates to trade stories, and for our pledges to see that Fraternity involvement does not end with graduation.

Arizona Alpha congratulates Sigma Alpha Epsilon Fraternity on their return to campus and wishes all Chapters and Brothers of Phi Kappa Psi continued success in all their endeavors.

Arizona State

Twenty Years Proud

As Arizona Beta finishes its twentieth year at Arizona state, the Brothers of Phi Kappa Psi are enthusiastically looking forward to the next twenty. To celebrate twenty years of excellence in Tempe, there will be a Phi Psi golf tournament and formal celebration. The December fourth activities will include awards to outstanding individual and team scores and dinner at the Doubletree Inn in Scottsdale, Arizona. For information call the Chapter house at 602-965-0467. All Brothers are welcome.

May 5, 1982 was a memorable day for all, as seven new Brothers were initiated into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi. Festivities included the Rolling Stones video-simulcast, dinner followed by an awards ceremony, and then to Bourbon Street Circus. The night, filled with merriment and Brotherhood, will be long remembered by those who attended.

Congratulations to our new Brothers John D'Aoust, Todd Brickson, Mike Ettinger, Jeff Fisher, Chris Poindexter, Bill Pritchard and Mark Schofield.

On August 29, 1982, fourteen men were initiated as pledges to Phi Kappa Psi. They are Robert Acaba, Los Angeles, CA; Mark Bodnar, Cleveland, OH; Gerald Brown, Toms River, NJ; Eric Flynn, Villa Park, CA; Randall Jones, Yorktown, IN; Steve Layton, Park City, UT: Alexander Lieb and Barry Mason, Philadelphia, PA; Keith Oliver, St. Louis, MO; Jeff Owens, Anchorage, AK; David Sarro, Reno, NV; Mark Smith, Yuma, AZ; Matthew Tapert, Los Angeles, CA; and Todd Tweedy, Anchorage, AK.

The Arizona Beta chapter house has undergone several changes in the past months. New carpeting has been added to the hallways along with two new couches and a table for the Chapter room.

This year, as last year, Founders Day activities will be held at Arizona Beta. The date for this prestigious event will be Feb. 19, 1983. The Chapter will be looking forward once again to a fine evening with prominent and current alumni.

The Brothers of Arizona Beta would like to wish all Chapters throughout the country a prosperous fall and spring semester. It looks like another year of Phi Psi dominance at ASU. As always all Brothers are encouraged to stop by anytime.

The very practical theme of "Renovation" was used in fall rush by Arkansas Alpha.

Letters

Greetings from the land of those bowlbound Hogs. Once again Arkansas Alpha is off to a good start. After an eventful summer, we have returned to a Chapter which has undergone several changes. Perhaps the most outstanding of these changes have been those concerning our lodge. Over the summer a house corporation was formed to assume control of the operation of the Phi Psi Lodge in Fayetteville. This venture was undertaken to promote greater involvement by Arkansas Phi Psis in the business of the lodge.

Along with this change, the lodge itself has undergone some improvements. The two main living rooms have been almost entirely renovated. Plans for carpeting and refinishing of floors are all but finalized. A column on the front porch has been replaced, thanks to Brother Jim Hathaway—Kansas Alpha '54. We owe a great debt of gratitude to our alumni Brothers who have aided us in our efforts to renovate the lodge.

As a special note, the lodge has quite recently received three large letters on the front which proudly proclaim the existence of our beloved Fraternity on this campus.

GAC was a grand success for Arkansas Alpha. Brothers Evans, Kansas Alpha '42, Malczycki, '79, Harper, '79, Dobbins, 80, Chiechi, '80, and Gaines, '82 served in various capacities at the convention. Brother Evans received an award for excellence in alumni endeavors for Phi Psi. Arkansas Alpha received honorable mention for Alumni Relations, an award we attribute to our great alumni in the tri-state area. The pleasures of Brotherhood were tremendously enjoyed by al of the Arkansas contingent. In fact, a few of our Brothers along with the Brothers from Rhode Island Beta had such a good time that they tried to found Buckhead Beach Alpha Colony at a local establishment.

The fall schedule of events—social, service, and intramural—is quite full. Traditional favorites such as flag football, the Halloween party with Delta Gamma Sorority, and the "Go to Hell, Texas" party with Alpha Delta Pi Sorority are with us once more.

Arkansas Alpha is striving to maintain its strength and growth in numbers. In keeping with this goal, three new Brothers were initiated in September. They are Jeff Edwards, David Jordan, and Nelson Blackford, all are from Pine Bluff. In addition, our Chapter boasts of a strong fall pledge class consisting of twelve fine young men: Alan Berkey, Joe Clark, David Ferguson, Chip Hawkens, Stephen Henderson, Glen Lockeby, Bobby Massanelli, Barry Rogers, Greg Tabor, Fred Tisdale, Jeff Wentz, and Bradford M. Young. We are confident in the quality of men that Phi Kappa Psi attracts in Arkansas and feel that this pledge class will boost this confidence even more.

Arkansas Alpha is on the move. We expect to prosper with time. We encourage all Phi Psis to visit our Chapter or to write at any time, for we are learning that Brotherhood can only be experienced and enjoyed in one way, and that way is through sharing it with others.

Involved

The Ohio Theta Chapter has never been known to sit back and take alot of flak. Although our intent has never been questioned, our methods have. This year the Brotherhood has taken a multi-pronged attack on that which we feel could be improved on the Ashland campus.

Jay Billy, Frank Fraas, and Dave Ferguson are on Student Senate. Dave Morell is on the Greek affairs staff. Scott Bontempo, Tom Spatafora, and Fraas are on IFC, with Bob DiDonato set a school record last spring for most wins in a season for the Ashland College tennis team. Brother DiDonato compiled a record of 17-3 over the season and will return again to the Courts this spring.

Spatafora holding down the presidency. Brothers Billy and Fraas are Senior class president and vice-president, respectively.

John Heffernan, Bontempo, alumni Scott Winchester and Dave Arter attended the GAC where they met up with J.R. Milligan.

The house has undergone some major improvements. The livingroom was painted and wallpapered along with the foyer stairwells, and hallways. On the exterior over 50 shrubs were planted. These are under the watchful eye of Tad Rose.

New officers for this semester include Frank Fraas, GP; Mark Franklin, VGP; Scott Bontempo, AG; Larry Schuman, P; Dave Ferguson, BG; Tad Rose, SG; Jack Leonti, Hod; Dave McNally, Phu; Mike Burkholder, Hi; and Tom Himes, Song Master.

Committee heads for this semester are Governing and Grievance, Mark Franklin; Finance, Gary Sinko; Activities, Tony Bovenzi and Kevin Murray; Alumni, Daryl Charton; Scholarship, Jay Billy; Rush, Scott Bontempo; Psimon, Larry Schuman; Recreation, Bill Kynast and Pete Bottino; and Social, Bob Petrina and Dan Monacelli.

A parents weekend was held that included a brunch, tailgate party, a cocktail hour, dinner, and a party. Our annual Halloween Party was once again a tremendous success as the majority of the campus stopped by that evening.

We once again express to all alumni that we would like to hear from you; Ron Bajorak where are you?

Psimon, our famous St. Bernard was nominated for Homecoming King recently. The brothers invite all to stop by and visit us on the hilltop.

New Enthusiasm

Alabama Beta began the Fall Quarter with a fresh start. A number of house improvements were made, consisting mainly of painting some of the rooms as well as opening up the rest of the front porch. We also enjoyed a rather successful rush. Our new associate members are Thomas Dale Lee Jr., Pell City; Clifford Royce Cheney, Pensacola, FL; Michael Allen Williams, Mobile; Ricky Lynn Johnson, Cherry Point, NC; Robert Earl Perry and Jeffery Alan Lee, Pell City; Hans Kristofer Croeber, Montrose, CO; and Mark Damien Miles, Morris Town, PA. They show a lot of enthusiasm and we are very proud to have them.

We also have the pleasure of announcing the initiation of three new members: David Donald Dobbings, Lakeland, FL; Thomas Garry White, Basking Ridge, NJ; and Timothy Glen Unger, Wyckoff, NJ. We would also like to extend a hearty welcome back to three Brothers who have been absent this past year: Kevin Hodges, Bill Baughan, and Waylon Thompson.

As usual, Alabama Beta is holding its own academically. This past year, our Chapter was third highest among Auburn fraternities, as well as holding its usual place in the top ten. This fall, more than before, we are looking for a winning season in intramural football. If for no other reason, simply because we will have enough people to play all four quarters without dropping from exhaustion. It should be interesting.

Well, we are finally getting serious about finding a new house. We hope we will be able to find one on campus, unless we find something we like better off campus. We will certainly miss the old house.

Brothers Evans and Robertson, as well as some of our distinguished alumni, Brothers Hertha, Jernigan, Likos, and McFudden attended the GAC for Alabama Beta. We would like to congratulate Dr. Warman, our Faculty Advisor, who received an award for Chapter Service. The Chapter would also like to thank the Brothers of Florida Beta who helped Brothers Evans and Robertson make it through the GAC.

The Chapter would like to also thank the Fraternity for sending us a Chapter Consultant to assist in Rush. His tips on rushing are appreciated.

I would like to ask all our alumni to send us a current address so that we might improve our alumni relations. We enjoy hearing from all of you. The address is still:

We hope to see all our alumni at Home-coming on November 6.

Wisconsin Gamma is coming off one its finest academic years with the Chapter's grade point average of 3.1, the highest average of any organization on campus last year. The men are hard at work again to make this fall term even more productive academically.

The Chapter has once again began to discharge the business of the Fraternity and is doing so under the competent leadership of the fall officers. They are Charles Day, GP; Dean Armandroff, VGP; Joseph Carroll, P; Gregory Powell, AG; and Phil Rogers, BG. Also, note should be given to Terry Jones, Social Chairman; Jaime Hollensteiner, kitchen steward; and Holman Pettibone, house manager for their hard work and determination this fall term.

Wisconsin Gamma also got off to an excellent start this term with one of our most successful rush programs in years. Much credit is due to Rush Chairman Guy Oberwise who made this success possible. Seventeen men have pledged themselves to the ideals of Phi Kappa Psi. They are Andrew Alt, Grand Rapids, MI; David Armstrong, Oconto Falls; Scott Bennett, New Boston, NH; David Current, Piketon, OH; Ricky Dobler, Nagold, W. Germany; Chris Dobler, Nagold, W. Germany; William Droessler, Rockford, IL; Ethan Gibson, Flemington, NJ; Robert Harney, Mt. Prospect, IL; Peter Hilb, Englewood, CO; Joseph Kukla, Barrington, IL; Mark Magnuson, LaPorte, IN; Scott Mayor, Leadville, CO; David McDonald, Buffalo Grove, IL; Bradley Roberts, Orchard Lake, MI; Brian Thompson, Oak Park IL; and Matthew Tolmach, Chevy Chase, MD.

Following tradition, Wisconsin Gamma is well represented in the activities of the College

In student government, Charles Day is the IFC President. Phi Psis in the Campus Senate include pledge Dave McDonald and Brother Jeff Van Hoosear (who is also President of the college ODK chapter) and also chairman of the Senate's Communication and Publications committee which includes pledge Scott Bennett. Pledges Joe Kukla and Bob Harney are serving on the Senates Student Life Committee.

Brothers Terry Jones, Jeff Van Hoosear, Mark Underwood, Blaine Kloeckner, Linc German, and Pat Esposito are further involved in College academics by assisting as teaching assistants.

Guy Oberwise, Joe Coyne, and Ken Matheis are supplementing their formal education by participating in the college internship community.

In sports Phi Psi is represented by Mark Underwood and Kimmo Walden in soccer, Patrick Esposito, Steven Creden, and Joe Carroll in hockey, and Terry Jones in cross country. While Steven Creden and Dean Armandroff are co-head coaches of the undefeated womens College soccer team. The chapter also has high hopes for its intramural softball and basketball teams. In the College Jazz band Phi Psi is represented by David Bizzaro, Thomas Baker, and Phil-Rogers.

We would like to wish the best of luck to John Lind who left Beloit for a new position at Southwestern University at Georgetown, Texas. John was very instrumental in the rechartering of Wisconsin Gamma and has given us much support and time to make us as strong as we are today.

The chapter would also like to express sincerest appreciation to Brother Dr. Warner Mills for temporarily filling both posts of Chapter and Faculty Advisor.

We also are deeply appreciative of the conscientious alumni who continue to support the Chapter and the Fraternity. Finally, the Brothers of Wisconsin Gamma extend our sincerest and best wishes to all the Brothers of Phi Kappa Psi.

On The Upswing

The Ohio Zeta Chapter is off to a great start this year. We began the semester by easily winning the Sig Ep Mud Tug for the second year in the row. The mud tug is the year's first Greek event and consists of a grueling tug of war over a huge pit of mud. Our own philanthropy project, the annual charity Bath Tub Race, was a huge success. Held on Sept 18, the event consists of sorority and fraternity teams paddling across a pond in cast-iron bathtubs.

In the area of membership, Ohio Zeta is also on the upswing. We proudly announce the initiation of Brothers Rich Gaw, John Muellauer, and Jeff Krahenbuhl. In one of the most successful rushes in several years, we pledged thirteen outstanding young men. The are Don Brakenhoff, Mark Ferraro, Doug Moore, Scott Ruof, Craig Stone, Carey Danielson, Rich Kyle, Matt Morbitt, Tod Santee, Scott Davis, Craig Moeller, Scott Piciacchia, and Mark Schweinfurth. One of these men will, upon completion of pledging, become Badge number 500 of our Chapter. We consider this to be a milestone in our history and a sentinel of that which is to come. Lawrence J. With Direction In '82

The coming of fall and the beginning of a new year is always a special time for the Brothers at Indiana Zeta. This year has proven to be even more exciting.

We started the year off in the right direction with the initiation of Douglas W. Bramley, Batesville, AK. We are also very proud of our eleven fall pledges; Thomas Gelbach, Lincoln, IL; Brad Gillum, Elwood; Troy Fansler, Rochester; Jeff Jones, Lincoln, IL; Doug Kent, Hebron, IN; Mike O'Shaughnessy, Pekin, IL; Michael Nash, Chesterton; Keith Podemski, South Bend; Mike Shutt, Indianapolis; Randy Strutz, Palos Heights, IL; and Jeff Thomas, Springfield, OH. These me will be guided toward their initiation with the help of the fall Fraternity Educator, Martin St. Clair. Our pledges had the privilege of hearing from Mystagogue Kent Christopher Owen, Indiana '58, when he came to visit the Brothers and speak on Fraternity history on October 21

This semester we are under the leadership of the following new officers: Kevin O'Shaughnessy, GP; Darryl Wells, VGP; Jeff Draper, P; Duane R. Denton, AG; Bob Bailey, BG; Tony Bushnell, SG; Mike Plantz, Hod; Douglas W. Bramley, Phu; and Gary McPherson, Hi. Our house manager for this semester is Peter Brady.

A formal dedication for our new home was held on October 9. Contributors, alumni, members of other Chapters in our district, parents, friends, and Butler University administrators attended the reception.

On the sports scene, our intramural football team is in contention for the first place trophy. We have currently won eight games and lost one with the championship game to be played soon.

And in keeping with what seems to be a tradition, we have won the scholarship trophy for the highest G.P.A. among the men's housing units on campus. This marks the thirteenth consecutive year we have won this award.

Academically, our house achievements are founded upon our individual scholastic achievements. John Brand, an Economics/ Math/French/Chemistry major became the first student ever from Butler University to win a coveted Truman Scholarship. The scholarship is given to only two students per state who plan a career in public service. Making another outstanding achievement was Bill Hollenberg, who received a prestigious National Science Foundation Fellowship to further his chemical research at Northwestern University. Other individuals who excelled scholastically include: Jeff Draper, who was elected to Phi Kappa Phi and named outstanding junior accounting student; Dave Grimshaw, who received a National Fraternity Founder's Fellowship; and three of our pharmacy students, Kevin O'Shaughnessy, Mike O'Shaughnessy, and Shane Wilson who received scholarships to further their education. Also, Martin St. Clair and Bill Hollenberg will both have articles published in chemical journals this fall as a result of their research done this summer at Purdue University. Seventeen of the thirty-one returning Brothers made the Dean's List second semester with five of them achieving perfect 4.0 GPA's. They are: John Brand, John Scircle, Jeff Draper, Steve Maenhout, and Bob Bailey. With these results we still see no need to initiate a study table.

On campus, Steve Mckenzie, second vicepresident of Studen Assembly and chairman of Programming Board, was recently chosen to be the student chairman of the Butler University 1983 Annual Fund Drive.

Our new home is shaping up with the addition of a family style kitchen. We are also planning to landscape our lawn soon.

Yes, the '82 year has started off in the right direction, and with strong leadership and a close Brotherhood we will continue in that direction.

November 1982

California

Community Service

The Berkeley area is diverse and dynamic, and we at Cal Gamma parallel this excitement in our efforts for the community and the Chapter. Phi Psis at Cal are on the move. Brothers Orr and Rosenthal are football yell leaders this season and Warren Nagler, P, is Finance Director for the Associated Students of the University of California. Involved in the Interfraternity Council, Don Larson holds the offices of both Publicity and Philanthropic Chairman. We at Cal Gamma interact with the University, maintaining the relationship without which we would not exist.

Cal Gammans also direct energies toward the San Francisco Bay community. When the floods hit Marin County, we were there to dig people out and clean up property for distraught families who were relieved that someone cared. Our quarterly service projects include the Cancer Drive, fund-raising for a local hospital and clean-up work for a regional park. Several members have contracted with special local agencies for their own projects.

Although we value community service work, house improvements obviously have a more immediate interest. The fall and spring 1981 pledge classes are remodeling the basement with new carpet, paneling and lighting. Last spring each member contributed his own talents to design and build our new redwood deck, the improvement of which we are most proud. Thanks to a loan from the Fraternity, we have funds to repair and paint the house's exterior to complement the new deck.

These times requiring dedication and effort make the fun times more valuable, so we balance projects with an innovative social calendar. The new social committee is planning comedy nights and theme parties in addition to the usual formals and exchanges. We especially enjoy the "Prove It All Night" party at which we imitate groups complete with drums and guitars; but the Spring Luau featuring Eddie Money is everyone's favorite event. Everyone works for days to transform the house into a tropical paradise with waterfalls, sand and palm trees.

Concerned with our obligations to the University and ties with the community, we work for the Chapter and have fun with its members.

New Year

Welcome back Brothers of California Iota! We opened the year with the initiation of our Spring pledge class: Mark Seyfreid, Rob Parker, Keith Kanner, Tony Ashe, and Ken Anderson. They are an outstanding group of gentlemen we are sure will add to the diversity of our Chapter.

Our VGP, Scott Chaplin, has planned a traditional rush program. We opened with the 3rd Hawaiian Bash, moved on to a cocktail party, followed by a barbecue, then an exchange with the Tri-Delts, and lastly the Formal Bid Acceptance. We feel rush is progressing successfully, and hope to report a strong addition.

The Brothers of California lota take over the dance floor at their Spring Formal in San Francisco.

Doug Smith reported at our first meeting on his trip to the Grand Arch Council in Atlanta. He spoke of the committee meetings on Pledge Education and Rush Organization, and of the Brothers around the United States. Doug found the GAC both educational and entertaining, and encouraged others to go.

After one year of having a house, we have learned many lessons. On one hand we enjoy having a place to hold our functions and meetings, but the weight of finance, up-keep, and organization balance the scales. Overall we feel the house has made us a stronger organization on campus, though many of the present Brothers joined Phi Kappa Psi never expecting to have a house. Although we appreciate the strength, we don't wish to become dependent on the house as the source of our strength.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. Tony Perkins on the birth of their daughter, and to our intramural golf team which finished second in the All-Greek Tournament.

UCLA Ever Growing

Last spring quarter marked the finish of California Epsilon's finest year to date. Cal Ep won many significant awards throughout the year including first place in the IFC Intramural Sports Competition and first place with the best overall booth at UCLA's Mardi Gras. The Mardi Gras success was headed by Dave Byrd whose hard work and leadership helped enable the brothers to construct the 36 foot masterpiece. The intramural sports victory was a culmination of three quarters of hard work and the athletic skills of many all-around athletes such as Jack Noe, Pete and Paul Pellizzon, Eric Bernd, Mike Prestridge, Earl Hewell, and Joe Huhn, among others.

Spring quarter ended with the election of our present officers: John Shepherd, GP; Joe Huhn, VGP; Dave Burrowes, P; Dave Larimer, AG; Chris Gleiter, BG; Mike Prestridge, SG; Andy Reikes, Hod; Earl Hewell, Phu; and John Vlautin, Hi.

In keeping with tradition, the summer months were full of good news, bad news, and numerous surprises. In the middle of August, our next door neighbor's (Zeta Psi) house burst into flames in the wee hours of the night. Two Brothers, Jimbo Roth and Ben Van de Bunt were awakened by the cries of two infants, coming from a window next door. Acting upon reflex, the two heroes leaped from the Phi Psi roof into the second story room and rescued the two children. Jimbo was then treated at a nearby hospital where he received 187 stitches and has now recovered. Ben was relatively unhurt and has since become a firefighter. Our hats off to these two Brothers!

The good news of the summer was that GP John Shepherd's acting career was booming again as he starred in many plays and is presently filming a Movie of the Week which includes such stars as Robert Conrad and Kathy Lee Crosby. The bad news was that Olympic hopeful and Phi Psi intramural sports phenomenon, Steve Davis, has decided to stay in Sweden another year to pursue his skiing career. Steve participated in 13 intramural sports two years ago, and while his absence didn't hurt us too much last year, it it beginning to take its toll on the entire Chapter.

One last exciting summer story happened when Ray Center and Dalie Llama were participating in the State amateur Golf Championships and each had a hole in one at the 220 yd. 18th hole on the final round of the tournament. Llama, a big hitter, used a 6 iron while Center aced it with a 3 iron.

Fall quarter began with the initiation of our Spring pledges. The new initiates are Matt Byrne, West L.A.; Jack Cline, Cleveland, OH; Dave Duray, Mission Viejo; Bob Fisher, Akron, OH; Scott Goodin, Reno, NE; Richard Kim, Palos Verdes; Matt Van de Wydeven, Cleveland; Pete Velau, San Diego; and Dave Wehrly, Akron.

These new initiates, along with Rush Chairman Jack Noe and Eric Bernd and the rest of the brothers helped California Epsilon get its largest pledge class ever, 21 men strong. The new pledges are: Mike Chang, San Jose; Warren Dennis, Corona Del Mar;

Jon Effron, Encino; Ed Furey, Coronado; Jeff Kliman, Los Gatos; Kenny Luck, San Jose; Tony Lyon, Newport Beach; Brady Meloy, Marina Del Rey; Kent Miyamoto, Arcadia; Tony Morales, Bellflower; John O' Connor, Benecia; Paul Orbuch, Encino; Glenn Potts, Chatsworth: Darin Puhl, Canoga Park; Bill Richards and Rich Riley, Costa Mesa; Brad Taylor, Saratoga; Terry Thompson, Costa Mesa; John Trulio, Malibu; and Mark Vill, Anaheim.

Among the activities for Fall Quarter are a Winnebago trip up to Cal Berkeley on October 22-24, the State Softball Tournament in Santa Barbara on October 29-31 where we are defending our title, and Brother Phil Schneider's wedding on October 23.

California Epsilon has a tough act to to follow this year but is definitely ready for the challenge. With the addition of our great new pledge class and the continuing closeness of the Brothers, we look for an even better year than 1981-82.

We have again proved this year to be the #1 fraternity on campus. In fall we dismantled the other fraternities on the football field, and in the spring we became the Greek Week champions. This was our first Greek Week championship which we won in style by taking first & second in every event.

Since our last correspondence we installed our 33rd pledge class. On June 5th, 1982 we made known the secrets of Phi Kappa Psi to six new Brothers. The Brothers are Gary Burke, Ramon Reed, Bob Marohn, Greg Popovich, Kris Olander and Tim Shields. The initiation was joined by our new president John K. Boyd.

This year's rush is expected to be bigger than ever due to the diligence and outstanding work done by our co-rush chairmen Jeff Murdy and Dave Baugher.

This year we have begun already our quest for another football championship by crushing AEII 38-0. We celebrated the victory with our 3rd annual new wave exchange with Sigma Kappa Sorority.

Our new officers are Bill Spence, GP; Jeff Marrs, VGP; John Hermle, P; Marc Chase, AG; Eric Kirkpatrick, BG; Steve Norin, SG; Brian Agnew, Phu; Dan Smith, Hod; and Chris Seymour, Hi.

Brothers Chase and Wolff successfully ran the 3rd annual Lite Royal Run for the benefit of the Special Olympics. The event attracted over 200 runners, several special olympics participants, and a local T.V. station.

As for this fall's agenda, we have planned a blood drive at the end of the month accompanied with a dance on October 29, entitled the Vampire Ball. So Bros, if you have nothing to do Halloween weekend join us for the festivities.

Another correspondence comes to an end as myself and Brothers Murdy, Lilly and Wolff rest on the shores of Lake Nacimento after a hard days water skiing.

Full of Spirit

Now that we are in the midst of our fall semester here at Case, the spirit of the Chapter is high, and all of the Brothers are helping out to make this a successful and productive school year.

The officers for this semester are Gregg Sheldon, GP; Mark Glogowski, VGP; Greg Blanck, P; Jeff Vekony, AG; Howard Kendall, BG; Tom Kuchar, SG; Dave Steppan, Hod; Marc Davidson, Phu; and Josh Makower, Hi.

On September 8, two new Brothers were initiated into our Chapter. They are James David Bentley from East Liverpool, Ohio and Patrick Robert Prenger from Minster, Ohio. Both new Brothers have become very active in the Chapter. Two of our Brothers did not return to Cleveland this fall. Gary Powers, '81, is now attending the University of Illinois, and Bob Oswald, '81 has joined the army and is in special training in Arizona.

Brothers Blanck and Sheldon represented our Chapter at the GAC this past August, where our area director, John Ulrich, was honored as the Outstanding Area Director.

We've had a very busy social calendar so far this semester. Under the guidance of social chairman Mark Peters we've had four parties so far. These include a band party, a 'midnight madness'' party, and a wine and cheese party, complete with a local jazz band which included Brother Mike Wahl.

On September 17, most of our Brothers went down to Akron University to attend a party given by the Brothers of Ohio Iota. They showed us excellent Fraternal hospitality, and we had a great time.

In the area of athletics we are also doing very well. Our intramural golf team finished in third place, and we have two doubles tennis teams which are in the finals.

The study room in our basement, which was panelled and carpeted last semester, is getting much use this semester, since it is kept quiet at all times for studying purposes. The University furnished our living room with a brand new set of furniture this past summer, which greatly improves the appearance of the house.

We no longer have a house parent at Ohio Epsilon. The university has done away with that position in each fraternity, and has replaced it with a "Coordinator of Greek Affairs" who lives in each fraternity. Brother Don Kohler, who was our house parent last year, is now attending the Medical College of Ohio, in Toledo. We wish him the best of luck.

Our rush program has been running very smoothly this semester under the leadership of rush chairman Jim Csonka. As of this writing our bid date is still a few days away, but we're expecting a very good pledge class.

15 Pledges

Day to day change in our future destiny, can best describe metaphorically, the Colorado Alpha Chapter. Our realization of the once deteriorating past, both internally and externally, has sparked positive resurgence in self-pride and Brotherhood among the members in the Chapter and in the attitude towards our future.

For with the removal of the battleship gray coloring that once covered the exterior of the house, to having our most successful rush, and subsequent pledge class (15), in recent years; these are but evidence that we are strongly determined, out here in the snowbound Rockies, to move forward with a more positive attitude concerning our Chapter.

Our membership now exceeds 30 active Brothers, and with so many pledges, the many activities of the house seem "right-inthere."

Our newly elected cabinet, (GP Robert Lefond, VGP Steven Morris, P Ken Dulin), has guided the enthusiasm of the members through such functions as Kappa Alpha Theta brunches, serenades with the Alpha Chi's, and most recent bash, a Homecoming-Honor party for distinguished alumnus Mr. Frank Allen, a charter member of the Chapter in 1914. This event helped re-kindle 'positive vibrations' pertaining to alumni/undergraduate relations. Overall response was very encouraging.

We've had several member Chapters from all over the country stop by and say 'hello' so far this year, and we gladly extend a hearty invite to all to come by and see us.

Oh yes, A special thanks goes out to Brother Jack Morrow (42), for all of his inspiring help and devotion to our Chapter.

Varied Endeavors

Chapter members returning to New York after scattering throughout the world (from Alaska to Yugoslavia) for the summer, had many stories to tell; no two alike.

Marco E De Sae Silva graduated and writes from Montana that he had two pieces accepted for publication by the National Lampoon. The first is scheduled to appear in January.

Marc Matsil and Michael Schwartz summered as rangers working for the National Park Service. Matsil fought Kodiak bear and mosquitos at Katmai National Monument in Alaska, and Schwartz read Kafka at Crater Lake National Park in Oregon.

Miroslav Mandic completed his final semester at the Film School, and we look forward to seeing his first major film. Nothing like publishing uncomfortably high expectations in a national magazine when a guy graduates.

John Lyon learned about chapter operations at the summer GAC in Atlanta. Chapter President Marko Schmidt reports having a great summer in Seattle in spite of a mountain climbing experience that he won't talk about to anyone. He seems o.k., though; he's shaking much less.

We continue to appreciate the ongoing support of Brother Ernest H. Garbe, and thank him for his kind help.

We were saddened to learn of the passing of an outstanding Phi Psi, Past President Lou Corson, who contributed time, energy and devotion to our Fraternity.

High Gear

The Brothers of New York Alpha returned to Ithaca this fall for the initiation of twenty-six new Brothers, and a very eventful fall. Initiation weekend was capped off with our first party of the year. The party was open to the whole campus and it seemed that most of the campus was there.

The Brotherhood was busy the first few weeks with many room improvements as well as many needed house improvements. A new tube room carpeting, tap system, and a deep fat fryer headed the list. The Chapter is geared up for another outstanding rush as well as the pursuit of academic and athletic excellence.

The fall semester at New York Alpha is under the leadership of Joe Cullen, GP; Jim Talcott, VGP; Tom Healey, P; Dan Mahoney, AG; Steve Neuberg, BG; and Dave Winterling, SG. Dave Hicks is house manager while Dave Ketchum is steward.

The social calender has been better than ever. Steve Geselle, social chairman, has the house rocking with the annual Kappa Delta Voo-Doo Party, a Halloween after hours party, a tailgate with Kappa Kappa Gamma, and a party with Delta Gamma, as well as the annual Christmas formal.

Intramural chairmen Scott Dowdell and Paul Tomiczek have the chapter ready to reclaim the All-Sports trophy. We are also well represented on varsity sports with Dave Hicks, Scott Dowdell, and Pete Shalvoy all playing Big Red football. John Skinner represents Phi Psi on the soccer field, while Craig Clickenger is playing varsity volleyball. Steve Hammer, Tom Knight, Phil Seaman, Greg Harmon, and Brad Macomber make up the Phi Psi swimming contingent. Andy Shrauth and Nick Finamore are both members of the gymnastics team.

We are looking forward to an excellent spring semester, and the visits of many of our alumni.

DePauw

Another Great Year

With the first month of classes completed and the autumn weather moving into Greencastle the men of Indiana Alpha are already well on the way to another exciting and successful semester at DePauw.

We began the 1982-1983 school year on an excellent note as Rush Chairmen Tom Gibson and Jeff Westhoven guided the Chapter through a rush of which we are all very proud. Pledged were two sophomores, Bob Dugan, Indianapolis, and Bruce McCarty, Kobe, Japan. Twenty freshman were pledged as well. They are Scott Adams, Omaha, NE; Scott Arrington, Yorktown; John Bruch and Mike Griffith, Indianapolis; Dave Hancher, Cincinnati, OH; Mark Hoover, Columbus; Drew Lyon, Wenham, MA; Jim Marquardt, Wilmette, IL; Joe Massela, Indianapolis; Brad Meisenheimer, Park Forest, IL; Brett Moore, Glencoe, IL; Richard Postler, Terrace Park, OH; John Rogers, Carmel; Pete Ruppert, Cincinnati, OH; Jim Stephens, Barrington, IL; Gene Thiem, Arlington Heights, IL; Bud Truax, Carmel; John Tull, South Bend; Doug Ulmer, Cincinnati, OH; and Rich Was, South Bend. These men have already contributed significantly to Phi Psi through their involvement in intramurals and other activities. We are glad to have them with us and we look forward to bringing them into our Brotherhood when their pledgeship is successfully completed.

Intramural football is always the highlight of the fall at DePauw and as defending champions, Phi Psi is very much in the limelight this year. At this writing we are heading into the championship game with a 7-1 record. We look forward to holding this trophy for the second straight year and we hope this will be the first step in winning the overall trophy as we did last year. Special mention must be made of seniors Frank Roberts, Dave Zoellick, Rob Brown, Rick Locke, Pete Pogue, Brian Hoover, and Tom Kotoske. These men have contributed much to our IM football success over the past four years.

Phi Psis at DePauw can also be found on the varsity athletic fields this fall with men on the soccer, tennis and football teams. We are proud of these men and the contribution they are making to DePauw. Indiana Alpha is also making a lasting mark on DePauw baseball as the Walker family has donated the money to build a new baseball complex which is projected to be the most complete in Division III.

In the community service department the Brothers of Indiana Alpha have been very busy this fall. We have contributed to and participated in Delta Gamma, Alpha Phi and DePauw-Greencastle philanthropies. Our most significant contribution, however, came early this fall when we donated $1000 to the Chaplin's Living Unit Council as the final funding sum for the construction of a health clinic in L'Acul, Haiti. This health center will be built by DePauw students as a part of the Winter Term project Mission '83. Many Phi Psi's will be in Haiti in January to help with the construction and to offer medical aid to the natives. Other Brothers will be in other South American countries offering the same assistance. We are very proud to have an opportunity to serve those who are less fortunate than ourselves.

On the social scene we are having our usual great time. Numerous social events and theme parties as well as kiss-ins with many sororities have marked our social calendar so far this year. Our Old Gold party with Pi Phi in celebration of Homecoming was a great success. The annual Harvest Hop is soon to be upon us and we anxiously await this always interesting event. We raise a gallon of "Harvest Hooch" and thank Social Chairmen Kurt Voight and Tom Noonan for their efforts in making this a very successful fall.

Academically, we continue to do very well. Last spring Indiana Alpha was honored by having four men inducted into Phi Beta Kappa, including Rick Locke, a junior. Rick was also honored by the University as he was named Outstanding Member of the Junior Class. At graduation last year Tom Dugan was the valedictorian of the class of 1982.

The weekend of October 2 marked De-Pauw's annual Old Gold day. We were glad to meet the many alumni who joined us for the event and look forward to a even larger crowd next year. We welcome any Brothers who are in the area to come by the Old Rockpile and meet the members of the active Chapter.

On a closing note we would like to offer our most sincere thanks to our housemother, Mom Stringfellow. 1982-1983 marks her 20th year as housemother at Indiana Alpha. She is beyond a doubt Phi Psi's most true sweetheart.

In anticipation of another great year . . . Thomas Herrmann Correspondent

16 New Brothers

Penn Zeta begins its one hundred and twenty-third year with sixteen newly initiated Brothers: Andy W. Eisenberger, Hopatcong, NJ; Skip Maselli, Palm Springs, FL; Vince X. Grbach, McKeesport; Doug L. McDonald, East Greenwich, RI; Ed F. Lazarski, West Chester; Brian G. Hauck, New Columbia; Dan T. Fitch, Wayne; Ken J. Oskowiak, Abington; Dave W. Dierk, Long Branch, NJ; Pledge Class President Craig S. Gunderson, Bernardsville, NJ; Randy F. Ensley, Wellesley, MA; C. Douglas Ward, Washington Depot, CT; Rodger F. Oursler, Upperco, MD; Jeff R. Johnson, Silver Spring, MD; and John K. Leighow, Cold Springs Harbor, NY. Because of the recent tuition hike and inadequate financial aid, Brother Johnson was forced to leave Dickinson and is now attending the University of Maryland. Others leaving for various reasons were Brothers Jeff. S. Linsen and Nick G. Gekas. This year several of the Brothers are studying abroad. Ken S. Greenblatt, Dave B. Frengel, Mike R. Stein, Fred I. Lasday, and Phil Bleezarde will return next vear as seniors.

Steve J. Lowry was the Fraternity Educator last year and since then he has graduated and has entered the Navy Flight School in Pensacola, FL. Michael Albert Chung, a sophomore, is pledging this fall under Fraternity Educator Glenn W. Zeiders.

Five Sophomores became officers this year: Chad D. Atkinson, GP; Dave L. Harnish, VGP; Craig E. Eaton, P; Skip V. Maselli, AG; Rob C. Hudson, BG; John K. Leighow, SG; Dave W. Dierk, Hod; Fred S. Paradise, Hi; Matt Katz, Phu; Bill J. Fisher, Rush Chairman; Scott H. Colby and Jim Bearer Edson, Social Chairmen; Andy J. Kressley, House Manager; Tom H. Gerber, House Engineer; Jim L. Paterno, Public Relations; and Doug L. MacDonald, Song Leader.

We are planning several activities this fall, Tennessee Farm Night, October 16 and South of the Border Night. We also have many Rush Functions this fall. These functions include Disc-Jockies and other entertainment. We are also planning several traditional activities for Alumni Weekend, October 16-18. The support in the past has been outstanding. Alumni have already hosted and invited our members to get-togethers this year.

Last year we won the intramural and IFC volleyball and softball championships. The basketball squad also advanced to the championship finals. Most Brothers participate on varsity sports teams and several handle two or more sports between the fall and winter. Altogether, eighteen Brothers will make up the following teams this fall and winter: Cross-Country, Ice Hockey, Boxing, Basketball, Raquetball, Fencing, Diving, and Swimming. Other Brothers participate on the intramural teams or train for their upcoming sports seasons. Greg Alman has received his Black Belt in Karate. Eric M. Dull and Chad D. Atkinson are the assistant and head coach, respectively, of the girl's soccer team. Chad is also captain of the men's soccer team and Eric is co-coach and co-captain of the men's volleyball team. Swimming Records were held by three sophomores this year: Ed Lazarski (who is going to miss this season because he is soon to become a "SEAL" in the Navy), John Leighow, and Skip Maselli. Leighow and Maselli were finalists in the MAC Championships. Maselli advanced to the NCAA Division III National Swimming Championships. Brothers Bill A. Schoener and Mike J. DuCharme were team captains this year. Those Brothers winning MVP awards were David J. Schuessler (soccer) and Skip Maselli (swimming).

Our members are also involved in other college campus activities including: Drama, Choir, Church Chorus, Student Senator (Dan T. Fitch), and College Social Committee. Peter L. Clarke is president of the IFC. He and Jeff Linsen attended the GAC this summer. Several swimmers swam in the Pepsi Leukemia Super Swim Classic and Jim L. Paterno is a community Big Brother to an underprivileged child.

Their are seven ROTC members in the Chapter, among them, four won full ROTC scholarships: Eric M. Dull, Scott H. Colby, Craig S. Gunderson, and Skip V. Maselli. Eric Dull was not only given the Distinguished Military Student Award, but is also a member of the Spanish Honor Society. It should also be noted that Eric is a Freshman Resident Advisor. President Chad Atkinson is a member of Eta Sigma Phi (Classics Honor Society).

The big news on campus this fall, especially among the women, was the founding of Dickinson's fifth sorority, Kappa Alpha Theta. The sororities previously established have near or over 100 members, so Theta is particularly welcome.

The Brothers at Dickinson extend their greetings to our fellow Chapters and to the other Fraternal organizations throughout. The Penn Zeta Chapter invites and encourages any correspondence from our fellow Brothers.

Record Breaking Auction

Greetings from North Carolina Alpha! The brothers of Phi Kappa Psi at Duke are proud to announce the initiation of eleven new Brothers. They are Marc Flur, Burlington, VT; Gray "Pac-man" Bennett, Eaton, OH; Art Middlebrooks, Kettering, OH; Tim Walters, Durham; Billy "Skoal" Liakos, Roswelle, NM; Jon Crotty, Tampa, FL; Matt Ariker, Orange, CT; John Pearlman, Miami, FL; Eric Schulz, Wilmette, IL; Brent Beazley, Los Angeles, CA; and Ted Claypoole, Dayton, OH.

Several members of this fine group of young men are standouts on the Duke campus. Marc Flur, captain of the Duke tennis team, was last year's Atlantic Coast Conference champion for both singles and doubles at the no. 2 spot. Flur is presently ranked no. 27 in the nation according to I.T.C.A. Another new Brother of distinction is Gray Bennett. Brother Bennett plays defensive tackle for the Duke club football team, which last year posted the toughest defense in the country.

Phi Psi at Duke is presently in the midst of a very productive semester under the new leadership of Forrest Howse, GP; Gray "Pac-man" Bennett, VGP; Paul Pickard, P; Scott Jacobs, Assistant P; Keith Coleman, AG; Tod Sher, BG; Scott Oates, SG; Will Carrington, Hod; Art Middlebrooks, Phu; and Ed McIver, Hi.

The fall semester of course means rush and under the leadership of rush chairmen Bill Hunt and Chip Wendler things are going rather well. NC Alpha has already received one fine pledge in Dave Jones, a senior from New York. The highlight of the semester thus far in regard to rush has been our annual "Red Light District Party." Bums, drunkards, and tempting women from all over campus crowded the Phi Psi bar and lounge area that evening for this costume extravaganza. Much credit goes to social chairmen John Janka and Will Carrington.

Phi Psis everywhere will be glad to hear that NC Alpha's annual "Celebrity Auction," where all proceeds go to benefit childrens' cancer research at Duke Hospital, was a smashing success. Raising over $13,000, Duke Phi Psis surpassed all previous records. A great deal of credit and special thanks goes to chairmen Alan Talpalar and Ed McIver.

This year's hottest item was a trophy donated by former Duke football coach Wallace Wade. The award was presented to Coach Wade in 1942 for his efforts in organizing the Rose Bowl game against Oregon State here in Durham, NC. This item alone brought in $10,000, having attracted interest throughout the country. All Duke Phi Psis can be very proud to have done so much for such a worthy cause.

Under foreman Chip Wendler and architect Andy Schwaab, a new bar has been erected in the Phi Psi game room and lounge. A new sound system as well has been installed in the fraternity bar and dance rooms. Cooperation and participation have been the name of the game here at NC Alpha. Much thanks also goes out to our alumni everywhere!

Florida

Greetings from Down South

The Brothers of Florida Beta send their greetings to Phi Psis everywhere, and hope that everyone had a good summer. We'd also like to thank all the Brothers that came by the Florida Beta suite at the GAC in Atlanta. We appreciate your making our post-banquet party a success, and we were glad to have Brothers Ralph Daniel, John Burke, and Kent Owen stop by.

Our officers for the fall are: Wes Dunn, GP; Ian Jones, VGP; Bill Echevarria, P; Larry Smith, AG; Joe Nordmann, BG; Jon Crumrine, SG; John White, Hi; Andy Houtz, Phu; and Dave Berringer, Hod. We congratulate them, and look forward to their leadership in 1982.

Congratulations also go to our most recent initiate, Bernard Kaiserian of Alachua. He is already participating in the work of the chapter, taking over as chairman of intramurals.

Special thanks go to Brothers Pete Murphy, Andy Houtz, Chris Carey, and Glenn Winograd for the work they did on the social wing this past summer. We now have two new bars, a new grill, a new retaining wall, along with flooring and carpeting.

Fall Rush Committee was led by Pete Murphy. Our parties this year included Mardi Gras—New Orleans Style, Western Night, Phi Psi Raw Bar, Island Madness (complete with waterfall and a lagoon), and the World of Bars Night. Our efforts culminated in seven men pledged to the banner of Phi Kappa Psi: Alan Solwitz, Tampa; Afshin Badii, New York, NY; Joel Blakeman, St. Joseph, MI; Ken Key, Chicago, IL; Kevin Bernhard, Satellite Beach; Jay Richards, Cherry Hill, NJ; and Jay Montero, Port Charlotte. They will be under the guidance of Fraternity Educator Tom Harris.

Social chairman Jon Crumrine has assured us of a busy social calendar this fall. The first event is a Brother/pledge pool tournament. We also have socials with three sororities: Alpha Xi Delta, Alpha Epsilon Phi, and Kappa Delta. We also have a Happy Hour with Phi Mu. We did Homecoming with Sigma Kappa.

This year's Phi Psi "500" will be held on the weekend of October 22-23. Our philanthropy for this year is the Ronald MacDonald House. We would appreciate help from any alumni who can join us that weekend.

Pete Murphy has volunteered to chair the Founders Day 1983 committee. It will be held on the weekend of February 20-21. The banquet will be at the Ironwood Country Club. Pete says this Founders Day celebration will be bigger and better than last year's. Our featured speaker will be Senator Edgar Dunn. Due to a conflict of schedules, our other guest speaker, Ted Turner, will not be able to attend. We look forward to seeing all of our alumni that weekend. Pete says, "Mark it on your calendars now, and BTA! (Be There. Aloha!)" If you need any further information, write Brother Murphy in care of the house, or call him at (904) 377-6906.

That's about all from this end of the Third World. We with everyone the best for 1982-83, and GO GATORS!!!

New Look

Once again college is upon us, with the Brothers of Penn Eta eagerly awaiting the activities planned for the upcoming semester. Due to the phenomenal success of last year's Multiple Sclerosis drive we are looking to have a repeat performance. What has now become almost tradition, the Brothers will also participate in Lancaster's National Bridge Tournament.

This past summer vacation was an unusually active one for us. Those Brothers who remained in Lançaster had the opportunity to demolish a few walls in the basement, so as to enlarge the main room. In addition to this, a former double on the third floor was renovated into a bar-lounge area. The Brotherhood thanks all those involved for a job well done!

On October 16, 1982 we had the pleasure of initiating two new Brothers into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi: Marcos Diaz, Kenneth Square; and Dan Junkins, Deerfield, MA. Both had been excessively active as pledges and added much enthusiasm to the Brotherhood. Welcome aboard!

The new officers for this year are: Alan Sutter, VGP; Geoff Dunham, AG; Bernard DiCasimirro, BG; Elliott Harris, P; Bill Farrand, SG; Kevin Sullivan, Hod; Scott Russell, Hi. Reelected were Scott Fasnacht, GP; Bob Gryce, Phu; and Mark Liebreich, Rush Chairman. All are ready to meet the challenges ahead with enthusiasm and determination Reflecting our diverse character our Brothers are well represented throughout campus. Some of our Brothers who are officers of campus organizations include: Steve Romandetta, Bill Farrand, Astronomy Club; Carlos Miranda, Dance Club; Geoff Dunham, Government Club; Kevin Sullivan, Strategic Game Society; and Scott Russell, Interfraternity Council. Other groups that are well represented include: the Poor Richards, College Choir, WFNM, and a College Reporter.

In intramurals, Penn Eta has come out in full force capturing the championship titles in archery and badminton, with a respectable showing in bowling and basketball.

The numerous theme parties that are planned in addition to our upcoming fund raisers will make this semester well worthwhile for all the Brothers of Penn Eta.

Georgia

It's Ours!

A gracious 'hello' to all Phi Psi's across the country. Georgia Alpha hopes that everyone enjoyed the GAC. It was really great to meet the whole Fraternity.

The big news this time is something that we've been looking forward to for quite some time. With the help of a Fraternity loan, we were able to put a down-payment on our house. After five years of renting it, the Phi Psi house on Milledge Avenue is ours.

Fall quarter began with rush as usual, and this time we picked up seven outstanding pledges. These men are: Scott Coulter, Athens; Mark Docterman, Stone Mt.; Neil Cross, Franklin, TN; David Stahley, Amherst, NY; John Baird, Decatur; Chris Cole, Powder Springs; and Tim Echols, Atlanta. Their pledge program is under the direction of educator Will Bosbyshell.

Georgia Alpha's officers this quarter are Doug Hughes, GP; Lee Mitchell, VGP; Chris VanSickle, AG; Steve Johnson, BG; David Briscoe, SG; David Gilbertson, P; Jeff Cole, Hod; Will Bosbyshell, Hi; Walt Massey, Phu. All in office look forward to a productive year.

On November 20, Georgia Alpha celebrates the sixth anniversary of our chartering. This is always a special occasion, complete with a banquet and an all night party. Indeed, our anniversary is the highlight of Fall quarter.

Rush chairman Dick Beal would like all Brothers to be on the lookout for any potential Phi Psi's entering UGA... his phone number is 404/256-4842. Also, any contributions at this time are greatly appreciated. We are looking forward to initiating Georgia Alpha badge #100 this year.

Best wishes to all for the holidays.

Still Growing

The 1982 fall semester began with a roar at Penn Epsilon. In September, we consummated our Miller Hall centennial celebration. Miller Hall, Phi Psi's first chapter house. built in 1882, is the oldest fraternity house still in continuous use. Penn Epsilon members made grand celebrations for the occasion. The celebration, which took place on the weekend of September 24-26, was coordinated by Brother Steve Shebell. In addition to the efforts of Steve, Brothers Jim Watts and Kirk O'Connell repainted the inside of the meeting hall; a job requiring much attention to detail in order to restore Miller Hall's elaborate interior. The busy weekend included: alumni golf and tennis tournaments, an outdoor luncheon, and a gala formal dinner at Gettysburg's Sheraton Inn. Fraternity President John Boyd was our honored guest for the Miller Hall commemoration.

With the Miller Hall centennial behind us, the Brotherhood proceeded with with our normal business. As always, Penn Epsilon members continue to be in the forefront of campus involvement.

This fall, six of our Brothers participated in the college's orientation program for freshman. Student orientation leaders included Brothers Jim Erickson, Steve Shebell, Chip Staley, Dave Beck, Joe Conti, and Kirk Becchi. Jim Erickson served as co-coordinator for the program. Moreover, Brothers Chris Farris, Andrew Patton, and Scott Smith are serving as dorm counselors in freshman residences. Our President, Greg Imhoff, was elected President of Gettysburg's Interfraternity Council, while Brother John Regan was appointed Community Relations chairman for the IFC.

Phi Psi's campus leadership is also evident in varsity sports. Brother Bob Wheeler was elected swimming team captain. Other swimming team members include John Blough and Raul Marin. Gettysburg's basketball squad is highlighted by Brothers Chip Staley, Bill Kersten, Dave Smith, and Dave Olson. Doug Brouder is a member of the track team, while baseball team member, Scott Smith, was selected to the Second All-Middle Atlantic Conference team.

In 1982, Penn Epsilon also welcomed twenty new initiates. They are: James Boyer, Old Tappan, NJ; Michael Brown, Amherst, MA; Kevin Callahan, Baltimore, MD; John Campbell, Olean, NY; Michael Cook, Mapelwood, NJ; Kevin Dill, Chicago, IL; James Gassman, Upper Saddle River, NJ; John Heron, Clarke Summit; William Kersten, Marbledale, CT; Jeffery Liebentritt, Pennfield, NY; Micael Merry, San Juan, PR; Kevin McManus, Potomic, MD; Steven Mills, Duxburry, MA; David Olson, Katonah, NY; Dan Olmstead, Brielle, NJ; Seven Parker, Wayne; Kevin Russell, Reading; David Smith, Hillsboro, NJ; and John Thompson, Amherst, MA.

Officers for the fall semester are Greg Imhoff, GP; Jim Erickson, VGP; Lou Chiarlanza, AG; Andy Dickinson, BG; Rob Neducsin, P; Dave Crandall, SG; Bill Kersten, Hod; John Campbell, Phu; Kevin Dill, Hi; John Maney, Steward; Jim Watts. House Manager; Scott Schoner, Assistant Treasurer; and John Heron, Assistant Steward. The officers of Penn Epsilon enjoy serving our undergraduate and alumni brothers. The fifty-nine undergraduates of Penn Epsilon represent Gettysburg's third largest fraternity, in a fraternity system which has a membership of 70% of the undergraduate men. From Miller Hall, our first Chapter house, to Weiser Hall, our present Chapter house, the Penn Epsilon Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi remains Gettysburg's premier fraternity.

Triple Crown Winner

Iowa Alpha started off the fall semester with the pledging of 23 men. The pledge class includes John Boardman, Dekalb, IL; Rob Ryser, Oak Park, IL; Kurt Herbrechtsmeyer, Charles City; Dean Smith, Williamsburg; Pete McKay, Waterloo; Dave Schoell, Burlington; Steve Wright, Joliet, IL; Jim Milani, Centerville; Seth Jacobson, Detroit; Jay Pollit, Hinsdale, IL; Ron Hull, Waterloo; Dave Rodawig, Spirit Lake; Jon Thompson, Glenview, IL; Chris Sampson, Chatam, IL; Charlie Maxwell, Spirit Lake; Brian Anderson, La Grange, IL; and Steve Dobson, Jim Caligiuri, Jay Keough, Rob Hiersteiner, Brent Cooper, Shoab Sayeed, and Bill Garrison, Des Moines. Rush Chairmen Dave Wagner and Brian Beh worked very hard and should be commended for their effort.

Our fall began with the election of Chapter officers in early September. This Fall we will be under the leadership of David Lind, GP; Peter Vorhes, VGP; Mark Collins, P; Thomas P. Swift, AG; and Mark Melbostad, BG.

We also had the pleasure of initiating three new Brothers in September. These new Brothers are Robert Dustin, Mark Le Vally, and Ted Irvine.

Our social calendar thus far has been good and much thanks goes to Social Chairmen Steve Fleagle and Ted Irvine, both of whom have worked hard in setting up our parties. We are looking forward to a great fall semester.

Once again Iowa Alpha was number one in gradepoint among the Iowa fraternities.

The Interfraternity Council recognized this accomplishment by rewarding a plaque, which is proudly displayed in our Chapter Room.

The Chapter is also very proud to see four recent graduates enrolled in professional schools. Scott Donner, Daniel P. Bartlett, and Dave Hanson, are enrolled in the Iowa Dental School, while Tom Thomas is enrolled in the University of Minnesota Law School.

On the intramural scene, Phi Psi is once again on top. We finished the spring semester by winning the all-university championships. Much of the success can be attributed to our football team, which won the fraternity championship. Other fine efforts came from the swim team and the Volleyball team. Pete Vorhes was selected as intramural manager of the year and received a beautiful plaque for his outstanding effort.

Iowa Alpha was greatly honored to be selected as recipients of the Dean Hubbard Brotherhood award. This award recognizes the fraternity exemplifying the best Brotherly attitudes among members of individual fraternal organizations. So concludes our triple crown of Scholarship, Intramurals, and Brotherhood.

We at Iowa Alpha are looking forward to a very fine year and extend our best wishes to all Phi Psi Chapters across the nation.

Iowa Beta began the school year with the pledging of 15 outstanding men. They include Tony Hagner, Davenport; Eric Hamilton, Des Moines; Jeff Hanson, Northbrook, IL; Bill Hintch, Fort Dodge; Mark Linton, Naperville, IL; Dan Mathison, Omaha, NE; Ron Michka, Des Moines; Andy Pope, Washington; Tony Rasgorshek, Omaha, NE; Rich Shulte, Des Moines; Mike Senecal, Lawrence, KS; Shawn Slemmons, Minneapolis, MN; Doug Van Wyk, Sioux Center; Dave Vierk, Lansing, IL; and Mitch Wilson, Forest City.

Congratulations to Steven Smith, Mason City; Tim Houge, Des Moines; Richard Vanselow, Minneapolis, MN; and Jeff Klopstad, Sioux City who were initiated into the Mysteries last Spring.

This past Fall has been a busy one for Iowa Beta. Along with various functions, we held our second Phi Psi "500." Participation in the "500" was excellent, with the women of Pi Beta Phi winning top honors.

In keeping pace with the increasing emphasis on the use of computers, the Chapter purchased a terminal during the summer. The terminal allows us to use ISU's Vax and Wilber systems. The computer is not just limited to school, but can be used by Fraternity Education, Rush, and Alumni Relations.

Following in the tradition of Iowa Beta, many of the Brothers participated in campus positions this Fall. Tom Fischer served on the Government of the Student Body's Contemporary Concert Committee and also holds the position of Vice President of Fraternity Buyers Association. Craig Marr and Scott Higgins served on Infraternity Council Executive Board this fall, holding the positions of Judicial Vice President and Blood Drive Coordinator, respectively.

Our officers for the Fall semester are Mark B. Wilson, GP; Scott W. Higgins, VGP; Steven L. Smith, AG; Douglas R. Stearns, P; Peter B. Benson, BG; Douglas A. Hull, SG; Richard A. Vanselow, Hod; Timoghy G. Houge, Phu; and Craig A. Marr. Hi.

Iowa Beta continues to grow stronger and much of this is due to the support received from our alumni.

Fun for the Fall

The Brothers of Maryland Alpha are off to another exciting season. On Saturday September 25th, the second annual Phi Psi "500" had over 210 runners participating and raised more than $400 for the Ronald McDonald House in Baltimore. After the race, everyone had a thoroughly enjoyable time at the awards ceremony and post-"500" party.

House renovations were set to get underway with a new roof, new plumbing and new wiring slated for the Maryland Alpha "mansion." Brothers have been working hard replacing walls, floors and ceilings. To help pay for all of this, the Brothers of Maryland Alpha made over $2500 vending at Memorial Stadium during the Baltimore Orioles' stretch drive for the division title.

Maryland Alpha is also proud of the two awards won at the 1982 GAC: the Most Improved Chapter Award, Honorable Mention and the Award for Outstanding Achievement, Honorable Mention presented to the Maryland Alpha House Corporation. Both of the plaques now hang prominently in our Chapter Room.

Maryland Alpha remains a competitive power in the campus intramural athletics. As the most respected fraternity on campus, Maryland Alpha looks forward to a most successful academic year.

Continued Excellence

To begin our fall semester on the Lawrence campus, Kansas Alpha heartily welcomed our new housemother, Mary Jule Crouse, with a reception in her honor. We also received twenty-three new pledges, thanks to the superb recruiting work of rush chairmen Stacey Harding and Brad Stanley: Scott Turner and Gary Moore, Shawnee; C. C. Parmley and Tim Wingate, Wichita; Brian Brown, Prairie Village; Ken Baker and Jack Fields, Kansas City; Doug Atchley, Lenexa; Chris Crooker, Fairway; Randy Treas, Mark Logan, and Mike Olson, Lake Quivera; Steve Miller, Leoti; Brian Schoepf. Ted Stephens, and Scott Wicks, Hutchinson: Tom Miller, Roeland Park; James Haas, Kevin Mayor, and Rob Rousselot, Overland Park; David Beaham, Shawnee Mission; Charlie Jenks, Mundelein, IL; and Jeff Patterson, Boston, MA.

In addition to this fine pledge class, Kansas Alpha initiated four men into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi on August 14: Troy Rodman, David Keithley, Mike Shartzer, and Ted Lister.

Furthering our excellence in scholastic achievement, Brothers Mebust, Paden, Haydon, and MacDonald earned 4.0 grade points to bolster the average of the Chapter.

In campus activities, Brother Coleman completed his term as Student Body President; Brother Davenport also finished serving as chairman of the Elections Committee. Brother Huff deserves many congratulations for his appearance in the Delta Delta Delta Sorority pin-up calendar. He will serve as Mr. July, 1983.

In Chapter athletic news, our football team continues its drive for a first place finish in the interfraternity league, after a second place finish last year, by defeating the Phi Gamma Delta's 16 to 14 in overtime. Congratulations to Doug Hiemstra for winning two medals in the Big Eight Swimming Championships, as a member of the KU Swim Team. Jim Metzger also continues serving the KU Track Team as a pole vaulter.

Our annual philanthropy, Phi Psi "500," was once again a tremendous success thanks to the endless work of Andy Flynn. Those attending felt it to be the best campus party of the year.

We were naturally pleased with Playboy's decision to publish a photograph of Little Sister Michelle Worrall, with chapter president Ellis Rainey, taken in our library, having appeared in this September's issue.

We would like to send most respectful congratulations to Brother Boyd on his recent election to SWGP at the Atlanta GAC. Brothers Rainey, Wingate, Kelly, Boresow, and Haydon attended the convention in support of Brother Boyd.

Finally, we wish to thank the Kansas City and South Central Alumni Associations for their generous donations and moral support for the Chapter.

Young and Growing

Greetings to all Brothers from the Minnesota Gamma Chapter, at Mankato State University. The beginning of this fall quarter has brought to light an exciting change in the appearance of our Chapter.

With over 75% of our active members being sophomores, we have a lot of youth, energy, and ambition. Even though we are young, we were very successful with Rush and have a large pledge class this fall quarter.

We have had strong efforts put forth by our Brothers towards Rush, house improvements, and campus relations. Great leadership has already been shown to us, by our new officers Donavan Lohrenz, GP; Dan Bjorkstrand, VGP; Dale Phillips, P; David Swanson, AG; Tom Evan, BG; Carlos Byrne, SG; Rick Nerud, Hod; Nick Luciano, Phu; and Chris Hanson, Hi.

Miami

A Fall To Remember

After a restful summer, the Brothers of Ohio Lambda returned to Miami ready to start the school year and eager to renew old friendships. Most Brothers arrived a week before the start of classes to put the finishing touches on their rooms, as well as to get the house in top shape.

Immediately following the start of classes, we focused our attention on the 1982 Greek Week festivities. We performed admirably in every event, as Doug Dibble and Bob Norwick guided us to a sixth place finish. High points of the week included fifth place finishes in the obstacle course, "Puddle Pull," and marathon. The entire Chapter showed its support for fellow Brothers at every event, making the competition a team effort.

Following Greek Week, the Brothers began planning for the fourth annual "Dance of the Arabian Knights." Social chairmen Steve Leonard and Jim Dietz and their committee outdid themselves, as the party was a smashing success. The party featured a Belly Dancer, barbecued ribs, and many tasty appetizers. The house, reminiscent of an Arabian palace, caused many interesting stares and comments from onlookers.

One week later, the second annual Alpha Chi-Phi Psi "500" was held. The event was a tremendous success, as thirty-four sororities and fraternities competed in a "soap box" derby race to benefit Cystic Fibrosis. Chairmen Joe Tanner and John Schafer worked diligently to further establish this event as a Phi Psi tradition.

Homecoming this year marked Ohio Lambda's ten year anniversary. We were very pleased with the large turnout of alumni, who enjoyed a fun-filled weekend celebrating this grand occasion. Fred Howard was elected as our Homecoming King representative and we were paired with the Chi Omegas in the float building contest, which we won.

During the past semester we have made several improvements on the house. A new shower wall was constructed in the mainhouse bathroom, the gutters were caulked and sealed, and two chimneys were regroutted. These projects, under the guidance of house managers Greg Rigali and Andy Oliver, have promoted the overall structural soundness of the house.

This fall 34 sororities and fraternities took part in the second Annual Alpha Chi-Phi Psi "500" at Miami University, under the leadership of Ohio Lambda.

On the social scene, in addition to "Arab," we had a "Campout" party with the Tri Delts; a "Dating Game" party with the DGs; a "Halloween" party with the DZs; an "After Hours" party with the AOPis; and a "Toga" party with the Thetas. We hope that second semester's parties will be just as successful as first semester's.

Congratulations are due to our new officers, which could not be listed in the last issue of The Shield due to publishing deadlines. The new officers are Jeff Windahl, GP; Mike Kelly, VGP; Chris Collier, P; Bob Norwick, AG; Patrick Kenney, BG; Dave Cash, SG; Tim Sullivan, Hod; Mark Hermiller, Phu; and John Hurley, Hi. Also, we would like to congratulate the outgoing officers: Mark Hermiller, Hod; Brian Smith, Phu; and John Kinsley, Hi.

In addition, Ohio Lambda continued its tradition of campus leadership as Brothers Dave Dornbirer, John Kinsley, Kirk Baily, John Foster, Ray Schnur, Tim Brophey, Steve Leonard, Brian Smith, Mike Vance, Jeff Folker, and Frank Eagle were chosen to be members of the Marcum Conference Center, a newly established student organization sponsoring a variety of conferences and seminars. Also, congratulations to Jim Jones who was elected president of Mortar Board, a senior scholastic honorary; Jeff Kosse who was appointed Administrative Manager for Miami University Student Foundation; and Patrick Kenney who was elected chairman of Lecture Board, a group responsible for bringing prominent personalities to Miami for speaking engagements.

This semester, several Phi Psis have been participating in varsity sports. Brothers John deTar, Greg Mulach, and Greg Daily have been active on the ice hockey team and John Dunkas has been playing for a semi-pro soccer team in Dayton.

Despite this wide range of activities, we maintained our third place scholastic standing among Miami's twenty-eight fraternities. As the semester comes to a close we wish all the members of Ohio Lambda the best of luck in the upcoming year!

'Good Luck' to Michigan Alpha

Michigan Beta has once again opened its doors to the hustle and bustle of Michigan State University. With this opening came a successful rush and the opportunity for the chapter to receive three fine pledges: Ed McGinnis, Clarkston; Kevin Lutz, Jackson; and John Crinnion, Charleviox. These men show promise in their future with Phi Kappa Psi and we feel they will benefit the Fraternity in many ways.

With the beginning if this new year, some of the younger Brothers attained leadership positions: Rich McNulty as Treasurer, Tim Collins as Recording Secretary, Neal Young as Pledge Educator, Kent Helland as Sargent at Arms, and John Arundel as Chaplain. We are very proud of their achievements thus far and are happy to have such gifted Brothers among us. Proving that the older members are still spirited, Brothers Jonathon Moran and John Bogdsiewicz were initiated into the honorary national society, Order of Omega, last April; this accomplishment has enriched and aided both in many ways.

October 9th should prove a very exciting day as the Michigan Alpha Colony at the University of Michigan has invited us to Ann Arbor to attend the Michigan-Michigan State football game, to be followed by softball and a social gathering later that evening. The way Michigan Alpha is moving they will become a Chapter soon, good luck men!

Michigan Beta is growing stronger by the day. Many physical, as well as spiritual improvements have helped us become a marvelously well-educated Brotherhood.

Minnesota Looking Ahead

After a successful summer of informal rush and the conclusion of a fruitful formal rush, Minnesota Beta is proud to announce the pledging of nineteen fine men: Jeff Claussen, Austin; Dave Liebl, Wisconsin; Greg LaVick, White Bear Lake; Ken Zylstra, Apple Valley; Mike Clausen, South Dakota; Pat Slater, Wisconsin; Tim Moffett, White Bear Lake; Todd Williams, South Dakota; Bruce Zajac, Stillwater; Greg Snyder, Rosemount; Brad Boven, Michigan; John Stavig, South Dakota; Dave Baum, Highland Park; Rob Kost, Highland Park, Tom Hoedeman, Edina; Dave Viertel, Bloomington; John James, Wayzata; Shane Schmidt, South St. Paul; and Peter Csathy, Golden Valley.

Prior to the beginning of formal rush several highly motivated Brothers renovated a large portion of the Fraternity house including the first floor entryway and the whole second and third floors. Improvements included painting the walls, replacing window and door moldings, and laying Cardinal Red outdoor carpet on the front sidewalk and steps.

May 27, 1982, was the day of initiation for the most recent pledge class. Guided by Fraternity Educator Randy Quale, seven new Brothers were welcomed into Phi Kappa Psi: John Samuelson and Mark Mikkleson, Stillwater; Mike Lang, Bloomington; Steve Neville, Edina, Dan Thormodsgaard, Minneapolis; Rick Moore, Bloomington; and myself, Joe Hoban, Hopkins.

The Brothers of Minnesota Beta had another successful entry of talents in last spring's Campus Carnival 1982. Campus Carni is the largest student run charity fund raising event of its kind in the nation. This years recipient of a whopping $60,000 was the Childrens Heart Fund. Led by Brothers Eaton, LeJeune, Steinhoff, Quale, and Markert, Phi Psi and Pi Beta Phi sorority took second place overall among participants in a series of events which included set design, skit, band, and danceline.

As we swing into a new school year here at Minnesota Beta we look forward to the advancement of scholarship among the Brothers as well as the advancement of charity and Fraternity among ourselves and the community in which we live. We would also like to extend a hearty "good luck" in the coming school year to all of the Brothers of Phi Kappa Psi.

125 Years Strong

In this our 125th year, Mississippi Alpha is off to a roaring start. To begin with, we welcomed 6 new members into our Brotherhood. They are: Mike McClellan, Ray O'Neal, Hank Kheun, Greg Conningsby, Donny Box, and Greg Godec. We followed that by taking 37 pledges in formal rush. They are: Tommy Badon, Chip Bennett, Pat Bowers, Stan Bowles, Todd Campbell, Gradv Clinkscales, Chip Coskery, Don Currie, Stan Dacus, Glen Eskew, Steve Foreman, Jeff Hancock, Peter Hutchings, John Klar, Bryan Lee, Scott Lindsey, Tom Martin, David Mattingly, Joe Mac McConnell, Butch Metcalf, Rusty Moon, Shannon Murphy, John Olson, Mike Palmertree, Bruce Prather, Mark Roberts, Marc Sanchez, Doug Self, Mike Skelton, Vince Spoltore, Robert Tate, Kevin Thorn, Pat True, David Williams, Steve Wineberg, Rip Walker, and Bobby Drackett. These are all fine young men who will contribute greatly to the Fraternity.

Our pledge class is not all we have to be proud of. We as a fraternity, boast of a grade point average that ranks 2nd highest on campus. In the intramural sports scene, the Phi Psis are in the spotlight. After a 2nd place finish in overall sports last year, our football team has begun strong by going undefeated in its first 5 games.

Phi Psis are also known on campus for their participation in various organizations. Greg Ellston is very active in the student government, Jody Bruscato is beginning his 2nd year as a varsity cheerleader, Chip Coskery is a member of the 'Ole Miss Rebel football squad, and Tim Walsh serves as an officer in both Mortar Board and Omicron Delta Kappa honoraries.

Within the Fraternity, we have elected very capable officers. They are Tim Walsh, GP; Andrew Ketchings, VGP; Brent Southern, AG; Jim Hancock BG; John Dodd, P; Jeff Skinner, Assistant P; Joe Burns, Hod; Tommy McMillen, Hi; Guy Stout, Phu; and Wayne Alexander, SG.

With all these things going for us, it promises to be a banner year at 'Ole Miss.

Missouri

Involvement

As the men of Missouri Alpha returned from a well-deserved summer vacation, it got right back to its tradition of involvement in maintaining the fine tradition of the oldest Fraternity at the University of Missouri, and its practice of campus activity and leadership.

And Mo Alpha is also sure that its two new initiates, Geoff Tolley, Buffalo, NY, and Jim Darr, Kirksville, will step right in with contributions to the Chapter and the community.

A pledge group of twenty-four has been welcomed to our home. They are Kelly Lawson and Paul Conrad, Clinton; D. L. Bossert, St. Joseph; Mike Monti, Steelville; Steve St. Louis and Steve Purvis, Pleasant Hill; Bob Daleo and Scott Connors, Independence; Chris Cox, Kansas City; David Gardner, Kirksville; Paul Prevellet, Blytheville, AR; and Andy Mueller, Jeff Barnes, Dan Conlisk, John Neimi, Jon Gilmore, Randy Bell, Mark Hoffmeister, Bob Bradshaw, Dan Watts, Todd Frerichs, Dan Schieler and Dan Crowe, St. Louis.

Officers for fall semester are Scott Stephenson, GP; Scott Diener, VGP; Gregg

Ivers, AG; Kevin Powell, P; Jeffrey Hall, BG; Teddy Huff, SG; Dale Doerhoff, Phu; Mike Smiley, Hod; Scott Peacocke, Hi; and Scott Wade, Fraternity Educator.

Sparing no quarter, no looking back, and no return, Missouri Alpha kicked off the University of Missouri's local social season with its annual Phi Psi "500," a trike race in which sorority pledges ride through an obstacle course for the best time, with each house also nominating a girl for Queen. The winner participates in the Homecoming parade, escorted by a Phi Psi. In addition to bringing new fraternity and sorority pledges together to establish new friendships, all proceeds from this year's event went to the Columbia Rape Crisis Center, which amounted to a contribution of $700. Missouri Alpha would like to thank its own Scott Peacocke, Teddy Huff and Greg Griffle for the precise administration that it took to pull the "500" off.

Athletics have always been a forte here, and this year Dale Doerhoff and Peat Maass directed chapter intramurals. A motivated Mo Alpha has placed high in softball, and plans to kick some teeth this fall in football and cross-country. Outstanding athletes include Bill Mansfield, Tom Faulhaver, Scott Gilmore, Mike Mann and Victor Ketly.

Ted Barr and Scott Diener continue to remain highly respected leaders and organizers of campus activities. Both serve on executive student advisory boards, as does Gregg Ivers, who is also a Senator in the Missouri Students Association. Gregg Archambault is a varsity cheerleader this year for the football and basketball teams.

Looking to the future, Mo Alpha would like to announce its contribution to the institution of marriage, and its sorrow for the brethern of bachelorhood, as Scott Peacocke plans to wed Miss Linda Pike next July. Best of luck to Scott, who has served many an hour working for Phi Psi.

We would also like to thank those alumni and undergraduates who attended the GAC in Atlanta this past August. Everyone spoke of a good time and a good learning experience. Most of all, it provided an opportunity for Brothers of times gone by to make friends with new members, and to renew old ties as well. Representatives for Missouri Alpha were Chip Nixon, Scott Gilmore, Scott Peacocke (he took time off from shopping for wedding rings) and Bill Mansfield. Alumni who attended were Charles Allis, Jeff and John Abbott, and Steve O'Rourke.

Even as another harsh Midwestern winter prepares to descend on Missouri Alpha, our bond of Brotherhood refuses to get caught up in the pull of a cold undertow; instead, rising up to meet anyone and anything that enters the doors of our house. For Missouri Alpha, challenge is a tradition to be met and not to be run away from. We're the best, we know it and, hey, we're quite proud of it.

Getting Stronger

As the temperatures outside start dropping, New Jersey Beta is one fire that is burning brighter than ever. Last spring our Chapter inducted 9 brothers into the wonders of Phi Kappa Psi. They were Thomas Hartman, Beach Haven; Brian O'Kane, Old Bridge; Joseph Appello, Howell; William Dooley, Pound Ridge; Jed Noah, Clifton; Joseph Lemons, Hammonton; Lee Stein, East Windsor; Glenn Moschella, Lincroft; and Joseph Kody, Vernon.

The new officers for this semester are Leo Gotleib GP, John Lubben VGP, Joseph Appello P, Layton Slimm AG, Thomas Hartman BG, Craig Weiss SG, Glenn Moschella Hod, Damain Filardo and Keith Anderson Phu, and Joseph Lemons Hi.

Thanks to a great turnout of Brothers and alumni, this past April's annual formal was a huge success. All had a great time as the drinks were flowing and the dance floor was shaking. John Williams, our answer to Fred Astaire, showed everybody the latest step that he calls the "chair."

We hope everyone had a great summer, hopefully spent lying in the sun at your favorite hot spot. This summer provided Leo Gotleib and Keith Anderson with the opportunity to attend the GAC in Atlanta. The lineup of events gave great facility for learning, as well as some fantastic social happenings.

We've done it again. Winning Greek Week for the third straight year just proves that when you're hot, you're hot. Everyone turned in their best effort as the 1981-82 competition wasn't even close. Leading the pack from the first event, no one could catch us.

The spring semester proved a prosperous one for the Brothers participating in intramurals. New Jersey Beta won the Greek championship in both basketball and volleyball. Special thanks go out to Lee "Coach" Slimm for his outstanding leadership efforts on the sidelines.

The Brothers put an outstanding effort into producing a central meeting place for our Chapter. This was accomplished in the form of a luxurious 3 story house located a half a block from the beach. The house has already been the site for 2 great rush parties, and the prospects for the future are unlimited.

Congratulations go to Kenneth B. Engel on his winning the Summerfield award here at Monmouth in 1981-82. Ken also deserves congratulations along with Craig Glickstein and Patrick Browne on their graduation this past May. All 3 have since received strong positions in large East coast business firms. We wish them the best of luck.

Our fall rush is coming along as the most successful one in the past decade. We already have 19 prospective Brothers, with several more still interested.

In closing, we would like to extend an invitation to all Phi Psi's visiting the New Jersey shore. Come on by anytime. See you on the coast.

Strong Alumni Support

After a restful summer, the Brothers of Nebraska Alpha returned to initiate four men into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi: Bill Huse, Norfolk; and Greg Paskevic, John Pritchard and Dave Christensen, Omaha.

Leading the Chapter into the new school year are our newly elected officers: John Henry Schonewise, GP; Joe Casey, VGP; Mike Guenther, AG; Rick Ackerman, P; Doug DeBolt, BG; Brad Eaton, SG; Bob Armstrong, Phu; and Chuck Snyder, Hi. Kevin Hopp and Brian Ericksen are Fraternity Educators.

Many thanks to our alumni! The new carpet and furniture is greatly appreciated by the Brothers. Restoration of our baby-grand piano and first floor remodeling has added a new atmosphere to our Chapter home. We are very proud of our House Corporation and the strong support they give us.

Nebraska Alpha has proudly pledged twenty-four good men. They are as follows: Steve Ahrendts, Council Bluffs; Trent Bauer, Lincoln; Jerry Begley, Omaha; Tim Brogan, Norfolk; Pat Casey, and Mike Elston, Omaha; Greg Fry, Lincoln; Tim Gemar, Fremont; Terry Green, Columbus; Tom Heldrige, Valley; Paul Hogan, Dan McCoy, Scott Nepper, Bob Nicas, and Syl Orsi, Omaha; Dave Peterson, Scottsdale, AZ; Tony Schieffer, Columbus: Paul Smeikal, Norfolk; Barry Stadtler Omaha; Stan Steffen, Waverly; Mark Thelander, Omaha; Curt White, Columbus; Bob Haney, Lincoln; and Rick Wolstenholm, Nebraska City.

Our fifth annual Phi Psi "500" was held October 10; this year's proceeds were donated to Cedar's Home for Children. The "500" is a sorority pledge activity. A tug of war for the fraternities has been added this year.

One of our Brothers is a Homecoming candidate for this fall. We wish Steve Corder good luck!

The Brothers of Nebraska Alpha invite all alumni to please stop by and visit us. Again we say thanks for your support. Best wishes to all other Chapters and Colonies.

Better Than Ever

The Brothers of Illinois Alpha returned this fall ready for a productive work week and a successful rush. Our newest pledge class consists of two spring pledges and eleven pledges this fall: John P. Conlon, St. Davids, PA; Bruce G. Glazier, Sao Palo, SP, Brazil; Brian D. Levy, Beverly Hills, CA; Kenneth S. Miller, Short Hills, NJ; Danté L. Mosely, Chicago; Gregory M. Odland, Edina, MN; John L. Peterson, Indianapolis, IN; Travis H. Peyton, Shawnee, KS; Jon D. Roemer, Des Moines, IA; Kent P. Shepherd, Hillsborogh, CA; Michael E. Stern, Potomac, MD; Kenneth S. Ulrich, Glen Ellyn; and John D. Widdemer Jr., Gloversville, NY.

This coming year shows an extremely athletic Chapter involved in a variety of sports. Basketball player John Peterson, a freshman walk-on, has received a full scholarship for the coming year. Baseball players Paul Tichy, John Trautwein, Blake Lynch, and Mark Kirby are all pitchers for the Wildcats. Other sports are: Soccer, Jeff Colin and Bruce Glazier; Track, Rich Seyferlich; Water Polo, Steve Romick, Brian Levy and John Enquist; Wrestling, Ken Miller; Hockey, Greg Odland and John Greenberg; and Rugby, Larry Ruby and Paul Burtis. Yell Leaders on the sideline include Captain Bob McMurray, and Larry Michel, John Enquist, Scott Shepherd and Danté Mosely.

Brothers also involved in other areas are: Paul Burtis and Ron King, in the famous WAA-MU Show; Doug Gilbert, a Disc Jockey for the student radio station WNUR; Doug Banister, on the Mortar Board Senior Honorary Society; and Mark McArthur, involved in the Greek Counselor System. Brothers John Schachtel, Tom Errath, and James Windsor represented Illinois Alpha at the GAC in Atlanta this summer along with Alumni living in the area; this was greatly appreciated by the entire Chapter.

We also dedicated ourselves to a number of service projects this past year; a Blood Platelet Donor Program through a local hospital that had us on 24 hour call, and our annual Heaven and Hell Party in the spring, proceeds from which go to the Diabetes Foundation.

Our Alumni are supporting us more each year and we wish to express our thanks, especially for the repaired windows on the main deck, a new awning, and new windows in the basement.

Our social calendar for the fall includes exchanges, a Homecoming cocktail party—dinner—dance, TGIFs, and our fall formal held November 13th.

For those Alumni who haven't been able to visit the house recently, keep an eye out for a new movie, All the Sad Young Men, slated to be released in the spring of 1983, which had a scene shot at our house this fall.

We're looking forward to another successful year and extend a warm welcome to all who should pass through Evanston.

1500th Initiate

Many changes have occurred since the last time we reported on our activities. We topped the 1500th mark last spring with the Initiate class of Dave Navotny, Ashley Longsdale, Joe Heyd, Sean McCormick, Hammy Oldfield, Sean Kesterson, Mark Lowe, Stuart Kinney, Craig Hutchins, Tim O'Conner, Phil Marlowe, Mike Amman, Vic Kleykamp, Chris Vito, Jeff Goree, and Mark Agner. Welcome and congratulations on being the 1500th initiate class at Ohio Delta. It's onward and upward to 2,000.

After initiation we moved into Greek Week. This year we were honored to participate with the beautiful women of Alpha Delta Pi. Along with all the fun, we received the All Greek Sportsmanship Award for the 2nd year, 2nd place in philanthropy, 3rd place in games and 7th place overall!

Summer '82 at Ohio Delta was the scene of many new structural changes in the chapter house, which could not have come about if it were not for the generous contributions of our Alumni. To start from the top, all the 3rd floor rooms were painted and remodeled with the addition of a room. On the 2nd floor our bathroom was completely renovated with the addition of new sinks, counters, and floor. We then worked down the front stairs restoring them to their original wood finish, finally ending in the foyer which was completely repainted. Our biggest and most rewarding accomplishment was the restoration of the Thurber Room, named after the late playwright and Ohio Delta initiate James Thurber.

Fall is upon us now and so are 40 women! Forty Sorority Rush Counselors are sharing our house with us from 10/2 till 10/12 while Sorority Rush activities take place on campus. Needless to say it makes for a memorable 10 days. But around the corner and dear to our hearts are the women of Phi Mu sorority with whom we'll be celebrating Homecoming this year.

That just about raps up the social end of things, but on the sports horizon, we are off to a fine start. We splashed our way into 1st place at both the Delta Gamma Anchor Splash and the Men's Intramural Swim Meet. The participating Brothers were Dony Warmolts, Jeff Bailey, Paul Whiticare, Richard Noble, Jeff Warmults, Jeff Costocos, Doug Carter, Steve Culbert, Rich Hardin, John Sheley, and Drew Fisher. To finish off the quarter, we placed 2nd in the men's Intramural Track Meet and were 1st runner's up in the softball tournament.

Next we'd like to recognize all those Phi Psi Buckeye's who not only excelled in sports, but also in academics and campus leadership. Our President, Mark Steele, was the chairman for the all Greek Variety Show for the 2nd year in a row and also received the Ross Gainer (an award given to an outstanding male Senior in the Greek System) and the Buckeye Award for his outstanding service to OSU and the Greek Community. We would also like to recognize Tim Turrinton and Alec McCurry for their participation in Jr. Interfraternity Council and the Inter-Fraternity Council this year. We are proud this year to have members in all the honorary's on campus, Sphinx (Senior honorary)-Scott Harris, Romophos (Sophomore honorary)-Tim Turrinton and Joe Heyd, Bucket and Dipper (Freshman honorary)—Steve Gilbert. Outstanding men on campus would include, Rob Oller-OSU Track Captain, Steve Gilbert-Ass't squad leader of OSU's Marching Band, Tim O'Conner-OSU Band, and Joe Heyd-Editor of the Raven (the OSU magazine).

In conclusion we would like to elaborate on the GAC. Many congratulations and thanks to Brother Mil Batten-Chairman of the New York Stock Exchange. Brother Batten received the Fraternity's Distinguished Alumnus award and made many kind remarks about Ohio Delta. Chapter advisor, Samuel D. Rife, received the Edward H. Knight award for outstanding Chapter Advisor. The Chapter received two awards—Excellence in Chapter Management, and Honorable Mention for Outstanding Fraternity Education. This is the largest number of awards that Ohio Delta has ever received. We hope you will share in our rejoicing.

New Rush

The majority of we Ohio Alphans agree that it is nice to be back here in Delaware, Ohio. For some, this is our last year and we will certainly make the best of it. Coming back this term, the Ohio Alpha Chapter has been graced with the new arrival of house-parents, Leroy and Barb Stultz. On campus, all fraternities have acquired the new addition and as the administration believes, this will be quite beneficial to all. We would like to extend a warm welcome to our new mom and dad.

All the Brothers of this Chapter would like to congratulate and welcome our seventeen new initiates of last spring: Dave White, Longmeadow, MA; Will Warren, Tenafly, NJ; Tony Tattersfield, Mexico City, Mexico; Howard Sackson, Scarsdale, NY; Bill Martin, West Hartford, CN; Pete Krasnoff, Princeton, NJ; Jeff Johnson, New Hartford, NY; Steve Dinardo, Upper St. Clair, PA; Tony Evans, Washington, DC; Rich DeGiacomo, Barrington, RI; Brian Day, Wallingford Hills, PA; Todd Cracas, Kent, CN; Fred Hunger, Rocky River; and Steve Sauter, Tom Nelson, and Doug Cherry, all from Terrace Park. We are all quite lucky to have these fine young men aboard and already have seen and experienced some talented leadership.

We at Ohio Alpha would also like to acknowledge the fine performance of the recently elected officers of the Chapter; GP Steve Finical, '81; BGP Dick Spybey, '81; P Pat McGraw, 80; AG Michael Oliver, '80; BG Bill Jennings, '81; SG Will Warren, '82; Hod Brian Day, '82; and Hi Chris Craig, '80. Both thanks and appreciation go to them for their wise leadership.

The administration here at Ohio Wesleyan has decided to change, once again, the Rushing Policy. Because of new liquor laws in the state, all of us will be getting used to "dry" Rush. This will be a minor obstacle in the path to our goal of a fine pledge class. Already we have planned and implemented great ideas for parties and consequently, they have been successful. So once again, Ohio Alpha will acquire a strong and respected pledge class.

As has been mentioned in previous letters, the Brothers at Ohio Alpha are actively involved in all forms of collegiate sports, both on the varsity and intramural levels. This year in varsity play, Brothers Steve Finical, '81, Chris Shepler, '81, Will Warren, '82. Dave White, '82, and Pete Baker '82 will all lead a much-improved football team into action. Across campus, Brother John Gower, '80: captain of the varsity soccer team, and Brother Scott Nelson, '81, are really showing their efforts as their team is ranked fourth nationally in Division III. On the I.M. level, all of the Phi Psi teams have been doing superbly and will continue to do so. Best of luck to all participants.

Moving along, we would also like to congratulate Brother Scott O'Brien, '80 for his recent election as secretary of the Interfraternity Council on campus. Special mention also goes to other Phi Psis who participate in this council for without this, the Greek system on campus would not be as strong as it is. Thanks Brothers.

Before closing, the Brothers of Ohio Alpha want all of you to know that we were deeply saddened by the sudden and tragic death of Brother Tim Elwell. This happened last spring and although it dampened our spirits considerably, it has made us stronger as a Fraternity. We all loved Tim and miss him greatly, and his memory will always be with us.

With new house parents, who seem to enjoy being with us, and a new rush policy, and another year to go for some of us, all of us here at 15 Williams Dr., Delaware, Ohio extend a warm invitation to anyone to stop by and visit. Please do not hesitate to do so.

"Most Improved Chapter"

Greetings from the Brotherhood of Oklahoma Alpha. The 1982-1983 school year promises to be the best ever at our Chapter. For this semester, we are under the outstanding leadership of our newly elected officers. These officers are Allen Wright, GP; Kevin Kendall, VGP; Lee Purvis, AG; John Cuaderes, P; Clint Strong, BG; Kevin Foreman, Hi; Ed Giddens, SG; Andy Shidell, Hod; and Neil Meurer, Phu.

We are very proud to announce the initiation of four new members this semester. These newly initiated brothers are Steve Sturges, Jerry Lee Turner, Mike Chancellor. and Tom Soli. As for fall rush, we have an excellent group of new men. Allen Wright, Scott Stephenson, and Clint Strong were the Rush Chairmen responsible for our 26 fine pledges. The new Pledges include Lowell Chapman, Cheyenne; Stan Kessler, Tulsa; T.J. Spencer, Broken Atrow; Charles Cuaderes, Norman; Tim Freeze, Big Spring, TX; Brian Groves, Tulsa; Todd Dickson, Broken Arrow; Gregg Eisel, Norman; John Jordan, Oklahoma City; Trey Schultz, Pryor; Bob Irwin, Norman; Mark Mullen, Broken Arrow; David Sowards, Tulsa; Craig Henderson, Sapulpa; Brad Larimer, Ponca City; Blake Ashlock, Tulsa; Tim Henriksen, Barrington, IL; Brock Porter, Oklahoma City; Keith Kipp, Norman; Brad Mann, Ponca City; John Meegan, Nantucket Island, MA: James Armstrong, Omaha, NE: John Pate, Norman; Steve Swan, Broken Arrow; John Klentos, Oklahoma City; and Monty McCurtain, McCalister.

Oklahoma Alpha reaped awards from the '82 GAC held in Atlanta. Our chapter won the following awards: Most improved chapter; Best Housing Corporation (Honorable Mention) Solon E. Summerfield Award (Given to Mark Davis); and a certificate of appreciation to alumnus Stanley B. Catlett. We are extremely proud of our recent achievements, and we are eagerly looking ahead to bigger and better things.

Socially, Oklahoma Alpha is the best on campus. We have a tradition of having the biggest and best parties. Under the direction of Mark Schofield, this fall will be no exception to that great tradition. Along with our many sorority functions, we will be having several date parties. In November, we will have our phenomenal "Buffalo Bill's Western Party."

Academically and Intramurally, Oklahoma Alpha continues to get stronger with each semester. In G.P.A., we finished 12th out of 25 fraternities on campus. In sports, we finished 9th overall.

This is just a small part of the excitement that is going on at our great Chapter. We would like to extend our best wishes to all of the other Phi Psi Chapters in the country. We here at Oklahoma Alpha are quickly climbing to the top. Once we arrive at the top, we certainly intend to stay there.

Starting A New Year

Oklahoma Beta is proud to say that the Phi Kappa Psi members were fifth in grades out of twenty-four fraternities on campus last spring. Starting off this year, our fall pledges are Gary Boggs and Tim Cervantez from Tulsa, Johnny Johnson from Hooker, Gene Mozingo from Broken Arrow, and Rob Robinett and Matt Tooley from Oklahoma City.

On October 2, 1982, we initiated Don Sivard from Choctaw and Kevin Ramsey from Oklahoma City into Phi Kappa Psi.

Oklahoma Beta's officers for the fall are David Draper, GP; Albert J. Bisson, VGP,; Steve Montee, P; Scott Cox, AG; Mark Barlass, BG; Ryan Moore, SG; Rick Schuhr, Hod; Ed Kyle, Phu; and Phil Vasquez, Hi.

The Phi Psi 500 is scheduled to take place from October 27-31 with the party on October 30th and the race on October 31st. Two of our members received special recognition on the OSU campus, they were Rick Schuhr, who was chosen as runner-up in Kappa Delta's Mr. Cowboy Contest and Phil Vasquez who was chosen as Arts and Science Senator.

Always Improving

Enthusiasm and expectation prevail at Oregon Alpha. With continually successful rushes and new improvements on the house, the Brothers look forward to a very productive year.

The fall/winter officers are Tim Zweber, GP; Devin Wate, VGP; John Dimmer, P; Sloane Barker, AG; Andy Nelson, BG; Dave Bertelson, SG; Matt Matsushima, Hi; Mike Hunter, Phu; and Mitch Vance, Hod.

Last spring Oregon Alpha initiated 11 new Brothers into Phi Kappa Psi. They are: Sloane Barker, Mark Borchardt, Mitch Vance, Steve VanBaest, Scott Bradbury, Bruce Overstreet, Dave Ford, Pat Widmer, Kerry Dugan, Ken Zweber, and Brian Palmquist.

We have 11 spring pledges who will be initiated this month and 12 fall pledges who will be initiated spring term.

Over the summer we purchased all new furniture for the living room and last month we got a new roof and a repaved driveway. The spring pledge class has re-wallpapered the dining room and our very active Mothers' Club purchased new tables for the dining room as well.

Brother C.J. Balfe was elected to the office of Student Body President last term. We are all very proud of Brother Balfe. Other University elected officers include Alan Scearce, with the Interfraternity Council, and Pat Widmer, Student University Affairs Board.

As always, we at Oregon Alpha would like to invite all our alumni and any Phi Psi in the area to come visit with us at 729 E. 11th any time.

Renovated Spirit

As I'm sure every Phi Psi Chapter is aware, Penn Iota's new spirit was displayed by the eleven Brothers sent to the GAC, who report having an awesome time and received many exciting ideas. This display of spirithas been reflected in our new Brothers: Robert Albert Byers, New Fairfield, CT; Anthony Paul DeLuca, Huntigton, NY; and Michael Donald Stevens, Norristown. Our newly elected officers also have no lack of Phi Psi spirit: Michael Viland, GP; Martin Gelfand, VGP; Brian Block, AG; Jeffrey Finkelstein, BG; Eli Zinner, Hod; Eric Rugart, Hi; William Staples, Phu; and Chris Barnes, Rush Chairman.

The real reason for our new spirit is the completion of the much needed renovations of our Chapter House. Thanks to very generous donations from our House Corporation, the Chapter House at Penn Iota was given nothing less than a complete overhaul over the 1982 summer. The alumni paid for new plush carpeting for our Chapter room and halls, new tiling for the basement, and new patio furniture for our porch. Already these investments have paid off in much increased interest in the house by perspective rushees. The Brothers helped out themselves by preparing the house for the renovations by stripping and repainting the house's interior, and even the University spent $20,000 on basic structural renovations. At our Eighty-Fifth annual "Come Get A Lei" Party, a University of Pennsylvania Tradition, we became known as the fraternity with the nice rug. We thank you alumni.

On a more solemn note, we at Penn Iota mourn the loss of George Hoft, who passed away while we were home over summer break. George was a very successful lawyer whose conduct in work and activity in the Chapter and its undergraduate operations served as the perfect example for what we should all strive for in our Fraternal Associations. He will be missed by us all.

Continued Strength

Fall is upon us in Happy Valley as Penn Lambda begins the term with seven pledges: John Caligiuri and Michael Kaiser, Allentown; Philip Boinske, Phoenixville; Lev Campbell, West Chester; Richard Sandler, Silver Spring, MD; Harold Fatzinger, Nazareth; and Robert Gleyze, Williamsport. Under the leadership of Fraternity Educator Tom Aichele, these men are well on their way to becoming valuable members of our Chapter.

Spring additions to the Brotherhood included Frank Firstin, Doylestown; George Matangos, Harrisburg; Jeff Woodring, Jamestown, NY; Richard Ruhf, Johnstown; Peter Waldron, Macungie; and Robert Walker, Altoona. These men, plus transfer Robert Markwell from Pennsylvania Nu, will keep our Chapter going strong!!

Once again last spring term proved to be very memorable for all Penn Lambdans. Under the leadership of chairmen Paul Martin and Doug Laderer, the 1982 Phi Psi "500" ended up being the largest and greatest in history. Nearly 1800 runners entered the race and an estimated 40,000 people lined the streets to watch. All our Brothers, pledges and friends of the Chapter pulled their talents together to raise $20,000 for the Easter Seals and $1000 for the Mount Nittany Conservancy. This $21,000, along with the $10,500 we raised for children's cancer research at the Hershey Medical Center during the IFC Dance Marathon and the $30,000 raised through these same two projects in 1981, helped us earn the Community Service Award at this past summer's GAC in Atlanta. This was the second time in as many GAC's that we have been presented this award. Also at this past GAC, attended by Steve O'Reilly, Tom Aichele and Fred Kelley, we received an Honorable Mention Award for Alumni Relations.

As always, Phi Psi excelled in all aspects of campus life Spring term. For the term we were ranked 7th out of 50 fraternities in scholarship. For the school year we ended up 3rd overall, but among major fraternities with twenty or more members, we ranked first with a chapter accumulative average well above University averages.

Our intramural teams fared very well last year finishing fourth overall. In the spring, our soccer, softball, tennis doubles and bowling teams all made it into the playoffs with our bowling team going on to win the championship.

As usual, wherever you look on campus there will be a Phi Psi leading the way. Jeff Maierhofer, Scott Gardiner, Steve Blumenthal and Doug Moyer are all valuable members of the varsity soccer team. Their teamwork and contributions have been built up in the local press as "The Phi Psi Connection." Mike Smoyer and Chris Thomson were the chairman and vice-chairman, respectively, of the security committee for Homecoming 1982. We have two Brothers performing their talents at home football games this year: Carl Suffredini is a member of the marching band and Joe Wilson is on the varsity cheerleading squad.

Social Chairman Dave Zlogar has worked hard to set up a very fine but diversified calendar of socials (with Kappa Alpha Theta, Pi Beta Phi and Alpha Sigma Alpha), combines with other fraternities, happy hours, and a hayride and formal. In addition, we hold tailgates before each home football game to get us enthused to watch our nationally ranked Nittany Lion football team and cocktail parties after to celebrate our victories!

Chapter leadership this fall is being provided by Fred Kelley, GP; Tom Aichele, VGP; Dan Martone, P; Rick Riegel, AG; Doug King, BG; Randy Repcheck, SG; Phil Quatrini, Phu; Rob Markwell, Hod; and Andy Cutler, Hi.

Homecoming weekend, October 16-18, under the leadership of chairman Tom Thompson and Tom Brown proved to be very exciting. Over 200 alumni and their families, from as far away as California, returned to visit the lodge. 403 Fund contributions have been going very well, but we have vet to reach our goal of $50,000 to be used for major house improvements and renovations. To date, over $38,000 has been pledged and over $19,000 collected from generous alumni. Returning alumni were pleased to see our new bathroom, security system, ceilings and emergency lighting system. All were paid for with 403 Fund monies. Thank you to all who were able to return for the weekend. We hope that all of our alumni and all Phi Psi's everywhere will be able to visit within the next year or so to see that Pennsylvania Lambda is as alive and strong as ever.

Stepping Out

This year Indiana Delta has topped its own record on the Purdue campus in the areas of scholarship, athletics and campus leadership.

The Chapter has been improved considerably with the initiation of 17 men. They are: Michael Ahern, Carmel; Michael Ball, Plymouth; Dan Bechtold, Laurenceburg; Rick Boener, Plymouth; John DePrez, Shelbyville; David Harnish, Kokomo; Don Just, Ft. Wayne; Kevin Klatte, Cincinnati, OH; Robert Kernodle, Franklin; Michael Phelps, Henderson, KY; Chris Sandberg, Chesterton; John Schmidt, Evansville; Jeff Stafford, Carmel; David Trahan, South Bend; Tim Vander Baan, Indianapolis; Tom Vavul, South Bend; and Mark Woodard, Lebanon. These brothers have already proven themselves in scholarship, as six of the new Brothers are members of the freshman honorary, Phi Eta Sigma.

Many other Brothers have also done an equally commendable job in spreading the Phi Psi influence over Purdue's campus. Currently, two out of Purdue's three Interfraternity Council Senators are Phi Psis. Bro. Bob Canty and Bro. Don Just hold these positions. Many brothers are also active in campus organizations such as Purdue Student Association, Purdue Student Union Board, various honoraries, and varsity athletics (football and tennis).

In intramural athletics, the Phi Psis took home the coveted campus basketball trophy. Coming from thriving Hoosierland, this prize has long been anticipated at Indiana Delta. Phi Psis also won the campus racquetball tournament and made a strong showing in softball and overall intramural participation.

As usual, rush has been one of our major activities here at Indiana Delta. We feel we have an excellent group of young men rushing the Chapter and are confident that we will have an exceptional pledge class. As of this writing, membership at Delta is at 1492. With the initiation of our next pledge class in February of 1983, we will surpass the coveted 1500 mark!

The '82 fall semester has been remarkable, for we are presently enjoying a social program unparalleled in Indiana Delta's history. Our exciting football weekends with Alpha Gamma Delta sorority and other weekly social functions are helping to keep a festive atmosphere at the Phi Psi house. On September 25, our social reputation was once again boosted by the first annual "Rock the Dock" party, in which the house was transformed into a pirate's galleon ship. The party was a tremendous success, and another page has been added to the ever increasing Phi Psi tradition

The house itself has never been in better shape and is ready for inspection by the visiting alumni. Recent improvements include completion and dedication of the Great Hall, redecoration of the third floor rack room, and finishing touches for the Dusty Rhodes Memorial Library. Special thanks should go out to Dusty's pledge brothers for their generous contributions, and to all parents and alumni who have helped and encouraged us to reach the improvements that we are now enjoying. We are continually looking forward to the future and hoping to see an excellent alumni turn out for the 1500th initiation.

Renovated and Excited

Another year is upon us in beautiful downtown Kingston and R.I. Beta is looking better than ever. For the past two years, bids for new carpeting had been taken by our Alumni House Corporation. Finally, a bid was accepted in the spring and the work was completed over the summer. To day that our Chapter house looks fantastic is truly an understatement. Once again, the Brothers would like to extend its sincere thanks to the R.I. Beta Alumni House Corporation.

Elections were held at our first meeting and once again, these elected officers will strive to keep R.I. Beta running efficiently and productively. The new positions are as follows: James Gulluscio, GP; John Leahy, VGP; Richard Pelzer III, AG; James Chapman, BG; Gary Gumowitz, SG; Brian Ambrefe, Hod; John Thomason, Phu; Kevin Fitzgerald, Hi; Steve Salvotti, AHC; Brad Preston, IFC; and Robert Viens, Asst. Treasurer.

Our pledge rush process is off to one of its best starts in the number of years. John Leahy has been furiously working with rush chairmen George Taga and Bob Soderlund in putting together an extensive rush plan. These fine Brothers have greatly motivated the many Brothers in and around the R.I. Beta. As every Brother strives earnestly to bring new initiates within the circle of Phi Kappa Psi, I'm sure that we will again be successful in all of our efforts.

On the sports scene, intramural football is off to a great start. The "Z" team handily defeated its first two opponents with convincing superiority. Having moved up a division, the "Z" team may well be the team to beat this year for the championship. On the Varsity fields, All Yankee Conference Center Bob Soderlund and All New England offensive tackle Rich Pelzer III of the Yankee Conference Champion Rams attempt to capture the title once again. The next Conference game will host the Terriers of Boston University in an important Homecoming event.

Homecoming plans are being finalized at the moment by Social Chairmen Andrew Donkin and Henry Kinch. Bloody Mary's and hot dogs will kick off the day for Alumni as well as the Brothers and new pledges. Once the game has ended, a happy hour will precede a dinner dance at the Windswept Farms Country Club. A very enjoyable evening should be the making.

The Brothers at R.I. Beta wish to extend a warm and hearty welcome to all Alumni, Brothers, and Pledges in the Phi Kappa Psi circle. May everyone have a fulfilling and productive year, and if the Brothers at R.I. Beta can be of any help during the year, give us a call or drop in anytime.

Diverse

As New Jersey Alpha begins the fall semester they welcome five newly initiated Brothers. Vince Palmere, Norman Curry, Barry Ryan, Joseph Myers, and Howard Berner should prove to be assets to the Chapter. Phi Psi also looks forward to a good semester of pledging under the direction of Vince Palmere, Norman Curry and Brian Kape.

Upcoming events include a Dated Rush on October 8, and Bid Day on October 15. We are also in the process of planning a trip to Atlantic City.

New Jersey Alpha is also very proud to have nine of the starting eleven soccer players on the varsity team. Peter Kepes was elected team captain and will have Tom Tuffy and Norman Curry, formal ACC first team selections, backing him up. To date all of the teams goals have been tallied by Phi Psi. The soccer intramural team is also dominating the college ranks beating it's opponents 17-2, 27-2, and 7-3.

Former GP Sean Looney is currently attending Rider to attain his Master in Management. The Brothers are happy to have Sean helping out once again.

On tap during the semester will be many interesting parties which will include a Woodstock party, Second Annual Around-The-World party and a Jungle party. Rick Morgan and Barry Ryan will be the men behind the scenes and invite all alumni to attend.

The Chapter is also very proud of Kenny Wenk, who over the summer attained great stature for his surfing ability. Hang Ten Squidly.

Richard Dultz was recently elected to the college Finance Board and has also been elected President of the Law Society. During IFC elections Thomas Comer was elected VP Social and James Daley was elected as treasurer.

New Jersey Alpha recently ran a softball tournament to raise funds for the chapter. Mike Gensinger and Mike Bennett sponsored the event, putting in a lot of time and effort and should be applauded for a job well done.

In closing, New Jersey Alpha would like to extend an invitation to any local chapters who wish to take a road trip to Rider.

Fired Up!

Following two semesters of smaller pledge classes, we are happy to report the pledging of seven fine men: Dee Kellett, Greenville; Lee Dutton, Gaffney; Matt Thomson, Anderson; Todd Webster, West Port, CN; Otto Mujica, Beaufort: Brad Beasley, Hartville; and Don Shaffer; Aiken. Their enthusiasm for Phi Kappa Psi is evident from their involvement with the Chapter and in their pledge activities. The future of the Fraternity will definitely be in good hands.

This semester, the Chapter is still high spirited following our second straight Greek Week victory at the University of South Carolina last May. Being the smallest fraternity at the university, this victory demonstrates the pride and Fraternal spirit we all feel. Of the three events of Greek Week, we took first place in Greek games and special projects while taking a close second in charity collection. We are already anticipating the competition again this spring.

In intramural athletics, our Brothers demonstrate further ability. Three Brothers, Jim Cottier, Craig Bartosch, and Dean Foster are integral players on a yet undefeated soccer team, and the Phi Kappa Psi football team still maintains an unblemished record. Our four-man bicycle team also placed fourth in the Sigma Nu little "500" last semester after incurring many problems on the day of the race. Each victory gives us more enthusiasm in other things we do and builds the fellowship within the Chapter.

Lastly, the primary project which we are undertaking this semester is the overall improvement of our lounge and study room. We realize that growth must be an integral goal of the chapter. These efforts are goal oriented in that we want attractive surroundings for ourselves as well as all pledge prospects and visitors. We are aiming to improve all first impressions that people receive of the Fraternity, a goal that we feel is important to reach.

All Campus Champions

September marked the start of another great year for Texas Gamma. The first concern on our priority list was rush. Under the able leadership of rush chairman James Skinner we had a very successful rush program. A total of ten men pledged Phi Psi. These pledges are: Thomas H. Dunn, San Antonio; Scott Thomas Griffin, Houston; Michael Andrew Piel, Galveston; Robert Allen Bishop and Robert Wayne Baker, Houston; Kenneth M. Miller, El Paso; Richard Frederich Weigle and Bruce Alan Wright, Houston; Brian Jordan and Ralph William Marascio, Boerne.

In athletics Texas Gamma stands tall. Last year we were the "All Campus Champions." We won basketball and softball and we never placed below third in any major sport. This year we are confident that we can successfully defend our title.

In academics, Texas Gamma strives to upgrade and improve overall academic standards. In order to stress the importance of good study habits, a $100 scholarship is awarded to the pledge that finishes the semester with the highest GPA. Texas Gamma has one of the highest average GPA's of any fraternity at southwest Texas but there is always room for improvement.

Last spring we elected officers for this fall. The officers are Craig Barclay, GP; James Skinner, VGP; Kevin Pillsbury, P; Mike Toomey, assist. P; William Pommrehn, AG; Brad Moore, BG; James Alley, SG; Joe O'Connell, Hi; Randy Jenkinson, Phu and Dickie Santos, Fraternity Educator.

This past spring and summer we had five Brothers graduate from Southwest Texas. Their names are: Steve Edwards, David Miller, Dennis Fewell, Bruce Grant and Tab Blackstone. Each Brother, in his own way, has contributed much to the Fraternity. The example that these Brothers have set tends to exemplify the meaning of Brotherhood.

Outstanding Summerfield Award

Congratulations go to Brother Gustave Lamperez, recipient of the Outstanding Solon E. Summerfield Scholarship.

The officers for this semester are Marc Pelletier, GP; Scott Gordon, VGP; Matthew Salmon, AG; Warren Lewis, BG; Jay Gremillion, P; Charles Doty, Phu; Darryl Taylor, Hod; Darren Eldridge, Hi; and Matthew Salmon, SG. We feel they will do a great job.

The fall semester has found Louisiana Beta with eight new pledges: Scott Venable, Tim Gremillion, Philip Ryland, Shing Li, John Hays, Alex Gutierrez, Tony Nowzamani, and Harry Kallipolitis. They have proved to be one of the most active classes by raising $350 with a T-shirt sale.

We are looking forward to seeing all the alumni at Homecoming on Nov. 6. With the current 4-0 record, the team may even win the game.

Continued Service

The addition of 19 new pledges is the most prominent of many reasons this year's Cal Beta Chapter is enjoying an exhausting but extraordinarily fun quarter. The pledges, already very busy involving themselves in chapter planning and activities, are: Mike Allan, Los Angeles; Charles DeNault, Marblehead, MA; Bob Frakes, Santa Barbara; Todd Gates, Piedmont; Jeff Hibbard, Grand Rapids, MI; David Hoffer, Downey; Russell Jong, Palo Alto; Jeff Katzman, Los Angeles; David Levy, Buffalo, NY; Ken McClain, Eugene, OR; Steve Miller, Memphis, TN; Bob Milligan, Modesto; Michael Moya, Fort Collins, CO; Lief Pedersen,

In addition to welcoming Phi Psi visitors to Knoxville's World's Fair, the Brothers of Tennessee Epsilon also welcome their newest pledges pictured here.

Merced; Danilo Purlia, Alpine; Gregg Rasmussen, Cupertino; Andy Shinar, Long Beach; Bob Stocking, Concord, NH; and Victor Wu, Rockville, MD.

The new year also marked the beginning of offices for four Brothers: Alan Aronson, GP; Michael Hoffer, VGP; Steven Miller, BG; and Ken McClain, AG. Treasurer John Genga represented Cal Beta at the GAC in Atlanta, calling the experience "enlightening" and bringing back many items of interest. The officers have coordinated an itinerary that includes volunteer work at the nearby Children's Hospital, a blood-donating drive, tailgaters with sororities and alumni, and a host of other social, athletic, and community services.

On the scholastic side, Brian Smiley, a first-year alumnus and Summerfield Scholar, received the Founders Fellowship from the Endowment Fund to pursue his Chemical Engineering studies at M.I.T. Also, alumnus Rico Hernandez, District VI Archon, is currently studying in France. Back at home, Andrew Beal is upholding the fine campus reputation of the Chapter by presiding over the school's Interfraternity Council.

The enthusiasm and dedication of the Chapter, apparent in such diverse endeavors as intramural football and the sponsorship of a foster son in Napal, promises a year filled with brotherhood, conviviality, and jubilee for all.

Syracuse New Pledge Program

New York Beta's highest priority this fall semester has been implementing its pledge program. Spring semester '82 was employed reorganizing this essential component of the Chapter. The entire Brotherhood involved itself in the lengthy procedure and are high-spirited in the result: a positive, anti-hazing pledge program. The Chapter has initiated a new era in New York Beta history, one of which all can be proud.

Fifteen exceptional men have been chosen to be Phi Psi pledges under the direction of Chip Holmes: Mario Bernal, Tarrytown; Kevin Randall, Walltham, MA; Miguel Nistal, Basking Ridge, NJ; John Hawke, Hamilton, MA; Mike Beckert, Lawrensville, NJ; Mike Gaspar, Dartmouth, MA; Tony Sciarabba, Roch, NY; David Dorson and Peter Grabal, Scarsdale, NY; Bob Murtha, Naugatuck, CT; Keith Underwood, Randolph, NJ; Richard Seidlitz, Manhattan, NY; Rick Kovant, Binghamton, NY: Peter Ruisi, Brewster, NY: and Bert Vecchiarelli, Poughkeepsie, NY.

A fine slate of Brothers have been elected to lead the Chapter this semester: Gary Helpern, GP; Rob Batista, VGP; Ron Wimpfheimer, P; Stephen Mercer, AG; Rich Klink, BG; Jon Cohen, SG; Rob Davis, Hod; Tim Poth, Phu; and Mike Maurice, II:

Phi Kappa Psi's first Ben King National Scholarship has been awarded to Bill Bornstein, NY Beta '81. The $1,000 cash citation is given to an engineering student working his way through school, who demonstrates above average academic ability.

Activities chairmen George Wolke and Danny Leyden have been hard at work preparing for "Casino Phi Psi." Casino Phi Psi is a New York State Licensed cash gambling event held six times through the school year to benefit Muscular Dystrophy. Last year, Casino Phi Psi raised $5,000, placing it second at the Greatest American Marathon, the largest dance benefit in the United States.

Phi Psi's intramural team is a well-oiled machine this semester. Early reports indicate continued success as the Brothers show their psyche on and off the playing fields of Syracuse University. The softball team has been written up locally for "white-washing" its opponents and the tennis team has marched to the finals with only one lost match.

The alumni have continued to show support for the Chapter and deserve much credit for their time and participation. I, personally, and the entire Brotherhood would like to thank them for this and more.

Hard Work Pays Off

High High High from the World's Fair city of Knoxville. Here at the University of Tennessee, we have grown accustomed to hearing the same words each fall, "Its football time in Tennessee," due to our rich pigskin tradition. However, at Tennessee Epsilon, we have activities other than football on our minds: a look back at a successful summer, and getting down to some serious work this autumn.

The recent years' record 30-man pledge group of Texas Tech.

In June, on the 24th, six fine young men were welcomed into our Brotherhood; Jeff Gary, Wayne Harnack, Drew Ledford, Robert Mitchell, and Matt Williams, of Knoxville, as well as Shannon Mason of nearby Morristown. Almost immediately, these new Brothers began working tirelessly to improve our Chapter, and under the leadership of newly elected GP, Tom McNeal, and VGP, John Walker, that hard work enabled our Chapter to receive the Most Improved Chapter Award, Honorable Mention, when Brother Walker attended the recent GAC in Atlanta.

As school reconvened for the fall quarter at UTK, we in the Tennessee Epsilon Chapter continued our Chapter business by enjoying a very successful rush week, which included open intramural football practices, a Taco party, and a weekend lake party, at the cabin of our most recent initiate (October 1st), Ernest McElroy. Rush culminated with for fine men pledging our Fraternity, Tony Dulling and David Evans, of Knoxville, and Shawn Lange and Trey Locklear, of Chattanooga.

Now that our recent excitement is history, we are settling down to our studies, which range from Geology to Journalism. We are also eagerly awaiting the arrival of our new Chapter Consultant, Steven A. Fawthrop, Washington '79, who will be visiting our Chapter very soon. We also have welcomed many Phi Psis from around the country, who have visited the World's Fair this past summer, and hope to see many more. Our house is your house, so, Brothers, if you're ever in Big Orange Country, stop in, and we'll give you a real Volunteer welcome!

History and Horizons

As we move into our Seventy-eighth year at the University of Texas, the Brothers of Texas Alpha look forward to what promises to be our best year ever.

After a successful Summer Rush program, stretching from the traditional Texas Round Up of last Spring through the infamous Shipwreck Weekend to kick off Fall, Texas Alpha leaves Rush Week with thirty fine Fall pledges. They are Mark Anderson, Hinsdale, IL; Neil Bowie, Denton; Tim Brewer, Temple; Dan Coker, Dallas; Scott Connell, Plano; Malcolm Coon, Fredricksburg; Will Crowley, Columbia, MO; Mike Cunningham, Austin; James Dement, Manuel; Rick Dudenski, Portage, IN; Shannon Durst, Midland; Gary Goldsmith, Conroe; Jim Hawkins, Plano; Dan Houston, Longview; Brian Huffman, Fort Worth; Fred Hull, Houston; Kevin Johnson, Fort Worth; Robbie Kleinschmidt, Hurst; Greg McCollister, Farmington, NM; Spencer McGowan, Dallas; John Morton, El Paso; Chuck Price, Houston; Jay Powell and Jeff Reynolds, Dallas; John Silvus, Austin; Tom Solcher and David Spradley, Houston; Sterling Steves, Fort Worth; John Tolle, Dallas; and Adam Watkins, Houston. We are also proud to welcome eight new initiates from last Spring, they are: Rick Donahue, David Carney, Bob De Lachica, Trey Lehman, Randy Lott, Ken Minnick, Chris Nenon, Trey Wade, and our transfer from North Carolina Alpha, Joe de Compiegne.

Texas Alpha has done much in the last semester. We were able to combine efforts with the Alpha Delta Pi Sorority to produce the spectacular "Saturdayfest"—a carnival celebration that raised over $11,000 to benefit Cerebral Palsy. We were also able to complete our campus-wide "Phi Psi Sweetheart Calendar," which includes many beautiful Sorority and Independent girls here at the University of Texas, through the hard work of many Brothers, especially the Editor, J. K. Ivey. Brothers of Texas Alpha also placed well in intramural sports and we won first place overall in the Alpha Epsilon Pi Campus Olympiad.

The current semester if also full of activity for the Phi Psi's at Texas. George Bean and Brian Huffman both won first place, respectively, in the Active and Pledge divisions of the Delta Sigma Phi Greek Regatta, and we hope to continue tradition by winning the prestigious Greek Sing-Song competition for the fourth year in a row! The Second Annual Phi Psi Field Day also went off well. The field day consists of many exciting and entertaining competitions between all of the Sorority pledge classes here at the University of Texas. Texas Alpha also has a busy social schedule planned-highlighted by the Texas-OU party celebrating the big football game of the year, our famous World War Two theme party, and the Black Tie Christmas Formal.

We have enjoyed visits from other Chapters recently, including Tennessee, California, Texas Beta and Gamma, Iowa, and Indiana, and we always encourage all Brothers and alumni to visit us at any time for some real "Texas hospitality."

We are proud of our accomplishments and look forward to a great year, but the Brothers of Texas Alpha always strive, above all, to hold up the ideals of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity; particularly Brotherhood, scholarship, tradition, and philanthropy. As a Chapter, we again welcome the visits of our Brothers and alumni throughout the nation and wish the very best for each Chapter in the coming year.

Successful Rush

After the last man had been signed and all the Fall 1982 rush functions were over, 30 men had been accepted into the pledgeship of Phi Kappa Psi here at Texas Beta. Thus, this pledge class is our largest pledge class in over ten years. These men are: Richard Banks, Midland; Charles Blagg and Mark Chitwood, San Antonio; Larry Dickerson, Midland; William Everett, El Paso; Richard Falkowski, Deer Park; Kit Foshee, Darrouzett; Lance Hanson, Stanton; Gregory Hendricks, Farmersville; Michael Herrick, Plano; Tim Hogan, Fairfax, VA; Gary Land, Waco; Christopher Leahy, Brant Rock MA; Alan Meskunas and Marty Meskunas, Plano; Eric Meyer, Freer; Ron McIlroy, Garland; Mark Radenbaugh, Grapevine; Timothy Revers, Kempner; Wade Riza, Sherman; Kevin Robertson, Austin; Johnny Ross and Gregory Routin, San Angelo; Jeff Schweiger, Miami, FL; Art Segovia, Dallas; Glenn Stanley, Oklahoma City, OK; Scott Ullom, Midland; Scott Williams, San Antonio; Chris Witte, Glenview, ILL; and Geoffrey Zuercher, Richardson.

However, these men were not taken without the hard work and dedication of every man in the Chapter. Rush began in June with a series of summer parties held during freshman orientation periods. These parties gave us a head start on rush and also created good PR. Upon our return to school we were greeted with the announcement that IFC had passed a motion (originated by Phi Psi delegates) to allow first semester freshman to pledge. This break with tradition was a turning point that Texas Beta welcomed greatly.

Fall 1982 Formal Rush consisted of a "preppy" mixer with the Gamma Phi Beta Sorority, a Surf Lubbock Beach Party complete with truckloads of sand and a funk band, and a Riverboat Casino Party. Many thanks go to our Rush Chairmen Jerry Simmons, Jeff Rea, and Tom Dykes. We would also like to thank Fraternity Secretary Bryan Muecke for speaking at our formal smoker.

The new officers for the Fall are Jeff Rea, GP; David Green, VGP; Doug Cowie, P; Todd Smith, AG; Steve Whipple, BG; Mark Bumpass, SG; Victor Ramirez, Hi; and Bob Reister, Hod. Jerry Simmons was elected to the position of Chapter Advisor and Eric Yokum (Penn Nu) was asked to be our faculty representative.

Academically we had a successful Spring in 1982. Our Chapter was the one house on campus to have every man make his grades. Our pledge program has been structured toward continuing this success by adding one more weekly study hall to the existing three.

Although rush has consumed most of our time this fall, three other events come to mind. The initiation on August 30th of two new Brothers: Richard Jack, El Paso and Danny Prado, Abilene. Secondly, a reunion was held September 3rd for Texas Beta's founding organization, the Centaur Club. Forty-four men returned to Tech to renew the brotherhood they experienced while in college. Bill Collins ran the reunion. Mike Chapel is to be thanked for organizing the event. Third, Homecoming was quickly upon us this year with the second home game September 25th. Texas Beta held a morning parade reception, a pre-game warm up, and a post game reception. Although the Raiders lost 23-24 to Baylor, it was a great time for Future events include a reception October 30th for 50 members of the West Texas Alumni Association who are attending the Tech-Texas game. We would like to take this opportunity to thank the W.T.A.A. for holding a rush function in Midland this summer for both Texas Alpha and Beta. Also on the calendar is a Chapter retreat to Wurstfest in New Braunfels.

Active

With the fall quarter upon us Ohio Eta finds itself in a variety of campus activities. Scott Bakalar was accepted into Blue Key, and Peppers (Academic Honor Societies). Wes Schaub was accepted into Peppers. Dennis McBride is running on the U.T. Cross Country team and Rick Clegg is on the U.T. Cheerleading Squad.

Scott Bakalar, and Jeff Witter were accepted into the Brotherhood as a spring pledge class, and this Fall's rush looks very promising.

Spring Quarter '82 saw several outstanding victories for Ohio Eta, with a third place trophy in U.T. Songfest (interfraternity singing competition), and a second place in the Dean Parks Competition, awarded to fraternities for academics, community projects, athletics, and university affiliated projects.

Spring Quarter '82 also saw the graduation of many Brothers. Among those graduating were Phillip Cleminson, Scott Williams, Dan Morrison, who's now attending grad. school at Ohio State, and John McMahon. Brother Mark Bonsack also left us, joining the navy to finish his schooling.

Thanks to Phil Cleminson, Brian Coglin, Dewey Cronk, Dan Heath, and Jim McKeen, there was no shortage of Phi Psi weddings to attend this summer. We'd like to congratulate them all, and wish them luck.

Officers were elected in the spring and the new line up reads as follows: Dennis Mc-Bride, president; Mike Hammon, vice president; Steve Hartsel, treasurer; Tom Carson, corresponding secretary; and David Tough, recording secretary.

We are looking forward to a productive new school year, and a good pledge class.

Diversity

Greetings from Valparaiso.

November finds Indiana Epsilon poised at the edge of past achievement and on the brink of future striving for excellence.

Last year our grade point average was the highest of any V.U. fraternity: 2.97 and 2.94 for fall and spring semesters respectively. These grade point averages, which are some of the highest in V.U. history, put us well ahead of any other fraternity on campus, but leave us competing with ourselves this semester for an elusive goal—a chapter average of 3.0. We've got our work cut out for us.

It didn't take us long to realize that our alumni are a hard act to follow. Our GAC representatives (Mark Yaeger, '80 and Joe stucker, '79) brought back the good news that our performance over the last two years has earned us the Ralph D. Daniel Award for Excellence in Chapter Management, and that last year's president Ron Rapp, '79 has received the Charles Page Thomas Moore Scholarship. We're proud of these achievements, and they've got us fired up to do our absolute best in the fresh challenges we face this year.

Many of us at Indiana Epsilon can tell the change in seasons by the change in sports. Last year we had a very respectable second place finish in the interfraternity competition for the coveted All Sports Trophy. This year our football and soccer teams have come roaring back stronger than ever, and we're showing each other we've got what it takes to move from that second place finish into

In a Brotherhood, there are no interchangeable parts; each person must be prized for his individuality. At V.U., the diversity of the Phi Psis shows itself at every level of Chapter and campus involvement. Our social calendar is full, and, as noted above, participation in intramurals is high. Thursday night Bible Study is a fixed feature of Chapter life, and the committee system, in many ways the heart of Indiana Epsilon as a formal organization, gives everyone a chance to get involved in sharing this unique talents with the group. Brothers Jay Schaefer, '81, Todd Romanski, '80, and Doug Jacques, '80 do us credit as Resident Assistants in V.U.'s dormitories. Brother Tim Andrews, '80, is a standout for V.U.'s football team, and Brother Mark Betley, '80, likewise for the Soccer Club, Brothers Roger Goodrich, '80, and Tim Strege, '80 are members of Mortar Board, an honorary organization for outstanding seniors; John Lisius, '82, Leon Debolt, '80, and Mark Getbehead, '80 are active in the marching band; Jay Schaefer, '81, and Jon Strege, '81 are disc jockeys at campus radio station WVUR. The list of active, involved, participating Phi Psis goes on.

In a curious juxtaposition of good intentions, our Chapter is working to feed the World's hungry: on campus, by organizing a booth to sell brats during Homecoming this year, and internationally, by sponsoring a needy Latinoamerican child, Maria, who would be unable to get adequate nutrition without our support. We helped out the city of Valparaiso by manning a parking lot for its Popcorn Festival this year. Each month we provide Sunday worship for an area nursing home. Thus, we are gaining a reputation for service to others.

Nineteen new Brothers have leapt into the melting pot of Fraternal associations. Giving Flavor to this year's stew are Ken Austin, Carpentersville, IL; Kevin Boysen, Milwaukee, WI; Paul Bushur, Indianapolis; Andy Cortwright, Riverside, IL; Jon Dorn, Buffalo Grove, IL; Tim Eckart, Lansing, MI; Dan Grundmeier, Storm Lake, IA; Jon Hilgenkamp, Plymouth, MN; Dave Jacques, Joliet, IL; Scott Keegan, Schaumburg, IL; Brian Larsen, Wadsworth, IL; John Lisius, Milwaukee, WI; Tim Mech, Sheboygen, WI; Eric Moe, Watseka, IL; Joe Pesce, Washington, NJ; Craig Raabe, Glastonbury, CT; Andy Rickus, Birmingham, MI; Eric Smith, Defiance, OH; and Ted Tahlier, Green Bay,

Also swimming about happily in the gravy are Roger Goodrich, GP; Tim Strege, VGP; Psul Schnorr, P; Steve Thompson, AG; Leon Debolt, BG; Jon Hilgenkamp, SG; Mark Getbehead, Hod; Charlie Trevor, Phu; and Tim Mech, Hi.

One of the most exciting things about any Chapter is not what is, but what might be. We at Indiana Epsilon are fired up to move in new directions. Brothers Joe Stucker, '79 and Mark Yaeger, 80 came back from GAC with a host of new ideas for our pledging program and alumni affairs. Brother Todd Romanski has introduced a motion to the Interfraternity Council that alcohol education be required in all V.U. pledge education programs. Also, a weekend house retreat, something we've never tried before, is in the planning stages.

The men of Indiana Epsilon, Valparaiso University.

Our Chapter's history, as might be expected, has included both ups and downs. We like to think the ups of Fraternity life have dwarfed the downs by comparison. This year we are strong in almost all the external, easy-to-talk-about, material measures of success. These externals, though, don't mean a thing if they don't reflect a healthy internal spirit of Brotherhood. This spirit, as the heart of a fraternity, must be the greatest area of growth for us this year and in the years to come.

Vanderbilt Going to Town

The Brotherhood at Tennessee Delta reached new levels this fall in our never-ending efforts to keep Phi Psi on top. In early September, five men were pledged during upperclass rush. They were Al Cummings, Chicago, IL; Mike Moore, Bowling Green, KY; John Morris, Jacksonville, FL; Trevor Mundt, Atlanta, GA; and Joe Patton, Louisville, KY. Rush chairmen Tom Sheedy and Bill Fowler set new precedents for upperclass rush by pledging the largest fall class in six years.

The Phi Psi "500" was again overwhelmingly successful this fall as over $2,000.00 was raised for the Middle Tennessee Diabetes Association. Teams participating in the bicycle race represented every fraternity, sorority, freshman halls, as well as many independents. Later that evening almost 2,000 people danced to the beat of Square Wave. Organizing the "500" efforts were Chairman Joe Basili and Rett Johnson.

Social Chairman Stewart Jackson expanded the social program to keep Phi Psi on its roll. Several band parties were held, as well as sorority swaps, hometown beer parties, formal cocktail parties, and an off-campus fall party. These events helped forge a solid base for January's freshman rush.

The Brotherhood remains very active in campus activities. David Allen is the drum major of the marching band. Bob Boone, Scott Draper, and Don McBride are members of the soccer team. Chris Hageman, after a football injury last year, assists the coach at games and practices. Bobby Miller is active in the student government. Joe Basili is chairman of the student funding organization. Kevin Troy, Tom Gaus, and Ted Parris are disc jockeys for the campus radio station. Chris Temme serves as assistant business manager for the newspaper; Jon Utterback is on the Interfraternity Council.

Intramural sports saw a semi-successful season. The football team came within one game of the playoffs, ending with a 2-2-2 record. Both golf and volleyball ended near the top; soccer season did not begin prior to this writing.

The recent furniture drive sponsored by the alumni is within sight of reality. Thanks to their generous support, our living room should be refurnished by spring.

Chapter officers for the fall semester are Howell Russ, GP; Jeff Cook, VGP; Mark Corbett, P; Al Thrasher, Fraternity Educator; David Kleinfelter, House Manager; and Chris Temme, AG.

The Brothers are proud to have been part of the successful fall in all aspects of the Chapter. We invite alumni to visit at any time to share the Brotherhood at Tennessee Delta.

Virginia New Officers

Virginia Alpha enters the fall school term under the leadership of a new slate of officers. The Chapter elected a dedicated and hard working group. The results are as follows: John Alexander, Potomac, MD, President; M. Ross Alliston, Herndon, Vice-President; Eric Landau, Huntington, NJ, Treasurer, and Gerald Marcus, Wayne NJ, Secretary.

In other news, spring rush this past year garnered Virginia Alpha three more pledges: Robert Craig, Denver, CO, Matthew Stais, Garden City, NY, and Robin Grier, Charlotte, NC. These pledges have already actively participated in important Chapter activities, such as fall work week. They are all eagerly looking forward to the day in October when they will be initiated.

Fraternity intramural sports shines as a bright spot for Virginia Alpha. The Chapter touch football team, last year's fraternity champion, once again is having a fine year. Thus far the team has compiled a 4-0 record and leads its division. Also, the Brothers have been active in a variety of other sports, ranging from handball to soccer.

The Virginia Alpha Chapter also includes Brothers who have become active in the university community. Eric Landau is a University Judiciary counselor. He is responsible for advising students on the use of the University's internal disciplinary system. Jerry Marcus is a Resident Assistant supervising individuals in the first year dormitories.

Wabash Rebuilding

Returning to Crawfordsville with rush already in full swing, Indiana Gamma is proud to announce the pledging of thirty-one fine young men, which is the largest pledge class on campus. Our new pledges are: Rick Chua, John Chumley, James Howard and Tim Miller, Indianapolis; Charles Garman, Carmel; Andy West, Speedway; Tim Phillips, Delphi; John Marsteller, Lafayette; Tony Trapp, Brownsburg; Lance Wonderlin, Covington; Barry Stroup, Wabash; Mike Busch and Jeff Humes, Logansport; Gordon Sheffield, New Castle; Gary Rusk, Terre Haute: Rob McElroy, Evansville; Eric Swanson, South Bend; Chris Luce, Michigan City; Lamorn Allen and Alex Mishel, Gary; Tom Anthony and Kevin Novak, Highland; Joe Kynds, Kevin Lechner, Brian Oaks and Mike Stokes, Kokomo; Greg Grapski, Easton, CT; Joe Franklin, Woodridge, IL; Mike Disini, Manila, Philippines; Brad Fewell, Barrington Hills, IL; and Matt Stegman, Baltimore, MD.

On April 13, Indiana Gamma initiated two new Brothers, Jeff Martin, Lafayette; and Ron Rodriguez, Griffith.

Keeping with tradition, Phi Psis are at the forefront of Wabash activities. Merlin Nice set a NCAA Basketball tournament record, connecting on 24 of 24 free throws for the five game tournament, helping the Little Giants to the Division III National Championship. Merlin was named to the All-Tournament teams at both the regional and national tournaments and scored a game high 27 points in the Regional.

Being back at capacity has enabled us to begin plans for renovating our kitchen, dining room, Chapter room, and hopefully enabling us to finally be rid of our ten year plague of orange doors.

In closing, Indiana Gamma would like to congratulate Bruce Cook, '77, on becoming a father. We would also like to invite any of our alumni or Brothers from other Chapters to stop by and see us anytime.

Dawg Days!

Amid the specters of rising costs and lower enrollment at the University of Washington. the men of Washington Alpha came through the summer with their heads up high after a successful summer of rush. With a full house for the fall, we are proud to introduce our pledge class for fall 1982: Eric Peterson, Seattle; Gary Johnson, Kodiak, AK; Anthony Kirby, Tacoma; John Robbins, Bellevue; Doug Tillotson, Kent; Bruce Stirling, Seattle; Mark Pearson, Kent; James Porter, Los Angeles; Christopher McCaslin, Kent; Scott Santoro, Seattle; Steven Williams and Richard Clasen, Kent; Kevin McCourt, Everett; David Ayres, Renton; Scott Daly, Seattle; Robert Corfman, Kent; Mark Lawrenson, Bellevue; Stephen Padar, Reno; and Brad Webber, Kennewick. These young men are under the guidance of Pledge Advisor Greg Olson and Pledge Trainer Ed Taylor.

The 31 new pledges of Indiana Gamma pose in front of a portrait of their patron and staunchest supporter at Wabash College, Edward H. Knight, Wabash '93.

The Fall Pledges at Washington Alpha.

Special thanks to our rush chairmen, Brothers, and Alumni who were responsible for this year's pledge class. Brothers Jeff Likes and Mark Stevens received the Rush Inspiration awards for the summer. Brother Craig Wittenberg received the Sammy George Bitar award for most inspirational active during school year 1981-1982.

Washington Alpha would like to extend a warm welcome to Brother Brad Benson, from Iowa Beta, who is continuing his studies at the University of Washington. During Greek Week, Washington Alpha placed among the top fraternities on campus. Twenty-eight fraternities participated in the events.

New officers for fall 1982 are Joe Pruss, GP; Matt Ohlinger, VGP; Sam Loss, P; Jim McDonough, AG; Mark Hall, BG; Hyung Song, SG; Alex Veress, Hod; Jacques Nguyen, Phu; and Jon Puro, Hi.

With Husky football being what it is, the Washington Alphans are there to cheer our team to victory in the infamous Green Section of Husky Stadium. On a lower level of gridiron competition, we are ready to release our 1982 version of Gator intramural football upon the campus.

Initiation was held for two spring pledges this fall. Mark Coker, Olympia, and Darren Gaylor Vancouver, were revealed the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi. Since 1914, our initiated members total 1,238.

A special "Hi, Hi, Hi" goes out to the revived California Zeta Colony; if you guys get tired of the sun, come up to Seattle for awhile.

Homecoming was on October 23 this year. We invite all Phi Psi's in the area to stop by our Chapter House to relive old memories and maybe enjoy the smell of roses.

Supremacy

We here at Pennsylvania Alpha have been concentrating our efforts toward strengthening our alumni-undergraduate relations.

Great strides have been taken in this direction since the election of officers last spring. The current officers are Brad Warden, GP; Jeff Mills, VGP; Thomas Krahe, P; Barry Cuneo, BG; Pat Shields, AG; Mike Sisk, Hi; Tom Noble, Social Chairman; Jeff Doyle Parliamentarian; Tad White, Athletic Director; Tim Bracken, House Manager; and Gary "Ben" Bilotta. Hod.

On April 17, approximately seventy-five alumni returned to celebrate Carnival Weekend. The cocktail hour and dinner that followed were enjoyed by all. Furman Nuss, '14, of Washington, Pa., was the oldest returning alumnus. Another reunion at Homecoming will have been held by this copy.

As usual, this fall finds Phi Psis involved in all aspects of campus life. Brothers are active participants on Student-Faculty Committees, the yearbook staff, the Judicial Board, Student Government, the Interfraternity Council and many clubs. Of course, this year is no different regarding our athletic endeavors. All but one of last spring's Lacrosse team's starters were Phi Psis: John Barry, Clay Hardon, Paul Schofield, Jeff Doyle, John Kelly, John Glusica and Rich Finoli turned in fine seasons. The football squad currently boasts fifteen Brothers: John Kelly, Chris King, John Glusica, Lou Dayich, Jeff Doyle, Pat Shields, Kevin Rozsa, Brian Chorba, Mark Hofauer, Rich Sweeney, Mark Veil, Jeff Falo and Lou Falbo are all on the President roster.

This year's social activities are well underway with John Kelly handling the Rush Chairman's duties.

Gary Wilson completed his studies this summer and graduated with a biology/economics degree.

Brad Warden and Tom Noble would like to thank alumni representative Earl Friend for his invaluable assistance at the GAC. They reported their visit to Atlanta as "a rewarding, worthwhile experience."

Leadership

With the advent of fall, the Virginia Beta Chapter got off to a good start so far with ten pledges: James Auch, Wynnewood, PA; Peter Ierardi, Philadelphia, PA; Bruin Richardson, Port Huron, MI; Al Vespoli, Dix Hills, NY; Steve Losquadro, Wading River, NY: Dan Dupré, Manlius, NY; Bill Bloom, Indian Head, MD; Chris Komosa, Huntington, NY; Jamie Berger, Hershey, PA; and Walter Devine, Leesburg. The pledges will be under the new administration of Eric Storey. GP; Ray Ceresa, VGP; Ken Robinson and Trey Mamo, P; Sean McNulty, AG; and Paul Chapman, BG. Our Rush Chairmen, Tom Gentner and Sean McNulty, Catonsville, MD, have both done an excellent job of conducting rush.

The chapter is doing well in intramurals this year. We hope to defend our title of intramural champions from last year. As always, we are well represented on eleven varsity athletic teams. Special mention should be extended to Rand McClain, Coconut Grove, FL; All-American swimmer and water polo player, who serves as captain on the water polo team, and Charles Harris, Catonsville, MD, baseball team captain. Other leadership positions are held by Jay Hoyt, Scranton, PA; University Council; Eric Storey, West Chester, PA, Commander, Army ROTC Ranger Company; Trey Mamo, Rocky Mount, NC, Vice-President, Fellowship of Christian Athletes; Bruin Richardson, Port Huron, MI, Vice-President. Concert Guild; and Bill Thompson, Captain, Debate Team.

Homecoming weekend, October 2 and 3, saw the return of several recent alumni. On October 29, 1982, we will hold our annual Halloween party for the underpriviledged children in our area.

Under the guidance of alumnus Charles Gilmore, '39, Virginia Beta is establishing a "furniture fund" to enhance the interior of the Chapter house. In addition, the House Corporation is undertaking a project to land-scape the grounds. We are also trying to expand our Chapter library. Any donations of books or reference materials would be greatly appreciated and acknowledged in writing.

In closing, the Brothers of Virginia Beta would like to extend a welcome to any undergraduates or alumni that find themselves in the Lexington area.

Morale Knows No Limit

Walt Olgy again this year leads the cheers at football games as our mascot, Wally Wabash. David Hornback is Commadore of the Sailing Club, and Tim Thobe and Jeff Dziacko were elected to the posts of vice-president and treasurer, respectively, of the Newman Center Student Board. Bob Dion is managing editor of the school paper, The Bachelor, and considering the number of Phi Psi contributors, is has been known to have been referred to as "The Phi Psi Gazette."

look forward to an enjoyable and prosperous year atop the hill. Hard work over the summer and prior to classes has left the James Cochran House in excellent condition. In the wake of recapturing the intramural Blue Cup this past spring, morale is escalating with no indications of letting up.

The effective leadership of Steve Gissy, GP, has brought continuing improvement to the Fraternity. Working together with Brother Gissy are officers Mike Sullivan, VGP; Jim Hamer, P; Matt Mazanek, AG; Tom Giovanelli, BG; Greg Valent, Hod; Steve Hamer, SG; Jim Summers, SG; Tim McGinnis, Phu; and Tom Lienau, Hi.

On September 25, we added four fine men to our Brotherhood. The new initiates are David Kemp Warne, Washington, PA; Todd Sanders Barlow, Morgantown; Christopher Henry Cates, Houston, TX; and Thomas Brian McLister, Rockville, MD. We are proud of these new Brothers and confident they will bring continued honor and success to our Chapter.

Under the guidance of rush co-chairmen Phil Compton and Steve Talbott, we pledged a strong class of thirty-one young men. These pledges include Lysander Dudley Jr., Jeff Summers, Chuck Harris, and Charles Raese, Morgantown; Randy Riley, Will Barnes, and John Critchfield, Charleston; Geoff Thomas, Scot Refsland, and John Jamison Jr., Lewisburg; Jim McNeil, Greg Gillette, Paul Capito, and Mike Armstrong, Weirton; Rick Owens, Bridgeport; John Pyne, Union; Bruce Mason, Fairmont; Chuck Jambe, Huntingdon; Mark Friend, Masontown; Paul Allen, Oak HIll; Barry Williams, Salem; and Will Rodgers, Parkersburg. Also included are Dave Palmer, T. J. Rhattigan, and Mike Gatchell, Pittsburgh, PA; Glenn Botsford, Stuart, FL; Gregg Bushyeager, Bethel Park, PA; Bryan Emery, Washington, PA; John Coyner, Oxford, MD; Ned Cochran, Tom's River, NJ; and Brian Mahoney, Summit, NJ.

Various social events filled the fall semester calendar. TGIFs on our balcony added extra flair to Friday afternoon parties. With the continuing success of Mountaineer football, tailgate parties met with even greater response. Chapel services in our Memorial Chapel illustrated another side of the social calendar. We paired with Alpha Xi Delta to participate in the many activities of Homecoming '82. Also, the second "Goebel's Classic" golf outing proved to be an outrageous time for the brothers and headaches for the golf course owner!

However, West Virginia Alpha was also a leader in civic and academic affairs. The Phi Psi "Run for Leukemia" is quickly becoming an established road race and a successful fundraiser. During the spring, a field of over 200 runners competed on the challenging two and five mile courses.

West Virginia Alpha continued its high academic quality, once again a leader in overall fraternity GPAs. Rick Dicarlo became a member of Phi Beta Kappa, John Meisner continued his term on the Board of Directors, and Phil Compton served as president of the Accounting Honorary and as the Budget Director of the Student Foundation. In varsity athletics, Joey Chambers was a top-seeded member of the tennis team.

Brothers Mike Sullivan, Jim Hamer, and John Meisner attended the August GAC along with several alumni. They all enjoyed the convention and returned with many helpful suggestions and ideas.

While September bore several happy occasions, the Chapter experienced a deep loss upon the death of Dr. Louis Corson, '34. Brother Corson, past National and Chapter presidents, attended his twenty-second GAC in August, even while braving the suffering of cancer. His contributions to both the National Fraternity and our Chapter cannot even begin to be counted. He showed us how to give in living, and he showed us how to die with dignity.

West Virginia Alpha extends our best wishes to the Colonies, Chapters, and Alumni Associations of Phi Kappa Psi. And remember, you're always welcome in Morgantown!

Continued Improvement

Once again Ohio Beta has started the year off well. We are striving for unmatched excellence on the academic, athletic, and social fronts. We look forward to another active year at Wittenberg.

Several house improvements have already been made this year. We have purchased new furniture for the dining room and new carpeting for the billiard room. We have many more improvements scheduled for the upcoming year, and have hired a maid to help us properly maintain the Chapter house.

Our annual homecoming festivities took place on October 9th. We would like to thank all the alumni and parents who visited the house. We would also like to extend an invitation to all of our alumni to visit the house anytime.

California, Santa Barbara Looking Forward To Chartering

We have been very busy here in Santa Barbara finding a house, fixing it up and getting ready for our chartering date of November 13, 1982. We have done quite a bit of maintenance work on our house, including painting the hand rails and doors, acid washing the cement area, and trimming the hedges. We have also been working on other improvements to make our house stand out as the best on campus.

The biggest job we've accomplished was clearing the lot across the street and putting in a volleyball court. The construction took a full day's use of a tractor to remove the shrubs, level the area, and dig out the court. We then filled the pit with over one hundred yards of sand and planted grass in the surrounding area.

Other special improvements we have completed were to build both a bar and a fence. In one of the old storage rooms, we carpeted the floor, paneled the walls, bought a three keg cooler, and built a six foot bar. This room is not for regular parties, but for small gatherings and special occasions. The fence was built around the front of our house and has a gate which can be used to keep our exchanges closed.

Along with the work done on the house, we also managed to find time to initiate eleven fine men into the Colony. This group consists of: Brian Finerman, Encino; Frank Garcia, Valencia; David Marks, Woodland Hills; Don McGlamery, Lafayette; Jerry Minahan, Simi Valley; Tony Remac, San Rafael; Randy Scoville, Long Beach; Ken Tatum, Walnut Creek; Mark Vilicich, Rancho Palos Verdes; Rick Walker, La Jolla and Adrian Yi, El Monte. All have shown themselves worthy during their pledge period, and we are glad to have them as Colony Brothers.

We would also like to introduce our fall pledge class of twelve men: John Bell, Salinas; Chip Harper, Simi Valley; Chuck Hendrich, San Diego; Steven Hooper, Palos Verdes; David Levin, Daily City; Gary Mednick, Canoga Park; Bud Parer, Kentfield; Mike Reynolds, San Jose; Paul Ringlestein, Concord; Mitch Roman, Encino; Tom Traficanti, Los Altos and Darren Weingard, Malibu. This group was the result of our first dry rush, which was fairly successful.

Our new officers, which have been doing their respective jobs since spring quarter, are Sean Tabor, GP; John Rouse, VGP; Bob Wenger, P; Jack Forshaw, BG; Dale Ferrario, AG; Scott Mackinlay, Hod; Chris Perkins, Phu; Ed Toy, Hi and Dwight Rim, SG. These Brothers have continued where the last officers left off in working to expand and strengthen the Colony.

We also have a very busy social schedule planned for the ensuing year. We have the usual exchanged planned, with some inspiring new themes in the making. Our first TG, a pajama party, was October 1 with the Kappa Delta's. We all dressed appropriately and danced into the hours of early morning. Our second TG is with the Alpha Delta Pi's and the theme will be "Around The World Cruise." The girls will be given passports, while we act as their tour guides. We will bring them to each room in the house, which will be decorated according to, and serving a drink of a different country. The most exciting events are still in the early stages, but our spring formal might be substituted with a spring weekend in San Diego or San Francisco. We are planning on taking the train and spending the whole weekend together, visiting the zoo, the mission and Tiajuana in San Diego. Or in the other direction, Chinatown and the wine country of Napa Valley in San Francisco. Either way it will be a weekend we'll never forget.

We have already started working on our first "Phi Psi 500." We have two possible sponsors and all the alumni support we need. The tentative date for our "500" is late winter quarter and we would like to invite all Chapters to make a road trip and attend. We would like to make this the biggest Greek event on campus and the first one is always the most important. The Phi Psi's are back and we want everyone to know it!

Michigan

Closer to Charter

Michigan Alpha Colony is closing in on its goal of becoming a Chapter. Many steps have been taken to reach this goal. One of the most significant achievements is the purchase of our new house at 902 Baldwin near Washtenaw. This is a block south of the old Phi Psi house. We would like to thank our house corporation for their efforts over the past year, that resulted in the purchase of the house in early August. It is now the home of twenty-two Phi Psi Colony members. Many house improvements have already been made and many more are planned for the near future.

Rush was held Sunday, September 19, thru Thursday, September 23. Our two major rush events were a taco dinner on Sunday and a Casino Night on Wednesday. Our new pledges are enthusiastic and are making important contributions to the Colony.

Elections for Colony officers were held in early September. The officers for this term are: Robert Scott Russell, GP, Ann Arbor; John Frederick Doss, VGP, NY, NY; Alan Martin Koschik, P, Atlanta; Robert Paul Schlueter, AG, Troy; Blaine James Dennis, BG, Grand Blanc; Jeffrey Michael Gibson, Farmington Hills and Albert Joseph Titran, Troy, Co-SG's; Daniel Joseph Isola, Hod, Harper Woods; Dan Charles Plitt, Phu, Garden City; and Stephen Hawley Youtsey, Hi, Coldwater. These men have a lot of work ahead of them, but are ready to meet the challenge along with the other Colony members.

Scholastically, Michigan Alpha ranks high at the University of Michigan. The colony's overall grade point average is an outstanding 3.1. This is based on a 4.0 scale and was the second highest grade point average of all twenty-nine fraternities on campus.

The Colony's activities, both athletic and social, are fun for all. In athletics, Michigan Alpha is fielding a team in every sport. This term's major sports include softball, football, track, and wrestling. Michigan Alpha's social events included an alumni homecoming brunch and a party with the Brothers of Michigan Beta during the Michigan-Michigan State football weekend.

Last summer seven delegates from the Colony attended the GAC in Atlanta, Georgia. We were supplied with a fantastic time and useful information that will help us in the future.

The Colony is also proud to have Mark Oates as our Tutor-in-Residence. Though a busy law student, Mark has shown us what we are doing right and wrong. He has been a valuable asset to the Colony and has earned our most sincere gratitude.

Michigan Alpha is establishing a strong foothold on campus and each week moves one step closer to chartering.

Atlanta

The Atlanta Alumni Association was proud to be a part of the "Welcome South Brothers!" Grand Arch Council held in Atlanta in August. The opening party was a smashing success and set the tone for a most successful GAC. We thank all those Phi Psi Brothers, pledges and guests who journeyed to Atlanta.

Thanks to financial support from Phi Psis living in Georgia, Georgia Alpha alumni, and the Executive Council of the Fraternity, the George Alpha Chapter at the University of Georgia is now living in its permanent Chapter home purchased by the House Corporation. An outstanding Fall pledge class has been formed and we expect the Chapter to continue its upward progress.

Our annual Summer Party at John and Liz Bair's home was a rousing success. Ever see seven undergrads go down a slide into a pool before? Alumni and undergraduates and their ladies had a great afternoon in the Georgia sun!

Plans are being made for additional social events and a Georgia Phi Psi Directory is in the works.

Chicago

Representing you at the GAC in Atlanta were Kent Yowell, Greg Knapp and Frank Whiting Jr. Atlanta is a bustling town and and the GAC was busy although no important changes occurred. Your representatives presented the Chicago Alumni Association banner and charged the GAC to preserve and display it ad infinitum. A proposed amendment to admit House Corporations to membership in the GAC was defeated. A second constitutional amendment to raise the pledge fee and the initiation fee in 1983 was passed. Interestingly enough, the re-chartering of Michigan Alpha was underlying this increase.

Following close upon the heels of the GAC was the 21st Annual Closed Invitational Golf Outing. It was held at Carriage Greens Country Club, selected by defending champion Bill Stocking, Illinois. There was unanimous agreement at the dinner following to play there again next year. Tom McCausland, Beloit, this year's winner will pick the date. He shot a 75. Second low gross, Herb Jones, Illinois, with an 80 and third low gross, Roger Sharpe, Northwestern, with an 83.

Low net was won by Frank Whiting, Illinois, second low net, Bob Reed, Purdue, and third low net by Art Carlson, Purdue. Closest to the pin, Bill Stocking, Illinois, and the longest drive in the fairway, Pat Kirby, Minnesota. Next year's outing will be directed by a committee headed by Bob Reed. Your input to him will be welcome.

How does one reach Bob Reed? That is why you have recently received a card requesting information for a new Alumni Association directory. Our last directory was in 1971. If you have not received your letter with the return card on it, call your secretary (Frank Whiting) at 726-1300.

This leads us to Founder's Day. This celebration takes place in February, close to the 19th. Probably it will be scheduled for Friday, the 18th and hopefully we can prevail upon Vice President Bob Halliday to sponsor us at the Union League Club. Wherever it is, let's try to pack the place with over 200 Brothers. Our Fraternity is doing well and commemorating its founding is a worthy cause. Make it a date and call your buddy.

Detroit

The past summer was a busy one for members of the Detroit Alumni Association. The Annual Summer Golf Outing held on July 24 at Lincoln Hills G.C. was a smashing (literally) success. As usual the post-tournament gathering at Bro. Pat Eby's allowed ample opportunity for in-depth analysis of hooks, slices, and missed putts. Speaking of golf, Phi Psi Alumni now will have two opportunities each Summer to get out and knock that little white ball around. The spontaneous yet successful First Annual Alonzo P. Jenkins Memorial Golf Classic was held near Grand Rapids this last Summer. Look for more info. on this event next year.

During various get-togethers over the last several months several Alumni have mentioned the possibility of organizing a Phi Psi Alumni Reunion to be held in the Detroit area. If interested, contact any Association Officer.

Looking ahead, the Detroit Alumni Association will be hosting an Annual Christmas Cocktail Party; and plans are already underway for the 1983 Founders' Day Banquet. Details will be provided in future mailings. By the way, we are currently updating the mailing list. Any current information can be forwarded to the Corresponding Secretary at 14340 Artesian, Detroit, MI, 48223.

Don't forget the monthly luncheons. Call John Rexford at (313) 649-1700 for information and reservations.

Phi Psi's from every age group (new graduates to retired) and chapters (N.Y. to Nebraska) across the nation have formed the newest alumni association in the Carolinas.

Founder's Day served as the first formal activity at Myers Park Country Club. After cocktails and dinner, elections of officers were held and the Association was on its way for 1982.

Latta Park provided the site for a July family cookout which included volleyball, good food, good conversation and new Phi Psi friendships.

Plans are underway for a Christmas dinner-dance on Dec. 8, at Myers Park Country Club. Our own talented alumni will be providing a German Um-Pa Band! We expect a turnout of about 60 people; therefore, it will be necessary to make your reservations early!

Undergraduates as well as alumni are encouraged to attend. Contact Steve Reese at 536-4090 (work) or 536-4062 (home) for reservations and information.

Also, join us the first Tuesday of each month at Barley & Rye. This provides the site for attitude adjustment from 5:30 -7:30 . . . You'll enjoy the Phi Psi friendships.

In case you missed "Billy Day" you missed a fun day at the Oakland Coliseum. We thought that it would be a good idea to honor our illustrious founder, William Henry Letterman, with a trip to an Oakland A's baseball game. About twenty-five Phi Psis and Phi Psi Ladies enjoyed a pre-game tailgate bar-b-que followed by a game between the Harvey Wall Bangers of Milwaukee and the "Billy Ball" A's. Although the A's lost the game after a barrage of long balls, the Phi Psis definitely enjoyed a few highballs. Now if the football strike will ever end, perhaps we will have a Billy Day in San Francisco—keep posted.

If you receive the Shield before November 19th, please join us for the Big Game Lunch. This annual Phi Psi event is held on the Friday before the Cal-Stanford football game. Last year over 100 Phi Psis attended the University Club (corner of Powell & California in San Francisco) and we will return to the same location this year. You do not have to be an alumnus of Cal or Stanford to attend, so if you are from another Chapter, please join us. You will have a chance to meet the undergraduates from Cal and Stanford Chapters. You may even met your long-lost pledge brother. We usually adjourn to Harringtons (245 Front) after the lunch to discuss the potential outcome of the game over a few beers. If you cannot join us for lunch, just drop by Harringtons later to prepare yourself for the Big Game.

We will be making plans for Founders Day in the near future. I think we will probably return to Spengers for dinner. We will provide you with the details in the next Shield. If you would like to become active in one of the local house corporations for either the Cal or Stanford chapters, please contact me (415-798-2970). If you have not visited either the Cal or Stanford Chapters, I am sure they would enjoy seeing you.

Omaha

The signs of autumn are in the air early this year and with it often comes renewed Fraternal vigor. We have had good reports of a fine large pledge class at Nebraska U. and a select small fall (off season for them) class at Creighton U.

Fraternal aid was extended to the Phi Psi mayor of Emerson, Iowa. Jack Evans needed help to revive his town that had been seriously flooded. John Crane went to Emerson to help and also organized a Flood Relief drive among the Phi Psi alumni and a sizeable check was sent.

The Omaha Alumni contingent had prominent places at the Atlanta GAC. Rev. John Schlegal, S.J. (Chaplain) formally opened the sessions with a splendid invocation. Paul LaPuzza was very noticeable as the Attorney General of the Fraternity. Ted Urban played a role at the Awards Luncheon because of his position as Scholarship Director, and most importantly, Gene Conley of Neb. U. was elected a Trustee of the Endowment Fund, a position of great importance to Phi Psi financially. There was a great deal of harmony and a feeling of great progress at this GAC.

Dallas Focht, III, our president, has not decided upon our fall activity yet. Our Spring Golf Outing was extremely pleasant and all present voted to return to the Field Club if at all possible next year—even though a barrel of beer is very dear there!

We have been having excellent turn out at John Savages "Trovatos" restaurant on the third Tuesday of each month. There is a nice mixture of undergrads and alumni discussing anything and everything. All in the area are invited and welcomed at these noon functions.

We are all sorry that John Schlegal has moved from Creighton to Rockhurst in Kansas City. Congratulations to Tom Hoarty, Creighton, for becoming a daddy AGAIN and for becoming Dundee Kiwanis president, relieving Phi Psi dentist, John Seminara. We thank Ted Foster, Iowa, for his fine contribution for the roof repair at Creighton and we're happy his heart problems seem minor. Bob Reynolds has recovered nicely from his heart attack, too. Let's all stay healthy now.

Plan on joining us in February at the Venice Inn for Founders Day for an evening of fun.

Rocky Mountain

As Fall comes to our beautiful Rocky Mountain Front Range, our Association is gearing up for new and different activities. Luncheons don't seem to be practical in a sprawling area like ours; so starting in October we are trying "Phi Psi Fridays" as a means of gathering at least a portion of the more than 300 Brothers in the Denver Metro area. "Phi Psi Friday-Southeast" is the 2nd Friday afternoon of the month at Howard Johnson's Restaurant, I-25 and E. Hampden. Going on a "drop-in" no reservations basis, from 5 to 7 p.m., we are hopeful Brothers can stop for some fellowship on the way home from the office. More contact, phone or postcard, is planned later.

"Phi Psi Friday—West" is scheduled for 4th Fridays at Jefferson 440, 440 Wadsworth, Lakewood—on the same 5 to 7 p.m. "drop-in" basis as the 2nd Friday event Southeast.

Hopefully these monthly meetings will help build interest for Founders Day upcoming and the largest turnout ever for the Rocky Mountain AA (we did not have a banquet this year, regrettably). For information on Association activities, call W. G. "Biff" Baldry Jr., 934-5568 (offc.) or Jack Morrow, 364-2466 (res.).

We hope to meet some new Brothers at the Colorado Alpha post-Homecoming reception in Boulder, October 23rd.

St. Louis

The St. Louis Alumni Association is pleased to announce the scheduling of a major social event of the season, a December 19th performance of the Broadway musical "Sugar Babies," at the resurgent St. Louis Fox Theater. The presentation features the original Broadway cast, including Ann Miller and Mickey Rooney, and the Alumni Association has obtained a special group ticket rate. Announcements are in the mail to members of the Alumni Association, but if you have not been contacted, please call this correspondent at 314-962-9590 for information/reservations. Hurry; we must make our final commitment to the theater by December 1st, so by the time you receive this issue of THE SHIELD, the deadline will be but a moment away!

A very special Founder's Day celebration was held at Schneithorst Inn on February 19th, featuring a memorable speech by Brother Kent Owen. Congratulations and deep appreciations are extended to Brother Owen for keeping that rowdy group so enthralled for so long. Thanks, Kent

New officers were installed at the banquet. Glen Buttrey inherited the Presidency from Brother Rick Curtis. Other officer's installed: Wayne Naro, Tennessee Zeta, as Vice-President and Steve O'Rourke, Missouri Alpha, Executive Secretary. The Board of Governor's: Jeff Abbott, Rick Curtis, Rand Hale, Jim Naylor, Pat O'Brien, and Eric Ruegg, all Mo Alphans.

The election of Brother Naro as Vice-President is indicative of the increase in membership and participation in this Association of Brothers from outside the Mo Alpha core, Wayne and I, along with all the officers and members welcome any input from all Brothers in the St. Louis area. Please contact us.

This past Founders's Day will be a tough act to follow, but our planning is underway to make the next banquet as memorable as the last.

The Association started the Summer with an oyster roast at the home of Phil and Karen Harkey. The Summer concluded with many of the Association members attending the 1982 GAC.

Flynn Brantley, Rick Funk, Connor Harrison, Smith Harrison, Rick Jones, Tim Heup, and Ed Tate were all in attendance at the GAC. Ed Tate served as a member of the Host Committee. Smith Harrison was the Chairman of the Finance Committee. Rick Funk assisted as Vice Chairman of that Committee.

Congratulations go to those Brothers who received appointed positions in Phi Psi. Rick Jones will be serving as an Area Director. Smith Harrison was advanced to Director of Chapter Finance. Rick Funk will be serving as Assistant Director of Chapter Finance for Districts II and III.

Homecoming '82 was well attended by the Phi Psi Alumni. The Alumni Dinner was held on Friday Night at A. J.'s. The Association and the Chapter enjoyed a pre-game tailgate party surrounded by red and green balloons. After the game, a party was held at the Phi Psi Lounge. A Bloody Mary Brunch was held on Sunday Morning at the home of Association President Connor Harrison.

If you are available on the last Thursday of the month, be sure to attend the Phi Psi Happy Hour. At the August gathering, Mike Capen stopped by for a drink. Mike is on his way to Japan for a two year tour with the Navy. Stu Armstrong was also in town that day. Stu has just moved to Albany, Georgia to open three pizza restaurants.

Be sure to make plans to attend Founders' Day in February. A mailing will be going out in early January with all of the details.

Texas South Plains

Greetings from the plains of West Texas and a vibrant S.P.A.A. The past summer and early fall has been a productive time for the group. Secretary David Norman, CPA, has been hard at work developing alternative financing plans for the construction of a new home for the local undergraduate Chapter. The establishment of two funds, one of which is tax deductible, has allowed the association to become a more viable entity in support of Phi Kappa Psi.

In August Bill Collins, '53, hosted a Centaur reunion that honored Joe Stanley, '53, with over 45 former Centaur/Phi Psis attending. It was a pleasurable time for all as past memories were shared with old classmates.

Homecoming for Texas Tech was held on September 25th and proved to be a proud moment for the local Chapter as they announced to the association the pledging of the largest pledge class ever in the history of Texas Beta. Great things are in the making.

Over the summer this correspondent attended his third GAC and as always, the spirit of Fraternity caressed my ideals and brought home the purpose of maintaining bonds between Brothers after college days are past. Please, those in the West Texas Area, contact any Brothers that are removed from participating in the S.P.A.A. and bring them back to the experience of Fraternity. 'Till next the dust blows a letter your way...

Tucson Alumni Club will be celebrating Homecoming at the University of Arizona with the Arizona Alpha Chapter at the Campus Christian Center, 715 N. Park Ave., on Saturday, November 13, between 3:00 and 7:00 before the USC game. This is the site of the old Phi Psi house. Alumni of all Chapters are invited to attend.

President Jay Spurgeon, Iowa Alpha, and Treasurer Bob Segerstrom, Arizona Alpha, are looking ahead to our Founders Day celebration in February of 1983. Details will be announced later.

Remember our monthly get-togethers, open to all Phi Psis in the Tucson area, at the Arizona Inn on the first Monday of every month at 5:00. Mark your calendars for December 6, January 3 and February 7.

Twin Cities

This is the first newsletter in a long time from the Twin Cities Alumni Association. At the last Founders Day a group of Alumni decided to try and revitalize the institution in our cities. The effort has proved successful and we held two activities this past summer; a picnic in late May, and a golf outing in July. Both had quite good attendance and were enjoyed by all. For the fall a cocktail party at Homecoming, and possibly a poker game for sometime in November are being considered at this time.

The original plan was to attempt to hold about 4 or 5 activities a year, and then plan more or less functions as the group wishes. It appears now that one event every other month or so will be about right. The cost has been set at $10 a year, that going for mailings and incidental costs that arise with our activities

Anyone interested in information about the group, please write to: Jay Story, 2374 Bourne Ave., St. Paul, Minn. 55108, (ph. #612-645-8795). Currently we have 21 paid members, these Brothers are: Jay Story, Bill Derrick, John Kannenberg, Rick Sorenson, Kerry Close, K. C. Poehler, John Parker, Kurt Halva, Pete Bennett, Bill Johnson, Al Poehler, Rick Hosking, John Soderlund, Ted Anderson, John Barber, Gene Rindelaub, Charles Swanson, Nathan Morris, Bruce Ferrario, Butch Alexander, Jim Williams, and Tom Hamre.

We all feel the Association is off to a great start, and hope to attract more local Phi Psis to join our ranks.

Our Flag Flies High in Wichita

"I am very proud and grateful to be an American," says Paul K. Brooker, Kansas '28. To show his pride, he set up floodlights on the flagpole atop his office building in Wichita, Kansas not long ago. "Our flag is beautiful," he adds. "The United States flag, flying by day and at night with the lights shining on it, is the most beautiful thing in the world to me." A sentiment sure to be widely shared throughout the brother-hood of Phi Kappa Psi.

There is a special reason for Brother Brooker to acknowledge his deeply felt patriotism. "Only in America have I seen the opportunity I have enjoyed to build a business based on a useful service," he says. "In traveling over most of the world, I've not seen anything like it in any other country."

Brooker has made the most of his opportunity. As the principal owner and chief executive of Paul Brooker Sales International, Inc., he has shaped the growth of his firm from modest beginnings in 1961 to its present standing as probably the fifth largest independent "small business" in the United States, and about the same in Canada.

His business is unique in its size, scope and character. Starting on a small, largely local scale, it has grown to offer consultant and special sales services to retail merchants throughout the United States and Canada. Over the years since its founding, Paul Brooker and his people have produced sales for retail clients that are nearing a total of one billion dollars. His goal of $150 million in sales in 1982, an increase of better than 25 percent over 1982, seems sure to be handily achieved.

Except for American and Canadian retailers who each month receive some 300,000 letters from Brooker offering his services, not many people know much about Paul Brooker Sales. "We keep a low profile on purpose," Paul explains. "It seems better that way for our clients and customers."

There was one notable exception to this policy. In April, 1982, Paul agreed to be interviewed on national television by Roger O'Neil, appearing on NBC's 5:30 pm newscast. That was the first and only time that Paul Brooker Sales ever made itself known to the general public.

Brooker specializes in setting up and conducting limited timespan promotions that swiftly turn merchandise into cash. This may call for cleaning out the entire store to the bare walls, as in the case of a client retiring from business, or simply selling his selected excess or slow-moving merchandise. In any case, the result is the same—quick cash for the merchant's stock on hand, at prices usually well above his cost.

Exactly how Paul Brooker Sales gets these happy results is something Paul understandably prefers not to divulge in detail. "If we have any secrets, it's in the ways we get the merchant's customers and community involved in the success of his sale," Paul reveals. "In two decades, we've worked out some very effective ways to keep customers coming in right up to the minute the last item is sold."

Each Brooker promotion is planned specifically for the client's own needs and wishes. But the principles Paul applies have proved successful in moving every conceivable line of goods, from big-ticket furniture, appliances and jewelry to apparel, software, hardware, lumber and specialties. Many hundreds of voluntary testimonials from clients in all lines of business speak for his success.

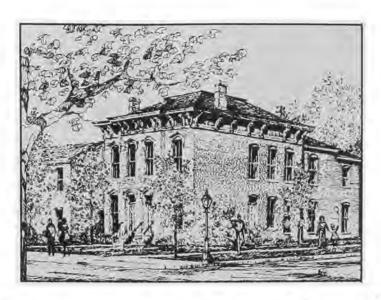

"I'm proud of the business we've built up," says Brooker. "I feel that we are performing needed and useful services to the retailers of America by turning their merchandise into cash, and also to their customers, who benefit from reduced prices on the goods they need."

His affiliation with Phi psi was very important, Paul says, in getting him off to a head start. "I was just another green country boy from the small town of Marion, Kansas when I enrolled at KU and pledged Kansas Alpha," Paul acknowledges. "The Brothers urged and helped me to work hard and make the Dean's Honor Roll in my sophomore year. As a Phi Psi, I got to meet and work with many campus leaders. And I met my wife, Mid (an Alpha Chi Omega) at school through my Fraternity connections. Later on, I was able to qualify for training and duty as a U.S. Navy officer in World War II through the record Phi Psi helped me make at KU. All of this background has been indispensable to me in my business career. So I feel that I owe our Brotherhood more than I can ever fully repay."

Brooker nevertheless has done much to square his obligation. Active in Fraternity and university affairs, he was the first president of the South Central Kansas Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Psi and continues to support the Kansas Alpha Chapter as well as the national Brotherhood. He is also an active KU alumnus and a member of the school's Chancellors Club. His oldest grandson, Thomas P. Wingate, is in Kansas Alpha and attended his first Grand Arch Council this summer. Three more grandsons expect to follow the same well-marked path.

Although he's six years past the traditional retirement age of 65, Paul Brooker retains the enthusiasm, energy and zest for life of a 30-year-old. Archetype of the Phi Psi "man of the go," there is one word that sums up his most outstanding trait: loyalty. Loyalty to his alma mater and his Fraternity; to his business associates and clients; to his family; and to the nation he has served. The United States flag that proudly flies over his place of business is a fitting token of his dedication.

Letters to Lockerbie

Opinions expressed on the name of this column continue to support "Letters to Lockerbie," in recognition of Phi Psi's Headquarters address, 510 Lockerbie Street. So a new column is born, and one we hope will continue to be a means for readers of THE SHIELD to express themselves through our journal.

Our first letter comes to us from a good interfraternity friend, Fred F. Yoder, editor for the magazine of Sigma Chi.

Dear Gary:

I enjoyed the comic strip cartoon, "Fraternity Row" which appeared in the July '82 issue of THE SHIELD.

I am writing to ask your permission to reprint in The Magazine of Sigma Chi...we are planning an emphasis in our undergraduate Chapter reports this time on the alumni role and alumni relations and that cartoon will help to illustrate it.

We of course granted permission and were pleased to do so. The artist for that and other "Fraternity Row" cartoons in recent issues, including this one, is past Chapter Consultant and Director of Chapter Services John F. Hummel, Jr., Penn State '74, who resides currently in San Francisco. John's artistic contribution to THE SHIELD are appreciated! We might also mention that John designed the '82 GAC logo, too.

Dr. Joseph B. Davis, Indiana '36, having received his July '82 SHIELD, wrote the following:

Dear Gary:

Your colorful, well-put-together publication is on my desk today and I would extend congratulations.

I notice some suggestions that the letters to the Editor column be re-named with an attention-getter.

Actually your present name says it and isn't bad. I really can't get enthused about trick words . . . but you might want to create some emphasis over a period of time using "Heard at Heritage Hall" or "Heritage Hall Hears" . . .

On a more serious note, I see that you did pick up the passing of my mother's brother, Bradford DeMarcus, in the Chapter Eternal. It is my intention to write a bit of a piece about him since he was an integral part of an interesting period in the Bloomington-Indiana University Heritage. A precise contemporary and childhood as well as lifelong friend of Hoagy Carmichael, some of the little known facts and perhaps better known legends of the day deserve to be preserved as we heard them.

There were a number of talented and successful people in the [Indiana Beta] Chapter immediately after the War, not the least of whom was Ed Von Tress and his remarkable group of pledge brothers.

When I get it pulled together, I will send you a copy.

We have encouraged Brother Davis to pursue this story, as we are always searching for interesting SHIELD material. It was exactly this "would you be interested" question raised by Norman M. Spain, Ohio State '33, several months ago that resulted in the fascinating story in this issue on James Thurber, Ohio State 18, and Elliott Nugent, Ohio State '16. We encourage articles of this type, and ask those interested to contact the Fraternity Headquarters.

A young alumnus from the Chicago area, Jay R. Pinney, Illinois '78, wrote the following:

I am very pleased to see the article on alcohol and pot in THE SHIELD as of late. I have seen a great deal of destruction done by both these substances and I want to encourage you to continue to present a clear picture of the consequences of their use (abuse).

I am distressed to no end as I consider the [Fraternity] Creed we are to live by, and compare the Creed to the lives and lifestyles we lead as Phi Psis on campus and off. Please consider doing an article on our need to reexamine the Creed, and our lives, and make whatever changes are necessary in order to bring about consistency.

Please continue to comment on these social issues of today. In doing to you would reinstill my interest in THE SHIELD and of course all of us to do some much needed self examination.

I will be attending Trinity Evangelical Divinity School in Deerfield, Illinois and hope to make contact with the Chicago Alumni Association to get involved and meet some Brothers from my Chapter—Illinois Delta.

We end this column of "Letters to Lockerbie" by sharing with you an announcement from the Fraternity's ever-active Southern California Alumni Association . . . the trip sounds provocative!

Comments regarding THE SHIELD in particular or Phi Psi in general may be forwarded to:

VISIT BEAUTIFUL TAHITI . . . with the Southern California Alumni Association

Fresh from receiving the award as Phi Psi's most "Outstanding Alumni Association" for 1982, the Brothers in Southern California are out to keep that prize this year. The Association has planned a trip to Tahiti for March of '83, and are inviting Phi Psis and their families from across the country to join in the dream vacation . . . but you had better hurry, this trip is destined to fill up fast. Association president John M. Nootbaar, Southern California '59, announced the trip as follows:

"Coco palms, lovely vahines, jagged peaks above verdant lushness, surrounded by the prettiest azure-blue lagoons in the world. The Tahitian Islands excursion from March 24th to April 2nd features stops at Huahine, Bora Bora, and Moorea, with your comfort in mind. Relax, swim, picnic, play tennis, shop, party, and have fun with us. Phi Psis save money by joining with the group and enjoying the time with other Phi Psis. No small children, but entire families or teenaged grandchildren will love snorkling and other activities. Inquire immediately; limited space:

Endowment Fund News:

Charles "Buddy" Rogers, Kansas '23, has given the Endowment Fund $25,000 to establish a scholarship in memory of his late wife, Mary Pickford. The annual award will be made to an undergraduate member of the Fraternity whose major field of study is the performing arts (music, theater, dance, film, et al.) or the arts and humanities in general, including journalism and telecommunications. The award may also be given as a fellowship to a graduate student in those fields of study. It is expected that the Mary Pickford Scholarship will be worth at least $2,000

Applicants for the initial competition will be accepted in March of 1983, and the Endowment Fund's scholarship awards committee will then make a recommendation to the trustees in late spring.

Ben King, Brooklyn Poly '06, has enlarged the scholarship that was established last year in his name for an engineering student who is working his way through college. Brother King's additional gift means that this annual award will now be at least $1,500. The first recipient of the Ben King Scholarship was William Bornstein, Syracuse '80, of Solvay, New York. Applications will be accepted in March 1983 for the 83-84 academic year.

The trustees have established the Louis D. Corson Fellowship in memory of the late president of the Fraternity who served for many years on the Scholarship Awards Committee of the Endowment Fund. The Corson Fellowship will be given to an advanced undergraduate or graduate student in history who is to undertake research in the Fraternity's archives for the purpose of subsequent publication, the display of artifacts and memorabilia, or the indexing and cataloguing of the Fraternity's historical materials.

The recipient of the annual award will be given a stipend of $1,500 and will be expected to spend 8 to 10 weeks during the summer months at the Fraternity's headquarters in Indianapolis, where housing and working space will be made available.

The applicants for the 1983 Corson Fellowship will be accepted until March 1983.

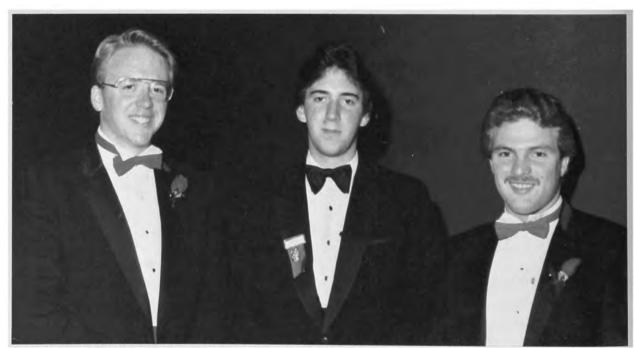

To sustain and advance Phi Kappa Psi, you may wish to consider making a bequest in your will to the Endowment Fund. Your generosity will serve the generations to come, and you will be making a sound investment in the future of Phi Kappa Psi.

Phi Psi's-"Total Greek"

During the weekend Feb. 19-21, over 25 Phi Psi's participated in the 1982 Greek Conference in Chicago. Historically the Greek system has been committed to developing lasting relationships by meeting the needs of the total person—socially, intellectually and spiritually. The conference, with over 400 midwestern Greeks, concentrated on developing the 'Total Greek', by teaching and fellowship to encourage the participants in their spiritual lives. The conference met these objectives through speaker Tim Downs, nationally syndicated comic strip creator, and music by "Santa Fe", the touring contemporary rock group. Overall it was an inspiring weekend meeting involving 5 chapters and sharing quality time together. "Behold, how good and pleasant it is, for Brothers to dwell together in Unity" Psalm 133:1. The spectacular campus of UCSB, home to California Zeta.

California Zeta Returns to Santa Barbara

by Dale E. Ferrario, Santa Barbara '82

During the early 1970's there existed a general anti-establishment atmosphere on most college campuses, and the University of California, Santa Barbara was no exception. This attitude greatly affected the Greek system and Phi Kappa Psi was one of the hardest hit, losing their Chapter charter in 1972 due to lack of support and dwindling numbers after 8 years of existence, having initiated 180 men. In the ensuing decade there has been a strong resurgence in support of the Greek system, hence to meet the increased need, Phi Kappa Psi was invited back on campus. The recolonization began on October 30, 1981 and climaxed with installation into the Fraternity as the 82nd active Chapter on November 13, 1982.

Chartering weekend officially began with an informal gathering at the Cal Zeta house on Friday November 12. This gave Colony members a chance to meet with the installation team and visiting Brothers. Here was shown the firm sign of National Brotherhood, and allowed a relaxing day after completion of the National test the night before.

The following morning, the installation ceremony took place, the first part in Girvets Hall on campus, and the second at St. Marks Church in Isla Vista. The ceremony was conducted by: President John K. Boyd III, Vice President George W. Humphries, Director of Membership John V. Ciccarelli, Colony Advisor Robert C. Fatch, Executive Director Emeritus Ralph D. Daniel, Past President John R. Donnell Jr., Executive Director Gary B. Angstadt, Director of House Corporations John J. Ziegelmeyer Jr., Educational Leadership Consultant Timothy P. McCourt, Past Attorney General Wayne W. Wilson, Past Chapter Consultants Michael S. Wittern and R. Bruce Kirk, and other alumni and members of Chapters in our District. "These Brothers opened our eyes to the traditions and ideals of the Fraternity, giving us a far stronger bond than previously experienced," was heard that afternoon.

The new initiates proceeded back onto campus for a model Chapter meeting, where the Ritual of a formal meeting was shown and explained. It was also a time for the newly initiated Brothers to ask any questions they had regarding the Fraternity, its operation, and any other subject pertaining to the National organization.

In celebration of the day's events, the Brothers, their parents and guests, and officers of the National Fraternity held a banquet at the Sheraton Hotel in Santa Barbara. This was followed with a presentation by Chapters and Alumni Associations throughout the Country of gifts such as the Chapter seal, the Ritual, and Charter. Motivational and congratulatory speeches were given by those already mentioned, filling Phi Psi's newest Brothers with a strong sense of pride and camaraderie, as a result of the great year shared as a Colony and the satisfaction of being received into the National Fraternity.

From there the celebration moved to another room where a band was set to play. All were instantly out on the dance floor enjoying themselves, savoring the great experience just completed, especially those wearing their new badges proudly. Since all knew this was the conclusion to a great weekend—one which would never be forgotten—few left until the band played its last song, and even then wanted this day to last forever.

From this point on, the new members' goal is to strengthen Cal Zeta and to help the Fraternity nationally. Many members are now seniors, and their help will be missed, but rush is anticipated with great vigor. "Quality, not quantity" has been the byword, and thus far has worked well. A message from Cal Zeta: "We want everyone to be proud of the 'Baby Chapter', and wish the best to Michigan Alpha, who we hope soon will take over as the new kid in town. Phi Kappa Psi is growing and we are proud to be a part of it."

History of the University of California at Santa Barbara

An impressive array of academic programs, a faculty dedicated to innovative approaches to teaching, significant achievements in research, and a coastal setting of great natural beauty all characterize the Santa Barbara campus.

The University had its origins as the Anna S. C. Blake School, founded in 1891 to offer training in home economics and industrial arts. In 1909, it became known as the Santa Barbara Normal School. The School was renamed Santa Barbara State College when a program in liberal arts was authorized in 1935. The College then became the seventh campus of the University of California in 1944. The present location, on the site of a former marine air station, was acquired in 1950, and in 1954 the University was moved from the Santa Barbara Rivera to its present location overlooking the Pacific.

The University academically consists of the College of Letters and Sciences, the College of Creative Studies, the College of Engineering, and the Graduate School of Education. There are more than forty academic departments offering bachelor degrees in over fifty fields, while, the Graduate departments offer programs leading to master degrees in thirty-seven and doctorates in twenty-seven fields.

Full time attendance has grown to almost 17,000 students of which more than 2600 live in residence halls on the campus. Others reside in the University-operated Married Student Housing units, and in privately owned residence halls and apartments in Isla Vista, bordering the western edge of the campus. This arrangement makes for a bicycle oriented community, which the University supports by allowing only bicycles and walking on campus, restricting cars to the outer perimeter.

History of California Zeta

The origins of California Zeta go back to 1964 when the Chapter was founded. The Fraternity grew to be one of the strongest on campus. The late 1960's and early 1970's brought on an anti-establishment feeling which hurt the membership of all the fraternities on campus. This and an increasing number of graduating seniors forced the Chapter to become inactive in 1972, but the spirit never died.

October 30, 1981 marked the date of the recolonization of California Zeta. The efforts of Chapter Consultants Tim McCourt and Gary Goldstein brought together a group of 24 devoted individuals. Our colony President Mike LaFave offered superior leadership to the founding fathers and the Colony was off to a great start.

Since the fall of 1981, a new President, Sean Tabor, was elected with other officers and committee heads, and three pledge classes were recruited. Membership is currently at 47 and growing. These members brought new spirit and ideas to the group which helped in all activities.

When the Phi Kappa Psi Colony arrived at UCSB they wanted to show the campus enthusiasm and pride in our Brotherhood. The Colony held social functions with all ten sororities and many of the fraternities on campus. Cal Zeta is well represented on the Inter Fraternity Council with a Phi Psi filling the Vice-Presidents chair. In their short year of Colony status they have been able to raise funds for a deserving charity in the area. Participation in these activities helped bring the group together to form a solid Brotherhood.

The greatest moment of their Fraternity life came on November 13, 1982. Only a year after colonization they had proven to uphold the responsibilities and honor required to become a Chapter under the name and spirit of Phi Kappa Psi.

Phi Psi's newest Chapter closes with the following statement: "We were very honored to be recognized by the National Fraternity by the many high officials and honorable Brothers that were able to participate in the ceremony. The participation in, and the many good wishes and acknowledgements from all of the Chapters of our great Fraternity have made us that much more proud of our affiliation with the Brothers of Phi Kappa Psi."

MIAMI '80

"... Ohio Lambda is determined to make Phi Psi a name known throughout Ohio, and a namesake at Miami. It will be number one."

—Tom Carpenter, AG 1972

". . . more satisfying than the achievements of the past is the attitude that still prevails today—Never stop trying!"

-Will Voegele, GP 1982

Resting upon the hill at the corner of South Campus and Collins, she gazes upon the unique beauty and rich tradition of Miami University. She stands out among the other fraternities on campus, presenting a palace-like appearance with her shining golden bricks. There's a spirit within her, never losing momentum, always striving to improve and achieve. She is a social event. She is a leader on campus. She is a pursuer of philanthropic endeavors. She is a voice in the community. She is our college home. She is Ohio Lambda.

Ten years have past since the colonizing of Phi Kappa Psi at Miami University. The founder and the "original seventeen" would certainly be proud if they were to return here, and witness the continued success story which has developed from their efforts. Ohio Lambda's unique blend of talented yet diverse individuals and a strong Brotherhood has enabled the Chapter to become one of the very strongest at Miami. Her members are respected leaders in a long list of campus organizations. The Brothers achieve in sports, both on the varsity and intramural level. Recently, after a year of planning, the highly successful Phi Psi "500" raised thousands of dollars for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. "Arab" is among the most popular and elaborate date parties, and last year's rush saw Ohio Lambda establish a new Miami record for the most rushees visiting a single Chapter. While there is a great deal of pride surrounding these most recent achievements, it is the satisfaction derived from working together and reaching new goals that will last for a lifetime. It is a very unique, very special story. After all, we're only ten years young!

OHIO LAMBDA'S FOUNDING

The founding of fraternities is not an uncommon event at Miami. Nicknamed the "Mother of Fraternities," Beta Theta Pi, Phi Delta Theta, Sigma Chi, and Phi Kappa Tau are among the seven Greek organizations that have been founded here. When Phi Kappa Psi was colonized it became the twenty-sixth fraternity on campus, founded 139 years after Miami's first fraternity, Alpha Delta Phi.

There were many challenges facing the "new kids on the block" that first year. Colonization had begun in Oxford on May 13, 1971 with a seventeen man pledge class and a 2.9 grade point average. W. Robert Goldman, the Colonizer-Colony president, cited a "unique pledge program as the Colony's primary appeal to freshman disillusioned with the fraternity system at Miami." Goldman termed his colonization efforts "an appeal to men who were dissatisfied with the Greek systemboth those who had pledged and later de-pledged, and those who did not pledge at all."

A graduate student at Miami at the time, Goldman graduated from Washington and Jefferson College of Pennsylvania in 1964, where he was a member of the Pennsylvania Alpha Chapter of Phi Psi. He received his Masters in Journalism-Public Relations from Ohio University before attending Miami.

Bob pledged the seventeen men after a series of extensive interviews, thus creating the Ohio Lambda Colony. It was a common ideal among the group that they be different from the other fraternities. The Colony, just starting out with no Chapter tradition to follow, lent itself perfectly to the men who wanted to shape and mold it.

The fall of 1971 opened with an informal rush. The challenge of starting a Colony attracted many men, eight of whom were pledged. The first pledge class, which had been in the totally different pledge program, instituted an even more unique program for the next group of pledges. The aim was for both classes to be initiated before winter so thoughts could be directed toward the winter rush.

One of the biggest complaints of the first pledge class in respect to the traditions of other fraternities was the age-old events of "Hell Week." Instead, the Colony instituted a "Help Week." Rather than treating pledges like subhumans when put through pre-initiation exercises, respect and cooperation were fostered for the future Brothers. It was agreed that a pledge was not equal to an active in regard to the Fraternity, but he was after all a person and deserved consideration during the pledge program.

Just about the time that President Nixon made his historic visit to China and as Watergate began to unfold, the Colony was busy working to fulfill the requirements of becoming an active Chapter. After just fifty weeks, the motion was made at an Interfraternity Council meeting to accept the group as a Chapter; the vote was unanimous. On May 6, 1972, Phi Kappa Psi added its 76th active chapter with the installation of Ohio Lambda.

SEARCHING FOR A HOME

As if colonization had not been difficult enough, Ohio Lambda was only at the beginning of a long road with no end in sight. With the concept of striving to obtain the most well rounded individuals in mind, the first year was spent getting the Phi Psi name recognized on campus. One of the major challenges in that first year was to secure housing for the first pledge class. Rush had been conducted from a campus ministry office, a less than ideal situation. With no money, but tremendous effort, a new concept fraternity house was built at 205 East Vine Street. The house was divided into ten apartments, each accommodating four men. This was the only structure of its type which would qualify for construction loans. The house, deemed a dream by other fraternities, and questioned by the pledges at the time, became a reality. The officers-Goldman, Young, Weygandt, Wallen, and Borland, cut their summer vacation short to help complete final construction before the arrival of the other Brothers. Other Phi Psi Chapters, parents, and friends were invited to visit the house that had finally become a reality. Ohio Lambda now had a home of it's own and could concentrate on taking on the highly competitive Greek system at Miami.

Over the next few years, Phi Psi grew and improved. Sororities were impressed by the men who encouraged 100% attendance at parties, wore their fraternity badges on a regular basis, and who identified themselves as gentlemen. The Chapter established its own event in Greek Week and became more competitive in sports. The Brothers were found participating in student government and other campus organizations, as well as volunteering their services to the community. Despite the increased presence of the Chapter around the campus, significant problems still existed. The apartment organization tended to promote cliques between the rooms and floors. Because the house was not located on a "fraternity row," rush was particularly difficult for the small Chapter. As a result, everyone had to work even harder to overcome these handicaps.

May of 1974 saw the graduation of Ohio Lambda's first full class. Suddenly the Chapter was faced with saying farewell to its founding members, men with whom many fantastic times had been shared and dreams realized. The first Senior Banquet was a rousing success. It was a time to reflect upon the dedicated guidance that the seniors had given.

CAMPUS SERVICE

The mid-1970's brought phenomenal growth to the young Chapter. Phi Psi visibility became greater than ever as Brother John Burke served an unprecedented second term as president of the Student Body, while Dave White was elected to the Treasurer's position. In addition, Brother Carl Bennett served at that time as president of the IFC. Ohio Lambda hosted the District III Conference, initiated a Fraternity All-Star game vs. the University of Cincinnati, placed first in the Greek Songfest competition two years in a row, and had two alumni, John Burke and Carl Bennett, selected as Chapter Consultants. Brad Cousino was signed by the Cincinnati Bengals, and Mark Johnson joined the Texas Rangers, representing the Chapter well in the world of sports. In addition, the Housing Corporation, composed of five graduate Brothers and four undergraduates, was organized. Believing that involvement was the key to personal growth and chapter tradition, these events highlighted those important development years.

The most significant event of this period came towards the end of 1978 when rumors circulated that the estate at 122 South Campus was up for sale.

The Hinkles, famous for their vaudeville act of the 1920's and 1930's, "The Hink and Dink Show," denied the rumor but the seed had been planted. By the Spring of 1979, the Hinkles were ready to sell. For a Fraternity that was always eager to achieve and move upward, this was the opportunity of a lifetime.

It was an event that probably should not have occurred-yet it did. With a price tag of over a quarter of a million dollars, the potential purchase of the Hinkle Estate seemed little more than a dream, especially after considering that the only financial resource was the $14,000 that had been in savings. Another resource did exist however-Brothers willing to sacrifice their time to aid in the quest for the house. Spearheading the efforts were alumni John Burke, John Noelke, T. J. Ulrich, and Dave White. On the undergraduate level. ex-officers Steve Conlin and Mike Stallons as well as the current officers Don Durbin, Bill Lawrence, and Jay Treadwell helped blaze the trail to South Campus.

While the human resources were plentiful, the financial picture was not so promising. However, thanks to the help of many parents, over $30,000 in short term loans was raised. Still, this left the Chapter about $20,000 short of the necessary amount needed for a down payment. Thanks to then Executive Director Dud Daniel and present Executive Director Gary Angstadt, aid was soon to come in the form of a substantial loan and generous loan guarantee from the Fraternity's Executive Council. One look at Ohio Lambda today shows that their faith was not without foundation. The Chapter owes much of its success to the support and encouragement from National Headquarters.

HOUSING SECURED

Money in hand, the House Corporation went to the banks searching for a loan. Finally, after numerous presentations and hours of work, two loan requests were approved. After almost two years of intense fund raising, negotiating, huge phone bills, and countless upset stomachs, the house was secured.

The work was far from over however, as the Hinkle Estate was still a home and not a fraternity house. Fortunately, Brother Bill Owens agreed to undertake the project of converting the Hinkle's home into a true Chapter house. Throughout much of the first semester the Chapter resembled a construction company far more than a fraternity, yet spirits remained high. After eating in university dining halls and living without electricity for several months, credit goes to everyone that weathered the adverse conditions so well.

As winter set in, most of the major improvements were complete. It was nearly time to think about rush—to pledge the men who are now the seniors of Ohio Lambda.

The move to the new house prompted an explosion of popularity and growth for the Chapter. Located on Miami's uptown "fraternity row," the new house represented an achievement for which so many before us had worked. In the Spring of 1980, our pledge class became the first to rush at the new house. Although we didn't actually get to experience the excitement of purchasing and moving into the new house, the pride in the hearts of the undergraduates was very evident. Aside from the physical improvements, the new home provided each of us an early lesson of what Phi Kappa Psi is all about. Working together toward a common goal, a Chapter can achieve anything it sets out to do.

Perhaps our greatest source of pride is found in our Fraternity Pledge Education program. By stressing positive and constructive activities, we instill a sense of pride and commitment to the Fraternity within the pledge class. Most importantly, these feelings remain strong after pledging is over. Recently, at the 1982 Grand Arch Council in Atlanta, we received the Griffing-Tate Award for Excellence in Fraternity Education. We believe that our program has been extremely successful . . . it has worked well for ten years now!

To this day we want to be "different" from the typical fraternity because we believe that Phi Psis are truly special. Above all, we realize that to lose some of the desire to improve, is to begin to slide backward. There is no substitute for hard work!

THE PHI PSI GENTLEMAN

Reflecting the genuine feeling of pride within the house are the substantial improvements that have been made on the rooms. Sorority party themes are always fun and different—we're always looking for new ways to become better hosts. Our reputation is so widespread that some on campus have chosen to nickname us the "Boy Scouts." If inviting faculty and community members over to dinner on a weekly basis, participating in community services such as the Big Brother Program, wearing the fraternity badge often, walking girls home from parties, achieving respectable grade point averages, and practicing good sportsmanship are characteristics of "Boy Scouts," then we're proud to be referred to as such.

Needless to say we are very proud to be Phi Psis. We are also grateful for the opportunity to share our brief history with you. Certainly we have our share of problems, just like any other organization. But the bottom line is that we are united in a strong bond of Brotherhood, and from there our strength in all other aspects of the Fraternity are nourished. The road that Bob Goldman saw before him has not always been an easy one. Fortunately, with the help of many dedicated and supportive people, and the stabilizing force of our housemother, Marcetta Snell, we've come a long way in ten years!

Our door is always open at Ohio Lambda. We'd like to extend an invitation to all our Brothers to visit. Until then, let us share with you just one of our philosophies: "Never say die Phi Kappa Psi."

Still Growing

The Brothers of Ohio Iota would like to take this time to welcome our new initiates to Phi Kappa Psi. These men are Rich Loney, Tom Flower, and John Vertolli. During their Fraternity Education these three men have proven themselves to be quite outstanding.

I am very pleased to report the success of our Second Annual Phi Psi "Best Legs" Contest. A total of $700 was donated to the Burn Unit of Akron Children's Hospital. The entire event proved to be most enjoyable and an excellent fund raising activity.

We were proud to welcome the families of many Brothers at the Parent Party in November. Everyone was able to meet each other and have a good time. We are looking forward to many other such events in the future.

As always, we were very pleased to welcome representatives from the Fraternity to our Chapter. Bob Marchesani, Archon of District II, and Chapter Consultant, Kenneth Harper were able to stop by and visit during this fall semester.

We are looking forward to many successful rush activities in the spring semester and we would welcome any Brothers to our Chapter or any ideas for rushing that could be offered.

Ready To Move Ahead

As the Brothers of Alabama Alpha begin the spring semester, we face a challenge. Our Chapter is now at the point where we can vault into the forefront of fraternity life here in Tuscaloosa. Emerging from a period of revitalization, we are experiencing rapid growth in strength and in numbers.

This fall saw our football team undefeated and unscored upon in regular season play, only to be beaten by Phi Gamma Delta in the playoffs. Our social activities included a Toga Party and Pterodactyl Tea/Caveman Party.

Our upcoming calendar of events is highlighted by Founders Day festivities on January 29. The entire weekend promises to be filled with gala events such as a House Dedication for our newly remodeled house, and our fall pledge class initiation and formal. We invite all Alumni and Phi Psis everywhere to attend.

Congratulations to Barry Miller on his initiation into the Order of Omega, an honorary organization for Greeks. As Rush is a perpetual activity, we have an early spring pledge, David Markham from Hamilton.

Stabilizing

At the close of first term the Brothers of Pennsylvania Beta are proud of their renewal efforts. As an outward sign of it's stability, the Chapter took a first term pledge class of five upperclassmen. Formal rush, held for three days in January, will mark the commitment of many fine freshmen perspectives.

Participation in many inter-fraternal and campus activities has resulted in much success. In a unified effort 85% of the Chapter's members donated blood, surpassing every other organization on campus. This year's Greek Sing was also a success as Penn Beta tied for first place.

Traditional first term rush was complete with its array of parties and rush functions. Some of the party themes included a Toga Party, Heaven and Hell, and a New Year Party. A new rush function was implemented this year called "Ten Chow." As the name indicates, ten O'clock every Thursday night hot dogs and chicken wings were served at an informal gathering to any perspective pledge. The Brothers are optimistic at Penn Beta as they look toward pledging and meeting the goals set for second term.

Arizona Update

The Brothers of Arizona Alpha bid farewell to 1982 and welcomed 1983 in with nine new initiates. The new Brothers, formally initiated on November 15, 1982 are, Andy Díaz, Sierra Vista; Bill Zimmer, Tucson; Jon Garrett, Lacon, IL; Andy Johnson, Jeff Schroer, Scott Thomas and Craig Porter, Phoenix; Dave Mercik, Enfield, CT; and Bob Drust, Toledo, OH. Already involved in service and leadership activities, these men are sure to be a valuable asset to the Chapter.

Chapter elections were held on November 22, 1982; among the newly elected officers were Brothers Jonathan M. James, GP; Jonathon M. Garrett, VGP; Kenneth L. Kadisak, BG; and Robert J. Drust II, AG. This new administration has already begun work on Spring rush, Founders Day, service projects and our annual Minsky's Entertainment booth for the student carnival held in April.

Plans are being finalized now for '83 Founders Day activities. The festivities will be held on Friday, February 18 with several Tucson area restaurants and resorts still being considered for an alumni/undergraduate dinner and dance. Further information can be obtained by contacting the Chapter at 715 N. Park Ave. Tucson, AZ 85719 or by calling (602) 623-7577 or (602) 623-2537.

Celebrating 20 Years

December fourth, Arizona Beta celebrated twenty years at Arizona State. The festivities included a golf tournament and the annual pledge initiation held at the Double Tree Inn. The brothers of Arizona Beta would like to thank all those that attended and especially Arizona Beta alumni.

Among the highlights of the 20th anniversary celebration was the initiation of eleven new Brothers. Initiated were Mark Bodnar, Jerry Brown, Eric Flynn, Randy Jones, Steve Layton, Alex Lieb, Barry Mason, Keith Oliver, Jeff Owens, Mark Smith, Matt Tapert, and Todd Tweedy.

On the athletic field Arizona Beta Phi Psis are excelling as usual, moving up five spots in one semester. Our volleyball team went to the playoffs. Brothers Bob Spexarth, Rick Napolitano, Mark Bakeman, and Lance Johnson went undefeated in three man basketball. The C league flag football team has once again made the playoffs and are contenders for the championship. Special recognition goes to Brother Bill Pritchard who finished first in intramural swimming.

The men of Arizona Beta would also like to extend their best wishes and congratulations to brothers Lenny Drucker, Lee Walters, and Brent Marshall, all of whom were married this past year.

Planning

Greetings from Fayetteville. The year is quickly passing, and plans for a combination Founders Day/Formal are being finalized. This year's Founders Day will be held on February 19 with our Brothers from Oklahoma Beta. Tulsa will be the setting. The hotel at which the big event will take place has not been decided upon at this time. To obtain final details, please contact any Phi Psi at 3760 Arkansas Avenue, Fayetteville, AR 72701. The telephone number is (501) 442-9707.

The full fall schedule of social and intramural events is drawing to a close, parties with several different sororities were all big hits. Phi Psi earned high honors in co-rec putt-putt golf and bowling, and once again the pledges lost in the annual Pledge/Member football game.

Phi Psis are earning recognition on campus for talents other than socializing and sports. Brother Luigi Chiechi has served this fall as Vice-President of the Arkansas Booster Club. Brother Jeff Gaines and fall pledge Bradford M. Young have both been initiated into Phi Beta Kappa this fall. We are quite proud of our achievements and happy that these achievements add to the prestige of Phi Kappa Psi.

Athletic Year

For the 3rd consecutive year we won Greek Week. The annual Dale-Roy Christmas Party was once again a success as 50 guests were entertained.

New officers include: Dan Monacelli, GP; Mike Burkholder, VGP; Scott Bontempo, AG; Dave Morell, P; Daryl Charton, BG; Frank Fraas, SG; Todd Winter, Hod; Dave Fergeson, Phu; Jeff Kullman, Hi; Dave Foos, Song Master; Doug Rengers, Steward; and Bob Petrina, House Manager.

Several brothers made the trip to Caesars Palace, Las Vegas with the wrestling team. The tournament brought together the best teams in the nation: Dave Morell, Jack Leonti, Jay Billy, and Pete Bottino made the trip. Gary Sinko and Todd Winter were scheduled to go but injuries prevented it.

Other members of the nationally ranked team include Brothers Petrina, McNally, Houska, Heffernan, Charton, Sturm, Kullman, Foos, and Porter.

Jay Billy was elected our Summerfield Scholar. Jay has held the positions of GP, Scholarship and membership committee chairmen. He is the senior class president, captain of the wrestling team, and a member of Who's Who. Jay's over 3.8 accumulative GPA is the highest of any fraternity member on campus.

500th Brother Initiated

The 1983 Founder's Day is going to be a little different this year for the Brothers of Ohio Zeta. This day will also be initiation day for the pledge class which includes the pledge who will become badge #500. The pledges have done an outstanding job and each hopes that he can be the Brother who wears that special badge.

With such a grand event taking place on this Founder's Day, special efforts have been made to bring back some of the local founding Brothers. Overall two hundred plus people are expected. This will be the largest function that this Chapter has ever sponsored.

The festivities will begin Saturday afternoon, February 19, at which time the actual initiation ceremony will take place. Alumni Brothers are invited to renew their vows with the present pledge class. While the initiation is taking place, friends of the Chapter will be entertaining the wives and dates of alumni with a reception at our Chapter house.

The day will end with a Dinner Dance where all Brothers can finally relax, socialize, and compare stories of how it was when they were pledges!

29 Pledges

Pennsylvania Gamma enjoyed an excellent Rush this fall. The Brothers are to be congratulated for bringing in a fine pledge class of 29, consisting of the following Freshmen: Evan Andrews, Moorestown, NJ; Chris Baker, Darien, CT; Kent Blair, Berkeley Heights, NJ; John Brew, Erie; Kent Boehler, Flemington, NJ; John Burns, Dix Hills, NY; Ken Cestari, Fort Washington; Skip Corkran, Villanova; Mike Gamboli, Sayville, NY; Kevin Gerrity, Latham, NY; Robert Greer, Summit, NJ; Graeme Henderson, Scotch Plains, NJ; Chris Hunter, Darien CT; Eugene Kelly, Westfield, NY; John Lambert, New York, NY; Dave Linder, Doylestown; Dave Miller, Grand Rapids, MI; George Ortlieb, Drexel Hill; Andy Rau, North Wales; George Richards, Newton Sq.; Andy Ross, Rowayton, CT; Ken Schmalz, Westfield, NJ; Mike Shaak, Myerstown; James Sisto, Watchung, NJ; Mark Stanisci, North Caldwell, NJ; Jay Talsania, Oreland; Jon Westrum, Blue Bell; Bill Wheaton, Palo Alto, CA; and Scott Yeager, Bronxville, NY.

The Brotherhood held its elections recently, and the following Brothers were elected to the four top offices: President, Thomas A. Buchholz; Vice-President, George C. Billings; Treasurer, Michael J. Menzer; and Secretary, Kerry Johnson.

Congratulations to Corey R. Temple for being elected as Penn Gamma's Solon E. Summerfield scholar for this year.

The Brothers always welcome alumni back to visit anytime.

Hectic Fall

As the spring semester begins, the men of Indiana Zeta reflect upon a very busy fall. We finished the intramural football season capturing second place, and we are currently in third place overall in intramurals. In Geneva Stunts, a mini-musical competition between the housing units on campus, we were paired with Kappa Alpha Theta. We took third place in the competition, but everyone thought the party with the Thetas afterwards was a first place effort. The alumni fund raiser, "Casino Night", proved to be a good time for undergraduates and alumni alike. We thank them for their continued support and dedication.

The fall pledge class surprised the undergraduates when they went on "walk-out" this fall to Cincinnati, and returned with their gift to the house: a microwave oven. The pledges reported that their trip was successful in bringing them closer together. The seniors also went on "walk-out" this fall, but it seems they went with different goals in mind

On a more serious note, we held our first Chapter retreat in October, with which we were very pleased. The retreat included a mock Chapter meeting and a senior class "line-up".

We capped-off the fall semester with a reception for our faculty advisors who are going on sabbatical to Spain, a tree trim party, and the pledging of Jeff Doris, of Paris, IL. We are also very hopeful of winning the scholarship trophy again, and again, and again...

Ski Bound

Our Fall Rush attracted four excellent gentlemen as pledges, David Chong, San Francisco; Sam Mangoba, Vallejo; Frank Franco, Mission Viejo; and Rennie Cuyugan, Fremont. They continued their fraternal education, and were proudly initiated on January 9th.

The formal initiation ceremony was held at Lake Tahoe as a combined ski trip, retreat, and initiation. The Brothers spent Saturday skiing the slopes of Heavenly Valley, and that night held the formal ceremony. On Sunday the Brothers celebrated, skied, and then returned to Davis.

We also held a Pre-Christmas Dinner at which the Phi Psi Ladies and the Gentlemen got together, and wished each other well before returning to their families. A gracious feast was cooked by Rick Dal Porto, and served by the pledges. All felt that it was a special way to see each other again before the Holidays, and exchange presents.

Doug Smith, Rick Dal Porto, and Jeff Amberg ventured down to the installation of California Zeta at Santa Barbara. The formal installation was an impressive event, with the initiation of forty-six gentlemen, granting of a Charter, attendance by Brothers from around California, and all under the auspices of our National Officers. We wish California Zeta a long and continuing success at UCSB. Also, we wish to thank California Eta for their hospitality on the trip.

On Top

Once again the Brothers of Cal Theta are on the move. This semester we won the high G.P.A. award dominating the other fraternities by several percentage points. Our soccer team will advance to the finals with a 6 and 3 record.

We will be initiating eight new pledges in December: Lee Kolinski, Gary Slater, Greg Wiley, Tom Custard, Ross Drucker, Steve Smith, Kerry Young, and Andrew Wacht. These fine gentlemen have been performing consistently throughout the semester.

Our alumni organization has been providing us with a great deal of support through some tough periods. Thanks to that body we now have over $30,000 in our housing fund. Recently the alumni challenged our undergraduate football team to a no-holds-barred game to improve undergraduate/alumni relations. The game was a great success; although the alumni were beaten badly.

This semester's new officers have done a great deal of work in keeping our Chapter's standing at the top; they are GP Scott Braden; VGP Paul Cohen; AG Robert "Bob" Haney; BG Myles Koplow; and SG Octavio Villipondo.

We are looking forward to a fine Founders Day in February, and we hope that a good portion of our alumni come by to join us in the festivities.

Growing

Since the last newsletter was written, Ohio Epsilon has expanded in size.

We now have thirteen very active and spirited pledges who were inducted on October 7, 1982. The pledges are: Patrick Doherty, Geneva; Walter Ejnes, West Hempstead, NY; Richard Koss, Hamlin, NY; James Kralik, Gates Mills; Frank Leeper, Beverly; Steven Markowitz, Wheatley Hts., NY; William Mitsos and Paul Pagley, New Castle, PA; John Stratigakis, Youngstown; Andrew Trebuchon, Austinburg; Timothy Wang, Lagrange, IL; Richard Weidrick, Akron; and Robert Wool, Newton, MA.

On November 13, the pledges held the traditional Pledge Party. This semester's theme was "Case . . . The Final Frontier". Serving "Vulcan Punch", and putting on a "Star Trek" skit, the pledges made the party a tremendous success.

Success Attained

Best wishes to all Phi Psi Brothers for the coming New Year. Looking back over the course of the semester, nothing but success can best describe our results. The diversified events helped attain a tremendous attitude and unity among the Brothers. The final events of the semester, our Fall Formal and Pledge Week, provided an uplifting experience for all.

With the initiation of 13 new Brothers into the Chapter, membership has almost doubled to about 40 Brothers. Good news for the finance committee. Of course, thanks must be given to all the Brothers for their responsible, and friendly attitudes of cooperation. But a special gratuity must be given to GP LeFond, for without his excellent leadership, we would not have overcome. Happy Founders Day to All.

Successful Fall

The Brothers of New York Alpha are looking forward to the spring semester and pledging a traditionally stellar pledge class, as well a record breaking Phi Psi "500". The fall semester wound down with the end of informal rush, and the election of new officers. The new officers could not be reported due to THE SHIELD deadline, and will appear in the next issue.

Intramural competition has been fierce, however Phi Psi soccer and football teams were held to second place divisional finishes. A second place overall in swimming, a strong basketball team, and our traditional strength in spring sports should give us a run at the All Sports Trophy.

Congratulations to John Hiehle for receiving the Solon E. Summerfield scholarship. John is an Electrical Engineer with a 4.1 average planning on going to Medical School in the fall. Welcome back to Brothers Jim Taschetta, Marc Weinstein, John Wasserbauer, Greg Delisio, and Angel Milanes, after a semester of work in their majors.

This year's "500" will be on April 30th. We are looking forward to the return of many of our alumni throughout the semester, and for Ithaca's biggest springtime event.

Forever Moving Forward

This has been an extremely productive year for the Brothers of Nebraska Beta. The 1982 G.A.C. brought two awards: a second in Community Service and an honorable mention in Chapter Finance. Four new Brothers were initiated on November 19, 1982: Barry Kaimakis, Thomas Ryan, Douglas Treger and Andrew Zeniou.

On the athletic field, the Phi Psi I represented Crieghton in the Budweiser Flag Football Tournament held from November 19-21. Playing superbly and with the leadership of captain Dave Dare, the Phi Psis went on to claim victory. The team will now play in the national tournament in New Orleans from December 27-January 1. Good Luck, Brothers!

Our annual Semi-Formal Christmas Party on December 3 was once again filled with frivolity and a true yuletime spirit. The social event of the year will undoubtedly be the 1983 Spring Formal. Kevin McCarthy and Tony Sabatino are working diligently to make this April 9, 1983 event spectacular.

In Community Service, Pat Kane has motivated Brothers by such events as Honey Sunday, Winterizing of the St. Francis/Sienna House, a Big Brother program and many others. Dan Byrne and Steve Holmes are now organizing our annual Muscular Dystrophy Dance to be held on March 26.

Active Fall

Approaching the end of Fall semester, Penn Zeta extends its greetings to our fellow Brothers. Election of officers will be held on November 21, 1982. Michael A. Chung was initiated into the Fraternity on October 30th. We won the Best Float at Homecoming Award. Our rushees and Brothers enjoyed the tacos on Mexican Night.

Several recent functions were held with sororities. On October 17, Phi Psi and Kappa Kappa Gamma co-sponsored Tennessee Farm Night. This function was a surprise for visiting alumni. Halloween night was held with Pi Beta Phi on October 31st. On November 7, Delta Nu sponsored their annual Nu Night raffle and party at our House.

On November 13, we co-sponsored Italian Night with recently chartered Kappa Alpha Theta Sorority. The evening began with a candle-light dinner, wine and dancing. Honored at this function were Brother George Shuman . . . '37 and his wife—an alumnae Sister of Kappa Alpha Theta. Both are staunch supporters of their respective Fraternal organizations.

All is well at Penn Zeta; Rush, Alumni and campus relations. Formals, Gift exchanges, and Alumni Functions are on the agenda for the holiday season. Until next semester, we wish all a safe and prosperous winter.

Thanks Alumni!

Greetings from NC Alpha! Phi Psis at Duke are happy to announce the success of our fall rush program. Thanks to the cooperation and enthusiasm of the entire Brother hood, we anticipate a fine pledge class in '82. Phi Psi closed fall rush with our annual PUNK/PREP Party. Preppies from all over campus appeared at the Chapter room as well as a large number of "punked-out" individuals. Button-down shirts, kelly green trousers, and shaven heads were all common sights that evening. Thanks goes to Brothers Janka and Carrington.

Duke Phi Psis are also very proud of our intramural basketball teams. Our "A" team maintained its winning tradition this year thanks to fine efforts by such Brothers as Phil "flipper" Fresen, Will Carrington, and Fo Howse. Phi Psi's "B" team likewise posted a winning season. Fine job Schwaaby and Wells! And as if this success wasn't enough. our "C" team likewise had a great year. Intramural bowling is also a very popular activity for Phi Kappa Psi. This season's "Kegglers" squad rolled a very fine semester of high scores and good times. Duke Phi Psis are particularly proud of Brother Tim Hutchins who recently became a member of the champion Duke Club ice hockey team.

The Brotherhood would also at this time like to thank all North Carolina Alpha alumni who joined us for Homecoming. The weekend served as a valuable opportunity to exchange thoughts and ideas on the Chapter. We very much appreciate the advise and look forward to a greatly improved program in the future. Thanks again from Duke!

Founders Day '83

The members of Florida Beta cordially invite all Phi Psis who are or expect to be in Florida the weekend of February 18-20, 1983 (Friday to Sunday) to our Founders Day Celebration. Last year's weekend was, by consensus, the best ever, and this year we can promise it will be even better. The schedule this year includes an Open House and Barbecue on Friday night, beginning at 6:00 PM. Saturday is the Second Annual Alumni vs. Undergrads Flag Football Classic. Saturday night is the Banquet and Awards Ceremony, starting with cocktails at 6:45 PM. The Banquet is being held at the Ironwood Country Club, with featured speaker Senator Edgar Dunn. Following the banquet will be the Founders Day Mixer, held at the Thomas Center. The cost for the weekend is $35.00 per couple.

All functions are casual dress except the Banquet and Mixer, where coat and tie are appropriate.

For further information, or if you need hotel reservations, contact Peter Murphy at (904)-377-6906, or write the Phi Psi House. We look forward to celebrating with you!!!

Traditions

Winter's snow serves to cover up events of the proceeding fall. However, some events should never be forgotten.

First, Homecoming was a great success. Everyone at "Ole 911" loved talking with and seeing the alumni again.

Second, as promised in the "Bazutte", we have another championship—this one is Football. We won the Intramural Football Championship and then went on to take third at the regional division of the National Flag Football Tournament.

Third, we can't forget the "new" look to the "old halls". All the improvements are great and the house looks better than ever.

Fourth, success in both Formal and Informal Rush. We have 21 great pledges (for this semester) and 11 pledges already for next semester.

Fifth, concerning social functions . . . nothing on the U of I campus could compare to the Samoa Party thrown last fall.

Finally, the Chapter is riding high with success in sports, scholastics and social activities. Not to mention the "face-lift" to the house itself. Therefore, if one thing is to be remembered of the Fall of '82, let it be that "Ole 911" has continued a tradition: SUCCESS.

House Improvements

The Brothers of Indiana Beta returned to Indiana University for the '82-83 school year to a vastly improved house, including a new housemother, Miriam Stapf, from Plainfield, IN. Physical plant improvements included: a new ceiling and new chairs in the dining room, new paint in the living room and front foyer, landscaping in the front and side yards, and new paneling in some of the rooms. Funds were made available largely through a telefund the previous spring, and we would like to thank the alumni Brothers who contributed for making these improvements possible. Also, many more improvements are planned with these contributions.

The total roll call was brought to 2030 with the initiation of 24 new Brothers on September 24, 1982.

The Chapter is currently looking strong in intramurals, including two all-campus wrestling champions, Bryan Wilhelm and John Caron. We also have three varsity athletes: Todd Rhoda and Ron Russo, who are on the cross country team, and Dan Dakich, who plays basketball.

Our Founder's Day plans include going to Indianapolis for State Day at the Columbia Club February 19. The festivities include a banquet, a song contest, Chapter reports, and a speech by a prominent alumnus.

Marching On!

Following a successful Fall semester, the Brothers of Pennsylvania Nu are beginning what should be another good term in the standard elements of Western Pennsylvanian winters—snow and cold.

Leading the Chapter into the new semester are PA Nu's officers, including: George Novak, GP; Michael Bova, VGP; Robert Marchesani, AG; Raymond Kraus, BG; Randy Krakoff, P; William Cook, SG; Thomas Lewis, Phu; Reese Weyant, Hod; Gregory Richards, Hi; and Robert Kasperski, Ass't P.

Following the chapter's fall rush and Fraternity Education committee's efforts, PA Nu initiated four men into the Fraternity in early December. The new Brothers are: Shaun Howard Fitzgerald, Glenshaw; James Joseph Gallagher, Ebensburg; Jeffrey Allan Krakoff, Pittsburgh; and Douglas Robert Vargo, Leechburg.

Other highlights of the fall semester include: PA Nu's strong showing in Intramurals (1st among fraternities), Homecoming 1982, the Chapter's social calendar, several house improvement projects and the continued dedication of the Chapter to progress.

Finally, the Chapter would like to recognize the members that graduated at the close of the Fall term—Don Miller, Gary Beswick, Mark Trageser, Dave Bodge, Rodney Bullman and Ernie Soter.

And PA Nu also wishes all Phi Psis a happy Founder's Day!

Getting Involved

Greetings to all Phi Psi Chapters across the nation from the Brothers of Iowa Alpha. We hope that everything is running well in your Chapter this semester.

We have had a busy fall here at Iowa Alpha. A crowded social schedule is much to blame. Social Chairmen Ted Irvine has done a fine job in setting up parties.

We have tried to stress alumni relations this year at Iowa Alpha. Periodic meetings have bee held with Iowa City Alumni. The purpose of these meetings is to formulate ideas for the improvement of the Chapter. The Alumni have agreed to purchase a new refrigeration unit. This is greatly needed and very much appreciated!

Iowa Alpha is also proud to announce that we have two new transfer Brothers this semester, Robert DeGowin of Iowa Beta, and Dave Kalloway, Arkansas Alpha. We are very glad to have them aboard.

Iowa Alpha is also very proud to announce that Randy Ross was elected as president of the Interfraternity council. It is a great honor and we are all very happy for Randy. Also elected were, Troy Blodgett,

Ready for Spring

As the new semester begins, the members of Iowa Beta can look back on the past year as a successful one. The beginning of the semester brought with it the initiation of Sharm D. Sisler of Coggon. All of the members are proud of Brother Sisler and welcome him into the Chapter.

When the time came to choose the Alumni-of-the-Year, the chapter decided to give the award to our entire Corporation Board for their support and hard work over the past year. The winners include William J. Good, '69; David W. Benson, '70; Dennis L. Stanley, '70; Lon K. Friesth, '71; Thomas D. Blyth, '70; and Burns H. Davison II, '51. Thank you again for your effort.

The installment of three new officers took place on November 28. They are John W. Bennett, GP; Kevin T. Bussard, VGP; and Richard A. Vanselow, AG.

Everyone at Iowa Beta is looking forward to participating in the great Iowa State tradition of VEISHEA again this spring. Along with the fine woman of the Alpha Phi sorority, we will be working hard towards a winning float for this year's parade.

The Brothers look forward to the coming semester which promises to be even more successful than the first.

Highlights

The fall semester at Kansas Alpha went extremely well, and we are very much looking forward to the coming events this spring. Our newly elected officers are as follows: Brad Stanley, GP; Matt Rester, VGP; Mark Gunter, P; Phil Haydon, AG; Steve Osborn, BG; Troy Rodman, SG; Bill Linscott, Phu; Richard MacDonald, Hod; Doug Frigon, Hi; Mike Patterson, Social Chairman; and Mike Doering, Intramural Chairman.

We continue our pursuit of the university's All-Sports Trophy, placing second in both the football and volleyball competitions. Congratulations are due to Brother Petree on his election as Treasurer of the Interfraternity Council and as a representative on Student Senate.

Our 107th annual Christmas Buffet Party was a grand success as it has always been in the past.

We naturally appreciated the October visit of Buddy Rogers to the University of Kansas to dedicate the founding of the Mary Pickford Endowment Fund. His brief stop at the house, playing a few tunes on the piano and recounting some choice stories of the Chapter during the 1920's, was thoroughly enjoyed by all.

Looking Strong

The Brothers of Penn Theta returned this fall to a newly painted "Old Grey Barn" only to find ourselves without a cook and with bursting water pipes. Thanks to commissar/temporary cook Greg Gallo and vice-president/plumber Pete Henrici these problems have been tackled and the Brotherhood has come back stronger than ever.

Elections held in May have resulted in the following Chapter Officers: Joseph Berté, GP; Peter Henrici, VGP; Steve Buschel, BG; Michael Sutka, P; Michael De Angelis, AG; Cole Brundage, Hod; George Ossman, Phu; Andy Aghajanian, SG; and Zeke Allinson, Hi. And thanks to the dedicated work of Rush Chairman George Ossman we end this semester with a fine pledge class.

The Christmas spirits fell upon Penn Theta early this year thanks to a little imagination and to social chairmen Chris Davidson and Paul Casalaspi. The party, held on September 25, featured seasonal decorations along with a guest appearance from Santa (who is known among the Brotherhood as Steve Buschel).

Brother John Walko, an offensive tackle for the Leopards, has completed his senior year. John finished off his college career in an effortless 34-6 victory over arch-rival Lehigh.

Finally we would like to wish our Alumni and Brothers a happy new year.

"10th" Highlights Fall Term

After an eventful Fall, the Brothers of Ohio Lambda turned their attention to the remaining weeks of the first semester.

Homecoming highlighted the semester's activities because it acknowledged Ohio Lambda's ten year anniversary. Many alumni returned to enjoy a weekend spent reminiscing, while rekindling many old friendships. Homecoming also saw the Brothers building our float with the sisters of Chi Omega. The float, which took first place as the best designed float, was under the excellent supervision of Brothers Dan Willmann. John Foster, Kirk Baily, and Doug Sawyer. Fred Howard was elected to the Homecoming Court, thereby continuing another Phi Psi tradition. The weekend culminated with a banquet which saw the Chapter's past presidents recount Ohio Lambda's development over the past ten years. Homecoming weekend was a tremendous success due to the planning and guidance of Brothers Patrick Kenney, Peter Darin, and Jeff Windahl.

The end of fall semester was highlighted by another first for Missouri Alpha. "Christmas at the Grasslands" was the title of our Winter Formal, held here at our house. Long hours of work went into transforming our 120-year-old house into a showcase of visual splendor suitable for framing. Long-term benefits include complete renovation of our cafeteria and general improvements around the house.

On campus, Ted Barr, Scott Diener, Scott Debandt and Gregg Ivers continue to serve on executive student advisory boards. Diener will anchor a morning news program on the student radio station KBIA, while Scott Peacocke, almost but not yet married, will continue to cover local sports for the Columbia Missourian. Gregg Archambault and Teddy Huff are cheerleaders for Missouri varsity and junior-varsity sports.

In the athletic scene this quarter both our football teams made it to the semi-finals. As it ended up our #1 team lost in a sudden death over-time match but what a game to end the season. It was all the way to the victory circle for the Phi Mu—Phi Psi volleyball team. With a match up like that who would have expected less?

Earlier this fall we sponsored a chicken eating contest to help fund the Secret Santa program. The whole event was a great success and alot of fun.

After placing second in philanthropies last year we are well on our way to first place this year. A special thanks goes out to Mom Vogt for all her help on planning and setting up the Winter formal. We thank the Brothers from Penn State for making the trip down for the formal.

In closing we would like to thank the Brothers of Indiana Beta for their hospitality during our recent visit.

Fine Young Men

Greetings from Ohio Alpha! The Brothers of Phi Psi have been quite busy this fall. Matter of fact, Phi Psi Rush '82, led by chairmen Chris Shepler and Bill Jennings, brought forth amazing results: twenty-six new pledges, just short of our anticipated goal of thirty. The pledges are: Scott Strady, Brian Neary, Andrew Barrett, Jimmy Olsen, Eric Rockhold, Scott Vanburen, Christopher Campisi, Skip Weller, Patrick Dolle and Christopher Mahoney, OH; Kevin Troy, Don Mackinson, Peter Cabot, Edmund Meyers, Eric Pinn, Eric Sullender, Brian Roman and Kevin Connell, MA; Richard White, Andrew Green and Doug Walters, PA; Michael Curry and Todd Hedrick, CT; William Blackwell, IL; Christopher Davis, NY; and Doug Robinson, KY. These fine young men display the qualities necessary to live up to the ideals of Phi Kappa Psi and will make a fine addition to the Brotherhood.

Leading the Brothers and pledges of the Chapter are officers: Steve Finical, 2nd term GP; Peter Day, VGP; Michael Petty, AG; Frederick Hunger, P; Howard Sackson, BG; Jeffrey Johnson, SG; Todd Cracas, Hod; Michael Videtti, Phu; and Anothony Evans, Hi. The social scene, currently under the chairmanship of Scott Nelson, was recently chaired by senior Norman Lewis during fall rush.

Fired Up!

At last Summer's GAC in Atlanta our Chapter received the award for "Most Improved Chapter" in the nation. This award was accepted with great pride and has brought encouraging feelings to all who are affiliated with the Chapter. With these feelings we continue to improve and excel.

The 1982 GAC proved to be a very enriching event for our Chapter in other ways as well. Three of our delegates got to know some Brothers from Illinois Delta and this friendship eventually brought the Illini's pledge-class walkout to our Chapter house. Needless to say, it was a very wild and wooly weekend here at O.U.!

The Spring semester is going to be a busy one. We plan to initiate all of our twenty-five outstanding pledges soon after the Christmas break. Also scheduled is the Phi Psi "500", which originated at Oklahoma Alpha. It will take place sometime in March and is guaranteed to be the social event of the year! It will be very different from previous "500s" and is certain to outdo them in fun, participation, rivalry, and most of all fund-raising.

Intramurals also look very promising for the Phi Psis in the Spring. Phi Psi will feature track and softball teams of championship caliber.

60 Years at Oregon

With 1983 being the 60th anniversary of our Chapter's chartering, we at Oregon Alpha hope to make this year's Founders Day extra special. For those alumni who are able to come early, we have scheduled our annual Phi Psi Smoker (boxing match) for the evening of Friday, February 18th. The Phi Psi Smoker is always a good time and last year drew more than 800 spectators. It will be held at the National Guard Armory, across the street from Autzen Stadium. Then, as usual, the house will be open all day Saturday for alumni to stop by. Later that afternoon, there will be a get together for alumni and undergraduates before we sit down to a catered Founders Day dinner and celebration. More information on our Founders Day celebration will be forthcoming, but if you need any further information, please write or call the house.

In closing, we at Oregon Alpha would like to heartily welcome the Brothers of California Zeta as the newest Phi Psi chapter. Congratulations.

$21,000 Raised for Charity

Penn Lambda begins Winter term with five new pledges: Gerald Moyer, Fleetwood; Gregory Kenney, Gulph Mills; Patrick Jenkins, Butler; Douglas Lindquist, Schnecksville; and Raymond Ballantine, Allison Park. Under the leadership of Fraternity Educator Chris Thomson these men will make valuable members of our Chapter.

Fall additions to the Brotherhood included Harry Fatzinger, Nazareth; Robert Gleyze, Williamsport; John Caligiuri and Michael Kaiser, Allentown; Lev Campbell, West Chester; Richard Sandler, Silver Spring, MD; and Philip Boinske, Phoenixville.

Preparations are well under way for this springs 15th annual Phi Psi "500" set for Saturday April 23, 1983. Last year's "500" raised $20,000 for the Easter Seals and $1000 for the Mount Nittany Conservance. Chairman Tom Aichele has been busy since last spring interviewing prospective charities, securing permits and making all the other necessary preliminary arrangements for the race. All our Brothers and pledges are working hard to insure that this year's "500" proves to be the largest and greatest yet. We hope that all our alumni and all Phi Psis everywhere will be able to visit Happy Valley for this fun-filled but rewarding weekend.

Keeping Busy

As Purdue's Fall semester is almost to an end, we are already beginning to plan and organize the upcoming activities for next semester here at Indiana Delta. Immediately upon our return in January, the Brothers will be involved in three of our Chapter's most important events—the Boiler Dribble, Founder's Day, and the initiation of our 1500th Brother.

The Phi Psi Boiler Dribble is a 100 mile bounce-a-thon from the campus of Indiana University to our own Purdue campus. The Dribble is one of the major charity events at Purdue as all of the proceeds go to Purdue's Cancer Research program. The Dribble is to be held the weekend of the Indiana-Purdue basketball game (Jan. 13-15) and all of the Brothers are looking forward to a successful campaign.

For Founder's Day on February 19th, Indiana Delta is once again traveling to the national headquarters at Indianapolis where the ceremony is scheduled to be held at the Columbia Club. The day is going to be quite an event for Indiana Delta as it also marks the tentative date for the initiation of our 1500th member. We are very proud of our upcoming events and we hope to see a great alumni turnout.

Gone But Not Forgotten

After having completed an all too quick semester, South Carolina Alpha is looking back on many fun times. On November 17, 1982, the Chapter and several thousand fans watched a faithful Carolina fan torch our tiger effigy in anticipation of this year's Carolina/Clemson game. This year's Tiger Burn, though less successful than previous Burns because of inclement weather, was all the excitement we anticipated and a fitting end to the hours of labor we put into the tiger with Alpha Delta Pi sorority who helped us in the effort.

The toast was fittingly accompanied by a pep rally at the state capital, followed by a parade with children carrying the tail of the tiger to the fire site. The glow of the fire and the spirit of the crowd provided a gratifying end to the evening following which featured our first annual Phi Psi Tiger Burn Band Party with two local bands. All in all—a long, rewarding day which left us spent! This being the largest event of last semester, we calmed down to a simple, semi-formal Christmas party to end the year.

Time Flies

Although the new year has just begun, the Brothers at California Delta haven't wasted any time preparing for the upcoming semester.

Foremost on our minds this year, as it is every year, is the continued improvement of alumni relations. For this reason, preparations are being made for one of the best Founders Day celebrations yet. This years activities will again be held at the Disneyland Hotel, on Friday, February 18. Cocktails and entertainment will begin at 6:00 pm with dinner being served at 7:00 pm. Although Founders Day last year was deemed to be a complete success, we truly hope that as many alumni from California Chapters that want to come, will feel free to stop by. For questions or any additional information, please refer to the special section of the SHIELD containing Founders Day activities.

A sincere apology is due to all who noticed that the November issue of the SHIELD was missing a newsletter from the California Delta Chapter.

From California Delta, we hope this Holiday season has been your happiest, with best wishes for the new year.

Spring at Last

La. Beta is looking forward to a great spring under the leadership of a new slate of officers. They are Andy Navard, GP; Robert McKeithen, VGP; Greg Thibodeaux, BG; Darryl Taylor, SG; Chris Rogers, Hi; Matt Salmon, Hod; and Raymond Noel, Phu. Congratulations to Brother Marc Pelletier for becoming the new Interfraternity Council President.

The spring '83 Founder's Day celebration will be a traditional banquet. Details will be announced in the alumni newsletter. Please send any address corrections to: 111 Mildred, Lafayette, La. 70506.

With the help of alumni contributions and the future sale of the house, La. Beta expects to be one of the first to move to the new fraternity row. If all goes well, the move should be made by the spring of '84.

The Brothers of La. Beta would like to extend a challenge to any Chapter to a softball game; the one condition is that the loser buy the beer.

Fun on the Farm

Stanford University's California Beta is in the midst of an extremely active year for its 45 members. A large pledge class has brought in an abundant source of enthusiasm, much of which has manifested itself in the numerous social events, community service projects and other endeavors that have occupied the year to date. Included in these were an exchange with a dormfull of Mills College coeds, a gourmet lunch with alumni from around the nation, some volunteer work for a children's hospital, and an overnight stay with the Cal Gamma Chapter at rival school UC-Berkeley.

Winter quarter has kept the ball rolling, as we are having several ski trips and a formal in San Francisco, in January alone. This month also marks the beginning of tenure for six new officers. Michael Hoffer is the new GP, while Joe Isner is now VGP. Other new officers are: Dave Levy, P; Bob Stocking, AG; Jeff Katzman, BG; Russell Jong, SG; and John Genga, Rush Chairman.

We are looking forward to even greater rewards as the year progresses.

Volunteer Founder's Day

As 1982 gave way to '83, Phi Psis here at Tennessee Epsilon are gearing up for what proves to be an exciting Founder's Day. With the addition of three new Brothers, David Evans, Shawn Lange, and Trey Locklear, who will have been initiated by then, as well as the friendly faces of numerous alumni whom we hope to see, the weekend of February 19 should be a highlight of the Winter Quarter.

Besides the business of Founder's Day, our Chapter has been concerning itself with daily activities. The on-going process of rushing is always on our minds, as well as academics and the education of our pledges. Last fall, we held the highest GP on campus, and we are working hard to regain that position. We are also planning to bid farewell to an illustrious Brother, Bart Turner, who will be graduating soon.

We wish all Chapters great success in the upcoming events of Founders Day. We would like to hear from you to learn how things went. We are certainly anticipating a great weekend in the noble spirit of our brotherhood.

Tradition Renewed

Texas Alpha begins 1983 with a renewed spirit and sense of tradition. Leading the Chapter this Spring are David Sheehan, GP; Bennett Grayson, VGP; Carl Beers, AG; Bob DeLachica, BG; Mitch Berner, P; and Dan Churay, SG.

Recent revisions to our pledge program have restored a tradition of scholarship—GPA's are the highest of recent years. The pledges also helped Texas Alpha win the Greek Sing Song Trophy for the fourth consecutive year, and they did a great job of converting the house into a "Cedar Forest" for our annual Christmas Formal.

As usual, there are many activities and social events planned, including our traditional Founders Day Celebration. On February 19th we will commemorate the Founding of Phi Psi with a golf competition, a Bruncheon/Reception at 11:00 A.M., and the big party at 9:30 P.M.

The Brothers would like to congratulate two of our fine alumni for recent honors. Brother Morris Creel, 1956, was promoted to Vice President of Tracor MBA, and Preston Shirley, 1931, was named one of our four distinguished alumni for his service to the University of Texas.

We also take this opportunity to invite all alumni to visit, if possible, and to wish all other Chapters a great year in 1983.

30 Years Old

When the first blue northerns blow through the Hub City, Texas Betans will be beginning the new semester. But, there are many things still to report from last semester.

Athletically, results were impressive. The volleyball team swept it's division without a single loss, only to be denied in the finals. The soccer team also finished well with a 2-1-2 season.

Scholastically, Texas Beta was honored for having the pledge class with the highest GPA in the spring of 1982. This award was also given to the fall pledge class of 1981. We will try to make this award a tradition.

A recent trip was taken to New Mexico Alpha. Everyone had a great time. New Mexico Alpha Brothers are to be thanked for their hospitality.

Most importantly, however, Texas Beta will be celebrating 30 years of existence at Tech. On Saturday February 19th, all alumni are asked to come home for this important occasion. The events begin at 6:00 pm at the Lodge, 1301 University, and then will move to the Women's Club on Broadway for the dinner. Please make plans to attend.

Building Tradition

Each year of Chapter life adds to the tradition of Indiana Epsilon. Some excellence in that tradition, however, would be lost if, bovine, each year just plodded along in the path worn into time by years before. Thus each year must see the Chapter growing, improving.

The fall semester was a good one. Homecoming was a great success: alumni came back in unprecedented numbers; Brother Neal Mortenson, 80, was elected Homecoming King, and our float, done in conjunction with the Phi Omega sorority, was voted "most original." In sports, our soccer team finished second, and the cross-country squad won the all-campus meet. This holiday season Brother Jay Schaefer, 81, organized a campus food drive to help needy area families

However, it is not enough to rest on these, and other, achievements; this semester we proudly announce the first Indiana Epsilon Alumni Spring Weekend. We ask all our alumni to leave March 25-27 open (details will follow by mail) to come back here and build on the excellence of Homecoming with us.

Alumni, we're looking forward to seeing you!

Vanderbilt

Endeavor

The fall semester at Vanderbilt has concluded and Tennessee Delta has to show for it success in all areas of Fraternity endeavor.

On top of a very successful fall upperclass rush, Tennessee Deltans look ahead to one of the most promising Spring freshman rushes in Chapter history. The efforts of Rush Chairmen Tom Sheedy and Bill Fowler, as well as many other Brothers, were responsible for this optimism.

Social Chairman Stewart Jackson's social program has also contributed to our fine rush potential, as Phi Psi was active with parties, our fall outing, annual pig roast, and sorority mixers. Homecoming Weekend in particular stands out as many alumni were on hand to celebrate a Vanderbilt football win as well as enjoy our solid Brotherhood.

Scholarship this semester also remained an important factor as Phi Psi attempted to retain fourth place academically among seventeen fraternities. In addition, Mark Corbett was selected as the Chapter's Summerfield Scholar for this year.

Next semester is taking on a excellent outlook with the election of Spring officers. They are: Geoff Greulich, GP; Al Thrasher, VGP; Paul Cushing, P; Robert Rudder, Fraternity Educator; Barry Sorrells, House Manager; and Todd Kolba, AG.

Tennessee Delta always welcomes alumni and other Chapter members to visit and share the success of our Chapter and Phi Psi.

Alumni Return

The end of the fall semester finds Virginia Alpha with eight new pledges. The new additions to the Chapter are Judson Miller, Ft. Lauderdale, FL; Gregory Hallman, Lynchburg; David Domenici, Potomac, MD; Paul Mellin, Annapolis, MD; Steven Ham, Oakton; Daniel Berrios, Arlington; Buck Whitehurst, Charlottesville; and John McCarthy, Duxbury, MA. These men have already become very active in Chapter activities, through participation in intramural sports, social events and various community service projects.

Virginia Alpha is also proud to announce the initiation of three Brothers into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi. The newly initiated are as follows: Mathew Stais, Garden City, NY, Robert Craig, Denver, CO; and Robin Grier, Charlotte, NC. These new Brothers should become important contributors to all aspects of life at Virginia Alpha.

The current semester has also witnessed the return of numerous alumni to the Chapter house. The Brotherhood was delighted to see the familiar faces of some recently graduated Brothers. The returning Brothers included John Baldwin, Greg Case, Scott Robinson and others.

Virginia Alpha encourages all alumni, especially older Brothers, to stop by whenever they are in Charlottesville. One final note, the entire Brotherhood would like to congratulate Brother R. Andrew Whisnant on his recent engagement. Brother Whisnant is currently a first year student at the University of Virginia Medical School.

Communication

Due to the enthusiasm and dedication of the Virginia Zeta Brotherhood, the 1982-'83 school year promises to be a great one for all. Led by the newly elected and re-elected officers who are: Barney Roger, GP; Kurt Lambrecht, VGP; Kenny Cole, P; Michael Celentano, AG; Ken Catlett, BG; Paul Restina, SG; Don Barker, Hod; Phil Hamilton, Phu; and Robert Sismour, Hi; Phi Psi has accomplished and has begun to fulfill many of her goals this year.

During the recent fall quarter we have once again competed in the Miller "Six Pack, Pick'em Up," which is an aluminum recycling contest. And once again, thanks to leadership by Kurt Lambrecht, Brotherhood cooperation and some early mornings in the dumpsters we were successful, taking home sixth place and a check for five hundred bucks.

Another goal which we plan to improve upon is our rather dismal showings in intramural events. We have recently competed in Flickerball and co-rec Volleyball, and have shown vast improvement in both. Now, with our newly discovered athletic talent, we are eagerly anticipating competition during Winter Quarter.

One of our main goals is the improvement of Alumni relations. Barney Roger is the main man in this category as he has been keeping in close contact with our Chapter Advisor Bob Wagner and very active alumnus, Brian Wilson. Brian had recently organized a very successful pigroast during Homecoming Weekend. Through continued communication, the brothers are looking forward to many more enjoyable meetings with the Alumni.

Still Going Strong

As the fall semester drew to a close, Indiana Gamma saw many changes and some firsts. Our pledge class won Chapel Sing for the first time in as long as anyone can remember, and led the campus in collections for the Montgomery United Funds For Youth fund drive.

Changes in the house are numerous. Among these are new dining room tables, with new chairs on the way, a new stove, and a new mixer. Elections for the spring semester saw Nick D'Angelo as GP; Gregg Hockemeyer, VGP; John Albright, BG; Doug Johnson, P; John Berck, Hod; Tom Bradburn, Phu; and Jeff Martin, Hi.

After mid-semester, Indiana Gamma boasts the only two freshmen 4.0 grade point averages on campus to be held by our pledge class.

In closing, Indiana Gamma would like to extend its sincerest thanks to Ben Kessler, '71, for the pig roast at Homecoming this fall, and for all his help in the past years. All of us from the 'Bash wish all our Brothers a safe and happy new year!

Excellence

The Brothers here at the Mother Chapter are currently planning a festive spring for alumni. April 9, 1983 is the tentative date for the Biannual Dinner which this year has been expanded to include alumni along with undergraduates, family and faculty. Any interested alumnus should contact the brother-hood by letter or by calling 223-9840. The following Saturday, April 16, is Carnival Weekend here at Washington and Jefferson. Again, an alumni-undergraduate cocktail party and dinner is planned.

The Brotherhood would like to thank the alumni who attended the Homecoming cocktail party. A good time was had by all.

In athletics, the Phi Psi dominated football team capped a rebuilding season by winning the last three games. Brothers John Glusica and Jeff Doyle received All-Conference honors. The Phi Psis will be represented on this year's wrestling squad by two-time All American Dave Krivus, Jeff Mills, John Glusica and Howie Osterman.

In other activities, Barry Cuneo is an editor on the Yearbook Staff, Rich Finoli is President of the Lacrosse Club, Jeff Doyle is President of the Letterman's Club and Mark Hofbauer serves as the treasurer.

Providing the leadership for this continuation will be Mike Sullivan, GP. Assisting him will be newly-elected officers Eddie Harrah, VGP; Chris Cates, BG; Tom Lienau, Hod; Bob Taylor, Phu; John Meisner, Hi; and Mark Dunn, assistant treasurer.

Under the guidance of Fraternity Educator Greg Valent, our 21 pledges are progressing quite well toward their eventual initiation. Founder's Day activities will take place on Saturday, February 19. Details are disclosed in the supplemental Founder's Day listings in this edition of THE SHIELD.

The success of Mountaineer football this year provided many occasions for celebration and enjoyment. Tailgates and big screen television parties celebrated various Mountaineer victories. Roadtrips also proved enjoyable, highlighted by the trip to the Gator Bowl. Many Brothers traveled south to Jacksonville for the game to cheer on the Mountaineers. An enjoyable time was had by all.

Activity

Activity has marked Ohio Beta's fall term. Our greatest accomplishment, the complete renovation of our side lounge, was made possible by the joint cooperation of our alumni and the undergraduate Brothers. After we sanded and varnished the floors new furniture and carpeting were installed. This recent project has shown the entire campus what the Ohio Beta Chapter is capable of.

Mr. Jenkins, of the Parents Club, put forth a great deal of time and effort to repair our main stairway's banister. his improvements have made the Chapter house look much better. Mr. Jenkin's exemplary efforts deserve our most sincere thanks.

The Brothers of Ohio Beta have been very active in campus organizations this year. We have members of Union Board, Student Senate, Marketing Club, and various campus honoraries. Several'members hold leadership positions in these organizations. Jeff Freedman has recently been elected President of Union Board. Dereck McKelvey, Photo Editor of the yearbook, and Greg Billstone, Media Chairman for Student Senate continue in their offices.

Dan McNichol has started an alumni newsletter. This newsletter will be sent out on a regular basis. The newsletter represents our attempt to keep our alumni better informed.

Greetings! Founder's Day is right around the corner and Michigan Alpha is ready.

We're out to avenge the loss to Michigan Beta in the annual songfest competition. Our voices are in tune and this time we even know a few songs. Founders Day will be held at the University Club in Detroit on February 22 with cocktails served at 5:30 pm. For more details call (313) 665-5465.

New officers were elected in December for the Winter term. The officers are Robert Paul Schlueter, GP; Troy; Daniel Joseph Isola VGP, Harper Woods; Dennis James Wiser P, Dewitt; Jayson Chong Sang Pang AG, Honolulu, HI; Robert Douglas Gpoetsch BG, Troy; David William Rexford SG, Birmingham; Dan Charles Plitt Hod, Garden City; Gregory James Morton Phu, Sterling Heights; and Robert Scott Russell Hi, Ann Arbor. Congratulations to the new officers and a hearty thank you to last term's officers for a spectacular job.

Michigan Alpha Colony had a great time with two Phi Psi Chapters this term. Michigan Beta came here for the Michigan-Michigan State football game. We had a Chapter-Colony softball game before the football contest and a party with Gamma Phi Beta afterwards. Michigan Alpha also took a road trip down to Ohio Delta for the Michigan-Ohio State game. There was a party with Ohio State's Pi Phis on Friday and a super time was had at the game. Thanks for the great hospitality, Ohio Delta!

Once Again, Michigan Alpha Colony is fired up for Founder's Day. We're looking forward to meeting many new alumni. See you there!

Our next meeting will be the Founder's Day banquet, to be held on Friday evening, February 18th, 1983. Through the courtesy of Vice President Bob Halliday, we will gather at the Union League Club, 65 West Jackson Boulevard in Chicago. It is a convenient location and this opportunity to visit with your Brothers should not be ignored. Your Fraternity is growing and active; a new Chapter was just installed in California and another planned for this spring at the University of Michigan. Spending time with the undergraduates from the various chapters will help to convince you that Phi Psi continues strong and well.

The Association project for 1982 is a Chicagoland Directory. Our first mailing, requesting corrections and updates has been sent. We received about 9% returns. A second mailing has been sent. When these returns come back, we will go to press. We plan to be in the mail by Founder's Day.

Kansas City

It has been a busy 1982 for the Kansas City Alumni Association. We now have over 600 members in the Metropolitan Area and are actively working to urge all Phi Psis to take part in our activities.

Current Association officers are Walter M. "Chip" Dickey, Penn Kappa, President; David H. Manco, Missouri, Vice-President; David W. Fields, Kansas, Treasurer; and Jack E. Tusher, Kansas, Secretary. 1981 prexy and GAC Representative, Charles C. Allis, Missouri, is Chairman, and 1982 "Man Of The Year" William R. Cockefair Jr., Missouri, also advise.

KCAA is proud to have our "local boy" John K. Boyd III as the new President of Phi Kappa Psi. John will do a superb job! Congratulations also go to our former member John J. Ziegelmeyer, Jr. who was appointed to a second term as national Director of House Corporations.

We are pleased to note the return of Joe Axelson, Northwestern from the National Basketball Association staff to KC as Chief Executive Officer of the Kansas City Kings Basketball Team. Also in the news recently have been Judges Floyd R. Gibson, Missouri, and Timothy D. O'Leary, Missouri; Henry Bubb, Kansas, of Topeka, Karl J. Yehle, Missouri, and new Rockhurst College Academic Dean, Father John P. Schlagle, Creighton who is also national Chaplain.

We are saddened by the loss of brothers Win Tate, Kansas; Harvey Fullerton, Colorado; and Rich Young, Kansas, all of whom were staunch and active members of our Association. Tate and Fullerton were both past presidents of KCAA, "Man Of The Year" recipients, and held numerous jobs over their years in Phi Kappa Psi. They will be missed by all of us. Also, we want to mention the death of former member Clay Davis Jr., Missouri '50, of Bloomington, IN.

Our regular fall function was a great affair in September at the Rockhill Club. The hors d'oeuvres disappeared with gusto as many alumni and wives joined forces to kick off the year.

The annual Christmas Party was a tremendous success at Mission Hills Country Club on Dec. 3. A large group of all ages were joined by many wives and sweethearts to start the Holiday Season with toasts to the New Year.

Speaking of New Year—the 1983 Founders Day Banquet will be held Friday evening, February 18 at the Alameda Plaza Hotel. Cocktails will be followed by dinner and John Boyd will be the speaker. Call Jack Tusher for details at (913) 262-5004.

Reminder: Weekly noontime luncheons are held each Thursday at the University Club, 918 Baltimore. Call Curtis Williams (816) 842-6670 for information.

See you at Founder's Day!

Everyone enjoyed the entertainment of the Shrine German Band, and special recognition was given to Brothers Bill Dentler, Pennsylvania Zeta '37, and Howard Steiger, N.C. Alpha '35, marking their 45th & 47th year as Phi Psis and still going strong.

Plans are being made and finalized even as this newsletter goes to press, for our Founders Day program and summer activities. Keep an eye on your mailbox for the details coming your way.

Executive Mental Adjustment sessions are still held on the first Tuesday of each month at the Barley and Rye. Stop by from 5:30 to 7:30 for a new perspective on almost any topic.

For more information on association activities, contact Steve Reese at 536-4090 (work) or 536-4062 (home).

We were very fortunate to have Gary Angstadt, Executive Director, as our special guest speaker at the Big Game lunch. Gary put the meaning of Phi Psi Brotherhood into proper perspective. He made us aware of the current "State of the Fraternity". It appears that Phi Psi is in good shape now, but in order to remain strong in the future, we will need the help of all our members. Please help—even your small donation will be appreciated.

The Big Game lunch was another "big success". One Hundred Twenty Six Phi Psis enjoyed this annual traditional lunch, which is held each year on the Friday before the Cal-Stanford football game. All Phi Psis are welcome to attend the lunch. In case you missed the score of the Big Game—Cal 25 Stanford 20. For the play-by-play recap of the game-call Carl Stoney.

This year we will have our Founders Day Banquet at Spenger's Fish Grotto in Berkeley on February 18th. We invite all Phi Psis in the Bay Area to join us. Please bring your Phi Psi Ladies. Please see the announcement in the SHIELD for further details.

Aside from the fact that Jack Evans, Iowa State, has startled the area by asking foreign countries the U.S. aids for monetary aid to his flooded town, all is quiet in the area. Area Chapters seem quite solid, good reports have been received from all. Multi-Nebraska Alphans are either Hawaii or Orange Bowl bound: Iowa Alphans are bowl-bound too!!

As discussed at our "3rd Tuesday of the Month" lunches, the Creighton Chapter desperately needs assistance from alumni in helping them find suitable land where zoning problems don't exist to construct a fraternity dwelling. If you hear of any leads, phone Paul LaPuzza (553-6787). After the land is found, the Betans will try to emulate the Alphans and have their first ever successful fund drive.

According to alumni reports, the recent initiations in the area were all done, exciting evenings for the Chapters. Congratulations to the Creighton men for qualifying for the Sugar Bowl Flag football tournament.

Plan now to come to the Venice Inn, February 18th and celebrate Founder's Day. Put it on the Calendar now! We are planning an interesting meeting and a great steak dinner!

Orlando

Gene Cawood, Ohio Wesleyan, was last year's golf tourney champ at the Orlando Country Club but, alas, has been unseated this year. He keeps fit with regular racquetball sessions, and looks forward to regaining the championship.

Tom Sells, Bucknell, recently sold his interest in his sports shop, and is now a Trust Officer with a prestigious trust company. He is putting plenty of past business experience to good use.

Jim Lormann, Florida, is now real property administrator with a telephone system, carrying with him his extensive background in real estate.

Jack Campbell is still plugging away battling the bulls and the bears in the stock market. His daughter, Stephanie, was a friend of the Phi Psi chapter at the University of Florida until she transferred to Florida State.

Paul Porter, Iowa, has gone out "on his own." He was with an engineering firm in Sanford, and has formed his own engineering and consulting business. He still helps his wife, Jone, with her exhibits at art shows.

Our Founders Day banquet is set for Friday, February 25th, at Quality Inn Central (formerly Continental Denver), I-25 at Speet, 7 pm starting. Our featured guest is G. Kent Yowell, Colorado '46, of Glencoe, IL., trustee of the Fraternity's Permanent Fund and SC'er. Kent has a lot of friends in the Denver area, and all are urged to turn out. (An "offer you can't refuse" will be made, in fact!)

Special attention will be given by the committee to the some 70 Brothers in the Colorado Springs area and 25 in Boulder. We'd like to seat those two groups together in the hope of generating some grass roots support for alumni activity in those two cities.

Turnouts for "Phi Psi Fridays"—2nd and 4th Fridays—gatherings southeast and west have been less than we had hoped for in October and November. (It appears that Mrs. Phi Psi alumnus makes the plans for that evening!)

We will try Wednesdays, 2nd and 4th, to see if a better turnout results. 2nd—Howard Johnson's, 6300 E. Hampden; 4th—Jefferson 440—440 Wadsworth, 5 to 7 pm "dropin" basis.

Association activities can lead to new Phi Psi friendships. Join in.

A gala event is being planned for 1983 Founders Day. Your Association Officers have been working with S.C. Alpha to insure a special weekend for all Alumni.

The formal banquet will be held on Saturday, February 19, 1983. A band party with an open bar will follow the dinner. A souvenir Phi Psi glass will be presented to each Brother and guest.

Be sure to make your reservations as soon as possible. If you have not received a mailing on Founders Day, please call Smitty Harrison (work 748-2369, home 799-0481).

The Association was saddened to learn of the death of Dr. Edward E. Tate, Virginia Alpha '33, (Kansas Alpha '30). Reverend Tate was an inspiration to many of us during the Colony period of S.C. Alpha. Brother Tate served on the installation team for the Chartering of S.C. Alpha. We extend our deepest sympathy to Edward E. Tate, Jr., S.C. Alpha '72.

Founder's Day 82 was so well received that we will return to the Disneyland Hotel, on Friday Feb. 18, 1983 for a repeat performance. Last year over 200 Brothers from Santa Barbara down to San Diego turned out for the event. Cocktails will begin at 6 pm followed by dinner at 8. No promises, but we hope to have Brother Buddy Rogers once again on Trombone with the Tustin Hi School Swing Band as backup. Brothers Yary, Miller, and Hill will serve as Sgts. at arms. The cost of $30 covers a delicious dinner, validated parking, and 1983 Alumni Dues. Reservations to SCAA of Phi Kappa Psi, 411 North Central Ave. #302, Glendale, Ca 91203.

1983 Golfing plans will be presented along with some great surprises for the coming year. Bus service will be the same as last year. Contact Brothers wherever and bring them. We had a great time last year and are looking forward to another great year for the Alumni Association.

Texas South Plains

Greetings from the plains of Texas; With the beginning of a new year I am proud to announce the continuing success of the Alumni Association here in the southwest. The quality and strength of our group is only surpassed by our motivation to bring character to our members and boy, what a bunch of characters!

This reporter will journey with fellow alumni and members of the fairer sex on our annual pilgrimage to the ski slopes of Colorado this month. Following our trip motto "ski to die", and being well fortified with holiday spirits, we plan to bring new meaning to the term "challenge". Given this frame of mind it is fortunate that Founders Day elections are upcoming in the event of my untimely demise.

Founders Day will be February 19th this year, opening with a cocktail hour from 6-7pm in the Fraternity house, and continuing with dinner at the Lubbock Women's Club at 7:30 pm. Election of alumni officers will occur at the dinner so be sure and nominate your favorite demagogue.

In keeping with the Holidays I would like to extend best wishes to all for the upcoming year.

Virginia

With the current economic crunch and the continuing increases in the cost of living, the operation of a fraternity requires large amounts of cash flow just to break even. However, breaking even at Virginia Zeta has become a task that has required drastic cuts in the budgets for such vital programs as rush, housing, and alumni relations. Every Brother must have received some leadership and/or social education while he was an undergraduate member. Now, we alumni as a group must not turn our back on the very institution that we pledged to support.

Virginia Zeta has the potential to be one of the strongest Chapters on the Virginia Tech campus, but their finances are limiting their efforts tremendously. By denying our Fraternity the financial support it so rightly deserves, we are contributing to the possible extinction of Phi Kappa Psi at Virginia Tech. Let's not deny other young men the opportunity we had to grow and mature within a dynamic organization like Phi Kappa Psi. Please send in your contribution today to the Chapter, with a note earmarking it for your particular area of concern and recommit yourself to the support of our Fraternity. Remember that we are all Brothers working towards the same goals, so give your support to allow others the chance to experience the Phi Kappa Psi tradition as we did.

Brian Wilson, President Virginia Zeta Alumni Association

West Texas

The West Texas Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Psi is enjoying the new status as an Alumni Association. Under the able leadership of our President and founder, Kelly Fish, Texas Alpha '79, we have well-attended quarterly meetings at the Midland Petroleum Club and the Odessa Country Club.

A group function to attend the Texas-Texas Tech game in Lubbock was quite successful and we attended a reception by Texas Beta at their lodge that evening. It was fun and we appreciate the warm reception we received there.

A golf and tennis tournament was "winded out"; however, we were not at a loss to have some Phi Psi fun.

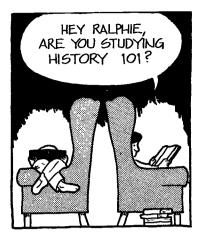

Our Christmas extravaganza to be given by our president promises to be a great chance to renew old friendships before the start of 1983.

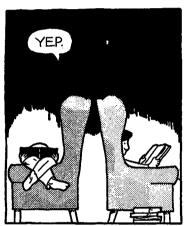

Founder's Day activity will be held February 16th at the Odessa Country Club. We will elect new officers for 1983. Looking forward to seeing you there!

MACHETANZ

BY JOHN A. DIFFILY

Fred Machetanz, Ohio State '24, has painted Alaska for forty-six years. RED MACHETANZ is the dean of Alaskan artists. His paintings are sold before they are started, and his early lithographs have become collector's treasures. His home and studio at High Ridge in the Matanuska Valley overlook a beautiful lake in the shadow of Pioneer Peak. The rich and the famous come north from Anchorage to talk with him.

It is difficult to relate this Fred Machetanz, seer of the North, to the twenty-seven-year-old art student with a brand new master's degree from Ohio State University who, in 1935, accepted an invitation to spend six weeks at his uncle's trading post at Unalakleet.

Brother Machetanz' Brother Karl was Ohio Wesleyan '00, so it was only natural that Fred join Phi Psi at Ohio Delta before making the trek north that was to change his life.

The trip to Alaska-by rail to Seattle, steamship north, train inland to Fairbanks, and finally a bush plane to Unalakleet-was an adventure; but it was at the instant the little plane set down on the tundra that the magic of Alaska began to work for Fred Machetanz. Marian Gonongan, daughter of the chief of Unalakleet, mourning the recent death of her son, walked with the excited villagers to meet the plane. When Machetanz climbed out of the little two-seater, the Eskimo woman was convinced that the young man who had dropped from the sky was her own son returned to life. She fainted and had to be helped back to the village.

Anyone who has seen the chiseled face of Fred Machetanz with its blade of a nose realizes that this was not a mistake of vision, but rather a spiritual empathy which developed at sight. Marian Gonongan knew that Machetanz was not her flesh and blood but continued to regard him as her son, and as such the young artist became a part of village life, which would have been impossible for the nephew of the trader, Charles Traeger.

A portrait of Marian Gonongan by Fred Machetanz hangs in the Anchorage Museum of Fine Art. It shows a woman of great beauty, monumentally calm, with the same hooded eyes and enigmatic sensuality of Van der Weyden's Portrait of a Lady at the National Gallery of Art in Washington.

It might seem inappropriate to compare the work of a twentieth century Alaskan artist, famous for his depiction of a frontier, to that of a fifteenth century Flemish master famous for the luminosity and radiance of his deep glazes. But Machetanz maintains a relationship with Northern Renaissance technology and spirit while drawing on Alaska for subject matter.

GOLDEN YEARS, 1978. Private Collection.

Fred Machetanz is a paradoxical combination of artist/adventurer and technical perfectionist. His master's theses, Permanent Pigment and Mediums in Oil Painting, reveals an early preoccupation with the technical aspects of his profession.

His home, High Ridge, is a graphic illustration of the two elements of the man that produce the artist. High Ridge is located in the breathtakingly beautiful Matanuska Valley, ringed by mountains and bisected by a rolling, slate-colored river. During the brief summer, the valley produces the enormous cabbages that seem to find their way into every pictorial review of Alaska. During the long winter, the lake which the house overlooks freezes and moose search the cleared area around the house for food.

High Ridge and its three hundredodd acres of virgin timber are dominated by snow-capped Pioneer Peak, a frequent subject for Machetanz's paintings. The place where he lives provides an ever-changing visual experience. Snow, rain, mist, clouds, the sun, and the weather all work upon the solid rock and create subjects for his paintings.

The heart of High Ridge is the kitchen, for this is the original sixteen-bytwenty-two-foot cabin that Fred and Sara, his wife, built with their own hands and their own logs a long time ago. The building is a masterpiece. It contains no nails—only pegs. There is no chinking between the logs: they fit. The structure floats as it expands and contracts. The cabin was their only home for nine years; they slept in a shallow loft. For seven years they had no water or electricity. The five hundred-pound black iron wood stove that stands in a corner is an old friend. In another corner is a closet that was their child's nursery. When the boy arrived, running water and electricity were installed in celebration, or desperation, or both.

Another corner of the cabin was Fred's studio. It was precisely that, a corner with two windows and a table. With only a few hours of sun each day his glaze paintings took forever to dry on the window sills in the winter. Machetanz says ruefully that in order to step back and look at a painting with proper perspective it was necessary for him to go outdoors in the snow and prop the work up against a tree. So, for nine years Fred Machetanz painted the limitless expanse of Alaska-tundra, ice flows, rives, forests, glaciers-in the corner of a sixteen-by-twenty-two foot cabin. He shared the space with his wife and eventually a child, a quarter-ton stove, table, chairs, cabinets, beds, clothes, a toilet, and a sink. Obviously this is not the story of overnight youthful success, but one of patient, enduring courage. It required dedication and perseverance by two persons whose lives came together in one career.

After eleven years in the cabin, a house and studio were added to it. In this rustic home, with its backdrop of towering peak and view of frozen lake, with its huskies moose, and virgin timber, a door opens into a chamber in the hillside where infrared lamps checkerboard the ceiling over racks of partly completed paintings. Modern technology has reduced the drving time of glazes to a minimum. Other racks hold panels of untempered Masonite hardboard prepared for painting. They age for six to twelve months before Fred begins his underpainting on them. This is the domain of Machetanz the technician. In the studio of Machetanz the artist one finds miniature models of dog sleds, kayaks, umiaks, and other native artifacts, used to solve lighting and composition problems.

Machetanz has used human models also. One, with a magnificent white beard, is commemorated in a score of paintings and drawings. One day, to the consternation of the artist, Ed Veeck showed up at the studio clean-shaven. He explained that his wife had recently died and had requested on her deathbed that Ed shave "so that I can see the man I married forty years ago."

In 1935, in the village of Onalakleet, Fred Machetanz began the six-week vacation that was to stretch into two years of golden days, during which the young artist responded to the North as had London and Service before him. The villagers put out to sea in skin boats. All wore fur parkas and boots. Old tim ers spun tales of the gold rush and its heroes. Mail arrived by dogsled. Machetanz absorbed it all. He stored images in his mind, filled sketchbooks with drawings and a sea chest with sketchbooks. Dogs, Eskimos, sourdoughs, ice, snow, polar bears, and landscapes were all grist for his mill.

At the end of an idyllic two years, Fred decided it was time to go where there was a market for art—New York and its publishing houses. He hoped that his portfolio of Alaskan material would get him an assignment to illustrate a book on the Far North.

His first job came from Charles Scribner's Sons where the junior editor was taken by his handling of lights and darks. He was given a book to illustrate, not on the North Country, but on skyscrapers. When it was finished he asked again for an Alaskan book, and he was told that if he wanted one he had better write it himself. Machetanz wrote Panuck, Eskimo Sled Dog, with a young Eskimo boy as narrator and his own adventures and illustrations. Vilhialmur Stefansson, the Arctic explorer, regarded the illustrations as superb action pictures of Alaska and immediately recommended the author/ illustrator for membership in the Explorer's Club.

Machetanz's second book, On Arctic Ice, was enthusiastically received and produced a dividend more precious than royalties. Admiral Fred Zeusler, the Coast Guard Commandant in Alaska, was impressed by the sincerity of the author and the authenticity of his drawings; he granted permission for Fred to sail as a civilian aboard the Bering Sea and Arctic Patrol. The cutter stopped at all the coastal villages from Ketchikan to Point Barrow. And so, piece by piece, Machetanz's encyclopedic knowledge of Alaska was accumulated.

His later Alaskan education was less carefree, but no less thorough and valuable. World War II thrust him into the one area of Alaska about which he had little first-hand knowledge—the mysterious and fog-shrouded Aleutians.

Fred volunteered for the Navy at the beginning of the war, and he was assigned to Naval Intelligence. He requested duty in the Aleutians and spent the duration of the war there, finishing his Naval career as a Lieutenant Commander in charge of the Intelligence Center for the North Pacific Command.

Machetanz did not linger when he was discharged in the Lower Fortyeight. He headed north immediately, with the determination to capture Alaska in a life-long series of paintings, drawings, and lithographs. On the way north, on a small river steamer, Fred met Sara Dunn, a writer who was off to South America via Alaska. The story of Machetanz's pursuit of the lovely Tennessean over a good part of Alaska could have been immortalized by Robert Service. They were married in 1947, appropriately in the mission at Unalakleet where Machetanz had dropped from the sky a decade before. The honeymoon was a trip by dog team over the Bering Sea ice.

The years between 1947 and 1962, when Fred Machetanz had his first oneman show at an Anchorage hotel, were filled with hardships, frustration, exhausting travel, and cramped living and painting conditions. Sara furnished the writing and Fred the visual material of eight published books. Production of films took them to remote, untouched areas of Alaska. One film, Alaskan Sled Dog, kept Fred and Sara on the ice and in Eskimo villages for two years.

They made films for themselves as well, and for many winters traveled the lecture circuit in the Lower Forty-eight states. The grueling schedule provided one great benefit. They were able to visit museums and art galleries all over the United States.

In the four months of summer, Fred painted furiously (or as furiously as a painter of glazes can paint). Sara wrote film scripts and press releases. Over several years they built their cabin.

Then, in the early sixties. a group of Fred's longtime friends told him that if he would take a year off and paint full time, putting aside his usual frenetic schedule, they would arrange a one-man show for him. Fred borrowed money from his family in Ohio and set to work. He completed forty-four pictures for the show. (He does about fifteen a year now.)

On Saturday night, April 21, 1962, Fred Machetanz's first one-man show opened at the Anchorage-Westward Hotel. In the first fifteen hours, more than half of his forty-four paintings had been sold, and Alaska had found its artist laureate. It had taken him more than twenty-five years to become an overnight sensation.

How did he enjoy it? He didn't make the opening. He was in the hospital suffering from a case of hives, head-to-

Earth Music

LES LINE

P'58, the pied piper of environmentalists young and young at heart, has completed his most ambitious musical project: "Missa Gaia," recorded in the great sacred space of the Cathedral of St. John the Divine in New York City, with one anthem taped, appropriately, in another sacred space, the Grand Canyon of the Colorado River.

"Gaia" is the name that ancient Greeks gave to their home, their planet. This, then, is a joyous, rhythmic, contemporary Earth Mass, celebrated by the Paul Winter Consort with the chorus and pipe organ of the world's largest Gothic cathedral.

Plus, as those of us who follow Paul Winter's alluring melodies would expect, voices from the far and deep wilderness—of wolf, of whale, of loon.

The seeds of "Missa Gaia" were planted three years ago when the Very Reverend James Parks Morton, dean of the Cathedral, invited the Consort to be artists-in-residence. "Big John," as the Episcopal edifice is affectionately known, rises from the highest rock in Manhattan. Its cornerstone was struck on St. John's Day, November 27th, in 1892; yet the cathedral remains unfinished, work having recently begun on its twin towers.

Paul Winter first stepped inside this awesome space in 1974 for the funeral of Duke Ellington, "a profoundly moving experience . . . Alumni of the Ellington Orchestra played and sang great Ellington songs to a congregation of ten thousand. Near the end, Ella Fitzgerald sang 'Solitude,' and tears ran down my face.

"As we were leaving, recordings by Ellington came through the sound system, and I can still hear the velvet, liquid tone of Johnny Hodges' sax soaring high in the vault."

Several years later Winter brought his own saxophone into the empty cathedral, which has a seven-second reverberation time. "I stood for awhile in the silence, and began to play. The sounds floated, and hovered, and seemed to glow with a richness I had never known. It was mesmerizing."

Paul Winter in the Grand Canyon

The first Consort presentation at the cathedral was a memorial celebration of the vernal equinox. There followed a "Winter Solstice Whole Earth Celebration" and "Day of the Seal." Meanwhile, Dean Morton asked Winter to create a mass for the cathedral. The idea staggered him: "I had never even been to a mass. They didn't have them at the Broad Avenue Presbyterian Church in Altoona, Pennsylvania."

Could a mass celebrate a vision of the entire Earth as a cathedral? "Dean Morton assured me it could."

Could mass music be based on themes from whales and wolves? "You can write a mass on anything," Morton told him.

"Feeling like a freshman on the first day of college, I began gathering recordings of the great historical masses from Dufay, Machaut, and Palestrina through Bach to Stravinsky, Poulenc, Kodaly, and Britten. "I was heartened to know that at the root of many of the elaborate polyphonic masses of the Middle Ages were simple folk and popular tunes, the most famous being the chanson 'L'Homme Arme,' a drinking song used by Dufay and twenty other composers as the theme of their masses.

"I had no drinking songs in mind, but I did have a fine melody from a wolf that fit perfectly with the words 'Kyrie Eleison.'"

The Consort for "Missa Gaia" includes Nancy Rumbel on oboe and English horn; Paul Halley, organist at Big John; Eugene Friesen, cello; Jim Scott, classical and twelve-string guitar; Ted Moore, percussion; and the remarkable voice of Susan Osborn.

If you have in mind the masses of, say, Haydn, "Missa Gaia" will be a musical awakening. If you are a Paul Winter fan, know only that this album follows the path taken by "Common Ground" and "Callings."

The theme—recorded at Mile 103 in the canyon to the beat of a ceremonial drum, the cascade of a canyon wren, and the onrush of the Colorado—is the hymn "For the Beauty of the Earth." It is sung in traditional form by the cathedral choristers to the drone of a tambura and harmonium, and by Susan Osborn and the congregation. It is music from and for the ages.

Certainly, Winter's "Missa Gaia" will raise eyebrows among musical and religious traditionalists. But Dean Morton is unequivocal in saying that the Earth Mass "takes its place in the long historical tradition of liturgical music, beginning with the Hebrew chant of the synagogue and continuing with the Greek and Latin Gregorian chants of the early church, medieval plainsong, Renaissance Palestrina, baroque Bach, classical Mozart and Haydn, romantic Beethoven and Berlioz, and contemporary Stravinsky."

"Missa Gaia," a two-record set with a sixteen-page booklet, is available for $19.25 from Living Music Records, Box 72, Litchfield, Connecticut 06759.

The Alltime Phi Psi Basketball Squad

by Jay Langhammer

Phi Kappa Psi has had a rich basketball heritage for many years, producing some of the game's finest coaches and players. To honor those outstanding hoopsters of the past, we asked one of today's top coaches, RALPH MILLER, Kansas'38, to give us his alltime Phi Psi first team selections. The current Oregon State University mentor has been a part of the college basketball scene for more than forty years as a player and coach. He was a fine football and basketball star as an undergraduate at Kansas and gained All-Big Six recognition in both sports. In basketball, he had the opportunity to play for the legendary Hall of Famer and fellow Phi Psi, FOR-REST "PHOG" ALLEN, Kansas '05.

Ralph Miller's first head coaching job came in 1952 at Wichita State where he spent 13 seasons, climaxed by a 23-6 record and MVC Coach of the Year honors in 1964. He moved to the University of Iowa the following season and was Big Ten Coach of the Year in 1968 and 1970 before taking his current post at OSU in 1971. Going into the 1982-83 season, Ralph had won 537 games, making him the third-winningest active major college head coach. His Oregon State Beavers squad has been among the nation's top five teams the last three seasons and he's been named NCAA Coach of the Year the previous two years after being runnerup in 1980.

Coach Miller assessed the qualifications of the thirty top Phi Psi players of all time, almost all of whom were All-Americans, pro performers or Olympic Gold Medal winners. The field was narrowed down to the five players Coach Miller felt had contributed the most to the game through their talents. All five of Coach Miller's selections enjoyed success in the pro ranks as well as in college.

Phi Kappa Psi's alltime scoring leader is twelve-year pro star JOHNNY "RED" KERR from the University of Illinois, who accounted for 12,480 points (13.8 average). As an undergraduate, he led the Illini in scoring twice and was Big Ten MVP and a second team All-American as a senior while averaging 25.3 per game. His high game was 38 points against Ohio State and his career average was 18.6. He joined the Syracuse Nationals in 1955 and starred for them through 1963. He spent 1964 and 1965 with the Philadelphia 76ers then concluded his fine career with the Baltimore Bullets in 1966. Johnny had seven seasons with 1,000 or more points and played in 844 consecutive games, the NBA record until this past fall. After retiring as a player, Johnny spent three and one half seasons as head coach of the Chicago Bulls and Phoenix Suns.

When it came to scoring, GEORGE "THE BIRD" YARDLEY of Stanford University was one of the game's greatest. He made the All-American third team as a senior and was Stanford's top scorer with a 17.3 mark in 1950. He bypassed pro ball for three seasons and played AAU basketball, twice making All-American. In 1954, George moved into the NBA with the Fort Wayne Pistons ad moved with the club to Detroit in 1958. He earned All-NBA second team honors in 1957 and first team honors in 1958 after becoming the first man in NBA history to score 2,000 points in a season. His average that year was 27.8, which also led the league. He concluded his career with the Syracuse Nationals in 1960 and finished with 9,063 career points, a 19.2 per game average. He was elected to the Helms Hall of Fame and was recently named to the Detroit Pistons 25th anniversary all star team.

Rugged forward DICK SCHNITTKER was a three-year star for Ohio State University prior to a solid six year pro career. He was the Buckeyes' MVP in both 1948 and 1949 and All-Big Ten in 1949 and 1950. As a senior in 1950, he co-captained Ohio State's national championship team and gained All-American honors. In his college career, he scored 1,127 points, an 18.4 average. Dick joined the NBA Washington Capitols in 1951 then missed the next two seasons while in the service. He joined the Minneapolis Lakers in 1954 and contributed to their NBA championship season. He starred for the Lakers through the 1958 season and totaled 2,735 points as a pro (8.2 average).

CHARLES BLACK ranks as one of the greatest players in University of Kansas history, earning All-Big Six honors in 1942-1945-1946 and All-American selection in 1946-47. He had 1,082 points and was an outstanding rebounder. He played three pro seasons with the Anderson Packers, Fort Wayne Pistons and Indianapolis Jets, averaging 8.7 as a pro.

HOWIE DALLMAR was a top college star at two different schools. In 1942, he led Stanford University to the NCAA crown and was named MVP at the NCAA tourney. During the war, he was transferred to the University of Pennsylvania and led the Quakers to the 1945 Ivy League championship. He played three pro seasons (1947-49) with the Philadelphia Warriors and was All-NBA first team in 1948 while leading the league in assists. He accumulated 1,408 points (9.6 average) as a pro and was elected to the Helms Hall of Fame, Following his playing career, Howie joined the ranks of successful Phi Psi coaches. He took the head coaching job at Pennsylvania during his last pro year and stayed through 1954 before going to Stanford. He retired after the 1975 season and had an overall record of 369 wins and 315 losses.

Two Phi Psi coaches have been enshrined in the Naismith Memorial Basketball Hall of Fame. Dr. FORREST "PHOG" ALLEN, Kansas '05, had an amazing overall coaching record of 771 wins and only 233 losses over a 48 year span. His teams won or shared 30 league titles during that time. "Phog" Allen was a co-founder of the National Association of Basketball Coaches in 1927, played a leading role in placing basketball in the Olympics, and organized the first NCAA tournament.

The other Hall of Famer, ALVIN "DOGGIE" JULIAN, Bucknell '21, served as head coach at Albright, Muhlenberg, Holy Cross and Dartmouth between 1928 and 1967. He was also head coach of the Boston Celtics for two years (1949-50). His overall college coaching record was 386-343 and his 1947 Holy Cross squad won the NCAA championship.

Phi Kappa Psi claims the two winningest coaches in Duke University history: EDDIE CAMERON, Washington & Lee '21, and VIC BUBAS, Illinois '45. Cameron became head coach in 1929 and won 226 games while losing only 99. He retired as head coach after positing a 22-2 record in 1942 but remained with the school as Athletic Director for a number of years. Bubas is Duke's second-winningest coach with 213 wins against just 67 losses from 1960 through 1969. He was initiated as a freshman at Illinois but transferred to North Carolina State where he starred for three seasons. Following graduation, he remained at State as an assistant coach until he took the Duke job. During his ten seasons as head coach, the Blue Devils were ranked in the top ten seven times and were in the NCAA "Final Four" three times. Vic was also ACC Coach of the Year three times and is currently Commissioner of the Sun Belt Conference.

Helms Hall of Fame electee CRAIG RUBY, Missouri '16, was an All-American in 1918 and 1919 then became head coach at his alma mater in 1921. He went to the University of Illinois in 1923 and stayed through the 1936 season, when he retired from coaching. His won-lost mark was a fine 180-99 and he won or shared four league crowns. BILL STOBBS, Washington & Jefferson '14, was head coach at Wittenberg for eleven years and had a good 137-85 record. TOM SMITH, Valparaiso '64, is the current head coach at his alma mater and, prior to this season, had posted a 107-79 mark at Valparaiso and Central Missouri State. Another current head coach is GENE EVANS, Dickinson '46, in his fifth season at his alma mater. He won the Middle Atlantic Conference Southern Division crown in 1980 and earned MAC Coach of the year honors.

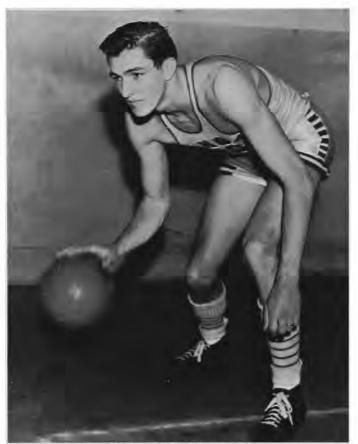

The National Basketball Association has two Phi Psis in key positions. JOE AXELSON, Northwestern '45, returned to the Kansas City Kings last April as President and General Manager after spending three seasons with the NBA league office. He first became involved with the NBA in 1969 as

Charles Black, Kansas '43

President and General Manager of the Cincinnati Royals. He was instrumental in shifting the franchise to Kansas City in 1972 and continued with the Kings until 1979 when he became the NBA's Vice-President of Operations.

Another popular NBA General Manager is JERRY COLANGELO, Illinois '59, of the Phoenix Suns, now in his fifteenth year with the club. He was an outstanding guard for the Illini and served as team captain his senior year. He got into pro ball as head scout and director of marketing for the Chicago Bulls when they entered the league in 1966. When the Suns franchise was created in 1968, Jerry became the youngest G.M. in professional sports. He was named NBA Executive of the Year by "The Sporting News" in 1976 and 1981.

The Honorable Mention list contains the names of many other Phi Psi stars who rank among the leading players in their school's history. JAY ARNETTE from the University of Texas was a 1960 All-American and averaged 19.7 per game. He won a Gold Medal as a key member of the 1960 Olympic team and later played three pro seasons with the Cincinnati Royals. RON BONTEMPS, Illinois '47, was an NAIA All-American for Beloit College in 1951 and had 1,770 career points. He won an Olympic Gold Medal in 1952, was an AAU All-American in 1953 and was elected to the Helms Hall of Fame. The Fraternity's other Gold Medal winner was forward GILBERT "GIB" FORD, Texas '51, a member of the 1956 U.S. Olympic squad. Minnesota's ARNIE OSS was a 1921 All-American and was elected to the Helms Hall of Fame. GIL HALSTED of Cornell was a 1914 All-American and Helms Player of the Year that season.

Two Washington and Lee Phi Psis are among their school's top scorers. JAY HANDLAN had 656 points for a 26.2 average in 1951 and scored 66 points in a game against Furman. His 2,002 career points is second in W&L history and his 21.3 average is the best. Guard PAT DENNIS was the ODAC

Player of the Year in both 1977 and 1978, scoring 607 points as a junior and 700 points (25.0 average) as a senior.

Dartmouth College claims two alltime greats of the 1940's. Forward ED LEEDE was a four-time All-Ivy League selection and played two seasons with the Boston Celtics. Guard GEORGE MUNROE was Ivy League scoring champ in 1942 and an All-American in 1943. He played pro with the St. Louis Bombers in 1947 and Boston Celtics in 1948.

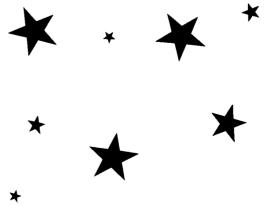

Center BOB REITER was Missouri's scoring and rebounding leader for three seasons and was the first Mizzou cager to score over 1,000 points. He set a school record of 27 rebounds in a 1955 game. Guard GREG LEE was a key figure on two UCLA NCAA championship teams (1972-73) and played two pro seasons. Forward WALLY OSTERKORN of Illinois spent four pro years with the Syracuse National (1952-55) while Washington's CHUCK GILMUR was a five-year pro with the Chicago Stags (1947-50) and Washington Capitols (1950-51).

Other Phi psis earning All-American honors include SAM CARRIER of Nebraska (1913); NELS NORGREN of Chicago (1914); RALPH SPROULL of Kansas (1915); ABB CURTIS of Texas (1924); ALBERT PETERSON of Kansas (1925-26); DICK LINTHICUM of UCLA (1930); MAX COLLINGS of Missouri (1931); TED O'LEARY of Kansas (1932); NORM COTTOM of Purdue (1934); and JOHN WALLACE of Indiana (1946).

Mark Spitz 10 years later 10 years later in the 10 years since Mark Spitz swam his way to world fame, the golden boy of the 1972 Olympics has heard the roar of the crowds fade, has taken the cue and has become a self-styled "wheeler-dealer" in real estate and high finance.

By Linda Deutsch

Today, at 32, he's a millionaire with a sprawling home in West Los Angeles, an apartment in Hawaii, a Beverly Hills office and a business schedule that takes him around the world every year.

"I discovered a long time ago that money is king, and the man who has it is, too," said Spitz.

He and Susan, his wife of nine years, keep a low profile. They have an 11-month-old son, Matthew, who is his father's pride and joy.

"I'm a realist," Spitz said, "I realize I'll never have the attention and adulation again that I got for swimming... I swam for 12 years and I went out on top. That's the hardest thing for an athlete to do."

When the spotlight turned to others, he said, he learned hard lessons about adjusting to near-anonymity.

"The most difficult part, not only for athletes but anyone who becomes famous, is to step back into the mainstream of life and become Johnny Lunchbucket again," Spitz said. "You have to blend back in, and the faster you do it, the better."

For Spitz, it wasn't easy. Fame was intoxicating.

He was only 22 when the world shouted his name. It is 10 years ago since he swam at the Munich Olympics and came home with an unprecedented seven gold medals. He won every event he entered, set seven world records and was acclaimed "the greatest hero since Lindbergh."

"It was all timing," he says now. "I did the right thing at the right time in the right place and met the right people. And I looked different than anyone else. No one ever swam with a mustache and long hair before."

With his dark good looks, Spitz was compared to actor Burt Reynolds—an instant sex symbol on glossy posters sold to flocks of young admirers.

As a returning superhero, he was courted by movie studios and television networks. Merchandisers vied for Mark Spitz commercial endorsements. The William Morris talent agency signed him to a $5-million contract to promote milk, electric razors, swimming pools, hair dryers and credit cards. There was talk of a movie career.

When the glamor stopped abruptly, Spitz was dubbed "the $5-million dud." Some said he was suffering from overexposure.

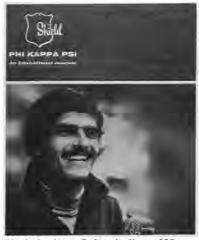

"I made so many commercials," Spitz recalled. "In that industry, they decide that you're a cancer, and they feed you to get rid of you.... The public always wants something new."

Confused and frustrated, Spitz foundered briefly, then put the gold medals away in a bank vault and began his new career.

"I started wheeling and dealing in real estate in 1973," he said. "I bought a teeny little condominium in Laguna Beach for what seemed like a lot of money then. Right away, interest rates started skyrocketing."

He bought more properties, aligned himself with a large investment group and by 1977 his corporation, Sumark, was building condominiums and office buildings in Southern California and Hawaii. He also began handling investment portfolios for 100 clients, he said.

But that's not all, Spitz still has longterm endorsement contracts with Adidas, the sporting goods company, to promote its Arena line of swimwear, and with Elton Corp. to sell snorkels, fins, goggles and masks.

Mark Andrew Spitz, Indiana '69, as he appeared on the cover of the 1972 Fall SHIELD.

"With my obligations to them, I travel around the world about six weeks a year," he said. "I just got back from Ecuador, and before that I was in Singapore and Australia."

He has an ABC contract as commentator on sports events, including the 1984 Olympics in Los Angeles.

Recently, Spitz launched a tourist business, selling T-shirts and sweat suits with "California" written in unique calligraphy—a hot item at airport gift shops. Early next year, he plans to market an "adults-only ice cream" that will contain a small amount of alcohol.

"I count my blessing that nothing I've done has failed," said Spitz.

An articulate, upbeat talker, Spitz frequently lectures young people on motivation, and tells them not to worry about tough economic times.

"I believe money is like water," he said. "If it's dry here, it's raining somewhere else. You just have to go look for the rainy season."

If Spitz has any regret, it is that his jam-packed schedule leaves little time for athletics. Still trim and weighing 185 pounds—10 more than when he was 22—Spitz swims "two or three times a week for a half-hour" in his back-yard pool.

A few years ago, he took up sailing with a passion, entered several trans-Pacific races and placed third in one. But he had to cut back because "I just don't have time to sail in all the regattas."

"I love body surfing," he said, "but in the last 10 years I've been in the Pacific Ocean three times, and twice it was because I fell off my boat."

MISSISSIPPI ALPHA—PERSISTENCE PAYS OFF

By Gus Jones, Mississippi '70, and Danny Phillips, Mississippi '77

A long and illustrious history marks the 125th anniversary of Mississippi Alpha at the University of Mississippi. Reorganizing twice, first after the "war of northern aggression" and later, after Mississippi's anti-fraternity legislation, Mississippi Alpha's accomplishments rank right at the top in Phi Kappa Psi.

Brother John Baxter Paine, Washington & Lee 1855, founded Mississippi Alpha as the tenth Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi and the third fraternity Chapter at Ole Miss, following Delta Kappa Epsilon and Delta Psi in November of 1857. The University closed its doors from 1861 to 1865 with all Mississippi Alpha brothers joining the Confederate Army. Thirty seven Brothers had been initiated into Mississippi Alpha when the University closed and the Chapter disbanded.

It wasn't until 1880 that Phi Psi was rekindled at 'Ole Miss with the help of Edgar Fahs Smith, Gettysburg 1873, (Pennsylvania 1877), and W. D. Howze. Brother Howze, LaGrange, 1859, traveled to 'Ole Miss and pledged the first individual to Phi Psi in 1880, and on March 26, 1881, a charter was again granted with five men initiated to revitalize Mississippi Alpha. Among those charter members was Brother Leonard J. Farley who later became dean of the law school at 'Ole Miss.

The Chapter grew strong until 1912 when the Mississippi legislature passed a law forbidding all Greek letter societies from operating on campus and Mississippi Alpha again disbanded. The legislation was appealed to the U.S. Supreme Court (J. P. Waugh Vs. Board of Trustees of the University of Mississippi, 237 U. W. 589) and upheld in a June 1, 1915 opinion by Justice McKenna. He held that the two points: (1) prohibiting the existence of Greek letter fraternities and similar societies in the state's educational institutions, and depriving members in them of the right to receive or compete for diplomas, class honors, prizes, or medals; and (2) that the state may require a member of a Chapter of a Greek letter fraternity at another college to renounce his allegiance to the affiliation with such fraternity before admitting him as a student to any educational institution supported by the state, did not violate fourteenth amendment rights. The legislation was later repealed by the Mississippi legislature in March of 1926.

Wasting no time, James Lenoir, Albert C. Kidd, Hodge Thompson and William Anderson formed Alpha Delta Mu on March 26, 1926 for the purpose of petitioning Phi Kappa Psi for a charter. They were later joined by Beverly C. Adams and Carl Everett to form the nucleus of ADM. Alpha Delta Mu met in Brother Lenoir's room, 25 at Center Gordon on the campus, and later had a club room on the west side of the Oxford square above a jewelry store. The local fraternity grew and prospered, holding the scholarship cup for all fraternities and refered to in the 1927 yearbook as "the bookworms," and Brother Lenoir was president of the 1927 student body. The badge of ADM was designed to resemble the Phi Psi badge, and the ritual was written by Brothers Farley, B. C. Adams, and Dr. Nathaniel B. Bond who was dean of the 'Ole Miss graduate school.

Three months after the founding of Alpha Delta Mu, a petition for a charter was presented at the 1926 GAC in Kansas City. The petition was declined. Another petition was presented before the 1928 GAC at Buffalo and also declined. In 1930, the third petition was presented at the White Sulphur Springs GAC and accepted. The successful petition was personally presented at the GAC by U.S. Senator Hubert D. Stephens, Mississippi 1894; L. E. Farley, Mississippi 1905; and J. Pitt Stone, Mississippi 1910, representing 79 members of Mississippi Alpha.

On November 29, 1930, 18 alumni and 15 undergraduate members were initiated into Phi Kappa Psi. The ceremony was directed by President E. M. Bassett, Swarthmore '01, assisted by former President Harold G. Townsend, Beloit '03; Virgil A. Griffith, Auvergne Williams and L. E. Farley of Mississippi Alpha: Shelly Hughes, Vanderbilt; Thomas A. McEachern, Jr., Virginia and James Hand, Jr., Missouri, and held in the graduate school building. The ceremony was also attended by Vice President Thomas A. Cookson, Indiana, Attorney General H. L. Snyder, Jr., West Virginia, nine Brothers from Tennessee Delta at Vanderbilt, as well as 22 Mississippi Alpha alumni. Two of the Mississippi Alpha Brothers in attendance were John L. Buckley, Mississippi 1881, and W. J. East, Mississippi 1881, the sole surviving charter members of the 1881 rechartering.

L. Eugene Farley, Mississippi '05, wrote in the 1931 Shield: "For the third time the name of Mississippi Alpha at the University of Mississippi is added to the Chapter Role of Phi Kappa Psi. That a Chapter should twice pass out of existence, and each time be revived is unique in the history of our Fraternity, and perhaps in the chronicles of fraternities generally." Brother Farley was a Rhodes Scholar and son of Leonard J. Farley, Mississippi 1881, who was dean of the Ole Miss law school and an 1881 charter member of Mississippi Alpha.

Mississippi Alpha's original house was erected around 1935 at the west end of Fraternity row where the Phi Delta Theta house now stands. The present home of Mississippi Alpha was acquired from Phi Delta Theta in 1959. The house sleeps 24 Brothers with a a full kitchen and housemother's apartment.

In the past several years, Mississippi Alpha has grown to a present membership of 78, having just initiated 22 new Brothers bringing our total to 952. The accomplishments of our members range far and wide, on campus and off.

Within the Fraternity, Mississippi Alpha is proud to have had Brother Webb Mize, '30, serve our Fraternity as national president from 1960 to 1962. Brother Mize is a charter member of Mississippi Alpha.

The 1982 GAC in Atlanta was s successful one for Mississippi Alpha. Brother Mize was elected president of the Order of SC. Brother Gus Jones,

'70, chaired the Credentials Committee for the second consecutive GAC. Brother Lawrence Perkins, '75, was named Area Director for Mississippi Alpha and the Memphis Alumni Association.

Our Chapter has also been involved in other areas of Fraternity government with several Archons coming from Mississippi Alpha through the years.

The 1982-1983 school year at 'Ole Miss is a fine example of the positions of leadership held by Mississippi Alphans every year on campus. Brother Tim Walsh, '80, is currently serving as an officer in both Omicron Delta Kappa and Mortar Board honoraries. Cheers of "Hoddy Toddy" are being led by three Brothers who are serving as 'Ole Miss Cheerleaders, Jody Broscato, Mike Gordon and Mike Fountain. In sports, Phi Psi is again in the fight for first place in the fraternity intramural division championship. Academically, Mississippi Alpha has again maintained its high ranking on campus as Brother Mark Maffett, '82, has been named a Carrier Scholar, the University's most prestigious scholarship. Brother Ben Williams', '81, academic achievements have earned him both Taylor Medals and Taylor Citations.

We would like to thank Brothers Webb Mize, B. C. Adams, James Lenoir, and Alvin Klotz for their help in researching this article, and for all help they have given Mississippi Alpha in the past. Brother Klotz's generous gift of bound volumes of the 1930 and 1931 Shield were most helpful in gaining information about the 1930 rechartering.

A HAZING TRAGEDY

Mrs. Eileen Stevens shared with the 1982 Grand Arch Council the tragic story of the death of her son in 1978, a death with circumstances all too familiar to those undergraduates who still have not realized that universities, society and certainly Phi Kappa Psi cannot and will not tolerate hazing. The following is the transcript of Mrs. Steven's testimony, and the questions asked following her presentation. Eileen uses no notes in her presentation, as it is quite obvious she is not making a "speech," but is rather describing an episode in her life to young people in a very personal way, for it is those same listeners who can more than anyone else prevent similar tragedies from ever happening again. And, as Mrs. Steven's points out, she is not anti-fraternity. She is rather pro-fraternity and anti-hazing, for hazing "accidents" could well be the demise of fraternities by the year 2000, as society continues to expect more from college students. Mrs. Stevens was introduced to the convention by Robert F. Marchesani Jr., I. U.P. '79, Archon of District II.

ARCHON ROBERT F. MARCHESANI, JR.:

Brother SWGP and Brothers: In the winter of 1978 Eileen Stevens received a phone call informing her that her son, Chuck Stenzel, had died in a hazing incident while pledging a local fraternity at Alfred University in Upstate New York.

In response to the incident, Mrs. Stevens created CHUCK, the Committee to Halt Useless College Killings. Since the formation of CHUCK, Mrs. Stevens has researched the hazing problem and has documented 65 deaths and thousands of injuries attributed to hazing since 1891.

She has appeared on numerous television programs, including Phil Donahue, Good Morning America, and NBC's Today Show. She has also worked to have state legislatures consider anti-hazing laws. Mrs. Stevens has appeared before numerous fraternities, and Phi Psi is truly fortunate to join that group.

Please join with me in welcoming Mrs. Eileen Stevens. (Applause)

MRS. EILEEN STEVENS:

Thank you very much, Bob, for a very nice introduction. It is an honor to be here. I am very, very delighted to address you. Although I have done a great deal of traveling and never addressed you as a group, in my travels Phi Psis have often extended themselves to me, welcomed me, encouraged me; and here today, much to my surprise, I am seeing some familiar faces, and it is very delightful.

I also see that you have New Yorkers in the front row to make me feel at home, and that is very thoughtful.

I'd like to thank Tim McCourt for his gracious meeting me at the airport and escorting me to the hotel; Gary, for his very kind invitation; and Bob, who I have met before and has corresponded with me for the past year.

As you already know, my introduction to the Greek world came about through a tragedy. And I welcome the opportunity to share with you today my story, what I am about, my work.

As Bob indicated, when we received that telephone call in the early hours of the morning, certainly it was devastating and it changed our lives. Chuck was 20 years old, an economics major. He had just returned to begin the spring semester of his sophomore year at Alfred University, and it was just a few short weeks after his return to the campus that we received that telephone call in the early hours of the morning.

When the dean of students telephoned us, he could tell us very little, only that there had been a party, there had been a great deal of drinking at the party, the probable cause of Chuck's death was alcohol overdose. He asked us to come to the campus as soon as possible.

The winter of 1978 in New York was a brutal one. It was nearly impossible to get a flight out of either New York airport. Finally, after a dreadful, horrendous, sleepless night we were able to leave about dawn, and arrived in the upstate Rochester area about 8:00 a.m.

We were met by two familiar faces, young ladies who were not only students at Alfred but girls from our hometown of Sayville, Long Island. They were kind enough to borrow a car and drive through the deep snow to the airport to meet us and then drive us an additional two hours to the hospital where Chuck's body had been taken.

One young lady lived across the street. We had known her since she was eight years old. She went all through school with Chuck. And the other girl had attended the senior prom with him just a little more than a year before.

When we arrived at the hospital, the head nurse met us and asked that we identify ourselves, thinking perhaps we were reporters—it seems reporters had been there earlier. She encouraged us to leave, adding to my devastation by saying Chuck's body was undergoing an autopsy. She said it may be several hours before anyone could speak with

The Pathologist said, "I can tell you the probable cause of death was acute alcohol poisoning and exposure."

Certainly nothing would make us leave, and after almost four hours in that hospital lobby we waited, a pathologist came out and took my hand and walked me into the chapel. He sat me down, holding my hand tightly, and said, "Mrs. Stevens, there are no words, there is nothing I can say that will make this any easier. I am a father. I assisted in the autopsy of your boy. And there is not very much I can tell you before the tests are completed. But I can tell you that the probable cause of his death was acute alcohol poisoning and exposure. I can tell you that he consumed a hell of a lot of booze. I can also tell vou he consumed an incredible mixture of alcohol. Quite frankly, I don't know how he got it down his

"It appears he was put to bed on his back, or went to bed to sleep it off, his lungs filled with fluid beyond their capacity; he literally drowned in these fluids. It is also my feeling, Mrs. Stevens, that it was not his experience with alcohol that killed him, but his lack of experience. His body went into shock, his heart stopped; he didn't have a chance."

I asked to see my son. Again I was discouraged; but I was insistent. And when my husband and I followed the pathologist down the corridor and took the elevator to the lower level of that hospital and walked into that cold, sterile room and saw our six foot two strapping son on a stainless steel table, covered with a sheet, realizing his blue eyes were closed forever, it was truly the darkest moment of my life.

I kissed him, I told him I loved him. And I left that room bewildered, devastated, confused—certainly for the obvious reason, but because I could not comprehend what made Chuck drink enough alcohol to kill him. He was not a drinker. In his 20 years I never saw him abuse alcohol. I never saw him inebriated, I never saw him lose control. He enjoyed his beers, his friends, his good times. But something seemed very wrong; I did not understand.

We went to the campus, where we were to go to his dorm, gathering some of his things, and then meet with the dean. When we went to his dorm, many students were standing outside, many visibly crying, guys as well as girls. Some of them embraced me, touched my arm, said they were sorry. Others had no words at all. But there was clearly an atmosphere of disbelief and shock at what had happened.

Going into his room, we asked for his roommate, his close friend. He was not there. We gathered some clothing and looked around that room for a brief moment, and it appeared that he'd be bursting back into the room momentarily. There were traces of home visible, a half-written letter on his desk to me, to my surprise his bed was neatly made, a card from my daughter, a Valentine, stood there.

"There was clearly an atmosphere of disbelief and shock at what had happened."

We left that room and spoke with the dean, hoping he could shed some light on what had happened that night. He was unable to do so; he only told us that there had been a party, the party had taken place in a fraternity house, obviously there was a great deal of drinking, and two other young men attending that party were hospitalized and critical.

I said, "My God, what happened? What went on?"

He assured me that the university, as well as the local authorities, were conducting extensive investigations. He assured me that statements were being taken from everyone in attendance and as information was received it would be shared with me.

"It was dreadful for everyone, especially Chuck's peers."

We left the campus, went home to face the horrendous ordeal of a funeral, something that none of us are ever prepared for, certainly not the funeral of a son or a daughter.

As I reflect on those few days they are somewhat of a blur. You go through the motions, I guess you have to. I do remember an outpouring of love and concern from members of our community, friends, family, of course, neighbors, even strangers. People came out of Chuck's past—teachers, coaches, former classmates. And many students came down the nine-hour drive from Alfred. This was very comforting.

However, no one came that had been at this ill-fated party. And three days later we still had no idea what had actually happened. It was not until after Chuck's burial that we received a call from his roommate. He said, "Mrs. Stevens, I couldn't see you when you came to the campus. I was too upset. Forgive me for not coming to the funeral. I couldn't handle it."

I understood. It was dreadful for everyone, especially Chuck's peers.

He wanted me to know that he was telephoning because his heart and his thoughts were with us. He wanted to know if there was anything that he could do.

My response to him was, "Joe, just tell me what happened."

He took a deep breath and told me that what he was about to say was breaking an oath of secrecy, a vow of silence. He confessed that he had been discouraged from telephoning me, but he felt an obligation to Chuck, his friend; to me, Chuck's mother.

And he went on to say that the day of Chuck's death he had decided to pledge a fraternity, his fraternity. It was not a national organization, it was a local, called Klan Alpine, but, in his words, it was Alfred University's oldest and most prestigious fraternity.

They had roomed together for over a year and although Chuck had not gone that route his freshman year his roommate was very happy that he had persuaded him to become a brother. He explained that that night was the beginning of Hell Week, a term I thought was long past.

He said, "Mrs. Stevens, there were nine new pledges that night. They were told to wait in their respective dorms until they were picked up by active members. Chuck waited, and I picked him up with some other brothers."

There was an element of surprise involved—perhaps explaining the fact that there was a half-written letter on his desk, the fact that he wore no coat.

He said the pledges were taken down to the parking lot and asked to get into the trunk of a car, three in a trunk. They were each given a pint of Jack Daniels, a six-pack of beer, a fifth of wine, and told to consume it before they reached their destination, the fraternity house.

I am sure you are thinking exactly what I was thinking the first time I heard those words: He couldn't have been fool enough to do it. Surely he refused. How could a six-foot-two guy climb in the trunk of a car with two others and attempt to drink such a ludicrous, incredible amount of alcohol? He must have said No.

But for reasons I will probably never fully understand, Chuck did attempt to comply with what was asked of him.

The boy on the telephone told me that the reason the mixture was given to the pledges was so they would get very drunk and very sick. He said, "Mrs. Stevens, it is something we have always done. We have done it for years. We laugh about it the next day. I went through it.

He said they rode around for a period of time while the actives encouraged the pledges in the trunk to drink the alcohol. And when they arrived at the fraternity house and the trunk was opened, two of the boys were vomiting, as intended, but Chuck was unconscious.

"Mrs. Stevens, it is something we have always done. We have done it for years. We laugh about it the next day. I went through it."

He explained that as his sponsor he assisted him into the house, undressed him, and put him to bed, intending to check on him periodically throughout the night.

He said, "Mrs. Stevens, I continued to party. I, too, passed out."

He was awakened sometime later when he heard panic, shouting, confusion. Someone had gone into one of the bedrooms to check on some of the pledges—two were having labored breathing and could not be revived, and Chuck was blue. There was panic; help was summoned. A doctor and an ambulance arrived, but it was too late. Chuck was pronounced dead on the scene.

The two young men that were hospitalized, and remained hospitalized at this point in our conversation—it seems one boy had a heart murmur all his life and was going into cardiac arrest; the other young man had traces of a drug in his body, a drug that had been administered to him legally for the flu, and the traces that remained, combined with the large amount of alcohol he ingested, caused him to go into an alcohol coma.

Fortunately, thank God, they lived. But it was almost a triple tragedy.

And when Chuck's roommate told me on the telephone that this was hazing, I had honestly never heard the word before. He assured me that no one intended for harm to come to anyone. I believed him. I knew he was Chuck's friend, and I knew it took a great deal of courage for him to pick up that telephone, and a lot of guts for him to tell me the truth—which was something that no one else, at that point in time, intended to do.

When I confronted the administration with this information, again I was assured that the investigation would certainly uncover all the facts: it would take several weeks, the local authorities were involved, the district attorney's office was taking part in this. "Please be patient. Please await the outcome."

"And when Chuck's roommate told me on the telephone that this was hazing, I had honestly never heard the word before."

I awaited the outcome. And several weeks later when the investigations were completed and statements were issued to the press, they were read to me over the telephone. But the person on the other end of the telephone was not a dean, not a DA representative, but a reporter.

The district attorney's statement said that it was an unfortunate accident, an isolated incident, no one was responsible, case closed. The university statement said that the fraternity would be put on indefinite probation, they could assume no further responsibility, case closed.

I believe it is the outcome of those investigations that has brought me before you today. I was not satisfied. What did I expect? I am not sure. But a life was lost and two others almost lost as well, and no disciplinary action was taken whatsoever.

". . . this was an unfortunate accident, an isolated incident, no one was responsible, case closed."

I was not comfortable with the word "accident." Because although I know in my heart no one intended for this to happen, but by the admission of the boy on the telephone this was annual, traditional, it was done year in and year out to every new member—in the name of brotherhood.

When I think of the word "accident" I think of something spontaneous. And this was obviously very planned. I was not comfortable with the word "isolated" either. Because in the weeks between Chuck's death and the outcome of the investigations, our family received a great deal of mail. This mail was due primarily to the fact that the incident received a lot of press, a lot of negative press, a lot of sensationalized press. We saw our son's picture on the front page of Long Island papers, Page 2 and 3 of upstate and metropolitan area papers; it even went on the wire.

We were reading things like, "Alcohol Poisoning," "Pledge Drinks Himself to Death in Trunk of Car," "Fraternity Hazing," and so on—so negative, and it had nothing to do with the kid that I raised for 20 years.

But that negative press accomplished something. It aroused a lot of people. And in my mail I was not only receiving messages of sympathy, of condolence, but I was hearing from students, former students, some parents, even educators, telling me of other hazing incidents, relating to me situations that had occurred in the past or were happening right then and there. People were sharing experiences with me as a mother, as a parent—I had no idea. So the word "isolated" just didn't sit well either.

I felt the need to do something—I did not know what. But I felt if I could share Chuck's tragedy and the tragedy of others, perhaps I could alert people, arouse others, and maybe help prevent it from happening again.

I formed my organization. I wrote to legislators, I wrote to colleges and universities in New York. I wrote to national fraternities, stating to them, as I state to you right now, that I was not anti-fraternity, I was anti-hazing. I was anti-abuse.

I questioned their policies. I asked their help. Most of the schools responded to me assuring me that they opposed hazing in all its forms. Some said that is just wasn't a problem, or if it was a problem it was something that they were unable to deal with. Legislators were patronizing but curious. And the research that I had accumulated, not only through the mail but through the New York Times Data Bank and interlibrary loans, proved, just by looking at the black and white of it, that there was a problem.

We looked into the fact that some states had anti-hazing laws. Each and every state that had an anti-hazing law came about because of a death. How sad that it took a tragedy before something like that happened, before a law was enacted. And I think everyone in this room will agree that a law is not the answer. But I felt it was a deterrent. I felt that those responsible should be accountable for their actions.

At that point in time the national fraternities did not respond to me. I am sure they thought I was an angry lady who had lost her kid, perhaps they felt I was vindictive, revengeful, they questioned my motives. And I doubt that they believed I was not anti-Greek. But I continued.

"I felt if I could share Chuck's tragedy and the tragedy of others, perhaps I could alter people, arouse others, and maybe help prevent it from happening again."

My legislator introduced a measure. It went through both houses, gathering lots of support, thousands of signatures on petitions, only to be vetoed by New York's governor. He said this was not a place to deal with this; schools should deal with it. A disappointment.

It was revised, reintroduced. It went through the channels again, gathering even more support, going through both houses completely unanimously. But the governor's posture did not change and he threatened another veto.

But about that time, tragedy struck in New York again. An 18-year-old freshman from the Bronx died of heat exhaustion pledging a fraternity in Upstate New York. He had been put through gruelling calisthenics, deprived of sleep, put into a steamroom in heavy clothing, and he died of heat exhaustion.

The governor's office received 5,000 letters of protest and outrage, and within weeks New York had an anti-hazing law. But how very sad that another tragedy had to take place and again no one was held accountable.

Although that boy was the first New Yorker to die since Chuck, 13 had died

"When I think of the word "fraternity," I think of words like "friendship," "honor," "trust," "purpose," "camaraderie." The word "hazing" just doesn't fit . . . it contradicts everything you stand for and is in conflict with everything you were founded upon."

throughout the country. And to my knowledge at this point in time, 25 young people have lost their lives nationwide in the past four years in hazing-related incidents—a tragic, staggering figure—and countless numbers have been injured.

In my mind, something was very wrong, When I think of the word "fraternity," I think of words like "friendship," "honor," "trust," "purpose," "camadarerie." The word "hazing" just doesn't fit. From where I stand, it contradicts everything you stand for and it is in conflict with everything you were founded upon.

Three components constantly show up in all these hazing statistics—98 percent of them are alcohol related; all of them involve peer pressure; almost all of them involve secrecy.

It seems to me when you combine alcohol abuse, peer pressure, and secrecy, you have a very dangerous combination.

I think I have heard all the reasons it strengthens the brotherhood; it unifies the pledge class; it separates the men from the boys; it is tradition; I went through it so he is going to go through it; alumni expect it.

Well, those are all the wrong reasons. And there is nothing that anyone could ever say to me that would convince me there is anything positive about hazing in any form.

The word "tradition" doesn't sit right with me either. I have done my homework. Your founding fathers had nothing that even remotely resembled hazing in the beginning days. They would hang their heads.

Looking at your faces today, I am reminded that it is not that long ago that Chuck was in your very position, wondering what he was going to do with his future. He took his education very seriously. He was not weak, he was not a follower. He was a bright, opinionated individual. He was an honor student. He cared about people. He had a bright future ahead of him.

The night before his death he telephoned home, full of the news that he was considering changing his major from economics to history. We laughed about it. Well, his future came to a screeching halt in the trunk of a car—for something so senseless and wasteful as hazing.

Sure, he was a damn fool to climb in that trunk. And I don't know what he was thinking. I can only guess. These were his friends. He trusted them. Maybe he thought he'd get a little sick, a little drunk. I am sure he felt others had been through it before; it would be over in the morning. He certainly did not expect to lose his life.

It seems to me they asked for his trust and that trust was abused. Certainly he had a choice, but he went along with what the group said. This was his roommate.

"Three components constantly show up in all these hazing statistics—98% of them are alcohol related; all of them involve peer pressure; almost all of them involve secrecy."

In my travels I am very happy to say that I have witnessed a lot of change. I am very encouraged and very strengthened. And although the Greeks did not respond to me at first, I can say to you right now that they have become my staunchest supporters.

When I first began to be asked to speak about my work and my intentions, my invitations came from media, from non-Greeks, from school newspapers, occasionally administrators. They were very disappointed that I was not anti-Greek. They didn't understand where I was coming from.

My intention in standing here today is not to offend you; my intention is to make you think. If the subject makes some of you uncomfortable, well, perhaps it is time we were uncomfortable. I don't see how anyone can justify it. It is beyond my comprehension how we would ask someone that we want to call brother to participate in something demeaning, degrading, or potentially dangerous in any way.

Would we ask a member of our own family, someone we love, to prove their loyalty, to test their worthiness? I don't think so. And very often I hear, "Mrs. Stevens, we don't physically haze, we have eliminated that completely. We play some mind games, we harass them, we intimidate them, we sit them under bright lights, we deprive them of sleep, we give them tests that might not have correct answers. But we know what we are doing. We are on top of it."

"Would we ask a member of our own family, someone we love, to prove their loyalty, to test their worthiness? I don't think so."

Well, I assure you that mental hazing is not an acceptable alternative. Mental hazing is very dangerous. In my mind, it is a very serious problem. It is my stumbling block. How dare we play with someone's mind, something as fragile as someone's mind? How do we know how far we can push another human being?

Is he a better brother because he can stay up "X" amount of hours? I don't think so. Is he a better brother because he can do 50 more pushups than someone else? I don't think so. We are not phys ed instructors.

Three or four of the most recent hazing deaths have been the result of heat exhaustion due to gruelling calisthenics. What is that proving? I don't think it is proving anything.

I certainly don't want you to think that I oppose a good time. I often tell the story of a night I spent in a sorority house when I first began traveling. I was asleep in the lower level of the house in the guest room, and several hours after I had gone to bed I was awakened by piercing screams and thunderous noise. The entire ceiling was vibrating, and I was convinced it was an earthquake—I was out west.

The girls were screaming unmercifully, running through the halls, and I had no idea what was happening. The housemother came and knocked on my door and said, "Oh, Mrs. Stevens, please don't be alarmed. The fraternity is here and they are kidnapping the girls—but they love it." She said, "They didn't wear rollers to bed and some of them have lip gloss on; I am sure it was planned. Please don't be alarmed."

And screaming as though they were being slaughtered. And I thought, "Boy are they going to be surprised if they carry me out."

But no one did—and I was a little disappointed. I really felt as though I missed something. And the next morning when I woke up, there was a tree outside with more brassieres on it than I have ever seen in my entire life. And not to underestimate the girls, there was a tree nearby with more athletic supporters on it than I ever dreamed existed.

I was very impressed. I could not believe how they did that in the dark. I wished I had brought my camera. I tell you that because I don't want you to think that I oppose a good time. No one had a better sense of humor than Chuck. And I want to tell you that each and every hazing incident that I have touched on began as something harmless. I think one of the problems is we don't realize that what we are doing could be potentially dangerous. But we have a responsibility.

Why am I standing here? Because I feel I have a responsibility. I would not want your mother or your family to experience the pain and the devastation that we have. Tragedy has a way of getting our priorities in order. And sometimes, perhaps too late, we realize what is really important. But we shouldn't wait until it is too late.

"I don't oppose a good time
. . . but each and every hazing incident that I have touched on began as something harmless . . .
sometimes we don't realize that what we are doing could be potentially dangerous."

Not long ago after I talked and invited questions, an undergrad stood up and said, "Mrs. Stevens, we understand where you are coming from. We are sorry about what happened in your life. But we can't relate to death. It is too negative. It is too depressing."

And I said to that young person, "You are not listening. I am not talking about death. I am talking about life. There is nothing we can do for Chuck or the kids like him, but you bet there is something we can do to learn from those mistakes, to move forward, not let history repeat itself."

Looking through some of the materials that Gary Angstadt has been kind enough to share with me since our meeting, it is very obvious how Phi Psi feels about this issue. Obviously, you care or you wouldn't be here. I know Phi Psi cares or I wouldn't be here today.

I am not here because it is a problem with you. I am here because it is a concern of the entire Greek world, especially Phi Psi. We don't want it to happen again. We have to learn from our mistakes and look forward, not backward. We have to grow and be strengthened, as I have because of my interaction with the Greek world.

You have convinced me that you are sincere, dedicated individuals who are dedicated to eradicating this ugliness that constantly shows its head from time to time, because despite what I feel is a growing awareness, it continues, sadly enough. It has been around for a long time and we are not going to eliminate it overnight.

"We have to learn from our mistakes and look forward, not backward."

It is going to take a lot of hard work. a lot of courage, a lot of determination. You have a responsibility. When you joined your Fraternity you pledged to uphold its ideals, its principles. You were given the sacred trust of carrying it forward. Each and every one of you is responsible for your actions and your actions may affect others—your brothers, your chapter, your campus, and your national. Because I think you might all agree with me that the marvelous things you do on a year-round basis, the philanthropies, the blood drives, the fund raisers, all of the campus projects, community projects that go on, somehow the press never seems to give them attention.

But let something negative happen, let there be an alcohol-related incident, a hijink, a prank, an accident, a tragedy, and they pick right up on that, and for a brief moment the entire Greek world suffers for the action of just a few individuals. We cannot let that happen.

I want you to ask yourself some questions and give yourself some very honest answers. If you are not sure about what is going on in your Chapter, if you are a little bit uncomfortable with it, get rid of it.

"You have a responsibility. When you joined your fraternity you pledged to uphold its ideals, its principles. You were given the sacred trust of carrying it forward. Each and everyone of you is responsible for your actions and your actions may affect others . . ."

Last year I was invited to a campus by a group who had lost a brother. It was a prank, it was something that could have been prevented. It should not have happened. And on my way to that campus I was very worried about myself. I thought, "Gee, the bad guys have invited me; I wonder how it is going to work out."

Well, I was in for a surprise. They weren't bad guys at all. They were devastated. The morale in that chapter was so low, they were in such pain over what had happened, and they convinced me in a very short time that they were not responsible, they didn't mean for it to happen. The whole campus was down on them. Their national had taken strong steps. They wanted me to come to show the campus that they wanted to learn from the tragedy and bring it to the attention of the community, show the community that they wanted to rebuild.

I went to bat for them with their campus, with their national. But how very sad that what had happened was ended that very day the boy died, the practice that caused his death was immediately eliminated, and I assure you, when tragedy strikes, somehow you change your attitude about the whole thing. You don't feel the need to justify it any more

It is going to take leadership, it is going to take courage. But that is what I see in front of me today. It is your decision, because I could stand here for hours. Gary Angstadt, Kent Owen, all of the people in this Fraternity that care so much about this issue could talk about it endlessly, but we are not going to bring about the change—you are. The change must come from within.

"It is going to take leadership; it is going to take courage."

It is your decision, and one heck of a responsibility. But it is my hope that you will not let Phi Psi down. Thank you. (Rising applause)

Thank you very much. If anyone has any comments or questions or criticism, please feel free. I do have a post office box. I have some cards with me; if anyone would like my legislative information, information on alternatives, which I am sure your headquarters is very happy to offer you as well, I would be happy to share it with you. And if there's any comments or questions please feel free. Oh, come on, just one.

MR. BOB WALKER (California State University at Northridge):

Our system is fairly new. The California State University system started about 25 years ago. At this time they have no real knowledge of what a Greek system is and what the Greeks mean, what Phi Psi means or what EAE means—but they do remember all of the problems in the '60s and '70s; would you consider coming out to California and talking to the university system, the chancellor and trustees, and explaining what happens and what you went through and give them a understanding of how people do feel and what you have discovered in your travels with and in talking to other groups?

MRS. STEVENS:

Well, first of all, I have two California dates in the fall and I would be happy to work something out. And you may or may not know that California has just recently updated their law, and perhaps a good first step would be to get a copy of that law.

And I would be happy to share with you my information and some of my statistics which would help you address the problem or bring the problem to everyone's attention. I think one good first step is to get everyone talking about it, get it out in the open. But I would be happy to help in any way.

MR. WALKER:

I will see you afterwards.

MRS. STEVENS:

Okay. One of the things that I neglected to mention, I believe there are now 12 states that have anti-hazing laws. And although not everyone agrees with the concept of the law, I think it is very exciting to mention that many of these recent laws have come about from the work of Greeks, which certainly helps prove that it is not an anti-fraternity law. Yes.

MR. STEVEN R. FOWLER (Arizona Alpha):

I think a lot of us are curious to know how you finance your operations.

MRS. STEVENS:

Well, if I am invited to speak, it is necessary that my expenses be paid. I don't charge a fee to speak; however, occasionally I do receive donations, which are very helpful with my postage and my photocopying and my telephoning and that type of thing. But, I am a nonprofit operation.

MR. FOWLER:

Thank you.

MR. GREGORY W. HOCKEMEYER (Indiana Gamma):

You mentioned that the incident that related directly to you involved a local fraternity, then later on, another fraternity that you talked about later, you said the national was down on them. Is this problem generally a problem related to local fraternities or is there a large problem in the national sector, too?

MRS. STEVENS:

I think it is a problem that no one is immune to. I guess there is a little question there. I was speaking to someone, a representative of a national, who said, "Eileen, this is primarily a problem with the locals," and I can't completely agree with that. I think there is enough of a problem with the nationals that it is a concern. And on the statistics there have been a fair share of tragedies on the national level as well.

One aspect of national is, though, and this is something I was discussing with Kent Owen before I came into this room, that nationals are taking very strong steps. In other words, very sadly, in the situation of a local, very often nothing is done, or little is done. There is no national headquarters, there is no structure, or guidelines, or, you know, the marvelous fieldmen, or, the kind of interaction going on on a local level. So that presents a problem. Thank you.

FROM THE FLOOR:

What kinds of penalties are imposed in these laws you are talking about and how adequate are they?

MRS. STEVENS:

They vary from state to state. Some are much stronger than others. The law that New York eventually enacted was not as strong as the one that was initially vetoed. For instance, in Virginia it is an out-and-out felony. In New York the law requires that the colleges and universities are mandated to inform the students, all students, in writing at the beginning of each semester that hazing is against the law and that disciplinary action will be taken by the administration: it is mandated that they take action, and that they would also be liable under the criminal statues of, say, reckless endangerment, manslaughter, assault, but it would certainly depend on the individual situation or incident.

But the law varies from state to state. I have copies of all of those laws and I would be happy to share them with anyone that would like to review them. Like I said earlier, I don't think a law is going to do the trick—whether or not these laws could be enforced, who knows—but I do think it is a deterrent.

I think that it is a step in the right direction. We are not going to change or legislate social behavior, and it is not going to be a cure-all any more than it has cured the other ills that plague society. But I still feel that in actions where people's lives are put on the line and tragedy occurs, that they should be held accountable.

BYRON W. CAIN JR. (Director of Fraternity Education):

Can you give us an idea of what the definitions of hazing are involved in these various laws?

MRS. STEVENS:

Well, that was a problem with New York. And a lot of people are using, or attempting to use, the definition that your national uses, the one from—is that FEA? But that has been problem in the language of the laws. I know it was in New York.

So they completely vary. There was trouble with the word "intentionally" and "recklessly" so that is a question I am really not qualified to answer. But as I say, I would be happy to share with you the laws that have their own various definitions.

My definition of hazing is something that I wouldn't want done to myself. And I think that the definition your national uses is excellent as well. Because it really spells it out. And Gary was kind enough to share your Manual with me and there are some very marvelous, interesting things in that Manual that I think spell it out very clearly. And I can't imagine how anyone would be left with any doubt as to what hazing is, and certainly the fact that Phi Psi won't tolerate it.

MR. W. TODD SALEN (Director of Alumni Associations):

You have been spending a lot of time doing this. You also said you are having an impact on national fraternities: they have responded. Are you getting feedback on local level, are you having an impact.—I know you are having an impact on the national fraternities, but not necessarily does that affect local chapters.

MRS. STEVENS:

Is your question am I getting any feedback from the local level?

MR. SALEN:

Do you see yourself having an impact on the individual groups?

MRS. STEVENS:

If so, I am not aware of it. I have had no interaction with any local fraternities at all.

MR. SALEN:

So you are getting no feedback right now.

MRS. STEVENS:

Sometimes if I speak at a campus, I don't even have any idea who is in the room. They do not always reach out to me or speak with me as much as someone from the national organization will. So I guess it would be unfair to say that I have never reached them or they have never heard me. I am not sure, but I have no particular involvement with locals, no.

Sometimes I feel very sorry for some of the undergrads in locals because they are not fortunate like you are, they don't have a national headquarters to reach out to and assist them. And sometimes administrations don't recognize them. In the case of my son's fraternity, that was a recognized fraternity on that campus, but there are some campuses that don't recognize the locals at all. So there is another problem.

MR. JIM MOORE (UC-Berkeley, California):

You said that when you spoke to the press, you said they were disappointed when you said that you were not anti-Greek. There are plenty of fraternities doing community work, but when something goes wrong, when something occurs, when there is an accident, it's like front page news.

And there are many times—there is one time in particular when we were promised news coverage on something, and we wanted newspaper coverage, and we never got it. But as soon as something goes wrong it is plastered there. What do you suggest we do or you do to get positive coverage?

MRS. STEVENS:

Well, strengthen your IFC or do whatever you can to work with your IFC or your Greek advisor. It is kind of hard. If you have a school paper that is anti-Greek, I know you have a problem. If you can't get your message across, buy the space in the paper, or do what Bob did at Pennsylvania. They have their own newsletter that they put out.

You know, you can't get yourself on the front page, but I think you can educate the campus and let them realize, let them see what you are doing and what you are about. Because, no press at all is very bad, they come to their own conclusions. But if the school paper won't give you space, buy the space, have a column. I have seen that in papers and I think it works, or it might be a first step anyway. Yes.

MR. RALPH PARISI (Arizona Alpha):

We saw the article when it came out in Arizona about your son's tragic death, and Arizona Alpha as well as, I am sure, all of the rest of my Brothers around the nation, felt badly because we—maybe people around the nation see what we have always practiced, which is our Fraternity standards of no hazing. And it was bad because death occurred, but good in that people are finally starting to realize the dangers.

What I am asking is, just possibly you have given us all kinds of laws and regulations and things that are being done for anti-hazing. I am hoping that there are things being done to reassure parents that "fraternity" is not something that is going to beat up on their children, but that there is still potential for a fraternal brotherhood, and camaraderie, and all the things that go along with fraternities.

And it is just my hope that newspapers will be able to cover the laws and regulations covering hazing all over the nation.

MRS. STEVENS:

Thank you.

MR. BRIAN D. GRADY (Ohio Iota):

I was wondering, does your organization get involved directly, for example, like a certain chapter is hazing, do you send people over to talk to them or anything like that?

MRS. STEVENS:

I am kind of on my own inasmuch as I am the only one that travels and speaks, and I answer my own mail personally. but I have been given theassurance of all of the national fraternities and the FEA that if there is a problem that I am uncomfortable with or if someone shares something with me, that if I pass it along, it certainly will be looked into.

On the same token, very often information is given to me confidentially. And then it is a little bit different. But the nationals have assured me that even if it doesn't pertain to their particular chapter they will assist me in having an advisor at that campus contacted. So I kind of pass it along, and they have helped me a great deal in that situation.

MR. KENNETH N. DEBBELL (Oklahoma Alpha):

Mrs. Stevens, I would just like to congratulate you on your articulate form of speech. You presented yourself very well. I have two questions.

The first one is: in your travels and in your research have you found that the brutatlity lies only in the male circles or do the females engage in this vicious form of hazing?

And secondly: what forms of opposition have you run across, if any, in your travels and are there groups that oppose you in what you are doing or trying to do? You could answer either of those, or both, if you'd like.

MRS. STEVENS:

Well, as far as sororities are concerned, they are not immune. There have been incidents reported in sororities. In fact, in California, I recall reading recently that there was a very near miss with a girl who had to have her stomach pumped. She had alcohol poisoning and she almost didn't make it.

I think the forms of hazing are not as physical or as brutal as you said, but maybe in the forms of mental hazing. And many, many young women have talked to me about that. But I have never addressed a sorority. I have never heard from a national sorority. I have had very little involvement with the girls, except if I speak at a campus at large and there are very often young women in the audience.

I am aware that there is a problem but I don't think it is anywhere near the degree that goes on in fraternities. I think they kind of stay away from it. But it does exist.

Now your second question. In the beginning I think the resistance came from people who really didn't understand what I was saying or didn't understand what I was about. My feeling about the Greek silence in the beginning I think I understand very well, and the few that did openly criticize me at that point were critical of the fact that I was airing their dirty laundry. And of course, that was not my intention; my intention was just to bring the issue out in the open. Because my criticism of them was that they were dealing with it but they were dealing with it internally, and that wasn't working.

I think we have to bring something out in the open, acknowledge that it exists, look it squarely in the eye before we can even have a prayer in dealing with it. And that is what is happening, the fact that it is out in the open, the nationals have taken a much stronger stand—certainly they had a stand before, but they are strengthening that stand. They are closing down chapters or pulling charters, which breaks their heart. But they are doing it rather than allow this ugliness to continue, because it will only do greater harm in the long run.

So that resistance that I felt initially, I think it was only because I might have been misunderstood. But I don't have that resistance any longer. Good question. Thank you.

MR. STEPHEN A. FAWTHROP

(Chapter Consultant):

One thing I noted in what you said was that you felt responsibility should be assigned to the chapter officers or members involved. One other aspect that has come up in some of the laws—I am not sure, maybe possibly all of them—is that similar responsibility has been assigned to the universities, because fraternities are student organizations that universities recognize. In New York, for example, they can be held liable now: the University can be sued if your son had died today.

Do you think that has tended to work against the universities' pursuit in cracking down on the hazing, in that they don't want to implicate themselves?

MRS. STEVENS:

Absolutely. I think that they look the other way. They would prefer in some cases to assume no responsibility. That certainly is not always the case. I have met concerned administrators who were right there in the group when I would come to a campus, and I have been to other campuses where no administrator was in the room at all. They just avoided the whole thing and would not encourage the group or whoever was inviting me.

But you bring out a very good point. I think administrators certainly have a responsibility. And that was my bitter disappointment with Chuck's university. I felt that they looked the other way, that their head was in the sand: they just didn't want to assume any responsibility. That fraternity was back in business the following semester with more pledges than ever before. And the attitude was, 'nothing really happened here, it was an accident,' and it was treated very lightly, which is wrong.

I think if Alfred University had taken strong disciplinary action and they had said, "Hey, a tragedy has taken place here: let's learn from it, let's do something about it," it would have been far more positive for everyone.

MR. FAWTHROP:

Thank you.

MRS. STEVENS:

Thank you. You are going to hear about the legal ramifications, I believe, tomorrow. And there is also, I believe, a program on the alcohol aspect of this whole issue, along with it's concern, in the entire Greek system. Because alcohol certainly is a big problem. We are talking about impaired judgment to start with and doing something we probably ordinarily wouldn't do if there was no alcohol involved.

So you are very fortunate that there are some strong sessions in your convention to follow this. Thank you very much for your attention, for your gracious hospitality, and it's been very nice being here. Thank you so much. (Applause)

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR GARY B. ANGSTADT:

Thank you, Eileen. I have two presentations to give to you as thanks.

Eileen mentioned that she has been working with other fraternities as well. What she didn't tell you is that she had 14 conventions, I believe, last summer, and seven this summer, including one tomorrow at another fraternity. So we appreciate her sharing her thoughts with us that I think we have all taken to heart quite well.

Thank you, Eileen. On behalf of the Fraternity we want to present you with a certificate of appreciation.

MRS. STEVENS:

Thank you.

EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ANGSTADT:

And we have also, from the Educational Foundation of the Fraternity, the Endowment Fund, a grant to CHUCK to help you in your work.

MRS. STEVENS:

Thank you, Gary. (Applause)

PRESIDENT DONNELL:

Thank you, Gary. And, Eileen, you have brought us a powerful message and one that I think was very important for us to hear. We do thank you for taking the time in a busy schedule to be with us today.

Eileen Stevens

Arson Strikes Oklahoma Alpha

At approximately 9:00 a.m. January 5th, an arsonist visited the Phi Psi house at the University of Oklahoma. By placing four cans of gasoline in different locations around the house, he very nearly accomplished his demented goal as the top two floors of the beautiful Chapter home were nearly destroyed. Fortunately, due to the Christmas vacation, only one Brother was sleeping in the house at the time, and the smoke detector's alarm roused him and enabled his escape by leaping from a second story window. The tragedy was in loss of property only.

The Oklahoma Alpha House Corporation was in the process of upgrading the property's fire and safety equipment at the time of the incident, and it is believed that a total loss was avoided due to their initial work. The house is being re-built at this time for fall '83 occupancy. However, a call has gone out for Oklahoma Alphans and other Phi Psis and friends of the Fraternity to aid in the re-building effort. Winner of "The Most Improved Chapter" award at the Grand Arch Council last August, the undergraduates of Oklahoma Alpha are most deserving of your generosity.

Gifts can be made, deductible for income tax purposes to: "The University of Oklahoma—Phi Kappa Psi," and can be sent to the House Corporation Director, George Kurey, 2500 S. McGee Dr., Suite 108, Norman, OK 73069.

Oklahoma Alpha Housemother Mrs. Melba Snow is comforted by Brother Jerry Lee Turner, O.U. sophomore from Edmond, Oklahoma, who escaped the fire by jump-ing from a 2nd floor window.

Case Western Reserve University Honors Dr. Tinkham Veale II

Originator of the "POP" concept, a philosophy of entrepreneurship that had never before been applied to business on a large scale, Dr. Tinkham Veale II, Case Western '34, is the 1982 recipient of the prestigious Case Alumni Association Gold Medal Award. He is chairman of the board and a co-founder, Alco Standard Corp.

The presentation ceremony was held at the 97th Annual Reunion Banquet, May 7, at Stouffer's Inn on the Square, Cleveland, Ohio. It was a major feature at this national gathering of graduates and former students of Case Institute of Technology.

"POP"—"Partners of Profit" is the philosophy upon which the Alco Standard Corp. was founded. The company is composed of small to medium size progressive speciality companies that have combined, similar to a partnership, to aid their individual growths. "It is better to have part of a gusher than all of a trickle," Veale said when explaining his concept. A favorite slogan that executives recite together at meetings is "Never... ever... anywhere... has there been a corporation structured and operated as if it were a partnership."

In 1960, Veale teamed up with his classmate, John T. Vaughan, Case Western '34, and brother, George W. Veale IV, Case Western '41, to form the V & V Management Co., Cleveland, Ohio. The first firms to join the new organization were the Gas Machinery Co., Gas Atmospheres Inc., G. H. Bales Inc., Modern Equipment Co., Gas Machinery Co. of Canada Ltd., and Jackson Products Co. On Sept. 30, 1965, V & V merged with the Alco Oil and Chemical Co., Philadelphia, Pa., which had been founded in 1928. In January 1966, the consolidated company's name was changed to the Alco Standard Corp. and its headquarters are now at Valley Forge, Pa.

Today, the Alco Standard Corp. has more than 150 profit centers. The headquarters is staffed with top professional managers in a wide range of business practices including accounting, law, banking, taxes, capital formation, insurance, labor and industrial relations, investments, pension and cash management, long-range planning, budgetary expertise and related activities. The staff advises and handles for all of the member companies the complicated requirements necessary for business in the United States today. This relieves the personnel of the former private companies of these problems so they have more time to do the things in which they are experts, such as creating products and operating their companies.

"The Alco Standard Corp. is dedicated to the preservation of independent entrepreneurs and professional managers of the many small to medium size businesses, owned and operated by people who have the know-how to develop and improve products and services and the drive to establish or manage companies to produce and sell them. Such companies are the backbone of the American system of free enterprise," Veale said.

The Alco Standard Corp. has been called "The Phi Psi Company," with good reason. Alco was organized by three Phi Psis, Tinkham Veale II, Case Western '34, George W. Veale IV, Case Western '41, and John T. Vaughan, Case Western '34. In addition, the professional management team now or has included the following Phi Psis: David F. Clark, Ohio State '35; Robert Roy Elliott, Ohio Wesleyan '35. President of the Fraternity from 1958-1960, and Endowment Fund Trustee from 1962-1980; Edward S. Bale, Case Western '31; John R. Kaiser, Case Western '31; Robert A. Roth, Case Western '41; Harrison Moyer, Case Western '32: and Alfred Body, Case Western '34.

In the past 17 years, Alco Standard's annual revenues have grown from $35 million to approximately $3 billion this year. After tax profits have grown from $750,000 to more than $50 million and annual dividends have increased from

The Gold Medal Award was established by the Award Committee of the Case Alumni Association on July 22, 1966, in honor of the Nobel Prize laureates who are graduates of Case Institute of Technology. The laureates are Dr. Polykarp Kusch '31, Eugene McDermott, Professor, University of Texas at Dallas, and Dr. Donald A. Glaser '46, professor of physics and molecular biology, University of California at Berkeley.

The Award can be presented only to alumni of Case Institute of Technology who have earned distinguished achievement and made a major contribution in a field of science, engineering or management that adds to the welfare of the United States of America and reflects credit upon Case Institute of Tech-

2% cents a share to $1.08 a common share. Revenues have grown at an annual compound rate of 32.5 percent, net income 17.5 percent and dividends 22.3 percent. Common shareholders equity has increased at an annual compounded growth rate of 33.4 percent.

A native of Topeka, Kans., Veale excelled in sports at Cleveland Heights, Ohio, High School. He received a Case Alumni Association Van Horn Activities Scholarship for attendance at Case Institute of Technology. Despite two accidents that threatened to end his career, Veale starred on the basketball and football teams and was active in the Ohio Epsilon Chapter.

After graduation from Case Tech in 1937 with a bachelor's degree in mechanical engineering, Veale began his career as an executive trainee at the General Motors Corp., Detroit, Mich. Two years later, he returned to Cleveland and held engineering and management assignments in several companies.

In April, 1952, Veale retired for health reasons at the age of 37 years. At that time, he was assistant to the president, Ohio Crankshaft Co., Cleveland. In August of that year, he was appointed chairman of the Cuyahoga County Grand Jury and was awarded a plaque from the Cleveland Crime Commission for his service.

April 1983

Horses have always played an important part in Veale's life and his interest in racing has brought a vital force to the sport, resulting in his commission as a Kentucky Colonel. Veale became one of the nation's leaders in the thoroughbred horse breeding industry and at one time he owned and operated historic Elmendorf Farm, Lexington, Ky. Later, he was a special partner at the Cleveland investment firm of Ball, Burge and Kraus. In 1960, Veale became a cofounder of The V & V Management Co.

In addition to his activities as an engineer, investor and sportsman, Veale has devoted much time to civic affairs. He formerly was a director of the Chagrin Valley Hunt Club, president of the Gates Mills Historical Society and Village Council of Gates Mills, Ohio. Veale is a member of the Hunt Club, Mayfield Country Club and the Union Club.

Among honors conferred upon Veale are the Case Institute Silver Bowl and election to The Newcomen Society in North America. Kenyon College conferred an honorary doctor of law degree upon him in 1981.

Veale was married in 1941 to Harriett-A. Ernst. They have two daughters, a son and six grandchildren.

Brother Veale's honor as only his Alma Mater's 19th alumnus presented the prestigious Gold Medal was highlighted on the front cover of the Alumni Association magazine last summer. Dr. Veale is left.

Brother Veale's comments upon receiving the Gold Medal are offered below unedited, and give insight to the dramatic success of his life's work. One of Phi Psi's most generous contributors to the "New Sense of Challenge" campaign in the '70's, Dr. Veale acknowledged the award by first recognizing his family in attendance at the ceremonies last May:

"I would like to recognize my wonderful family, four generations strong and seated here in front of us, and John T. Vaughan, Class of 1937, my brother, George W. Veale IV, Class of 1943 and my father, George W. Veale III, 95 years old. Family and John please stand. These 17 plus five others too young to be here have been my leading inspiration and willing helpers without whom I might have gone astray a number of times. Thank you for your support.

cance to me as it is my 45th Anniversary and I would be honored to recognize my fellow classmates who are here for our 45th Reunion—Class of 1937; please stand up and put on your big smile—a gang of outstanding individuals.

Friends, 45 years has gone quickly for me. During the years, I have always had a deep sense of appreciation for my years at Case—memories are still strong FELLOW CASE Alumni and friends, I accept this 19th Case Alumni Association Gold Medal Award with sincere pleasure but with great humility. The list of past awardees—many who are or were friends—reads of outstanding successes and I am certain that they were as pleased as I am tonight to be recognized by their Case alumni peers. I am proud to be listed along with them.

This Reunion is of special signifiand the challenge instigated in us by Case's rounded engineering education are ever present.

Very early in my career I became aware that small privately owned businesses were getting the short end of the business stick in the U.S.A. The incentives of ownership were being destroyed by changes in the capitalistic free enterprise system. These changes bothered me deeply for many years and finally along with John Vaughn and George

Veale we decided to try and find an alternative method of corporate management. In 1965 we started the Alco Standard Corporation. "The Corporate Partnership."

For those of you who are not familiar with our relatively young, 17 years old, company, I report that this year we will have sales of about $3 billion; assets of over $1 billion and have, AFTER all taxes a 20 percent yearly profit return on our equity. We have almost 20,000 employees in 175 locations with over 15 million square feet of well-equipped factories on over 5,000 acres of industrial property.

The deep problems of privately owned businesses that I referred to were confirmed by a concentrated survey done by the "Gallagher's President's Advisory Group" several years ago. There are over 100,000 private American companies with a net worth of over $1,000,000. They surveyed the 1,500 of these who were still managed as chairman or president and chief executive officers by the entrepreneur who founded the company. The survey reported these startling statistics.

- A. 90 percent stated that survival, just plain survival, was their most critical issue.
- B. 75 percent stated that they would NOT start a business today and would NOT have earlier in their life if they then realized that the bureaucratic anti-free enterprise system would develop as it has over the last 20 years.
- C. When asked to list the six most serious offenses, they reported the following:
 - 1. Labor conditions, employee benefits and payroll costs.
 - 2. Excessive paperwork to comply with government regulations.
 - 3. Economic muscle of big government, big unions and big business.
 - 4. Exorbitant cost of professional services.
 - 5. Inability to compete for executive talents.
 - 6. Financing problems and costs.

Yet private business generates over one-third of the American total gross national product and over 40 percent of the total employment.

Because of all these statistics along with many others, we feel our new "Corporate Partnership" management style has offered to private industry a new alternative for survival during these very trying bureaucratic times. The development of our corporation has been the dedicated effort of many individuals and there have been some 15 Case Tech graduates among them.

We have been successful mainly because we would not deviate from our six basic views.

- PURPOSE—To create a new successful idea there must be a purpose. Our purpose was to create a new type of corporate management style that would give private business an alternative plan for its future.
- 2. DESIRE—To help private business overcome the bureaucratic problems of our times and to create a corporation with a balance of business markets.
- 3. CONCEPT—To build a corporation on the basis as if it were a partnership where employees and their families would own 50 percent of the equity. Relieve each corporate manager of business practice problems by having our own internal law firm, accounting firm, insurance team, bank, public relations, pension programs, mutual fund, foundation and etc., leaving management to do what it knows best: engineering, selling, manufacturing and servicing its products at a profit.
- 4. FREE ENTERPRISE SYSTEM—
 Whenever and wherever possible promote the old fashion capitalistic free enterprise system, the system that made this country, the greatest country in the world.
- RESPECT—Have respect for the views of our associates, employees, suppliers, customers and shareholders.
- 6. PEOPLE—To attract aggressive bright young professionals to our company up and down the management line and give them opportunities to become partners and shareholders. Always try to have a team spirit.

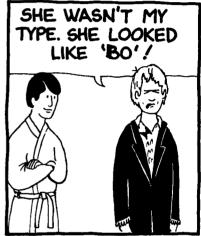

Friends, in a nutshell the preceding is a review of my recent business career. I am sure that most of my 275 partners would confirm with me that it was ideas developed early in life, educational opportunities spirited by small schools like Case and the friendship and help by many many people and associates throughout our careers who have been the guiding lights and challenges needed in our business success.

I again thank you, my Case alumni peers, for having added my name to the other 18 distinguished names of Case Gold Medal Awardees. It has been very pleasant to be with all of you.

Letters to Lockerbie

'40." It does not say "Texas Alpha '40." Is he a Brother Phi Psi?

We are constantly trying to maintain correct addresses for the 50,000 living members of Phi Kappa Psi, and as you can imagine, it is a challenge! Brother J. W. Akin, Texas '16, offers an unusual but very practical suggestion for our problem with "Jr." in his name, as he writes from Wichita Falls, Texas.

Dear Brother Angstadt:

Why don't you write an article in a national Phi Kappa Psi publication advising all Phi Psis to never name their boys "junior."

There will be too many complications all their lives. I know—I am 84 years old, and it is still bothersome.

And another Phi Psi and loyal supporter of the Fraternity, Mr. H. Franklin Oates of Alhambra, California, initiated into the Northwestern Chapter in 1911, has also had trouble with his Phi Psi mail, and wishes to take this opportunity to set the record straight.

Dear Brother Angstadt:

Upon receipt of the January SHIELD, I was "surprised" to see that I had joined the Chapter Eternal. Somewhat exaggerated since I celebrated my 93rd birthday on January 26 of this year.

You must have confused my name with that of James Franklin Oates II, who passed away in October of 1982. He was former president of the Equitable Life Assurance society of New York.

My cousin, James Franklin Oates was of the 1889 class of Illinois Alpha, His grandson, Franklin III was the class of 1939. James II was the class of 1924.

We apologize to Brother Oates, and wish it were possible to more accurately verify someone's joining the Chapter Eternal, or even keeping good addresses . . . Happy 93rd birthday!

We had a number of people comment favorably on the "Alltime Phi Psi Football Team" in the November issue, which Tex Schramm helped review. Brother W. G. Midgley, Oklahoma '35, wrote in questioning that article.

Dear Brother Angstadt:

This article says "Tex Schramm, Texas

It has long been the custom of THE SHIELD, in most cases, to use the individual's school name followed by initiation year into the Fraternity. The reasoning is that people more easily identify with the school name, and may not realize where someone attended school given only the chapter identification. However, whenever we do use the school and year following, most normally in italics, it does mean he is in fact an initiated Brother from that school, initiated in that year.

One Brother whose name appeared in the "Alltime Phi Psi Football Team" article, Albert E. Lind, Northwestern '33, of Youngstown, Ohio wrote the following:

Dear Gary:

You have made my day! Perhaps even my week. Today I received several long distance calls telling me that "there I was" on page 21 of the November '82 SHIELD where you listed the old Phi Psi jocks. Football that is.

Thanks. It was great to recall the many familiar names.

You made one big omission—my brother Fred Lind, Illinois Alpha '32, a halfback—punter—scored winning T.D. against Wisconsin in 1934, etc., should be be listed.

In our period at N.U. we had great football teams, winning the Big 10, beating Notre Dame, and all that good stuff.

High points reached while at N.U. included being G.P. at Illinois Alpha "#1 on campus," co-captain of the football team, and selected on many "all" teams. Phi Psi has been a great asset through all these business and social years.

Thanks for the lift.

Another letter in response to the football article came from David D. Theall, Dickinson '51:

Dear Gary.

Enjoyed the SHIELD article on alltime Phi Psi football team immensely. Although I played football at Dickinson College (Penn Zeta), my sports interest lies with basketball now. Many Phi Psis, including Red Kerr of Syracuse, were both all-American and all-pro.

Do you think there is anyone in the Brotherhood who could attempt a follow-up article on the alltime great basketball team?

Keep up the good work. And please note my change of address.

Brother Theall will be pleased to see in this issue of THE SHIELD that very article on Phi Psi's Alltime Great Basketball Team, utilizing the assistance of Oregon State's successful basketball coach and fellow Brother Ralph Miller, Kansas '38. And while this new basketball story, like the football article, was not written by a Phi Psi, we trust the readership will nonetheless enjoy the well done review of the many Phi Psis involved in basketball.

We might also point out that sharing with THE SHIELD office new addresses is vital if our readers are to continue receiving their various Phi Psi mailings. In addition to THE SHIELD and other letters sent directly from the Fraternity Headquarters, since most Chapters do not maintain their own alumni mailing lists separately, correspondence from your Chapter most often depends on the accuracy of the mailing address maintained with the Phi Psi Headquarters and shared with all the Chapters.

The next letter comes to us from one of Phi Psi's biggest boosters, and I feel certain that, if the Fraternity were ever to initiate a lady to her ranks, it would be Miss Alice Pfaller, devoted worker in the Fraternity Headquarters from 1930 through 1978 . . . that's 49 years! Although "Miss P," as she is known to her friends, would never hear of a female Phi Psi, nevertheless her spirit and dedication to the Fraternity would justify the breaking of tradition. Co-worker with all three of Phi Psi's chief executives since the Fraternity first opened a national Headquarters office, Miss P resides still in her hometown of Cleveland. Having attended more GACs than most any other lady, Miss P still holds Phi Psi dear to her heart, as she shared the following:

Dear Gary:

As you all know, my thoughts are still with Phi Psi and all my former co-workers. The last issue of THE SHIELD brought back many fond memories.

Incidentally, the GAC issue was at its usual high standard . . . oh for the life of a proofreader!

Have a wonderful year . . . and remember me to all who may visit the Phi Psi Head-quarters.

"The Columbus Connection" on James Thurber and Elliott Nugent was also a highlight of the November SHIELD, with the author, Professor Robert A. Tibbetts sending us the following.

Dear Mr. Angstadt:

I have heard from one local Fraternity member already, and hope that we will be able to follow up and possibly obtain some added anecdotes for our files. This leads me to make one request. Could you please pass on any comments that the piece may evoke, and the sources, especially should they be people that might be able to provide additional information. Both the Ohio State University libraries and the Thurber House/Circle are interested in pursuing any leads.

We would suggest that those of you who may have additions to make to Professor Tibbetts research send them directly to him at: 79 Westwood Road, Columbus, OH 43214.

Brother Vernon A. Bellman, Washington '21, has long been a loyal supporter of Phi Kappa Psi. Now residing in DelRay Beach, Florida, Brother Bellman sent the following:

Since in the past my comments about THE SHIELD have not always been complimentary, I would like you to know that the makeup, contents, etc. of the November SHIELD was the best I have seen in a long time.

Keep up the good work—it will pay off in many ways.

Phi Psi's SHIELD goes out to colleges and universities who now do or ever have hosted a Chapter, and to many interfraternity friends, including the Executive Director and Editor of Phi Gamma Delta, William S. Zerman, who wrote the following.

Dear Gary:

I want you to know how much I appreciate your outstanding November '82 "Shield." It is really super, and I know your members enjoy it immensely. . it really does a nice job of reflecting the tone of Phi Kappa Psi.

Your Fraternity is making every effort to increase the quality of THE SHIELD, and will do so to the extent funding is available. Printing cost increases, sky rocketing postage rates, and a gradually growing membership roster all make for a financial challenge.

But progress of the Fraternity does continue, thanks in large part to growing numbers of Phi Psis who wish to contribute financially to the Fraternity as a show of their support.

One such individual, Dennis L. Jones, California '66, of Pleasant Hill, California, and a long time advisor to his Cal Gamma Chapter wrote the following:

Dear Gary:

I want to thank you on behalf of the Northern California Alumni Association for extending your visit to California and speaking at our lunch. I appreciate your comments about the need for a more broad-based support in order to keep Phi Psi strang. . . I know from my personal experience of working with the Fraternity's staff that Phi Kappa Psi is a great Fraternity. I know that without the strong support of the Fraternity, we would not have been able to recharter the Cal Gamma Chapter. . . I realize that without the money to continue this type of commitment to the continuation of Phi Kappa Psi, our beloved Fraternity will be weakened.

You made the statement about the percentage of alumni who make a donation. As I recall, this figure was approximately 10-15%. Even if we could increase this percentage to 25-30%, this should have a positive impact on the financial position of the Fraternity. I would be willing to bet that there are many Phi Psis in the Bay Area who would be glad to contribute. I know there were many Phi Psis at the Big Game lunch who think about contributing when they receive your letter. They have good intentions, but they never get around to writing the check.

Brother Jones goes on to express his personal interest in supporting the Fraternity, and his determination in helping motivate those with whom he comes in contact to do likewise.

Thanks so much Denny! And his message is well-timed, since the Fraternity's 1983 Alumni Support program is just now off and running. Remember, too, that your support is important!

LINUS E. SOUTHWICK, Nebraska '32, recently celebrated the 25th anniversary of his founding the Glendale National Bank (now known as Valley National), in Glendale, California. During the past 25 years the bank's founding President and current Chairman of the Board watched the fledgling bank grow from one office with slightly over $1 million in capital to a large regional institution with over $135 million in assets, six full service bank offices and more than $10 million in capital.

Following appointment by New Mexico Governor Bruce King as a Colonel, Aide-de-Camp, on his staff, DEAN SIMS, Kansas '42, displays his commission. Brother Sims, chairman of Public Relations International, based in Tulsa, Oklahoma, also is a director of Delgado Advertising & Public Relations, Santa Fe, and chairman of Public Relations International of Spain, Madrid.

ELMER G. GRANT, Allegheny '44, has been elected Chairman of Central Counties Bank, State College, Pennsylvania. The bank, which has 27 offices in five central Pennsylvania counties, has assets in excess of $500 million. Brother Grant, who resides in State College, has been with the bank since 1972.

JOSEPH A. AXELSON, Northwestern '45, recently returned as president and general manager of the National Basketball Association's Kansas City Kings club. He previously had served the Kings as general manager. He also spent three years as vice president for operations of the NBA. Brother Axelson brings a business approach to his work, being responsible for administering a $6 million annual budget for the Kings.

L. L. BOWMAN III, Texas '49, has been appointed as Commissioner of Texas Savings and Loan Department. Brother Bowman, a native of Greenville, Texas has served as Deputy Commissioner of the Savings and Loan Department since 1980. Prior to that time, he had served the Mutual Savings and Loan Association of Greenville in various capacities since 1956, and was Managing Officer of that institution for 15 years.

ANTON N. KASANOF, Chicago '51, a Foreign Service Officer of the United States Information Agency (USIA), is now serving as Chief of the USIA Voluntary Visitors Division. Some 2,000 distinguished foreign visitors come to the United States each year under the auspices of this program as part of the U.S. Government effort to improve mutual understanding through educational and cultural exchange. In his 22 years with USIA Brother Kasanof has served in The Netherlands, Chad, Zimbabwe, Zambia, Turkey, Israel and Morocco.

CARLOS M. CANAL, JR., Columbia '51, heads the recently established "administration function" of the Bankers Trust Co., the nation's eighth largest commercial bank. The executive vice president of the world corporate department and a member of the management committee, Brother Canal will be responsible for corporate communications, investor relations, industry and public affairs, economics, general staff services and real estate management.

ANDREW J. KNIGHT, II, Mississippi '77, has graduated cum laude from the University of Florida School of Law. He is an associate with Toole, Taylor, Moseley, and Joiner, an admiralty litigation firm in Jacksonville, Florida.

BRUCE ERICKSEN, Nebraska '78, JON HEDGES, Nebraska '76 and BILL LOVGREN, Nebraska '79 are members of a popular Nebraska-based group called Shootin' from the Hip. Particularly popular in the Lincoln, Nebraska area, especially with the song "Why ain't There No Songs About Nebraska?", the group has been together for over two and one half years and plays country, country-rock, bluegrass and country-swing music.

LT. COL. JOHN COLLIE, JR., Indiana '55, recently attended LOGEX-82, a logistical exercise dealing with a hypothetical attack on NATO forces in Europe by members of the Warsaw Pact. Brother Collie, an army ready-reservist and president of the Northwest Indiana Reserve Officers Association, has his regular assignment at the Pentagon as an action officer in the Office of the Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations, Force Structure Plans Division. He is currently self-employed at Collie Insurance Agency, Merrill-ville, Indiana.

MORRIS M. CREEL, Texas '56, has been promoted to division vice president of Tracor MBA, located in Austin, Texas, a subsidiary of Tracor, Inc. NYSE-TRR. Brother Creel will serve as manager of the Company's Radcon operations in Austin and Laredo, which are involved principally as a manufacturer of passive electronic countermeasures systems for ships. He is a registered professional engineer and a member of the American Institute of Aeronautics and Astronautics and the Association of the Old

BRIAN D. CARR, Texas Tech '78, graduated with his Master's of Arts in Psychology (Clinical) degree from St. Mary's University in San Antonio. Brother Carr will continue to work towards his Ph.D. in Clinical Psychology. He has served as a graduate assistant during 1982-1983 and is the corresponding secretary for the South Plains (Lubbock) Alumni Association.

ROBIN MADISON DEMOUTH, Illinois '60 (Virginia '59), secretary and general counsel of Stewart-Warner Corporation, has been elected to the additional office of vice president of the Corporation. Brother Demouth, who resides in Chicago, joined the Corporation in 1965 as an attorney, served as assistant secretary, and was elected secretary in 1978. In 1981, he was appointed chief legal officer and general counsel for the Corporation.

ROBERT M. JOHNSON, Louisiana State '66, has become president and chief operating officer of Newsday in Long Island, New York. Owned by the Times-Mirror Co. of Los Angeles, it is the largest and fastest growing afternoon newspaper in the U.S. He and his wife, Susan, have two children, Stephanie and Chad.

foot, from the tension. So much for success!

Now his paintings hang in museums throughout the United States. In 1973 he was honored with a one-man show at the Frye Museum in Seattle. The Explorers Club in New York, the Department of Interior in Washington, the University of Alaska and other institutions count Machetanz's work in their collections. The University of Alaska, which has the only complete set of Machetanz's lithographs, awarded him an honorary doctorate in fine arts in 1973.

Machetanz had studied lithography at the Art Students League in New York: he has continued to draw on stone and has issued almost fifty editions of Alaskan subjects. His lithographs have given him special rewards. He says, "I have heard from a number of folks who bought my prints in the old days when I needed the money so badly. They paid eighteen or twenty dollars for them. Now they are down on their luck and need operations or medicine or just money. Some of them have sold four or five of the old prints and made almost five thousand dollars."

The English language has one word for "snow" and another single word for "ice." The Eskimos have more than fifty words for each substance. The Eskimos describe the condition, the color, the texture, and other qualities which are invisible to those whose lives and safety have not been intimately involved with snow and ice. Fred Machetanz paints with the full Eskimo vocabulary of color. Those who appreciate his work most are those who have, through experience or practice, learned to view it with an eye that has the expanded Eskimo vocabulary.

He takes six months to a year to complete a painting. Then, like Degas, who used to retouch his paintings in museums, he has great difficulty in letting a painting go. There is always just another little thing he would like to improve. Machetanz keeps three or four paintings in progress at the same time to accommodate the drying process in the infrared chamber.

Fred Machetanz's plans for the future are, happily, explorative. He has no intention of vegetating or pampering himself. He says that doesn't work anyway. Ten years ago, when he signed on for his last walrus hunt, Sara persuaded him that he had paid his dues long years before, that he could live a little more comfortably. She packed him a great store of delicacies-boned chicken, cheeses and all the rest-so that he could pass up the muktuk and raw fish. By the time Fred arrived at the departure point his conscience was bothering him. He couldn't eat all that great food in front of his sailing mates. He turned the package over to the captain for distribution. He never again saw chicken. cheese, crackers, or anything else that was in the package. He ate blubber and raw fish for the whole voyage.

Machetanz has several years of commissions stacked ahead of him. Then, he says, he will explore the ideas that have had to wait.

In The Land of Beyond, Robert Service asked:

Have ever you stood where the silences brood,
And vast the horizons begin,
At the dawn of the day to behold far away
The goal you would strive for and win?

Fred Machetanz can answer, "Yes, I strove and I won."

MICHAEL R. HILL, Allegheny '79, died October 10, 1982, in an automobile accident.

WILLIAM T. "BILL" WARD III, Mississippi '79. At only 22 years of age, Bill contracted spinal meningitis while returning to his home in Atlanta, Georgia, for the Thanksgiving Holidays, and died on November 23, 1982, just one month prior to his graduation from the University of Mississippi.

A graduate of Lakeside High School, Brother Ward was a Political Science major at 'Ole Miss. He was initiated into Mississippi Alpha in the spring of 1979, and made many contributions to the Phi Psi intramural program. Bill excelled in all forms of athletics: football, basketball, soccer, and golf, just to name a few.

Bill's memory is treasured by Mississippi Alpha, and consequently they have established the William T. Ward III Memorial Athletic Award to be given each year to the outstanding undergraduate athlete. A donation, in the name of the recipient, will be contributed to the William T. Ward III Memorial Fund. This fund, used to research spinal meningitis, was established by Bill's father, Dr. William T. Ward II, Chief of Staff at the DeKalb County General Hospital in Atlanta.

Any donations can be made directly to the fund, and may be mailed to the following address. All donations are tax deductible.

From the Archives . . .

The Fraternity is pleased to be the recipient of gifts related directly to Phi Psi, or art and furnishings of the founding era. The Fraternity's Headquarters, Heritage Hall, provides a setting designed to appropriately display these items related in some way to the Fraternity or to society circa 1852.

This very unusual replica of the Badge hangs in the Founders Room of Heritage Hall, and has a most interesting history as recounted to us on an inscription permanently attached to the back of the large Badge, whose frame measures nearly a 3' square:

"This insignia was executed in 1902, in Japan, by a native of that country, working only from a small shield on a letter-head [Editors note: explains "oriental" looking lamp, and missing stars,] for Lawrence B. Dashill, of the U.S. Battleship Kentucky, as a surprise gift to his Brother, Howard N. Dashill of Indiana Delta Chapter.

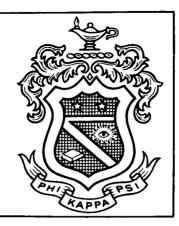

In collaboration with Brother John L. Porter, Allegheny '86, Brother Dashill had it mounted and presented it, on Founders Day 1934, to the Pittsburgh Alumni Association of Phi Kappa Psi, which in turn presented it to the Executive Council of the Fraternity, through Brother C. F. "Dab" Williams, Illinois '06, the Secretary of the Council."

Visitors to the Fraternity Headquarters today enjoy the affection and generosity of one Brother for another exhibited over 80 years ago!

Dynamic

The Brothers of Ohio Iota have made giant steps towards establishing ourselves as the leading fraternity on campus!

First of these accomplishments was the fantastic results of our spring rush program. On February 17, we had the honor to formally pledge nine enthusiastic men into our Chapter. Their names are: Eugene Bozin, Parma; John Bracey-Gibbon I, Uniontown; Adam Hedrick, Stow; Jeff Michel, Northfield Center; Mark Randolph, Mogadore; Peter Schwartz, Cuyahoga Falls; Craig Sipe, Tallmadge; Rick Udelson, Pepperpike; and Steve Svenson, Tallmadge. This is the largest pledge class our Chapter has ever had! Thanks to Ken Harper, Chapter Consultant, for his valuable advice which helped us to establish an efficient and dynamic rush program.

Second, Jim Schulte, our Chapter president has been elected to represent the university's Interfraternity Council at the Mid-American Interfraternity Conference in St. Louis, MO. in March.

Third, our representation in campus organizations has increased quite a bit. We are involved in Student Center Programming, Associated Student Government, Delta Nu Alpha (Transportation Fraternity), and many committees within the Greek system.

Our reorganization of our Alumni Association has increased the number of members and we welcome all area alumni to come and join us in Brotherhood. Another significant sign of our Alumni's involvement is their attendance at Founders Day dinner. Over half in attendance consisted of alumni and their guests. Also, the Housing Corporation and the Alumni Association are pulling together to consider some major improvements to the Chapter house: new furnace, windows, and doors.

Therefore, the State of the Chapter is dynamic! We are looked upon as leaders. Our financial affairs are in good order. Our chapter is DYNAMIC and the future holds many promising years of growth for PHI KAPPA PSI!

Founders Day Festivities

Alabama Alpha began the year with an extremely eventful Founders Day celebration on January 29. We began with the initiation of fifteen excellent new Brothers: Brad Gray, Scott Beard, Sandy Leeds, Brad Pruitt, Alan Logan, Paul Lett, John Hall, Barry Short, John Higginbottom, Phil Williams, Mark Dixon, David Owsley, Bill Buckner, Dave Pecher, and Joe Sloan. A champagne reception in honor of our Chapter founder, Brother John Fraser Ramsey, followed the initiation. For the undergraduates, this was their first opportunity to meet Brother Ramsey. In retrospect, it would be the final tribute to the man whom we all loved and to whom all Alabama Alphans owe the greatest debt. Brothers Ramsey passed away February 16, after seeing Alabama Alpha strong and growing like he started it. To many of us. Brother Ramsey was Phi Kappa Psi and Phi Kappa Psi was Brother Ramsey.

At the Founders Day banquet, many awards were presented. Mike Gunter was awarded the Summerfield Scholar award and the Outstanding Active award. Our Outstanding Pledge was Brad Gray, and our Outstanding Alumnus award was shared by Fred Clay and Jay Masingill. The Chapter was presented with a Tuscaloosa County Preservation Society Historical marker for its help in a service project at a Tuscaloosa historical building. We were pleased to have as our guests John K. Boyd III, President; Gary B. Angstadt, Executive Director; and John R. Donnell, immediate past President. The day concluded with a formal dance Saturday evening.

Three more pledges have been garnered: Mark White, Bartow, FL; Joe Griffin, Londonderry, NH; and Jeff Wilbanks, of Oxford. Plans are being made for summer rush, and the name of any rushees would be appreciated.

Progress

Pennsylvania Beta began second term by opening its doors to eleven new pledges who will be initiated third term: William Scott Fryling, Woodstock, NY; Brian Scott Smithley, Ligonier; Damian Antoine Lee Walker, Pittsburgh; Andrew Mark von Kaenel, Fairport, NY; Albert Scott Foley, Freedonia, NY; Shawn Dennis Casella, Erie; Bernard Selwyn Klopfer, Pittsburgh; Ethan Woods Milley, Reading, MA; Gregory Keith Moberg, Lancaster; Andrew Scott Bestor, Glastonbury, CT; David Hyatt, Meadville.

After the demanding week of formal rush was complete and the pledges were well into Fraternity Education, the following officers were elected: David Gallogly, GP; Rocco Arcieri II, VGP; Michael Eberth, P; Mitch Krinsky, AG; John Benjamin, BG; Tim Burgess, SG; Mike Basile and John Usdin, Phu; and Brian Lasher, Hi. The former officers made a great deal of progress in the last year and were successful in leading the fraternity through a difficult period.

The Alumni-Public Relations Committee in conjunction with Social Committee has proposed a philanthropic event to be held third term. The event will consist of a 5,000 meter run with funds to be raised from sponsors, along with individual and team entrance fees. All proceeds will go to the United Cerebral Palsy program here in Meadville. This is a first time event for the Brothers at Penn Beta and will demand the cooperation of each member.

With the hope of strengthening inter-Greek relations on the Allegheny campus, Penn Beta Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi, in cooperation with two other fraternities, sponsored an "All Greek Bash." The overwhelming response demonstrated the unity and strength of the Greek system on campus.

Successful Spring

The Brothers of Arizona Alpha kicked off the spring semester with a BANG! A Chapter Officers retreat was held in early January at the Saguaro National Monument located in the desert near Tucson. The retreat was a combination picnic and strategy planning session for the outgoing and incoming officers of our Chapter. The retreat gave everyone a chance to meet and relax with one another and plan the events for what was a busy semester.

Founder's Day '83 festivities were held on February 18. Brothers, alumni and new pledges enjoyed the celebration at the Smuggler's Inn Restaurant in Tucson. Our agenda included a cocktail hour, followed by a superb London Broil dinner and socializing afterwards.

Our annual Minsky's entertainment booth during the campus Spring Fling carnival held in April was a triumphant success. The Brothers and girls of Alpha Delta Pi enjoyed "strutting their stuff" as they danced and entertained to the music of the Stripper, Big Spender and other Burlesque songs in front of a cheering and enthusiastic audience.

Service projects as always played an important role for Arizona Alpha. The Brothers along with new pledges Graham K. Sheldon, Portland, OR, and James E. Neville Jr. of Pittsburg, PA, participated in service and devotion to others. A picnic and soccer game with boys from the Creative Learning Center was held in late February. The Center is a Tucson rehabilitation home for young men. Plans were also made for activities with the Tucson Boys Club, a Sabino Canyon cave clean-up and a benefit basketball or baseball game with the d.j.'s from a local radio station.

Scholastically, Arizona Alpha retained its prestige and received the third highest GPA of all Greek houses on campus.

The Arizona Alphan monthly newsletter began publication in late January. If you didn't receive a copy and would like to, please send name and address to Phi Kappa Psi, Arizona Alpha, 715 N. Park Ave., Tucson, AZ 85719.

Fun In the Sun

The Brothers of AZ Beta are gearing up for the spring semester here in the Valley of the Sun. We've got plenty of responsibilities to keep us busy for the next few months and they're in the care of some very energetic Brothers.

However, some responsibilities tend to pay off in very good times. Case in point: Brother Curt Havens is in charge of our first Phi Psi "500" in two years. Under his command our 500, which takes place on April 16, will once again be the biggest party and philanthropic event at Arizona State University.

To share our good times we have nine new pledges that are determined to become Phi Psis.

Our Founders Day ceremonies were truly memorable. Held on February 17 at the Arizona Country Club in Phoenix, we honored our Chapter's founder, Robert "Sandy" Chamberlain, for twenty years of service to Phi Kappa Psi.

This semester we have a new group of officers who are still dumbfounded that anyone would vote for them.

In my Brother update there is: John Edmondson still spinning awful records till the wee hours of the morning on KSTM; Mike Ettinger still sitting the ASU Rugby bench; Jeff Owens learning to skate on the ASU Hockey Club; the Better Business Bureau continuing its stake-out on Art Gross for his airline scam; and our B league bowling team as intramural champs.

In closing, I'd like to thank our distinguished alumni for their continuing support, especially for our future kitchen; and wish two graduating Brothers, Peter Cushing and Billy Pritchard, the best that life has to offer.

Renewed Enthusiasm

Greetings from the Ozarks! The men of Arkansas Alpha returned from semester break with renewed enthusiasm as six men were signed on the roll as Phi Psi pledges.

February was a very eventful month for the Chapter. On the 12th eight men were initiated into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi. They were Chip Morgan Porter, Bradford M. Young, Fred William Tisdale, David Ferguson, Alfus Glenn Lockeby, Jeffery Bret Wentz, and Joe Mark Clark.

Founder's Day was observed the 19th at the Fayetteville Hilton and turned out to be one of the most successful in the Chapter's existence thanks largely to the efforts of Brothers Luigi Chiechi and Steve Plaster.

February 26 was a milestone for the fraternity, as it sponsored its second annual "Out of Hibernation" bash, which turned out to be THE social event on the U of A campus. Some 2,000 people turned out to party with the Phi Psis.

The fall semester ended with the election of spring officers: Jeff Gaines, GP; Brett Mosley, VGP; Kevin Dailey, P; Terry Madden, AG; David Jordan, BG; Gregory Garland, SG; Nelson Blackford, Hod; Jim Haley, Phu; and Tim Wiseman, Hi.

We at Arkansas Alpha are very excited about the remainder of our spring semester and wish the best for our brother Chapters.

Active Committees

This semester is rockin' and rollin' along at Ohio Theta. Social Chairmen John Sturm and Dan Sexton have kept us in a constant state of delectation.

Other committee chairmen are: Membership and Bylaws revision, Scott Bontempo; Governing and Grievence, Mike Burkholder; Finance, Todd Winter; Psimon, Darryl Charton; Recreation, Dave Foos; Activities and Furniture, Kevin Murray; Formal, Dan Monacelli and Frank Fraas; Scholarship, Jay Billy; Rush, Jeff Kulman; and Intramurals, Fergy Ferguson.

Our congratulations to recent graduates, Kevin Rose and Dick Smith.

Our thanks and best wishes to the seniors who will be graduating this May. They are: Jay Billy, Ben Bissman, Joe Bettura, Frank Fraas, Mark Franklin, Jim Hague, John Heffernan, J. R. Milligan, Eric Monchecourt, Doug Murray, Tad Rose, Dan Sexton, Larry Schuman, and Rick Sorkow.

We will be traveling to Niagra Falls for our spring formal. We've talked about this for years and it has finally become a reality.

Three of our recent graduates, Bob Black, Mike Cunningham and Tommy Johnston will be getting married this summer.

The Brothers will once again be active this spring athletically. Joe Bettura and Dan Monacelli are playing baseball. Rick Sorkow, Jim Hague and Frank O'Brien keep tradition alive as they hit the lacrosse field. Scott Bontempo will represent the golf team. Brian Beveridge will be running track, and Bob DiDonato may be playing tennis.

Alumni John Telich stopped by, as did Jim Baker and Keith Connors. We encourage all alumni to drop in on us.

Geoff Mills where are you?

All that could be said has been said.

Hanging in There

Morale remains high at Alabama Beta. Our scholarship continues to stand in a class by itself. This year's Founders Day celebration was held with all the pomp and ceremony it deserved. We would certainly like to thank all the alumni who could make it. Alabama Beta also celebrated its ninth year at Auburn and once again, "thanks" to the alumni who could make it. We have initiated two new Brothers recently: Clifford Royce Cheney, Pensacola, FL; and Rickey Lynn Johnson, Cherry Point, NC.

Leading the Chapter into the new quarter are Alabama Beta's new officers: Waylon Thompson, GP; Bill Baughan, VGP; Gary Storie, AG; Tom White, P; Mike Robertson, BG; Pete Cento, Phi; Dave Dobbings, Hod, and Cliff Cheney, Hi.

This year's A-Day Celebration will be April 30 and House Party will be the following weekend. We hope to see all of our distinguished alumni at both functions. There will be the usual House Corporation activities, hopefully full of good news after our previous meeting of Feb. 26, here at the house.

We would like to extend a special thanks to our alumni for the fine victory celebration held Saturday night after humiliating Alabama in football. Birmingham definitely felt our presence.

High Hopes

Wisconsin Gamma approaches the Spring Term with high hopes for an excellent semester. We have settled into classes with house leadership provided by James Hollensteiner, GP; Gregg Powell, VGP; Joe Carroll, P; David McDonald, AG; and Courtney Ellis, BG. Also to be noted for their efforts are Jay Byers, Steward; Ken Matheis, House Manager; and Joe Coyne, Service Chairman.

Outside the house, Phi Psis are filling important roles in all aspects of campus life. Senior Jeff Van Hoosear represents the chapter in Community Senate, and Freshmen Dave McDonald and Scott Bennett also serve on that body. Charles Day serves as IFC President. Jay Byers is serving as News Editor of The Round Table, and Blaine Kloeckner is its business manager. Chip Pettibone, Scott Bennett, Dave McDonald and Charles Day are columnists.

Athletically, the Beloit hockey team is a major point of interest for Phi Psi, as Pat Esposito, Steve Creden and Joe Carroll are on its roster. Chip Pettibone continues to excel for the swimming team. The College's baseball club claims Guy Oberwise, Terry Jones, Phil Rogers, Blaine Kloeckner, Joe Carroll, Charles Day, Linc German, Mark Underwood, and pledge Mark Magnuson. On the Lacrosse team for Phi Psi are Courtney Ellis and Bill Droessler.

Dave Morgan, Dirk Damrau, and Ed Lowrie have returned after Field Terms in Chicago, Austria, and Northern Wisconsin, respectively. Dean Armandroff is on the American University program in Washington.

We would all like to wish Brother John Biester, a Beloit graduate, instructor and administrator, the best as he and his wife prepare for his retirement. His service to the College and Wisconsin Gamma has been inspiring.

We also wish our brethren well this term and hope everyone has a great summer.

Celebration Spectacular

Ohio Zeta celebrated this Founders Day in particularly grand style. The celebration combined Founders day activities with our Winter Formal and our fall initiation ceremony.

The day began at 11:00 with an Alumni Association meeting with over 60 alumni and Brothers in attendance. Immediately following this meeting, the initiation ceremony was held from 1:00 to 4:30 at Prout Chapel. Alumni were invited to renew their initiation vows along with the ten outstanding pledges. The new initiates are: Scott Davis, Scott Rouf, Craig Stone, Rick Kyle, Mark Ferraro, Matt Morbitt, Carey Danielson, Mark Schweinfurth, Don Brackenhoff, and Craig Moeller. Upon completion of the ceremony, everyone returned to the house for a reception in honor of the new Brothers.

A cocktail hour was held from 7 to 8:00 at the Bowling Green Elk's Club with a dinner and awards presentation immediately following. Adjournment from the dinner lead into the evening's dance and finally various after hours parties. The entire day was enjoyed by all. Special thanks goes out to Alumni Brother Chris Geib, Brother John Bonko, and all others involved for the wonderful job in bringing off the most successful celebration in the history of Ohio Zeta. Congratulations!

At this time, we would also like to congratulate our new spring pledges. They are: Matt Dewey, Pat Dodge, Jeff Durkin, Dave Foote, and Rob Lederman. Welcome to Phi Kappa Psi.

Busy Year

Penn Gamma is going through a smooth transition from the old to the new administration. The old officers of Pres. George Tsougarakis, Vice-Pres. Corey Temple, Treas. Doug Hitchner, and Corres. Secr. Dave Hoyt are to be congratulated for running a smooth Chapter in 1982.

As the 2nd semester gets underway, the Brotherhood is looking forward to a strong term, both socially and athletically. With the intramural season half-way completed, Phi Kappa Psi is in a close 2nd place in the Pangburn Trophy standings. Historically we have been a strong competitor in the last half of the season, and this combined with expected high finishes in basketball, squash, paddle tennis, and more should make for a down-to-the-wire race for first place. It should be noted that Brother Corey Temple has done an outstanding job in coordinating Phi Psi intramurals at Bucknell these past 2 years!

The social chairmen, Dan Fitzgerald and Bob Rhein, have come up with a full calendar that should keep the Brothers active and insure nary a dull moment this semester. Upcoming social events include Shipwreck, Roman Toga Party, Friday Nite Cash Face, and House Party weekend. The Brothers extend their wishes to all alumni to visit any time, especially House Party weekend.

Another semester comes to a close, and again it is time to report on Chapter happenings. But this has not been just another semester. We have experienced a great deal of progress and yet, we still keep our firm traditions.

Once again the men of Indiana Zeta are proud to boast that we have achieved the highest grade point average among male housing units on campus. After winning it this Fall, we have held the trophy for 27 semesters.

We placed very well in Spring Sing, a vocal competition among paired housing units. This year we were paired with Kappa Kappa Gamma, and our co-directors were Ivan Fuller and Mark J. Stewart.

This has been a very strong year for our intramural program. We placed second in football, first in racquetball, first in archery, made the play-offs in volleyball, and there is a good chance that we will place well in the basketball play-offs.

We are continuing yet another tradition by hosting the 7th annual "Phi Psi 500" minibike race. This year we are raising money in conjunction with the race to donate to our philanthropy. This will be the first time our philanthropy has ever been connected with the annual event.

Congratulations new initiates! The following men were initiated into the Brotherhood on January 29: Troy Earl Fanzler, Rodchester, IL; Thomas Eugene Gehlbach, Lincoln, IL; Bradley Scott Gillum, Elwood; Jeffrey Alan Jones, Lincoln, IL; Doug Kent, Hebron; Michael Darin O'Shaughnessy, Pekin, IL; Keith Thomas Podemski, South Bend; and Randall Thomas Strutz, Palos Heights, IL.

Our Spring Semester officers are: Brian Robert Strautman, GP; Mark Jordan Stewart, VGP; Paul Glenn Martin, P; Duane Roger Denton, AG; John Allen Scircle, BG; Anthony J. Bushnell, SG; Douglas William Bramley, Hod; Steven Eric McKenzie, Phu; Ivan Fuller, Hi; and Bob Bailey, Fraternity Educator. Our Fall '83 rush chairman is Mark Stewart and our house manager is Jim Sweeney.

The Big 1000 in Sight

Cal Gamma is here to stay. Although we lost our charter during Berkeley's turbulent '60's, we are now rapidly growing stronger. Since rechartering in 1978 the Chapter has increased its membership and built great morale; this spring we will initiate the 1000th member.

We feel secure in reaching the 1000 mark but have not lost the enthusiasm and energy necessary to build a stronger Chapter. We just had an unprecedented winter rush week, adding the nine pledges necessary to put us over 1000 initiates. We plan two intensive weeks in spring quarter.

Cal Gamma prides itself on the individuality reflected in the varied campus and Chapter activities of its members; our newest initiates continue the tradition—John Arbuckle, Andy Bloch, Eric Copeland, Scott Delehanty, Dan Kuchta, Jerry Markovitz, Adam Shiffman, and Michael Stusser. Adam took responsibility as kitchen manager, Scott is now social chairman, Andy is studying this quarter at the London School of Economics, and Michael does sports commentary for the campus radio station. New members remind us why we call a member "active."

When asked for comment for this publication our house and grounds chairman replied, "This place is held together with duct tape." Who put him in charge of house improvements? Seriously, we have made an effort to better the living situation; the last two pledge classes remodeled the basement into a party room and installed a wet bar. Plans for the rest of the year include new living room furniture, another water heater, and a roof deck to take advantage of the San Francisco Bay view. (and more duct tape).

Really though, we at Cal Gamma have a serious attitude toward Chapter strength, academics and individuality.

One thousand down; do I hear two?

Winter Into Spring

It has been an eventful Winter for the California Iota Chapter of Phi Kappa Psi. We began the quarter with the initiation of four new Brothers: Dave Chong, Rennie Cuyugan, Frank Franco, and Sam Mangoba. At our first meeting, we named Josh Charlat, our most distinguished graduating member, as the Solon E. Summerfield Scholar for this year. The new Chapter officers have also been elected: Doug Smith, GP; Rick Dal Porto, VGP; Greg Franco, P; Robert Parker, AG; Jim English, BG; Jeff Amberg, SG; Greg Franco, Hod; Greg Stone, Phu; and Ken Anderson, Hi.

Many of the Brothers attended Founder's Day activities at California Gamma Chapter in Berkeley on February 19th and several field trips to other Chapters have also been beneficial. California Iota's first annual Fun Run will take place on the University of California Davis campus on March 12 as a fundraiser for ourselves and especially for charity. We are all busily engaged in planning Spring Rush activities, and have many excellent ideas from which to choose. California Iota is going strong!

Stellar Performance

Once again California Epsilon looks back at a successful Fall and Winter. Fall highlights include an award winning Homecoming headed by Brother Scott Goodin, the Winnebago trip to the Cal game, the Palm Springs Rush retreat, and Pledge/Active, and Brother Karl Morgan's game saving tackle in the final goal line stance against USC.

Fall ended as we installed our new officers: Jim Roth, GP; Eric Bernd, VGP; Chris Gleiter, P; Bob Fisher, AG; Mark Smelzer, BG; Mike Prestridge, SG; Matt Hagan, Phu; Rocky Lane, Hod; and John Shepard, Hi.

Winter highlights include another award winning effort in the Greek Week competition, Rocky Lane's prize winning film contribution with Steve Kehela garnering the Best Actor trophy, and of course the Pajamarino. Cal Ep also received another surprise when Big Man on Campus Steve Guinn scored a double header by being voted both DG Anchorman and Kappa Keyman. The campus heart-throb was barely edged out in the competition for the Theta Kiteman.

Once again Phi Psi is dominating the Intramural Sports scene. For the second straight year, Phi Psi won the IFC Football championship with Dave Larimer's last minute touchdown strike to Jack Noe. Other stellar performances were turned in by Joe Huhn, Earl Howell, and Karl Morgan, Presently, Cal Ep is progressing to inevitable titles in soccer and basketball behind the outstanding play of Eric Bernd, Jeff Coyle, Jeff Noe, and Rick Riley. Phi Psi also grabbed the Golf Trophy as Ben Vandebunt shot a first place 71. The crowd on hand was held captive with anticipation as rumors circulated that Steve Davis was expected to return from Sweden to lead the Phi Psi linksters. But hopes turned to disappointment as it was learned that the former IM sports star and Olympic hopeful unexpectedly decided to remain in Sweden to pursue a film career as Roger Moore's double for the ski scenes in the upcoming James Bond film.

California, Santa Barbara Surf's Up

The Brothers of California Zeta here in balmy Santa Barbara have had a rather productive quarter thus far. Our winter rush yielded a healthy crop of fine young plebes whose names are: John Aihara, Westminster; Jeff Bloom, Chatsworth; Daniel Dorfman, Palos Verdes; Bruce Edwards, Mission Viejo; Stuart Einbinder, Garden Grove; Roberto Gonzales, Arcadia; David Harvey, Newport Beach; Gary Long, Palo Alto; Kenan Moran, Chappaqua, NY; Greg Mulligan, Salt Lake City, Utah; Robert Walton, San Rafael; and Mark Watts, San Francisco.

As we heralded a new year with warm weather and tasty waves, our officer elections produced a new regime under the leadership of GP, David Marks; VGP, Dale Ferrario; P, Don McGlamery; AG, Ernst Heinrich; BG, Mark Vilicich; Phu, Duncan Green; SG, Ken Tatum; Hod, Mitch Roman; and Hi, Scott MacKinley.

We and the Brothers at California Epsilon are looking forward to our joint philanthropic endeavor in support of leukemia research. Our social chair, Dick Schwanz is laboring tirelessly in preparation for a one hundred mile basketball dribble from our chapter to U.C.L.A. on April 16. With this effort we hope to raise a substantial sum of money to aid in the war against cancer.

In the social arena, we are planning to have our Spring formal on the Queen Mary. Also, a croquet tournament is being planned by this writer and Alumni/P.R. chair John Bell.

A special note of sorrow for the brothers at Oklahoma Alpha. All of us were saddened by the disaster which occurred over Christmas break.

Some of the Brothers of Ohio Epsilon at Case Western Reserve University.

Jay Edmundson Palmer, Terry Scott Pehrson, Albert Luke Redick II, and Ronald Francis Rehn.

Winter elections proved rewarding. The new officers are: GP, Chris Laramore; VGP, Quentin Lilly; P, Rob Mahron; AG, Marc Chase; BG, Ramon Reed; SG, Steven Norin; Hi, Drew Gentile; Hod, Rob Layne; Phu, Mark Troth and Fraternity Educator to the 34th national class, Pat McNerney. Also a special thanks to rush chairmen Mark Braun and Ramon Reed for their excellent job.

Athletically for Cal Eta, things are going well as usual. The football season saw us reach the finals for the sixth consecutive time. We are in the middle of the Basketball season and are undefeated, after just crushing Lambda Chi. We hope to do well as usual in the playoffs.

Highlighting the Spring quarter this year will be the 8th annual Phi Psi Easter Egg Hunt, the 3rd annual Royal Run, Poly Royal (April 22-23), Greek Week (the first week in May), and the initiation of the 34th National Pledge Class. Hopefully we will be able to defend last year's Greek Week championship successfully. If you are in the neighborhood, PLEASE stop by.

As always, Phi Kappa Psi is alive and kicking at Cal Poly. We will see you next year.

Cal. State, Northridge Always On The Move

Greetings to all our fellow Brothers across the country from the boys at Cal Theta here in Northridge. The men from the valley have been busy preparing for one of our most successful and fun filled semesters ever.

The initiation of the Beta Epsilon pledge class marked the end of the fall semester, which left little time for the Paul Cohen administration to get settled in and organized before Spring rush began. The rest of the officers are: Damon Grate, VGP; Dave Friedman, P; Vince Johnson, AG; Mike Springer, Phu; and Dave Mann, Hod. Last semester's president, Scott Braden, took over as the new Hi

During the semester break, some of the Brothers got together and organized road trips to take our minds off of the books. Buckwheat toured Mexico alone, while Bunz, DZ, Fegley, Ragger, Tostie, Buzz, Mindblower, Ken and Randy got together and headed south to Tijuana. This is where the phrase "Fegley on the border" originated. Buckwheat returned in time to accompany Husker, Motel 6, and the Duck to Hawaii. The break came to a rousing conclusion when the whole fraternity spent a January weekend on the beach in Oxnard. This was the second year in a row when we had 75° weather on the beach in January.

Spring rush saw us install 10 fine local men as pledges. They are: John Dart, Don DeSimone, Don Duranso, Richard Hartwick, John Livingston, Jeff Morgan, Hugh Oliveto, Mauricio Perlaza, Jeff Swanson, and Craig Weaver. Under the leadership of Robert "Bob" Haney, The Beta Zetas will be hard at work proving themselves as Phi Psis.

We wish to extend an invitation to all Phi Psis to come visit us during our fine summers. The weather is great and we will be happy to show you what living in Southern California is all about.

Case Western Reserve Keeping Busy

The Brothers of Ohio Epsilon have had a variety of activities to keep them busy this spring semester.

On Friday, February 18, we initiated ten new Brothers into our Chapter. These new initiates (numbers 1103-1112 in our Chapter roll) are Patrick Doherty, Richard Koss, Frank Leeper, Steven Markowitz, William Mitsos, Paul Pagley, John Stratigakis, Andrew Trebuchon, Timothy Wang, and Richard Weidrick. We also welcomed Douglas Mesi into our chapter as a transfer Brother from Ohio State.

On January 27, we inducted Charles Campana, John Horvath, Joseph Klebau, and Joel North as pledges.

Under the guidance of social chairman Dennis Youn we've had four excellent parties, which included a rush party in mid-January, the Alumni Party on March 19, the pledge party in early April, and also, a party given by friends of the Chapter in late February. In late April we're planning to have a parent's weekend, and our annual spring formal.

The officers for this semester are Tom Kuchar, GP; Dave Samuels, VGP; Jeff Vekony, AG; Greg Blanck, P; Jim Bentley, BG; J. P. Fowler, SG; Sam Del Rio, Hod; Howard kendall, Phu; and Jim Csonka, Hi.

In the area of campus activities this semester, Brother Rich Weidrick played on the CWRU varsity basketball team as the team's only starting freshman this year. Brothers Jeff Vekony and Bill Mitsos ran a weekly music show at the campus radio station, Brother Kevin Scott played in the CWRU jazz band, and Brother John Schindler organized the all-campus Greek Week party.

The chapter wishes good luck to Brother Josh Makower, who transferred to MIT, and also to our two graduating seniors, John Ciolek and Dave Gondek (this year's Solon Summerfield Award winner).

Enthusiastic

As Spring continues to approach, Colorado Alpha continues to grow and prosper with thirteen new pledges: Mason Gangel, New York; David Gaffo, New Orleans; Robert Herman, Washington; Thomas Ryan, Winnetka; Robert Stephens, Kenilworth; Charles Riddle, Boston; Jonathan Gottlieb, Flint; Andy Durham, Holden; Tony Hibbeln, Lakewood; Paul Shanen, Fort Collins; Pat Schurott, Littleton; Robert John Morrow, Denver and John Hiden, Larchmont. Together, these men form the second largest pledge class on campus. They are already contributing to the success of Chapter activities and are sure to be valuable additions to our Fraternity.

One of our main projects this semester is the remodeling of our Chapter room. With our new initiates and other Brothers working side by side, the room is beginning to instill pride in our ability to improve the house as a whole.

In general, the attitudes of the Brothers are very enthusiastic, and the Spring semester looks very promising in every way.

Alumni Support Welcomed

In the advent of double-digit inflation, wage-and-price-spiral out the wazoo, and the horriffically diabolical Ray-gun economics of this nation, we students are feeling a crunch not quite parallelled probably since pre-war depression. And what of the fraternity? On a brighter note, NY Gamma is in the process of initiating 3 new optimistic students (God knows we can use some of that in these dire times).

The house, unlike our personal economics is maintaining itself as it was necessary to recently raise rents an unprecedented 75% to cope with rising costs. Most of the extra costs have been absorbed by our Brothers holding down 2 jobs (when we can find them).

The Brothers of Ny Gamma were sorry to hear of the disaster at the University of Oklahoma and wish them the best. Our own wonderful alumnus Brother Ernie Garbe is successfully recovering from an operation, and we are glad to hear about his recovery. Alumni Brothers—Please stay in touch.

Moving Ahead

New York Alpha is heading into Spring stronger than ever, with a new pledge class of 21 men, our fourth consecutive pledge class with over 20. The new pledges are: Vincent Ascrizzi, Saddle River, NJ; Eric Baker, Summit, NJ: Bob Barnett, Ledyard, CT; Carlos Bielicki, Rio Piedras, PR; Michael Cimonetti, South Burlington, VT; Mark Dennison, Newark, NJ; Michael Difabio, Loudonville; Randy Ferguson, Morehead City, NC; Gordon Goetzmann, Palmyra; Michael Hopsicker, Wampsville; Andrew Jones, Reisterstown, MD; Enrique Martinez, Covadonga Toabaja, PR; David McCurdy, St. Paul, MN; John Pakutka, Vestal; Geoffrey Rugg, Whitney Point; Jerry Smith Skaneateles; Clark Slagle, East Lansing, MI; Yusuke Sagawa, Columbia, MD; Henry Talmage, Riverhead, NY; Mason Wenger, Parkersburg, WV; and Scott Yeomans, Morristown, NJ.

As always, there are many fine athletes in the new class. Talmage is on the Big Red football team, while Wenger and Hopsicker are on the baseball squad. Ascrizzi, Baker and Goetzmann all row crew, while Jones, Cimonetti and Yeomans are varsity swimmers. Dennison plays Lacrosse, Sagawa is a member of the Cornell championship lightweight football team, and Clark Slagle is on the gymnastics team.

New York Alpha is also proud of its new officers. John Skinner was elected president, with Dave Winterling chosen vice president, Eric Hedman treasurer, Tom Rabin social chairman, and Rick Schuler recording secretary. Steve Koerner is the Fraternity Educator.

Social events are at full tilt, with a happy hour with KD and a raid by SDT already under our belts. Through the able direction of Brother Rabin, many more events are in the works.

Preparations for the "500" are well under way. Chris Thompson is chairman for this year's event, to be held on April 30, and it promises to be the best ever. We hope to see everybody there.

Prosperous

Greetings from the Brothers of Nebraska Beta. We are quite proud to announce our new officers for this semester: James G. Broski, GP; Stephen M. Mikuls, VGP; W. Alexander MacGillivray, AG; George C. Gilbert, BG; Mark R. Kistler, P; Robert J. McQuillan, SG; Mark D. Gould, Hod; Eric D. Hodges, Phu; David T. Dare, Hi.

Spring Rush 1983, under the direction of Robert L. Waguespack, was a great success. Thirty-two fine pledges have expressed their desire to join our noble Fraternity. Their enthusiasm is unwavering even though eight weeks of pledging lies ahead.

The Brothers began the month of February by following the Blue Jays on our Annual Drake Road Trip. This February 5 event is indicative of the support Phi Psi gives Creighton University. Yet our most explicit backing will occur on February 17 when the Phi Psi Marching Kazoo Band provides the halftime festivities for the Creighton-Tulsa basketball game.

Founders Day, held on February 18 at the Venice Inn, will undoubtedly be a great success. Both the alumni Brothers and the undergraduates are looking forward to celebrating this great event.

Parents Weekend 1983 will be held on February 26 at the Red Lion Inn. Dan Geha is been working diligently to make this occasion monumentus. The families, and of course the Brothers will eat, dance and pray together thanks to the organizations talents of this fine Brother.

In terms of serving others, Walt Turner and Kurt Mackey have sought to create a new aura of Community Service. Our major efforts however, have been formulated to make the 1983 Muscular Dystrophy Dance Marathon a huge success.

On the social calendar, Ken McCarthy and his committee have assured the chapter that our gregarious nature will not be forgotten. Spring Formal 1983, is to be held at the Marriott Hotel on April 9, is just one indication of this sentiment.

Return to the Rock Pile

Spirits are high here in Greencastle as the mild Winter of 1983 comes to a close and the warm winds of Spring bring with them the promise of another exciting and successful semester for Indiana Alpha.

We returned to the Old Rock Pile Feb. 1, after the January Winter Term, to stories of the many of varied experiences the Brothers went through during this independent study session. Some of the more notable projects included travel and study in Russia, London, the Virgin Islands, New York, and Colorado. These projects varied from new internships to learning such activities as internships with newspapers, investment firms and major corporations.

As is always the case, many DePauw Phi Psis traveled to underdeveloped South American countries to provide medical assistance and to build schools, churches, and hospitals for those less priviledged then ourselves. This year Indiana Alpha had the honor of providing monetary support for the building of a structure in Haiti.

So far, our second semester is going very well. Social Chairmen Jim Crossin and Steve Biedermann have provided us with weekend activities in abundance and plan an exciting and varied social calendar for the remainder of the term. On the athletic front, we have begun the IM basketball season. With the addition of many talented new freshman and the return to some key upperclassman from overseas, we look forward to great success. Academically Indiana Alpha did quite well last term as we placed many men on the Dean's list, which requires a 3.5 or greater GPA.

The Brothers of Indiana Alpha welcome the twenty one new initiates who were brought into our Chapter on February 12, 1983. Congratulations to Mark Hoover and Rich Postler on their "Pledge of the Year" honors.

Duke Partytime!

North Carolina Alpha is experiencing one of its busiest, yet most enjoyable semesters ever. Activities this Spring range from a full slate of parties and other social events to an exciting and vigorous pledging program, to the always-victorious intramural teams.

The semester started very strong with "shake-up weekend" as an impressive group of 32 gullible underclassmen were shaken-up and initiated. Under the studious guidance of the Fraternity Educator, Scott Jacobs, these young stalwarts are: Mark Schneider, Larry Stepnick, Ron Joines, Kenji Kosima, John "Bib" Tate (Class President), Dave Phillips, Stephen Lowe, Marc Harris, Greg McKhann, Peter Middlebrooks, Bob Percival, Paul Adler, Dave Boyd, Thomas Gannon, Thomas Kenney, Adam Hecht, Michael Warner, James Koch, Jim Marcus, John Morris, Chris Hersh, Michael Bainum, Thomas Guiles, David MacMillan, Andrew Wang, Tom Antonino, Jon Lee, Craig Huntley, Lyndon Jordan, Francis Keeley, Bruce March, and Fred Gortner. Great things are expected from this class-the largest NC Alpha has ever had!

Largely thanks to the organization and leadership of GP Andy Schwab, VGP Keith Coleman, and Social Chairmen John Janka and Bill Hunt the social schedule this term has been nothing short of incredible. In addition to shake-up weekend, we have partied our way through mixers, section parties, off-campus events, spontaneous hall parties, several roadtrips, a canoe trip and still managed a very successful Pledge Formal. Indeed, the partying never stops at Phi Kappa Psi!

Intramural sports saw another series of stellar performances from this group of gifted athletes. Under the disciplined direction of I.M. chairman "Wild Bill" Brennock, the men's water polo team swam their way into impressive championship form. Likewise, the softball team is off to a perfect start. The team is led by the inspired fielding of Left Fielder Rob Slade—the man with the probing glove; not to mention shortstop Keith "C-Bird" Coleman, who seems to have an uncanny knack for plugging all the open holes.

Although graduation will mean the loss of considerable leadership, most Brothers are eagerly anticipating getting through finals and experiencing a week of serious relaxation on sunny Atlantic beaches.

Finally, We're Back

Spring is upon us at New Mexico Alpha and with it brings new inspiration for our chapter. We have faced many obstacles and hardships since our reestablishment in the fall of '81. We are slowly recovering from low membership and financial obligations. This Chapter is slowly getting on it's feet again.

We are very proud to announce the initiation of the first pledge class since the fall of '80. Ceremonies were held on November 9th. Initiation rites were performed by Charles Abbott, Dr. Paul Coggins, Dr. Jack Secor, and Andrew Hoffman. New initiates include: Steven Quezada, Albuquerque; José Vélez, Bronx, NY; John Lumsden, Albuquerque; Mike Smith, Carlsbad; Tony Philips, Philadelphia, PA; Edwin Norinder, San Diego, CA; Shaun Ball, Camarillo, CA; Tom Smith, Albuquerque, and Dave Aube, Dayton, OH.

Considering the low membership of our Chapter, those initiated had to assume immediate responsibilities as officers. Elections were officially held on January 10th. The new officers are as follows: Shaun Ball, GP; Tom Smith, VGP; Edwin Norinder, AG; José Vélez, BG; Tony Phillips, P; Steve Quezada, SG; Dave Aube, Phu; John Lumsden, Hod; and José Vélez, Hi. Congratulations to those elected; they are doing a fine job so far.

We have had a very successful rush with 15 new pledges signed. Names of pledges are: Rick Balencia, Artesia; Raul Estrada, Roswell; Jay Franklin, Hondo; Doug Guyt and Joe Guyt, North Vale, NJ; John Lynn, San Bernadino, CA; Scott Muise, Clovis; Martin Piña and Steve Scatliff, Roswell; Chris Smith, Bee River, NH; Colin Spears, White Sands; Tim Sweet, Portales; John Rosero, Hackensack, NJ; Chuck O'Donnell, Monroe, CT; and Kevin Walsh, San Bernadino, CA. We feel that these men are going to be a great asset to the Chapter.

Things are starting to look good for New Mexico Alpha. We are looking forward to keeping in touch in the future.

On the Move

Greetings from down under! After a hectic fall term, the Brothers of Florida Beta would like to wish our fellow Phi Psis everywhere the best of luck in the coming semester.

Spring is proving to be a very productive semester here at the University of Florida. It began with the acquisition of our six newest pledges: Ken Berringer and Nick Bunch, Land-o-Lakes; Pat Herran, Dunedin; Jeff Kilmer, Jacksonville; David Maher, Indian Harbor Beach; and Brian Shea, Gainesville. The Spring '83 pledge class is under the capable guidance of Fraternity Educator Joseph Russo, and we extend them a hearty welcome.

Our social calendar is rather crowded this semester. Some of the highlights that we may look forward to include socials with Kappa Kappa Gamma and Alpha Epsilon Phi, followed by our annual Toga Party at the end of the year.

On the sports front, we are holding our own in campus intermurals, and recently came out on top in the "Jefferson Bowl," our annual football game with Phi Gamma Delta. The final score was 19-0, and we would like to thank the FIJI's for polishing our trophy these past two years.

The new officers of Florida Beta are as follows: Wes Dunn, GP; Jon Crumrine, VGP; Bill Echevarria, P; John Sabin, AG; Joe Nordmann, BG; Alan Solowitz, SG; Bernard Kaiserian, Hod; Andy Houtz, Phu; and Irvin Smith, Hi.

Our Founder's Day ceremony went well this year, and was held at the Ironwood Country Club. We would like to congratulate the recipients of the following awards: Bernard Kaiserian, Pledge of the Year; Wes Dunn, Brother of the Year; David Mayper, Alumnus of the Year; and David Berringer, our Bill Creswell Memorial Scholar. We would also like to thank our alumni for their help and support.

Hello Goodbye

It is the best and worst of times at Penn Eta. On the good side, we are happy to welcome six new pledges: Mario Barata DaCruz, Dave Carr, Dave Daneman, Andy Davis, Pete Keon, and Pat Moore. They've already made their mark on the Fraternity, and each will surely prove worthy of the title Brothers.

Our ebullience at the greeting of our new pledges is tempered by the awareness that our nine senior Brothers will soon be leaving. They helped give Penn Eta a new look, new life, and a direction where once there had been none. Those of us who remain all join in wishing our senior Brothers the best of luck in all their endeavors in the "real world."

Before the conclusion of our fall semester, Mark Liebreich was chosen as our 1983 Summerfield Scholar. In elections for spring the following Brothers were chosen to serve the Chapter as officers: Bob Gryce, GP; Mark Liebreich, VGP; Bill Farrand, AG; Bernard DeCasimirro, BG; Jim McMahon, SG; Dan Junkins, Hod; Eric Noll, Phu; Rob Mahoney, Hi; and Marcos Diaz, Rush Chairman.

On a snow swept playing field, the Brothers started off the new semester by crushing the pledges 49-21 in our Brother-pledge football game. The satisfaction of putting the pledges "in their place" more than made up for the bodily aches and pains that resulted from the game.

To prove that our hearts are in the right places, we sponsored a jump rope marathon to raise funds for the American Heart Association. The fund raiser was a great success and proved to be an uplifting experience for all involved.

We all look forward to a busy spring. Throughout it, we will, as ever, strive onwards and upwards.

Spring Weekend

Big things are happening these days with Georgia Alpha. Phi Psi is on the move in 1983, and looks forward to a fantastic Spring.

Winter quarter began with the initiation of our Fall pledges. John Baird, Tim Echols, Dave Stahley, Chris Cole, Mark Docterman, and Scott Coulter are now Brothers, having entered the Phi Psi mysteries on January 8. Believe it or not, these men took their vows in a cave!

Our Winter pledges are Bill Decker, Athens, and Steve Domenico, of Atlanta. Two fine young men indeed, they are already involved in Phi Psi functions.

The really big news this time is our Spring weekend—it's going to be grand. It's called "Wipe Out '83," and yours truly is the brains of this operation. "Wipe Out" will incorporate a charity and a band party on the porch, plus loads more fun for all. The big question is: when the Phi Psi's do the "Wipe Out," can Athens survive?

Find out next time—same time, same channel!

Momentum

Following busy fall and January semesters, Penn Epsilon headed into another Spring at "the 'burg" with a high level of enthusiasm and bright prospects resulting from a great season of rush.

The fall ended eventfully for the Chapter in a number of ways. Our Halloween and "Vegas" parties were once again the talk of the campus in October and November, and though we just fell short of the intramural football championship, we prevailed and overcome all eleven other fraternities to take first place in the Delta Gamma sorority charity "Anchor Splash" in November. Finally, our house elections in December yielded the following new slate of officers: Louis Chiarlanza, GP; Andrew Dickinson, BGP; Todd Klafehn, AG; John Heron, BG; Scott Schoner, P; David Crandall, SC; Daniel Olmstead, Phu; Steven Mills, Hod; and Michael Cook, Hi. Jim Watts remains the house manager while Jim Erickson has reassumed the position of Steward.

January Term engaged the Brotherhood in a number of activities including a very intense and successful rush program led by Robert Wheeler and social chairman Joe Conti. A number of Brothers had off-campus internships, yet this hardly daunted the enthusiasm. The month's highlight was the chapter's second annual "It's Better in the Bahama's" party, a philanthropy project for which a combined Brotherhood effort sold over six-hundred tickets, sent two lucky Gettysburg students for a week to the Bahama's, and raised $350 for the local office of the aging. Much credit goes to John Poliero, Roger Thoet, and Andrew Patton for making this event such a success.

Recent highlights among Chapter members include Joe Silhavy's recently attaining the position of personnel manager at the college union snack bar and sophomore John Cambell's election to the position of student manager at the college's radio station. One could also not neglect to mention our new cook, "Mom" Mowen, who started work in January and who has in a short time greatly endeared herself to us all.

In alumni news, Richard "Zippy" Edwards has been elected president of our alumni corps. We greatly appreciate hearing from the alumni and would have them know that Phi Psi at Gettysburg still remains athletically, scholastically, and extracurricularly the College's leading fraternity.

Involved

With the onslaught of Spring, the Brothers of Illinois Delta enjoy continuing success. Led by overachieving officers-GP, John Chiodo; VGP, Dan Rudd; External Vice President, Paul Moreschi; BG, Ted Breckenfelder; P, Eugene Bahn; SG, Brian Gradv: and AG, Al Sutherland-Phi Psis have maintained their internal strength and sphere of influence on campus. Several Brothers have secured leadership positions in campus affairs. Interfraternity Council officers-Rush Chairman, Shawn Fojtik and Vice-President for Membership Affairs, Rob Jaret-are working hard for the University's Formal Rush weekend. Brothers Randy Harmer and Andy Larson are completing their terms as Treasurers of the Student Government and Student Alumni Associations, respectively.

Notoriety is not limited to those Brothers involved in student government, as Phi Psi's atheltic teams and philanthropies are fine examples. Illinois Delta's basketball teams are all in the playoffs, while the Intramural Champion football and softball teams are intent on defending their titles. Spring philanthropies, the 2nd Annual Illini Bike Classic and the popular Water Polo Tournament are sporting events that benefit charity.

Under the capable direction of social chairman Mike Hanratty, the semester calender is spiced with several prolonged study breaks. Five exchanges, Pajama Party, Spring Campout, Penthouse party, and a Formal at the Hamilton Hotel near Chicago highlight the semester's events. Atius-Sachem Sing chairman Bernard Gizzi is busy developing a winning production to entertain on Mom's Day weekend.

As final exams and summer vacation rapidly approach, we eagerly await the dining room and kitchen remodeling along with other planned improvements. In closing, the Brothers of Illinois Delta invite and encourage all Alumni to drop in for a visit; and insist that they mark their calenders for Home-coming, October 15.

Spring Fever

The spring pledge class currently has eight members: Tom Gutwein, Francesville; Joseph Hughes, Kokomo; John Kern, Ft. Wayne; Jon Nagy, Dayton, OH; John Olding and Steve Sprunger, Indianapolis; Patrick Rhoda, Richmond; and Joseph Siebert, Jasper.

Current officers for Indiana Beta are: David Rowland, GP; Jeff Yu, VGP; Steven Trick, AG; Alan Lambert, BG; Mark Wegener, P; Douglas Mohr, SG; Thomas Kern, Hod; Brad Whaley, Phu; Todd Whitlock, Hi; and Ronald Russo, Fraternity Educator.

Members of Indiana Beta celebrated Founders Day by traveling to Indianapolis for State Day at the Columbia Club. The activities included getting acquainted with undergraduates and alumni statewide, a banquet, song contest, and Chapter reports.

We are having a strong year in intramurals by doing especially well in wrestling, basketball, and tennis. Richard Hayashi was a finalist in intramural tennis, and Mike Kramer was an all-campus champion in ping pong. We would also like to recognize Carm Aiello for receiving a $300 scholarship for his outstanding work in the annual Indiana University Sing.

Indiana Beta would like to thank SWGP John Boyd for taking time out of his busy schedule to visit our Chapter house. We would also like to show our great appreciation for the time and effort donated by David F. Hull, Louisiana Alpha '66, and his wife, Laura, over the last two years. Their planning and organization of the Chapter's financial affairs was very helpful to our smooth operations.

Striving for Excellence

As the Spring semester winds down at IUP, the Brothers of Pennsylvania Nu are continuing to strive for excellence, a theme that the Chapter adopted for rush. It is also a theme that the Chapter believes in after finishing first in academics and intramurals for the Fall 1982 semester, as well as completing two community service projects and enjoying an active social calendar.

Heading into this semester, Penn Nu saw the need for a productive rush, and under the leadership of Membership Chairman Mike Mehalic, Penn Nu presented a full schedule of interesting rush events to prospective members.

As far as the social side of the fraternity is concerned, social chairmen Chris Straub, Curt Schroder and Bob Marchesani developed a first for the chapter—a complete social calendar, which was distributed at the Chapter's first meeting of the semester. The schedule has featured mixers with six IUP sororities, a movie party at the home of our Chapter Advisor, Ken Almes, and a unique pizza munchout that included a delivery contest among local pizza establishments.

Penn Nu is proud of our Spring 1983 Sweetheart, Jean Decker, who is currently pledging Phi Mu sorority.

In February, Penn Nu welcomed Educational Leadership Consultant Tim McCourt for a two-day stay in the foothills of the Alleghenies. Like all Consultants, Tim was treated to the famous Penn Nu hospitality that is available to all visiting Phi Psis.

Penn Nu is also excited about hosting the 1983 District II Woodrow Wilson Leadership School and District Council here at IUP. The Brothers have been working hard all Spring to put details together for an informative and fun weekend.

And finally, the Brothers would like to wish our large graduating class the best of luck in their prospective careers.

IFC Leadership

Iowa Alpha started off the Spring semester with the initiation of 22 outstanding men. The new initiates include John Boardman, Dekalb, IL; Robert Ryser, Oak Park, IL; Kurt Herbrechtsmeyer, Charles City; Dean Smith, Williamsburg; Pete Mckay, Waterloo; Steve Wright, Joliet, IL; James Milani, Centerville; Jay Pollit, Hinsdale, IL; Ron Hull, Waterloo; Dave Rodawig, Spirit Lake; Jon Thompson, Glenview, IL; Chris Sampson, Chatam, IL; Charles Maxwell, Spirit Lake; Brian Anderson, LaGrange, IL; and Steven Dobson, James Caliguiri, Jay Keough, Robert Hiersteiner, Brent Cooper, Shoab Sayeed, Bill Garrison, of Des Moines. Fraternity Educators Kurt Osmundson and John Robison should be commended for doing an exceptional job with these men.

Iowa Alpha also had the pleasure of accepting two transfer Brothers into the Chapter. These Brothers are Robert DeGowin, Iowa City, IA, and Dave Kellaway, Atlantic, IA. We are honored and proud to have these two men, who both have taken active roles in our Chapter.

On January 29, Chapter elections were held. This semester we will be under the leadership of Thomas Swift, GP; Jeff Davik, VGP; Robert DeGowin, P; Robert Ryser, AG; and Charles Wright, BG.

We are looking forward to a very successful rushing year with the election of Rush Chairmen Brian Beh and Eric Jones. Social Chairman Ted Irvine and Party Chairman Robert Love have both been working hard this semester to set up parties and fill our fine social calendar. Brother Kellaway, Chapter Historian, is preparing a scrapbook containing all social events for use in the future.

Iowa Alpha is proud of the new direction our Chapter is taking in the InterFraternity Council. Four Brothers have been elected on to the Executive branch of the IFC. These Brothers are Randy Ross, President; Troy Blodgett, Rush Chairman; Eric Jones, Secretary; and Robert Ryser, Greek Hawkeye Editor. With this new representation, our Chapter hopes to better the entire Greek System as well as Iowa Alpha.

Iowa State Movin' On

For this year's Iowa State Greek Week, our Chapter will be doing something a little different than usual. We've asked the women of Delta Gamma from Drake University to participate with us in the days events. Although the idea of asking a sorority from another campus was not very well received by the Greek Week Central committee at first, they finally agreed to let us go ahead with our plans, thanks to some strong "politicking" by Brother Craig Marr.

Elections in early December gave us five new Chapter officers. They are: John Sandoz, BG; Steve Smith, Assistant P; Sharm Sisler, Hod; Dan Nicholas, Phu; and Joel Seton, Hi. More recently were elections for Rush Chairman in which Miles Moore and John Swift were choosen.

At this year's Christmas party, Santa Claus (a.k.a. Brother Kevin Bussard) had a special present in his bag; that of a bid which was presented to Andy Slothower. That same night Ady accepted the bid and he is presently living in the house.

Once again Iowa Beta owes a big THANK YOU to our Corporation Board. At their last meeting the board approved plans to remodel our entire first floor. If everything goes as planned, it should be completed by fall semester of 1983.

A Rush of Excitement

Maryland Alpha completed its most successful Rush in recent history with 38 pledges, the largest pledge class of any fraternity at Johns Hopkins this year. Once again, Mayland Alpha's Rush parties were a smash hit with the Beach Party IV, Hotel Party, Mardi Gras Party and Pre-St. Valentine's Day Massacre well attended and thoroughly enjoyed. With the tremendous effort put forth by Rush Chairmen Danny Lee and Hiren Patel, as well as all the Brothers, it's no wonder that Phi Psi is the most respected fraternity on campus. After the pledge ceremony, the Brothers and new pledges helped the neighborhood dig out of the two feet of snow from the previous day's blizzard.

In other news, Maryland Alpha dedicated a plaque at the new Ronald McDonald House in Baltimore in honor of the Chapter for raising over $1000 toward its completion. The Alumni Brunch will again be held during Homecoming Weekend on Sunday, May 1 in the Garrett Room of The Eisenhower Library. Watch the mail for more details.

High Hopes

The spring semester of 1983 started on a good note for Kansas Alpha as we received three new pledges: Eric Englund, Overland Park; Jeff Stewart, Lawrence; and John Killen, Owatonna, MN. We were also pleased with our scholastic achievements of last semester, especially the 4.0 grade-points turned in by Brothers Andre, Flynn, and MacDonald.

On February 12, 1983, Brian Brown, Jack Fields, Tim Wingate, Tom Miller, James Haas, Michael Olson, David Beaham, Scott Turner, Ted Stevens, Chris Crooker, and Charles Jenks were initiated into the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi. That evening, we all celebrated this transition. Our congratulations to these young men along with our hopes for their future achievements within the Chapter.

Another important day of the Fraternity was celebrated the following weekend as the Brothers of Kansas Alpha traveled to Founders' Day activities in Kansas City—scholastic and song competition with the Brothers of Missouri Alpha—and in Wichita—a warm, relaxed evening with our fantastic alumni and a few of the Brothers from Oklahoma.

In athletic news, our basketball team finished third in the Phi Kappa Theta Tournament, Bill Winter being named to the All-Tournament Team. These achievements have given the Chapter great hopes of capturing the All-Sports Trophy, after finishing in second place for the past two years. Our resident pool shark and Treasurer, Mark Gunter, deserves a belated congratulations for his two consecutive victories in the annual K.U. Pool Tournament.

Brothers Baker and Hiemstra are still busy planning this year's Phi Psi "500," scheduled for April 23. Any Brothers nearby without plans for that weekend are urged to attend.

Finally, we wish to thank the Kansas City and South Central Kansas Alumni Associations for their generous donations and moral support of the Chapter.

New Additions for Spring

This spring semester much success has come to the brothers of Pennsylvania Theta. The first success is the new sixteen member pledge class. The other successes are in sports and academics.

Four of the new pledges are from Pennsylvania; Ted Tinsman, Bethlehem; Bill Altier, Dovlestown; Dave Krisovitch, Allentown; and Chris Labee, Pittsburgh. Four more pledges are from New Jersey; Jim Akerhielm, Middletown; John Fahey, Wayside; Dave Larkin, Trenton; and Steve Conley, Bergenfield. Three men hail from Massachusetts; Pete Raslavicus, Lynnfield; Ken O'Shea, Holliston; and Steve Locke, Newton. Two New Yorkers are among the pledge class; Nick Greenfield, New York City; and Brad Demsky, Larchmont. The remaining three men are from Lima, Peru; Felix Aguayo, Eduardo Aguayo, and Alfred Cahuas. These men should add more strength and diversity to the Chapter as shown by their dedication thus far.

Our success in intramural sports is evident in our fourth place overall ranking with a championship in Foul Shooting due to a strong contribution from several of the pledges. Success should continue on into the Spring with the basketball and softball seasons coming up.

Academically we rank seventh out of twenty-four social living groups with a fall semester average of 2.98. This has been fairly consistant over the past few years.

The new officers for this coming semester and year are Paul Casalaspi, GP; Pete Henrici, VGP; Kevin Cimei, P; Dave Katko, BG; Joe Senackerib, AG; Bob Pursell, Historian; Mike Sutka, Chaplain, Gary Hageman, Phu; and Joe Berte, Hod.

The new Social Chairmen are Kevin Shea and Cold Brundage while George Ossman is the Commissar. Doug Reighley and Steve Buschel are the Fraternity Educators.

So Close, Yet so Far

Last semester's theme at Louisiana Alpha was "Tightening up loose ends." It seemed as though we were on the road toward a promising future. There was talk of the possibility of getting a house, doubling our membership, and the biggest Founder's Day extravaganza in the history of Louisiana Alpha. But, as last semester dragged on, the possibility of getting a house slipped through our hands. We couldn't muster up the financial and alumni support needed for the purchase of a house. Only 1 of our 11 pledges was able to meet his financial responsibility toward the fraternity. Also, as a final consequence, our Founders Day extravaganza went down the tube.

The end is not here yet. Although we're not very big nor influential on campus, our presence is still felt. We can only promise that we won't stop fighting until Louisiana Alpha has returned to its once prominent position here at L.S.U.

Improvement

Hello to our brothers across the country, from all of us at the Minnesota Gamma Chapter at Mankato State. There's alot going on here and most of it is fun, with the exception of tests. Initiation was on January 8, and the new Brothers are Brian Carlson, Rodd Johnson and Scott Bird. Initiation was great with an equally great party.

Some of our activities lately have been winning the Second Annual Campus Key Roll for the second time. Prize? A sixteen gallon keg, of course, and yes it was put to good use! Other activities, including a booth at a campus carnival for the mentally handicapped and a very successful M.A.S.H. party, along with other campus Greek activities. Our annual car stuff is approaching also, and with it the anticipation for Spring.

New pledges this winter quarter are Paul Gillis and Nate Bloomingdale. Both are intercollegiate football players and both are built like steam engines. Financial difficulties are the biggest hinderance for potential pledges.

The Greek system on campus is on the turn around and Phi Kappa Psi is a large part of this success. With an upturn in the economy, the whole Greek system is bound to improve, and it will flourish!

Successful Rush

After returning from a month long Christmas vacation, the Brothers were eager to get back to work, as well as to enjoy the second semester.

During the first week and a half of the new semester, Ohio Lambda participated in a revised and streamlined fraternity rush. As the twelve day ordeal came to a close, we found ourselves pledging thirty-one outstanding men. They are: Chuck Stewart, Cincinnati; Dick Allen, Tim Beer, Rick Carskadden, Chip Ebert, Phil Favret, Mark Meldrum, and Shawn Organ, Columbus; John Buchta, Rom Corpora, Dave Guerine, and Dan Hickey, Cleveland; Steve Eisendrath, Bruce Leinbach, and Jim Murphy, Chicago; Greg Alexander and Greg Butz, Indianapolis; Eric Brogan, East Lansing, MI; Mark Glosser, Steve McCain, Bill Stewart, and Tom Straub, Toledo; Jeff VonDeylen, Ft. Wayne, IN; Jim Coretti, Grand Rapids, MI; Duncan Gardiner, Lexington, KY; Clark Foy, St. Louis; Mike Cash, Los Angeles; Tim Miller, Akron; Gil Rynberk, Lansing, IL; Matt Shields, Westfield, NJ; and Pat Brown, Dayton. Congratulations are in order for Jeff Kosse and Tom Goss who did a fantastic job as rush chairmen. Also, Fraternity Educators Chris Conlin and Jerry Biegel did an excellent job of instilling in the pledges the beliefs and values that come with being a Brother of Phi Kappa Psi.

Second semester continues the tradition of an excellent social schedule as we have parties with the Tri Delts, Alpha Chi Omegas, Kappas, and Gamma Phi Betas.

Congratulations are in order to the outgoing officers for a job well done. They are: Jeff Windahl, GP; Mike Kelly, VGP; Chris Collier, P; Bob Norwick, AG; Patrick Kenney, BG; Dave Cash, SG; Tim Sullivan, Hod; Mark Hermiller, Phu; and John Hurley, Hi.

Participating in varsity athletics this year is Andy McMillin, co-captain of Miami's hockey team.

Good luck to all our seniors!

Enthusiastic Pledges

The new year has brought many great changes at Michigan Beta as the Brother-hood has been strengthened with the initiation of three spirited new Brothers: Timothy Green, Westland; John Crinnion, Charlevoix; and Edward McInnis, Clarckstone. Winter rush yielded great crowds and five fine pledges. Joe Holtschneider, Bloomfield Hills; William Lefley, River Forest, IL; Andrew Morgan, East Lansing; Raymond Salliotte, Ecorse; and Anthony Weiss, Bay City. Great things are expected of this pledge class as we received a taste of their enthusiasm with a raid just one week after their pledging.

Early February saw a change in leadership bringing many hard working and talented Brothers into office. The current officers are: Charles Burnell, GP; James Wardlaw, VGP; John Arundel, P; Michael Tedesco, AG; Kent Kadesch, BG; David Farmer, SG: Neal Young, Hod; John Culver, Phu; and Duncan Moran, Hi.

February also had an active social calendar with a hay ride and a polyester party among those dates. The Brothers were treated to a surprise on Valentine's Day as we were awakened by the women of Gamma Phi Beta who had come to cook us breakfast. But the highlight, of course, was the February 22nd Founder's Day activities. The men of Michigan Beta and the Michigan Alpha Colony traveled to meet the alumni at the University Club in Detroit where we enjoyed amusing anecdotes and the spirit of Brotherhood. Everyone had a fabulous time.

Once again, we would like to wish the best of luck to the men at Michigan Alpha Colony as they work towards reinstallation.

New Strength

After having recently initiated sixteen new members in what has been termed by many the finest pledge class in recent years, Minnesota Beta finds itself continuing to grow in strength and prominence. Under the leadership of the older Brothers, Phi Psi finds itself in the admirable position of being a leading Chapter on the University of Minnesota campus. These initiates wasted no time in becoming active in the house as seven of the ten committee chairmen are these new Junior Actives. Such experience will ensure that the leadership pool in the Chapter will not diminish so that Phi Psi will continue to build for the future. These sixteen new initiates are: Michael Clausen, Jeff Claussen, Peter Csathy, John Stavig, Shane Schmidt, Patrick Slater, Dave Viertel, Todd Williams, Tim Moffet, Bruce Zajac, Dave Liebl, Tom Hoedeman, Greg Lavick, Greg Snyder, Ken Zylstra, and Robert Kost.

Following initiation, the Brothers immediately took care of business at hand-the election of new officers. These elections proved to be of the utmost importance since many of the recent leaders of the Chapter have been senior brothers such as Tom Venable who is presently serving as IFC President. As a result, a great deal of time and thought was given to the selection processing leading to the election of a fine group of men. The new officers include experienced leaders, such as new GP Dave Hunt who has served as P for the past two years, as well as younger members so as to ensure continuity over the years. The other new officers are Brad Bonewell, P; Peter Csathy, AG; Rick Moore, BG; Dan Lagermier, VGP; Tom Hoedeman, Hi; Bruce Zajac, Phu; and Tom Moffet, Hod.

Founder's Day, which was held at the Normandy Inn proved to be another example showing Phi Psi's building strength. This year's attendance at the ceremonies was the largest in recent years. Much was accomplished at the gathering including the instigation of a new "1888 Club" commemorating our Chapter's founding, which will serve as a fundraiser to repair the house as well as lead to improved communications between the undergraduates and the alumni.

Mississippi New Initiates

We started off the Spring semester here at Mississippi Alpha with our Initiation Banquet which was held on January 22, 1983. We are proud to welcome 22 new members into our Brotherhood. They are: Tommy Badon, Chip Bennett, Patrick Bowers, Todd Campbell, Grady Clinkscales, Chip Coskery, Don Currie, Jim Duckworth, Glenn Eskew, Jeff Hancock, Bryan Lee, Scott Lindsey, David Mattingly, Joe Mac McConnell, Butch Metcalfe, John Olson, Bruce Prather, Mark Robert, Doug Self, Pat True, Vince Spoltore, and Steve Wineberg. Brother Bryan Lee received the model pledge award and Brother Patrick Bowers received the scholarship pledge award. The Solon E. Summerfield Award was presented to one of our past presidents, Brother Rush Mosby. We were honored to have Brother Kent Owen as our guest speaker at the banquet and we were also proud to present Brother Walter Murphy with his 50 year pin.

In addition to initiation, there are also many other activities that take place during the Spring semester. Our annual Spring formal was held on February 26 at the Rivermont in Memphis. Ole Miss has its annual Red and Blue game set for April 16. This is one of the biggest rush weekends of the year. The activities begin on Friday with the big shrimp boil at Sardis Lake. That night, we have a band plus our big Spring theme party. The game is on Saturday with a campus wide party that night.

In the area of intramural sports, the Phi Psi basketball and soccer teams, which are now in competition, are doing well. Our softball team will begin playing soon.

Mississippi Alpha looks forward with anticipation to a productive semester and the start of Fall rush. We have had an active semester thus far and will continue to strive for excellence.

Thanks, Alumni

On the eve of Founder's Day, Missouri Alpha extends a gracious hello to our Brothers across the land, and those who may be overseas serving our country. We are sure that for all our Brothers, wherever they go, they will honor the Fraternity. Such is the feeling of Brotherhood at Missouri Alpha as we await the arrival of Spring.

We welcome eight new pledges this semester. They are: Gerald Gold, New Jersey; Chris Bauer, Washington, D.C.; Robert Coker, Lawson; Max January, Pleasant Hill; Steven Westrich, Cape Giradeau; Dennis Welin, Chesterfield; Tom Meyer, Blue Springs, and Mark Waldron, St. Louis.

The big news here is the surprise graduation of Craig Trautman. Without telling anyone, Brother Trautman enlisted in the Air Force, He plans to enter flight school after completion of boot camp. We would like to wish Brother Trautman the best of luck.

Wedding bells are ringing at 809 S. Providence once again. Dale Doerhoff and Geoffrey Tolley are planning to become engaged this summer. Dale is keeping the lucky girl a secret, while Geoff plans to wed Miss June Schlaifa in Buffalo. Scott Stephenson, our current president, is planning to get married in Ft. Lauderdale this July before attending law school. His wife-to-be is Amy Medalie. Brother Scott Wade has been accepted to medical school at the University of Missouri.

Missouri Phi Psis played hosts to Vanderbilt brothers when they came up for a weekend of fun and games in February. It is always nice to see other Chapters dropping by our home for visits.

In intramurals, soccer and wrestling are next. These two sports are perennially our best. Last year we finished near the top, but this year we plan to take it all.

Academics On Rise

As Nebraska Alpha moves into the second semester of the 1982-1983 school year we have much to celebrate and even more to look forward to.

The Chapter's scholastic average has risen steadily and now is among the top averages on campus. Along with the rise in scholastics goes increased involvement in campus activities. Phi Psi's at Nebraska are involved in ASUN, IFC, Greek Week, Great Greeks, and numerous other campus activities. Included in this list is Steve Corder's appearance as a Homecoming King finalist.

February 5 saw thirteen new men initiated into the Brotherhood. Brian Casey, Jeff Linn, Stan Steffen, Paul Hogan, Tim Brogan, Mark Thelander, Terrence Green, Curt White, Tom Heldridge, Syl Orsi, Berry Stadtler, Tim Gemar, and Jerry Begley were initiated into the Fraternity. All are fine men, and we are proud to have them in our Chapter. Several awards were also presented at the initiation banquet. Dave Goos was chosen Active of the Year, Paul Hogan was voted Outstanding Pledge, and Steve Corder was presented the Tim Martin Award. Congratulations All!

Officers for the Spring 1983 term are as follows: GP, Dave Goos; VGP, Scott Williamson; AG, Mark Scudder; P, Rick Ackerman; BG, Steve Corder; SG, Brad Eaton; Phu, Greg Paskevic; and Hi, Hank Schonewise. Chuck Micklavzina, a transfer from New York Alpha was elected Fraternity Educator.

Brother Kevin Hopp is spending the semester in London as an exchange student. We wish much luck to him, and to the rest of the Brothers across the country as another school year comes to a close.

Northwestern

Psyched for Spring!

Phi Kappa Psi at Northwestern is now stronger in academics, athletics and campus leadership than ever before. In addition to well rounded backgrounds we have a geographically diverse Chapter with Brothers from coast to coast and north to south, including Brazil.

In academics we have continued to excel. Curt Anderson was admitted into Tau Beta Pi, the Engineering Honor Society. John Enquist, a junior, was admitted into the Kellogg Graduate School of Management's 2-3 program, a combined B.A. and M.B.A. The house GPA of 3.20 ranks well above the University average. Recent graduates are attending Harvard, Michigan and Chicago Business Schools and Duke Law School, while others are working in Hollywood for producer Gary Marshall, attending UCLA, and appearing in movies, TV, and commercials. Four undergraduates are working for IBM, one is interning as an assistant to a producer in Hollywood, while others have been accepted into Northwestern's Medical School, Michigan and Stanford's Law Schools, and Northwestern and N.Y.U.'s Business Schools.

Exceptional academics doesn't mean a weakness in athletics. We finished in the top 5 in the school in intramural football for the 4th consecutive year, we took 1st place in DG's annual Anchor Splash, and we are league champions in floor hockey as we enter the playoffs. Phi Psi is well represented in almost all varsity and club sports; 4 are pitchers on the Baseball Team, 1 is on the Basket ball Team, and I is hoping to win the placekicking spot on the Football Team. Other Brothers are on the Track and Cross-Country, Swimming, Wrestling, Crew, Rugby, Golf and Hockey Teams in addition to 5 Yell Leaders.

Working with the administration in leadership positions are Rob Goldrich as IFC President, and Mark McArthur in the Greek Counselor System.

Our plans for this spring include; the anticipated celebration of our 1500th initiate next year, the continued renovation of the house for which we'd like to thank our alumni corp., the hosting of the DC/WWLS from 9/30-10/2/83, and an anticipated fund-raiser in the coming year.

New Beginnings

The men of Ohio Delta have returned from their Spring break in Florida tanned and excited about what's happening with Phi Kappa Psi.

On January 14, 21 pledges were initiated. We are pleased to say that this is the largest class in the history of Ohio Delta.

The new members are: Mike Barr, Mansfield; Drew Barton, Centerville; John Brunot, Greensburg, PA; Joe Buckley, Sylvania; Pat Campbell, Hudson; John Cleary, Columbus; Jeff Costakos, upper Arlington; Rick Gaderick, Chagrin Falls; Bill Hennen, Stow; Kurt Howerton, Mansfield; Rick Johnson, Chesterland; Jeff McNaughton, Howard; Mike McNulty, Wadsworth; Fred Miller, Columbus; Scott Oswalt, Three Rivers, MI; Mark Piatt, Cincinnati; Jeff Potocsnak, Westlake; Parrish Stanton, Dublin; John Talbot, Barnesville; Bill VonAllmen, Cincinnati; and Pat Wood, Galena.

Our chapter also inducted the new officers for 1983. They are: John Gerzema, GP; Steve Gilbert, VGP; Corny Boersma, P; Rob Oller, AG; Joe Heyd, Phu, Mike Amann, Hod, Jim Beisel, BG; Karl Robison, Rush Chairman; Tim Turriton, Social Chairman; and Alec McCurry, House Manager.

Several Brothers received prestigious awards during the winter. Joe Heyd was chosen as a regional finalist for the Truman Scholarship. Brother Mike Barr was accepted into Ohio Staters, and Mark Steele was chosen to work as an Educational Leadership Consultant for Phi Kappa Psi.

Founders Day was held on February 26 this year and it was a celebrated success. Bob Schwartz was the guest speaker on a day which marked the kick-off of Amici '83, a fundraising drive which will help expedite our mortgage payments. The alumni have done an excellent job coordinating the program, organized by Rocky Frost.

The new Phi Psi sweetheart of Ohio Delta is Tammy King, of Kappa Alpha Theta sorority. She was crowned at our annual Christmas formal.

Among other outstanding athletic accomplishments we have junior captain and All-American linebacker Eric DiMartino, and across the waves in sailing we have the Commadore of the Midwest Brother Frederick Hunger and crew pledge Doug Walters.

I.M. chairman Douglas Cherry is pleased to announce that all Phi Psi teams have been doing superbly. In fact, Indoor I.M. Soccer finished third in the league while Basketball clinched their division with a devastating 6-0 record. The captains for I.M. Soccer and Basketball, Tod Cracas and John Riddell, deserve more recognition than printed for an excellent season.

We are proud of Brothers Dave White and Mike Petty who participated in the O.W.U. Drama Club production of "Inherit the Wind". These two did so well, that it is foreseeable they will participate in the spring

Don Sivard is a member of the steering committee for this year's Greek Leadership Conference. Brother Phil Vasquez was named editor of the A&S Tours, the official publication of the Arts and Science College here at O.S.U. Phil was also named to the budget committee overlooking funding to the various clubs within the Arts and Science College.

Brother David Draper received a lifetime

Brother David Draper received a lifetime membership to the V-club. Brother Rick Schuhr continues to do an outstanding job as O.S.U.'s feature twirler and will compete in the national and world championships this summer. Following in Rick's footsteps, pledge Gene Mozingo made the O.S.U. winter corp rifle squad. Pledge Tim Cervantez will be in the drama departments next production, "Loot." In sports, our intramural basketball team needs one more win to clinch a playoff berth, despite losing three starters before the season began. Our social committee chairman, Don Wheeler, has done a great lob this semester. This semester's social events include a Mardi Gras rush party in February, a Hillbilly Hoedown party in March and also an Alumni picnic softball game in late April. The Spring pledges are Harry Bazarian from Oklahoma City, Tim Cervantez from Tulsa, John Crowley from El Dorado, Arkansas, Gene Mozingo from Tulsa and Richard Whitmire from Englewood, Colorado.

Always Participating

The members and pledges of Oregon Alpha would like to thank our alumni for the wonderful turnout on Founders Day. The festivities, held at the Chapter House, included a cocktail party which was then followed by a champagne dinner. As the evening drew to an end, the spirit of Phi Kappa Psi was eminent.

As usual, the involvement of Oregon Alphans at the University of Oregon is overwhelming. For instance, one of the more successful plays here at the University was cowritten by one of our Brothers, Mike Maples. Another Brother, Brad Pharis, organized and played in the band for the play. This year Phi Psis are extremely active in intramurals. We are in first place, with second place trailing far behind.

Fall term, ten new members were initiated into the Brotherhood of Phi Kappa Psi: Joe Acosta, Mark Armendariz, Kirk Bachmann, Tom Fasel, Chris Healy, Michael Hosmar, Michael Royse, Richard Skeen, Jeff Stuhr, and Lance Vannier.

This month eleven young men will be initiated into the fraternity: Michael Cannon, Anthony Fuerte, Bill Henn, Lance Hungerford, Mick Karls, Tim Libra, Scott Loos, Kam Sisco, Rob Taylor, Greg VanDyke, and Steve Wilkins. During their pledgeship they redecorated our party room. Their project included partial painting of the room and the installation of track lighting.

Under the supervision of Brothers Jordan Yospe and Bob Komin, our annual Phi Psi Smoker was a complete success. Over 1000 spectators were drawn to the all Greek boxing tournament. The money raised was donated to the University of Oregon's Museum

A few Ohio Deltans obviously enjoying the Annual Christmas Formal.

Ohio Wesleyan Striving For Excellence

Greetings from Ohio Alpha! We've begun the term with two additional pledges: Robert Tucker and Robert Dumke. Under the leadership of Fraternity Educators Bill Jennings and Donald Bowditch, these men are well on their way to becoming valuable members of our Chapter.

Several Brothers will lead nationally ranked sports teams into Division III competition. Senior Brothers Mitch Borcina (all-American) and John Gower are captains for this years O.W.U. lacrosse squad. Giving them strong support are Brothers Donovan, DeGiacomo and Evans accompanied by a strong base of pledges: Tod Hedrick, Mike Curry, Eric Pinn and Rich White.

Heading the O.W.U. Tennis Team is senior captain Andy Huddle joined by senior Brothers Craig and Crisp. The team finished 16th nationally last year and ranked 9th this year in match play. Staying in the golf fairShakesperean production of "As You Like It."

Our nominee for the Summerfield Scholarship Award, Carter Helm, is actively involved on the Residential Affairs Committee and is chairman of Judicial Court and Judicial Affairs Committee on the student body. Also, 2nd term GP Steve Finical is Chairman of the I.F.C. Committee on Hazing and Peter Day, VGP, is an active Greek representative on the student body.

May the bonds of Brotherhood grow ever stronger.

I'd Rather Be In Philadelphia

W.C. Fields was wrong; Philadelphia can be alot of fun—and Penn Iotans are proving it! The latest eight initiates to discover this happy truth are Steven Barnett, Fred Beckley, Rajish Bagga, George Graffey, Phillip Steinberg, Alec Levy, Paul Cohen and Michael McKenna. Our current officers are Michael Goldman, GP; Martin Gelfand, VGP; Eli Zinner, P; Brian Block, AG; Robert Byers, BG; Chris Barnes, SG; William Staples, Phu; Tod Nasser, Hod; and Michael Viland, Hi.

Pennsylvania students once again were able to "Start the Year Right" at Phi Kappa Psi. Now a annual rite upon return from Winter vacation, this year's party helped foster good will between Penn Iotans and other student bodies on campus. Combined with our games nights, movie nights and our snowed in party, we have been able to have a warm cozy semester despite Winter's chill. Special thanks must be given to our superb social chairman William Staples, whose experiments in grain punch, party music, and advertising techniques have made our parties a thing to remember.

Special "Thanks" also go to our alumni for the support given to us this semester. A group of over twenty Brothers went downtown to Philadelphia's posh Engineers Club to celebrate Founders Day with alumni currently living in the area. Extra special thanks also must be given to those alumni who dug themselves out of the East Coasts worst blizzard to attend our winter basketball homecoming against Harvard. Penn did remain undefeated in the Ivies by Trouncing the Crimson.

The new year opened with a bang in Happy Valley as the Nittany Lion Football team captured the National Championship title at the Sugar Bowl. Fifteen Brothers, including one on the cheerleading squad and one a member of the Blue Band, and many more alumni made the trek to New Orleans to support the Lions.

Upon returning from Christmas break, the Brotherhood of Penn Lambda pulled together with Chi Omega sorority to raise $8500 in pledges for the Annual Inter-fraternity

Council Dance Marathon under the guidance of Chairman Daniel Martone. Tim Sommer represented the house and finished the 48 hours of dancing, which collectively raised a total of $131,000 for the Four Diamonds Fund which aids families of children treated for cancer at the Hershey Medical Center.

Winter additions to the Brotherhood include Patrick Jenkins of Butler, and Douglas Lindquist of Schnecksville. A spring pledge class of 9 men together with our latest initiates is sure to keep Penn Lambda going strong!

Once again, the climax of the school year will come on April 23 with the Fifteenth Annual Phi Psi "500" under the leadership of Chairman Tom Aichele. The proceeds from the event will be donated to the Centre County Association for Retarded Citizens. Hard work, cooperation and dedication have gone into the planning of the race in the hopes of topping the $21,000 raised in 1982. As always, it is a wonderful opportunity to have a great time and be a part of a truly worthy cause, and of course, all Phi Psis are invited to attend.

All of us at the Lodge hope that our alumni and all Phi Psi's will be able to visit during the school year and see the continued strength of our Brotherhood.

Life In the Fast Lane

The year 1983 is only a few months old, but the many events already accomplished here at Indiana Delta has made the Spring semester a smashing success.

The Brothers started the year out with the biannual fundraiser "The Phi Psi Dribble". By dribbling a basketball from the campus of Indiana to our own campus here at Purdue, we received pledges of money of over $2000 for cancer research.

Another major event that occurred early in the year was the initiation of our 1500th Brother. The ceremony coincided with this year's Founders Day activities, and the day proved to be one of the most memorable in our chapter's long and prestigious history. The new Brothers of Indiana Delta are David A. Harnish, Kokomo; Brad Landmann, Anderson; Dan M. Blouin, Oak Lawn, IL; Brian D. Baker, Sylvania, OH; John F. Moeller, Albany; Todd E. Butler, Plymouth; James R. Huck, Indianapolis; Michael Reale, Westboro, MA; Jack DaDan, St. Joseph, MI; Tom MacAdam, Winfield, IL; Kevin Heisler, Plymouth; Timothy F. Couvreur, Grosse Point Farms, MI; and our 1500th initiate, Eric G. Burneson, Westlake, OH. After the initiation ceremony and the Founder's Day banquet in Indianapolis, the day was fittingly culminated with a reception party that lasted far into the next day.

Another long awaited event at Indiana Delta that has recently been accomplished is the refurnishing of the entry floor and the replacement of the carpet on all stairways. These improvements are just a few of the many that were made possible by the "Our Strong Band" fundraiser in which we raised $3,000 in donations.

Although the semester up to the time of this writing has been packed with activities, some of the best are yet to come. Leading the list is the Purdue Grand Prix in which the Phi Psi cart behind driver Bill Goedde has an excellent chance for taking top honors.

Stop By!

The Brothers and Pledges here at the R.I. Beta Chapter would like to extend its best wishes to the many individuals across the country who have made Phi Kappa Psi a strong and proud, conservative organization that has flourished throughout the years.

1982 was a very productive year for our Chapter in regards to pledges, newly initiated Brothers, and social as well as recreational activities. As the semester ended, one would have to rate our endeavors as meeting most of our expectations.

Our first meeting of this new semester brought us a new GP Steven Falcone; VGP, Robert Soderlund; and BG, George Taga. The other officers will be elected at a later date.

Spring Weekend plans are being finalized at the writing of this newsletter and will consist of our Annual Rose Formal Dance on Friday night, the 29th of April. Saturday will consist of our LoveBoat cruise around the island of Newport, Rhode Island with our Saturday night groundround immediately following. Sunday might be a day of rest for most people but not for the Brothers at the R.I. Beta Chapter. The Spring Weekend festivities continue with our gala picnic party at the Wacthog Lake in the Burlingame State Park. Coffee and donuts will end the weekend that night, while everyone reminishes on the weekends events.

Our Annual Bounce-a-Thon for the American Cancer Society was held on the 5th of February, and this event was a huge success. For the 12th straight year, the Chapter raised in excess of $3,000. Although our varsity team lost to West Virginia University, our efforts for the Cancer society was a total success.

Our spring rush is underway at the present time and we are expecting a fine semester of initiates.

We here at Rhode Island Beta would like to wish all the members of the Phi Psi circle the best of luck in all of its endeavors. The doors to our house are always open to members across the country, so why not drop us a line, or for that matter; just drop by and say "greetings Brother!"

Active Year

New Jersey Alpha is beginning its spring semester with many new faces in the front office. John Yankowski will be our new President, taking over the good job done by Bill Kirby. Vice President will be Matt Gerland. Jeff Schmier and Ken Wenk will be the Social Chairmen. We also welcome newly initiated Brothers Dominic Petrucci and Jeffrey Hull. Also, congratulations goes to Bill Kolatac for winning the coveted Summerfield Award and Jim Daley for being elected IFC President.

Our Winter session called ISP (intense social partying) ended two weeks ago. Some highlights included Brother John Maxwell winning $120 hand in the house card tournament, many pickup tackle football and basketball games, and of course, many parties.

In our first week of the new semester many Brothers took a road trip to Rutgers to watch Rider basketball in action. Afterwards we visited some Greek parties down there. Upcoming events include a house ice hockey game, weekends with our video recorder with movies such as "Caddy Shack", "Star Wars", and "Raiders of the Lost Ark". Upcoming Rush functions include the Dated Rush, Rush Buffet and Rush Party. Also in March Mike Gensinger and Mike Bennett will run the 2nd annual Phi Kappa Psi Softball Tournament.

In closing, New Jersey Alpha would like to thank the Phi Psis of Bucknell for inviting our soccer players after the game to their house party. They had a great time! We also would like to extend an invitation to any local Chapters who wish to take a road trip to Rider.

No Place Like Home

The conclusion of Spring rush proved to be above average in every respect. Our parties were louder, longer and better set up than some previous rushes and the outcome was nine pledges whose enthusiasm and interest is refreshing as well as important for the Chapter. Pledged were: John Lutes, Charleston Heights; Curt Cottle, Columbia; Conner Walker, Saluda; Eric Smith, Columbia; Greg Lowery, Goosecreek; Matt Thomson, Anderson; Todd Webster, Westport, CT; Jim Bryan, Miami, FL; & Julias DeSantis, Newark, DE.

As always, Founders Day went over with a big bang as our first large scale event after rush. Following a wonderful meal and introductions, guest speaker Don Durbin, tutor in residence at Georgia Alpha, gave our Brothers an excellent talk on strength within the Chapter. Since Don came to USC as a chapter Consultant on Phi Psi's Headquarters staff two years ago, many of the older Brothers had a lot of news to update. A good time was had by all.

Already this semester, our Brothers have been combining efforts to aid in the restoration of Woodrow Wilson's boyhood home here in Columbia. We hope to complete a series of projects at the house during the year as a service project for the city. Though there is a lot to be done at the house, the Brothers are both excited and eager to complete the necessary work.

Once again, Phi Psi physical prowess has shown its ugly head in basketball where we have seen unprecedented wins over other fraternities. Our Co-rec softball team is also doing very well and already, the Brothers are looking forward to Greek Week for our chance to retire the trophy after three straight victories. Afterwards, the semester will wind down to the traditional year end "Brain Bomb".

South Carolina Alpha would also like to express our wishes for a wonderful summer to all Phi Psis, wherever they are.

Cal Delta continued to add outstanding men to its ranks with seventeen men being initiated. The new Brothers include: Eric Beelar, Kirk Dowdell, Jeffrey Hartman, Jerome Holen, Larry Lloyd, Robert Marvin, John McManus, Chris Nakatani, Samuel Rubin, Timothy Schrager, Michael Schreiber, Mark Schulz, Robert Schwab, Noel Tirsch, William White and Eugene Yates. In addition, Spring rush ended with ten new pledges: Jon Anderson, Downey; Tony Fire, Redondo Beach; Curtis Fong, Sacramento; Richard Kleinbauer, Orange; Richard Lambros, Downey; William Lewczuk, El Monte; Will Miller, Granada Hills; Robb Mitchell, Burbank, Jeffrey Parker, Spring Valley; and Steven Rumsey, Buena Park.

The Spring semester proved to be another exciting season. The highlights commenced with a wild road trip to Las Vegas. Later on in the semester, we enjoyed renewing the bonds of Brotherhood with alumni at our Founders Day Banquet held at the Disneyland Hotel. In addition, our first annual Masquerade Ball was a tremendous success. Yosemite National Park was selected as the site for our famous weekender. This allowed Brothers and guests to escape the pressures of studying to commune with nature. Under the talented directorship of President Dan Settelmayer and joined by the voices of the Alpha Delta Pi sorority, we participated in USC's all-student musical production. The semester was further highlighted by Greek Week. It was a week where members of all the fraternities and sororities vied against one another in numerous events. The final event was the Phi Psi "500" tricycle race, bringing Greek Week and the end of the semester to an exhilarating end. The future of Cal Delta looks encouraging as we will experience complete renovation of the house in preparation for the 1984 Olympics.

In closing, Cal Delta extends its best wishes to all the Chapters of Phi Kappa Psi.

New Start

A new air of optimism is present at Southwest Texas as Phi Psi started another semester off to a truly clean start. After several semesters of hard work and the invaluable help from a very capable alumni organization, we have successfully turned around the Chapter into an efficient functioning unit. The house of 331 West Hopkins has been sold and hopes are high to relocate soon.

Following spring rush we have picked up five fine young men: Charlie Coten, Trent Gregory, Joe Gordon, Scott Griffin, and Harry Layer. We feel that what these men lack in quantity they make up in quality.

Due to the solution of some long standing financial problems, the way was made clear for the initiation of fifty-three locally active Brothers onto the national rolls. The event was concurrent with the regular initiation of the Fall, 1982 pledges, and was conducted by National Secretary Bryan Muecke in cooperation with local alumni. The event was followed by much merry-making by all involved.

The Spring Formal is scheduled for April 16th, on the Flagship Texas, on the river in Austin, Texas. We are expecting a large turnout by alumni and undergraduate Brothers. The summer reunion has been tentatively scheduled for the weekend of July 16.

California Beta pushed its undergraduate membership past 40 with the initiation of these 16 men: Charles Denault, Marblehead, MA; Bob Frakes, Santa Barbara; Todd Gates, Piedmont; Jeff Hibbard, E. Grand Rapids, MI; David Hoffer, Downey; Russell Jong, Palo Alto; Jeff Katzman, Los Angeles; David Levy, San Diego; Ken McClain, Eugene, OR; Steve Miller, Memphis, TN; Bob Milligan, Modesto; Mike Moya, Ft. Collins, CO; Danilo Purlia, Alpine; Gregg Rasmussen, San Jose; Bob Stocking, Concord, NH; and Victor Wu, Rockville, MD.

The winter months were busy for us. We celebrated Founders Day with our Brothers at the University of California at Berkeley, and showed a film here on campus to raise money. We had a car rally which took clue-seekers around San Francisco Bay to solve a "murder." Two intramural basketball teams competed each week. To expand our service involvement, we have been consulting with Stanford officials to both evaluate and improve conditions for disabled persons on campus.

We named Andy Beal as our Summerfield scholar. Beal is a Phi Beta Kappa who has served as president of Stanford's Interfraternity Council for the past year. For two years he has led our inquiries into reacquiring the Phi Psi house here. Such investigations to regain the house or to establish an alternative permanent facility are continuing.

With 38 active members initiated in the last two years, expectations are high for rush in 1983. We have successfully created friendships and sponsored activities together, and we hope to have that success reflected in another busy spring.

Syracuse Spring '83

The 99th Anniversary of N.Y. Beta at Syracuse University was celebrated in high spirits as undergraduate Brothers and local alumni payed tribute to the Founders of Phi Kappa Psi. The atmosphere conveyed the gracious sentiments of the undergraduate Brothers to all alumni who have unselfishly donated their time and energy. Ninety-nine years of Fraternity at Syracuse has served the needs of undergraduates only through continued dedication by alumni. In addition to their routine responsibilities, the alumni officers announced a fund raiser that will coincide with the 100th Anniversary of N.Y. Beta. The interaction between alumni and student Brothers is expected to produce major funds for the improvement of our traditional Fraternity house's physical plant.

A fine slate of officers has been elected to guide the Chapter this semester. Elected were: Craig Kingsley, GP; Richard Klink, VGP; Ron Wimpphimer, P; Stephen Mercer, AG; Scott Allison, BG; Bert Veccicrelli, Hod; Antony Scierabba, Phu; Robert Palmason, SG; and Michael Maurice, Hi.

Thirteen exceptional young men are under the leadership of Paul Rossi this spring. Welcomed into our circle are; Daniel Crowe, Grand Island; Paris Georgallis, Ibadan Oyo, Nigeria; David Gilbert, West Rupert, VT; Jeffrey Greenberg, Livingston, NJ; Joseph Mastoloni, White Plains; Laurence Price, Marlboro, NJ; Thomas Brown, Wenham, MA; Siler Black, White Plains, NJ; Albert Vanness, New York; Lee Sunderland, Somerset, MA; Timothy Booth, Dewitt; Kenneth Rooney, Philadelphia, PA; and Mark Epstein, Demarest, NJ.

The Chapter scholarship committee produced tangible results as the grade point average for in-house Brothers rose last semester. Nicholas Minale was selected for exemplifying fine character and received The Solon Summerfield Award. The Founder's Cup winner this year is William Bornstein. Bill has balanced superior academic ability in his discipline of Electrical Engineering with dedication to his fraternity. Last spring, Brother Bornstein was chosen as the first recipient of the annual Ben King National Scholarship.

The common bond that unites the individuals of this Fraternity ever grows deeper and stronger in the nature of N.Y. Beta. We strive to emulate the high ideals of Phi Kappa Psi and with continued support and hard work, our goal can be achieved.

Centennial

The Brothers of Texas Alpha begin 1983 with pride and anticipation for the year-long celebration of the University of Texas' 100th year.

Joining the Brotherhood in this exciting year are twenty-six Fall initiates, and we are proud to welcome seven new Spring pledges; Brandon Christopher Black and Edward Albert Figueredo, Houston; Michael John Jewell, Dallas; Christopher Alan Kaderli, Fredericksburg; George Luis Longoria, Mission; Michael Scott Petterson, Dallas; and Michael Alan Smith, Arlington.

A large part of the Centennial is the traditional "Round-Up" celebration. We hope to duplicate last year's" Best Organization" award at the Carnival for Charity, and work has begun on our huge float for the Parade. The Brothers thank all of our Alumni, who visited and helped make Founder's Day such a success, and invite them all to stop by our Round-Up parties (April 8&9) or any other time possible.

Along with these parties, the rest of our social schedule is also full of activity. Already planned are mixers with Sigma Delta Tau, Alpha Epsilon Phi, Alpha Delta Pi, Delta Delta Delta, and matches with Kappa Delta and Delta Gamma. We are also planning two large theme parties—a "Medieval" Party and our traditional "Bermuda" Formal.

Texas Alpha is involved in many other activities as well. Our intramural teams all placed high in rank, and training is beginning to retain our crown as champions of the Alpha Epsilon Pi All-Campus Olympiad. J. K. Ivey represents Phi Psi well in the Student Congress, and several Brothers are involved in S.U.R.E.—a new volunteer program of campus escorts to help eliminate violent crime.

In closing, the Brothers would like to share their "Centennial" enthusiasm; we encourage all other Chapters, and alumni, to visit us at 2401 Longview, and we would like to extend a special welcome to our newest Brothers of California Zeta and wish them a prosperous future.

Good Semester

With books trying to bury us under, Texas Beta comes to the end of a good spring semester. Welcome to the seven new men who make up our spring pledge class. They are George Castro, Tony Dunn, John Fiel, Terrell Gilliland, Harry Harlan, Tom Kirshner and Bobby Symula. The Chapter is very glad to have taken such fine men and is looking forward to initiating them into our ever growing Brotherhood.

We are also happy to report the initiation of eight fall pledges on January 17, 1983. They are; Richard Banks, Midland; Chuck Blagg, San Antonio; Mike Herrick, Plano; Mark Radenbaugh, Grapevine; Wade Riza, Sherman; Jeff Schweiger, Miami, FL; Art Segovia, Dallas; and Scott Williams, San Antonio. They have already taken charge and have formed the back bone of the Chapter.

Leadership this semester was supplied by Tom Dykes, GP; Bill Cato, VGP; Doug Cowie, P; Todd Smith, AG; Steve Whipple, BG; Mark Bumpass, SG; Art Segovia, Hi; Richard Jack, Hod; and David Green, Phu.

Socially, we scheduled mixers with Gamma Phi Beta and Sigma Kappa sororities, a Chapter retreat to Mazatlan over spring break, and the big event of the semester, the Excalibur Affair (spring formal).

Texas Alpha's Chapter home decorated for their World War II party.

On the constructive side, we once again held the Phi Psi Food Drive to help the needy. Every year we hold a competition between all fraternities and sororities at Tech to see who can collect the most canned food and then we give it to charity. We also sold buttons at Pikefest again. These sales are a lot of fun for the Brothers and have become a major source of income.

Finally, congratulations to friend of the chapter Millini Powell for being selected as the model for one of the now famous Diet Pepsi commercials; a little fame never hurt Phi Kappa Psi.

Good luck to all Brothers, have a great summer and we'll see you next fall.

We would like to thank Tom Ehrardt, '81, for his hard work as membership chairman.

The month of February means Founders Day activities and many Brothers were involved at both the Chicago and Indianapolis celebrations. We believe that Founders Day should always be remembered as a great day in Phi Psi history.

The men of Indiana Epsilon would also like to congratulate Brother Gary Puetz '71, for a Super Bowl victory; Gary is a member of the Washington Redskins football team.

The spring semester brought Indiana Epsilon the highest fraternity GPA for the fourth consecutive semester with a GPA of 2.922, but we feel that this is not enough and will continue to strive for an elusive 3.0. Also we said "Good Bye" to three Brothers: Chris Thielo, '81, and Tim Mech, '82, are studying overseas in Cambridge, England and Brother Steve Thompson, '81, is studying at Pueblo, Mexico. We all know that this will be an exhilarating semester for them.

We are confident that at the conclusion of this semester, Indiana Epsilon will bring home the All-Sport's trophy and the highest fraternity GPA, fifth consecutive semester. But, we as Phi Psis know that this is not everything and will be striving to keep our Fraternity a close knit brotherhood, as it should be.

Vanderbilt. It began with a Hometown Beer party following return to school after Christmas. The most awesome Rush began after that, in which we pledged thirty quality men who definitely have alot to offer this Chapter.

The men pledged were Lang Bowles, Kit Caldwell, McKay Chauvin, Andrew Condie, Glenn Draper, Wes Edwards, Temple Estopinal, Louis Fettig, Tom Ford, Hart Hagan, Rick Hoffman, Jim Johnson, Ian Lange, Bill Lawrence, Scott Lewis, Tim Lietz, Jim Merritt, Miles Morgan, Dean O'Farrell, Mark Reuss, Jake Ring, Brett Robinson, Sean Rollings, Doug Schukar, Joe Spiezio, Jon Spritzer, Randy Stodard, Andrew Thomas, Kirk Wrobley, and Robert Zimmerman.

Among other new information are the officers for this semester: Geoff Greulich, GP; Al Thrasher, VGP; Paul Cushing, P; Robert Rudder, Fraternity Educator; Barry Sorrells, House Manager; and Todd Kolba, AG.

Many of the Brothers are also active in campus life: Paul Cushing is on the Honor Council, Jeff Rosenblum is a member of a singing group called the "Original Cast", and Bobby Miller is currently campaigning for the office of President of the Student Government Association.

The I.M. results this semester were also good. We placed first in Racquet Ball Doubles, second in Pool, and we had a winning season in Basketball.

Future events include a bus trip for Brothers and pledges alike up to the University of Missouri, where we will visit and compare ideas with the Brothers of Missouri Alpha. Thanks to the House Corps and our Alumni, new furniture is on the way. We invite all to come by and see us, because things at the Tennessee Delta Chapter are better than ever!

Virginia Mid-Winters

Mid-winter came to Charlottesville with a bang; a snowfall of over a foot. Along with the snow Virginia Alpha received a new pledge, Blair Thompson, Alexandria, Va. Hopefully this will be only one of many pledges we hope the Chapter will garner through an active Spring rush. The rush effort is lead by J. Stuart Mester, our veteran rush chairman.

In other news, the Chapter intramural basketball team currently leads its division with a 4-0 record. Virginia Alpha has been a dominate force in intramural basketball, winning the championship three out of the last four years. As the current record shows this year should not prove to be an exception to the rule.

In another area, members of Virginia Alpha have taken on a community service project. Throughout the fall and winter various work teams have been clearing and landscaping the property of a local public library. The Chapter feels that this activity is a good way to build togetherness while at the same time helping the surrounding community.

The Brothers of Virginia Zeta, having just completed a full quarter of very successful activities, are presently embarking on their Spring Quarter Rush program. Under the leadership of Rush chairman Steve Hatcher, and Fraternity Educator Don Barker, Virginia Zeta was able to obtain her second largest pledge class of her history. This class, initiated April 1, includes Fernando de la Rama, Bill Henderson, Bob Barnhart, Frank Isbell, Reese Puckett, Jeff Kapinos, Len Tamboer, and Rich String. With these fine initiates, Virginia Zeta has now surpassed the 100 Brother mark.

One of the most eagerly anticipated events of the year, Spring Banquet, is nearly upon us. April 23 is the date for this galla event, and it ensures a blast for all. The entire Brotherhood is looking forward to being reunited with the alumni during this event.

Another bright spot this year is the increased Alumni support received. Thanks to Brother-Alumni interaction, Virginia Zeta's financial situation is on the upswing. Her housing fund has been reestablished and action has been taken to upgrade the conditions of the house and parking area. Also, the entire lot is in the process of being sold.

A meeting to discuss these and other finances will be held during banquet weekend.

Finally, Virginia Zeta would like to wish the best of luck in all future endeavors to her graduating seniors; Paul Restina, Ken Catlett, and Kevin Ledzian.

Winding it Down

As another academic year winds to a close, Indiana Gamma sadly bids farewell to its seniors and wishes them all the best in the years ahead. Hopefully they will not become strangers and will come back to visit often, with all our Brothers feeling free to come see us anytime.

As this article will be published post facto to the event, Indiana Gamma will have welcomed twenty-nine new Brothers into Phi Kappa Psi. Our new Brothers are: Rick Chua, John Chumley, James Howard and Tim Miller, Indianapolis; Andy West, Speedway; Tim Phillips, Delphi; John Marsteller, Lafayette; Tony Trapp, Brownsburg; Lance Wonderlin, Covington; Barry Stroup, Wabash; Mike Busch and Jeff Humes, Logansport; Gordon Sheffield. New Castle; Gary Rusk, Terre Haute; Eric Swanson, South Bend; Chris Luce, Michigan City; Alex Mishel, Gary; Tom Anthony and Kevin Novak, Highland; Joe Hynds, Kevin Lechner, Brian Oakes and Mike Stokes, Kokomo; Greg Grapski, Easton, CT; Joe Franklin, Woodridge, IL; Mike Disini, Manila, Philippines; Brad Fewell, Barrington Hills, IL; and Matt Stegman, Baltimore, MD. All were welcomed in on February 26, 1983.

The Brothers of Indiana Gamma would like to apologize for not having a larger attendance at the Founders Day Banquet. It just so happens that for the past two years the College has scheduled Parents' Weekend on the same weekend, which has presented us with a significant problem.

In closing Indiana Gamma would like to ask the help of all its Brothers in rush. If anyone knows of any prospective pledges coming to the 'Bash next year, we would greatly appreciate that information. We also would like to wish all our Brothers a safe and productive summer.

Has Spring Sprung?

Spirits are high and success is our goal this spring at Washington Alpha. Leading the way towards prominence on campus and excellence in Brotherhood are Doug Hora, GP, and Brad Benson, VGP.

Other officers for the Spring are: Sam Loss, P; Jim McDonough, AG; Mark Coker, BG; Hyung Song, SG; Darrin Braget, Hi; Darren Gaylor, Hod; and Jacques Nguyen, Phu.

Inspiration Week was a time of testing of our pledges. From the testing of their inner strength to the testing of their knowledge of Phi Kappa Psi, our pledges proved themselves worthy of living at Washington Alpha, and a select number, upon completion of all the requirements, were revealed the mysteries of Phi Kappa Psi.

New Brothers for the year 1983 are: Ivan Castillo, HI; Steve Padar, Reno, NV; Scott Santoro, Seattle; Gary Johnson, Kodiak, AK; Doug Tillotson, Kent; Rich Clasen, Tacoma; Chris McCaslin, Renton; Bruce Stirling, Seattle; Dave Ayres, Renton; Robert Corfman, Des Moines; and John Robbins, Bellvue. These new Brothers brought our initiated numbers to 1252 since 1914.

In other events, the Brothers maintained their unblemished record by defeating, on the gridiron, the pledges in the Toilet Bowl Classic.

The Phi Psi Gator's 5'10" and under basketball team made it into the playoffs in intramural play. Members of the team are: Sam "Bones" Loss; Steve "Guano" Kramer, Jim "Big Mac" McDonough, Matt "Oly" Ohlinger, Ed "Rough 'em up" Taylor, Joe "Wheels" Pruss, John "Mole in the Hole" Tyrpak, Dave "Noodle" Newell, and Anthony Kirby.

Softball and Greek Week are the main items for Spring. Greek Week is scheduled for April 24-29 and Washington Alpha plans to show off it's colors in the funnelator contest as well as the other events during the week.

The Doors of Washington Alpha are always open to visitors and, as the members of Oregon Beta can attest from their last visit, we are the friendliest house on campus!

Diversity

Four Brothers of Pennsylvania Alpha have recently completed internships over Intersession. Ben Bilotta and John Kelly spent January working for the State Department. Lou Dayich and Tom Noble were employed by Princess Lines and Universal Studios respectively. Of the Brothers that remained on campus, Dave Krivus, Jeff Mills and Howie Osterman continued their success on the wrestling mats. Sophomore Greg Hauser placed third in the Greene County Rodeo All-Around Cowboy Competition.

Congratulations are in order for Timmy Bracken who was accepted in early admissions at Erie Mortuary Academy. Also, Mike Sisk has been accepted into Chiropractic school. Alumnus Frank Yoho recently received recognition for making the cover of Sports Illustrated for the week of January 2, 1983.

We anticipate many pledges this spring due to our rushing efforts. Jim Lomeo, the current Phu, was mistakenly omitted from the last edition.

Timmy Bracken, Pat Shields, Jeff Doyle, John Kelly, Kevin Rozsa, Brian Chorba, Mark Hofbauer and Louie Dayich were honored recently for making the football squad's "3.0 Club". Brothers Jim Lomeo, Joe Answine, Kenny Jaynes and Mark "Grimmy" Veil's Dean's List semesters raised the chapter cumulative average to 3.21. President Brad Warden recently received a grant to continue his research in the use of the spectrometer in oil-ion analysis. We here at the Mother Chapter may be broke, but we have continued to excel in all areas of campus life.

Brotherhood Strengthened

Starting out a new semester on a high note, West Virginia Alpha is pleased to announce that we revealed the secrets of Brotherhood to fifteen fine men on February 19. They are Mark Allen, Oak Hill, Jim McNeil, Greg Gillette, and Mike Armstrong, Weirton; John Critchfield, South Charleston; Willie Barnes, and Randy Riley, Charleston; Charles Raese, Morgantown; Scot Refsland, Lewisburg; Rick Owens, Bridgeport; Will Rogers, Vienna; Glenn Gotsford, Stuart, FL; Gregg Bushyearger, Bethel Park, PA; John Coyner, Oxford, MD; and Ned Cochran, Tom's River, NJ. Brother Kent C. Owen was our guest speaker at the banquet following initiation that was attended by a fine showing of Brothers and alumni.

Second semester rush proved quite fruitful as we pledged nineteen men. We welcomed Mark Brown, and Joe Harrick, Weirton; Tom Daugherty, Charleston; Jeff Pyle, Ford City, PA; Perry Pascasio, Weston; Todd Everett, Elkins; Barry Williams, Salem; Marc Jacobson, Huntingdon; Joe Fox, Fairmont; Phil Slates, and Geoff Thomas, Lewisburg; George Vieweg IV, Wheeling; Todd May, Vienna; Jeff Dolinar, Morgantown; Mickey Mulgrew, Woodbridge, VA; Jon Kennedy, Perrine, FL; Mike Allen, Rochester, NY; Doug Stoup, Mechanicsburg, PA; and Neil Pflum, York, PA.

Just in its third year, the Phi Psi Run for Leukemia, our primary philanthropic project, has already become a great success. The run, in memory of brother C. B. Shingleton who died of leukemia in 1975, has attracted a large field of runners varying from the average runner to several highly-regarded road racers. The Brothers are hoping that our diligent efforts will be rewarded with another successful race on April 17. Other planned pro jects are an all-Greek Drink at a local bar, and a sorority air band contest.

Phi Psis have been very active on campus as Phil Compton was named Greek Man of the Year, and John Miesner was re-elected to the Board of Governors. Joey Chambers had a very successful season as the second seed on the WVU tennis team, as did John Critchfield who capped off his season with a fine performance at the NCAA Swimming Championships.

West Virginia Alpha wishes all brothers a safe and rewarding summer.

A new slate of officers has been elected as well. They are: John Scatterday, GP; Steve Steele, VP; Dereck McKelvey, P; Gregory Billstone, AG; Greg Benson, BG; Chris Entler, Hi; Tom Yih, Hod; and Daniel Floyd, Phu.

Major house improvements continue during the winter term. The paneling has been removed from the second and third floors. We plan to repair these walls and either repanel or stucco them.

A pledge dance with the Chi Omega sorority, a "new do" party, and our own pledge dance have been the highlights of winter term's social calendar.

founded the present university in 1892. At its peak, the university had 37 fraternities on campus. In the 1940's over half of these closed due to World War II and anti-fraternity regulations. In the turmoil of the 1960's, when students were more concerned with taking over the administration building than joining fraternities, most of the remaining chapters closed. Phi Kappa Psi was one of the last to close, surviving until 1970. Illinois Beta initiated 932 men. Today, five fraternities thrive at Chicago with plenty of room for expansion.

Last fall, a friend, Joe Paolucci, and this writer noticed that many people were interested in fraternities, but did not feel comfortable with any of the five personalities represented by chapters here. It was then that we got the idea of starting a new chapter at the U of C. After carefully considering many fraternities, we chose Phi Kappa Psi. Phi Psi had the winning combination of a strong national organization, an enthusiastic staff, and outstanding alumni.

Presently we are organizing our group. We will have a complete list of members for the next issue of The Shield. Our officers are Joe Paolucci, President, Joliet, IL; Rick Hagey, Treasurer, Hendersonville, TN; Jim Walsh, Rush Chairman, Sudbury, MA, and Karl Studtmann, Secretary, LaPorte, IN. This spring we plan to participate in several campus activities.

The IFC, of which we are a member, and the other fraternities have all offered to assist in any way they can. Our chapter chartering goal date is winter, 1984. We're looking forward to re-establishing this fine Fraternity at our school. We invite correspondence from alumni and other chapters.

As Spring is finally upon us, much preparation is being taken for our Colony's Founders day on Phi Psi's Founders day, February 19.

With the change of seasons, a change of officers was also done. We take great pride in announcing our new leadership for this semester: GP-Chris Hoch, VGP-Vince Williams, AG-Edward Rombach, BG-Dana Allison, P-Edward Mashey, Phu-Rich Linkenheimer, SG-Bill Waldman, Hod-Mark Pepper, and Hi-Dale Wyville. Good Luck guys, the best has just begun.

After our first semester at rush we are proud to announce our spring '83' pledge class. David Davenport, Todd Franklin, Jerry Goodenough, Ray Hart, Kevin Joseph, Eric Keiser, Brad Kellogg, Dan Metro, Ralph Mongillo, Gary Schofield, Mike Sita, Tim Skarupski, and Lou Waleff. These fine men are under the guidance of Fraternity Educators Vince Catalfu and Edward Rombach.

We would like to take this time to thank Tim McCourt, Ken Harper, and Gary Angstadt for their help in our national establishment.

As we come into April the Colony will look forward to their first participation in Greek Week '83 with co-partner Alpha Gamma Delta.

Until next time we hope that everyone has had a wonderful semester and an equally good Founders Day.

Chicago Chicago's Back!

After a "brief interruption" Phi Kappa Psi has returned to the University of Chicago. The Executive Council ended the twelve-year absence on January 22 when it officially recognized the Illinois Beta Colony. We're looking forward to making Phi Kappa Psi the outstanding Fraternity on campus once again.

The original Illinois Beta Chapter was founded at the old University of Chicago in 1865. The old university folded, but the chapter continued when John Rockefeller busy, and successful ones for us at Kentucky Beta. We emerged from spring rush with six new members. They are: John Barfield, Mark Davis, Brad "Omar" Noel, Vernon Sheen, Kris Rothman, and Rick White. We are proud of these men, and we look forward to their association with us.

Along with these fine men, we garnered a bit of public praise from spring rush, for being one of only two fraternities on campus who conducted dry rush. The editor of the student newspaper, in an editorial, pointed to our ability to make the "dry" decision without administration pressure.

For the past few weeks we have been conducting our weekly meetings at sorority chapter houses. This has made for pleasant colony meetings, as well as giving us campus exposure and a place to meet.

Our campus activities this spring include a "Skate-a-thon" being sponsored by Kappa Kappa Gamma sorority and Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, and the Delta Gamma "Anchor Splash" swimming competition.

Enclosed is a picture of the colony, taken a few weeks ago at the installation of our new members.

Best of luck to all for the remainder of the year!

Ready for Charter

Greetings from Ann Arbor! We are proud to announce the initiation of five new Brothers into the Colony. Formally initiated on January 21, 1983 were: James Vincent Poma, Kevin Patrick Corbin, Edward John Mehall, Craig Kazmierczak, and Jon Robert Getzinger. Our numbers continue to grow with Winter Rush bringing us five outstanding pledges. The members of the newest pledge class, with an aggregate g.p.a. over a 3.5, are: Eric Thomas Lund, Russell Stuart King, Phillip Paul Mayrose, Ramon Balboa Palacios, Jr. and Anthony Hodge Worsham.

A Flashlight and Pajama Party with Alpha Xi Delta helped us start the new year off with a bang. The social calendar for the near future includes a party with Zeta Tau Alpha and several exchange dinners. Meanwhile, the success of the Phi Psi athletic teams are earning us a prominent name on campus. With all three of our basketball teams advancing in the playoffs and a strong third place showing in swimming, we are establishing ourselves as a force to be reckoned with in intramural sports.

On February 11 we hosted the Brothers of Ohio Zeta and their pledges to a night in Ann Arbor. Hope you guys had a good time! (Did you see the pictures?) Congratulations go out to the newly installed Brothers of California Zeta. Their warm notes of support have been greatly appreciated. "Hello," to the Brothers of Oregon Alpha. Although this Correspondent's visit to Eugene was brief, the quality of Phi Psi's never takes long to shine through. Aloha!

Arizona

By the time you read this, our Arizona Alumni Association Founder's Day celebration will have been held at The Arizona Country Club on the night of February 17th. A great time will have been had by Brothers of all ages and throughout the night choruses of sentimental Fraternity songs and loud cheers will have been heard. Most likely many wives and girl friends will have had the opportunity to appreciate what Phi Kappa Psi has meant to those of us who shared the experience. Surely, it was a rewarding evening.

As long as predictions are the order of the day, further ones include:

- A. The continued success of the Arizona Alumni Association's monthly luncheons, held on the first Friday of every month at the University Club in beautiful mid-town Phoenix.
- B. An excellent Executive Committee will be formed by the Arizona Alumni Association to plan and execute a series of golf tournaments, happy hours, and other events of interest to Arizona Phi Psis
- C. A fund raising drive for the Arizona Beta chapter kitchen will be in full gear after having received over $9,000 in contributions from Arizona Beta alumni. All Arizona Alumni of this great Fraternity will be asked to pitch in to help the local Chapter enjoy the great comraderie of eating meals together.
- D. All Arizona Phi Psis who read this will make a personal pledge to support the Fraternity in some way this year.

Here's thanking you in advance for your support.

Founders Day was celebrated at the Union League of Chicago with a banquet and program on Friday, February 18th. A short film and program featuring the "Winning Way" by George Allan of the Chicago Blitz was apropo to Phi Kappa Psi and the Chicago Alumni Association, and we continue in the winning way. Gold Council memberships were awarded to Ray George, Illinois Alpha and Dave Wiedeman, Illinois Beta. Representatives from Illinois Alpha, Illinois Delta, Indiana Epsilon and Wisconsin Gamma brought us up to date on what was happening at each Chapter. A representative of Illinois Beta Colony shared with us the efforts being made to bring Phi Psi back to the University of Chicago.

Officers of your Association for 1983 were elected and are as follows: President, Jack Novak, Illinois Alpha; 1st Vice President, Bob Halliday, Illinois Delta; 2nd Vice President, Pat Kirby, Minnesota Beta; Treasurer Tom Whiting, Indiana Delta; 3rd Vice President Walter Brown, Virginia Zeta; 4th Vice President, Frank Whiting Jr., Illinois Delta; Secretary, Jerry Piper, Missouri Alpha and Chaplain, Kent Yowell, Colorado Alpha.

Our project for 1982 was a new directory of Chicagoland Phi Psi's. Finished copies were displayed and a free copy was reported to be in the mail to each Brother. A few changes that reached us late didn't make the book; we had to go to press sometime. I think you will be pleased by this effort from your officers, particularly the cover, designed by Vice President Walter Brown.

1983 dues are $3.00 and support our mailing effort, our National dues and other projects of the Chicago Alumni Association. This seems to be the year of the colored mailing with dues notices in blue, Founder's Day notices in pink and golf tourney notices in green.

Our regular weekly luncheons continue each Friday (except holidays) at the Columbus Athletic Club, with attendance varying from a half dozen to a dozen or more Brothers. An exception is the occasional special luncheon featuring a Phi Psi speaker, most recent of which was a fine talk by Judge James C. Britt, Ohio Delta '43, who drew a group of nearly 30 people. The following week saw a group of Phi Psi alumni joining several hundred other fans of James Thurber, Ohio Delta '18, at a benefit performance by William Windom of the amusing, whimsical, delightful "Thurber II"-selections from Thurber's stories, fables, reports, and drawings. As this goes to press, we are looking forward to Founders' Day to be observed on February 26 and featuring as the speaker Brother J. Robert Swartz, prominent Cleveland attorney and composer of several Phi Psi songs.

As always, Phi Psis from far and near are urged to join us for lunch any Friday—just call Joe DeVennish (228-3450) for details.

This year promises to be a busy and an eventful one for members of the Detroit Alumni Association. We began 1983 activities on February 22, with the Annual Founders' Day Banquet. For the second year, the event returned to the University Club, a site familiar to many Alumni. The Banquet marked the second and final attendance by the Michigan Alpha Colonizers, since Michigan Alpha will be represented by Brothers and Pledges in 1984!! National Phi Psi representatives reported details of the coming reinstallation of Michigan Alpha, scheduled for March 26. Invitations to this gala event will be mailed to Michigan Alpha Alumni and to other Phi Psi Alumni with mailing addresses in Southeast Michigan. If you are not among this group or if your address has changed recently, and you would like to attend this event, contact Dave Law at (313) 273-9158. We're all looking forward to again having two Phi Psi Chapters in Michigan.

Hearty congratulations to the Colonizers, Alumni, and Phi Psi Officials who spared no effort in re-establishing Michigan Alpha.

Don't get the mistaken impression that Alumni Association activities decline after March. We've got a whole year full of activities on the agenda—two golf outings, picnics, cocktail parties, monthly luncheons, etc. Details of these events will be provided in future mailings. We are continuing our effort to update and maintain an active Detroit Alumni Association mailing list. If you were unable to attend Founders Day, please send current mailing info (and any suggestions for Alumni Activities) to Dave Law, 14340 Artesian, Detroit, M1 48223. We also would appreciate receiving Annual Dues payments of $6.00. Checks should be made payable to Phi Kappa Psi Detroit Alumni Association. We look forward to your joining us!

Over 160 Phi Psis gathered for Founders Day '83 in Indianapolis, celebrating atop the Columbia Club on the circle downtown.

The day started early with the Purdue Chapter's initiation of 14 new Brothers, which included among their ranks Eric Greg Burneson, Indiana Delta's 1500th initiate . . . we congratulate this outstanding Chapter on a well done ceremony, and a membership level establishing a high water mark.

From the church where the initiation was held, several visited the nearby Phi Psi Head-quarters, Heritage Hall. An attitude adjustment hour preceded lunch at the Columbia Club, where Chapter reports were heard of success on all six Indiana host campuses. The traditional song contest resulted in a three way tie among Indiana Zeta, Delta and Beta, with the Awards Committee urging the Chapters on to next year . . . hoping that more practice might produce better results!

The Founders Day crowd was delighted to hear from Executive Director Emeritus Ralph D. Daniel, Arizona '48, who inspired the group with his words about the unique opportunities available in Phi Kappa Psi and our membership's responsibility to uphold the Founders high ideals.

Election of officers gave us the following for next year's activities: Brad Osborne serving as President, Ohio Lambda '76; Stu Rhodes, Indiana Beta '69, Vice President; and Bob Fanning, Indiana Beta '70, serving another term as Secretary/Treasurer. President Osborne immediately announced the Association's activity on June 9, that will host all Phi Psi graduates in the area for a cook out dinner, specifically inviting graduates of 1978 through this Springs '83 graduates. For further information, contact Brad Osborne at 317/849-7653.

A hearty 131st birthday wish goes out to our Brothers . . . and here's to a least 131 more!

A large and friendly group gathered at the Venice Inn to hear Gary Angstadt's talk to recharge our Phi Psi Batteries. Our Founders Day Banquet is one of our Associations yearly high lights and this year was no exception. Officers proposed for the 1983 year were Dr. James Gerner, Creighton, president; Ted Foster, Iowa, vice president; Bud Rohr, Creighton, Treasurer and Ted Urban, Northwestern, secretary. On the Board are Dallas Focht III (past-president) Iowa State, John Crane, Penn State, Paul La Puzza, Jeff Modica, Jim Goodbout, Creighton, Gene Conley, Bill Waldie and Jack Savage, Nebraska. In this group nomination is synonymous with election!

It is sad to report that a wonderful Phi Psi giant from this area died. Our sympathy is extended to Dave Noble's wife, Pauline and his family. Dave was in the Nebraska Football Hall of Fame, was a professional player with Cleveland and a fine insurance executive. He was always a loyal Nebraska Alphan as well as an All-American.

Missed at our Banquet was John Crane who is now in Saudi Arabia replanning remote cities. His stories concerning the country were very interesting and exciting (Great place to visit, etc.) at our regular 3rd Tuesday of the month at "Trovato's" get-together. Sam Amato is closing his deli to get into sales for awhile. We all predict he'll be back as a caterer and certainly wish him well. Gene Conley was the main speaker at the St. Louis Alumni Association Founders Day Celebration.

Hopefully by the time you hear from us again, the Creighton House Board and the University will have settled on a lot we can buy to build a new convenient lodge upon. It's getting nearer every week! It'll be nice to reward such a good Chapter with needed facilities. We congratulated the Chapter on its fine 30 plus pledge class this spring. I do hope we have a successful fund drive to bring our plans to fruition.

The Alumni Association does plan a Summer Golf Stag and couples Picnic again this summer. Rumor has it that it's back to the Field Club again, since so many enjoyed it last year.

Founders Day celebrations were held by the St. Louis Alumni Association at the Hoffman House Restaurant on Saturday, February 19th. We were fortunate to have as our guest speaker Brother Gene Conley, who drove in from Omaha, Nebraska to share in the festivities. Gene is an Endowment Fund trustee, and we certainly appreciate the chance we had to meet with and hear him.

A steak dinner replaced Chicken Cordon Bleu (much to the relief of several Brothers) on this year's menu. Afterwards, it was my pleasure to present the President's Award to Jeff Abbott in appreciation for his efforts on behalf of the Association during the past year. Al Stoever received the Al Stoever Award, which is presented to the Oldest Active Member of the Association; a very special and fondly bestowed award it is. No less so is the Keeper of the Taps, which this year goes to Jim Naylor. Jim is a past president, member of the board of governors, and has been a positive, cohesive force in this Association's alumni affairs for many years.

During the coming year we plan to reinstate our monthly luncheons on the first Wednesday of each month, and continue our happy hours on the third Wednesday of each month. The happy hours are being held at Clamorgan's, on Brentwood and Clayton Roads, from 5 PM to whenever. Arrangements for the luncheons are, at this writing, still being finalized, so please contact me at (314) 962-9590 for further information as to times and place.

In closing, I would like to extend my appreciation to Association officers Wayne Naro and Steve O'Rourke, Brothers Conley, Abbott, Stoever, and Greenland, members of the board of governors, and all members of the St. Louis Alumni Association for a rewarding and eventful year.

The Association enjoyed a very special weekend as the Brothers celebrated the founding of the Fraternity. Although many of the out-of-town Brothers were unable to attend, we all enjoyed the letters and phone calls that arrived during the weekend.

An Early Bird Reception was held on Friday Night to kickoff the weekend. Despite the cold weather, a large group of loyal Alumni and their Phi Psi Ladies huddled by the fire to renew old friendships.

The traditional Founders Day Dinner was held with S. C. Alpha. The DJ party that followed gave several of the Alumni a rude introduction to "New Wave" music.

On Sunday, Association President Connor Harrison hosted a Bloody Mary Brunch at his townhouse. The Annual Business Meeting followed the Brunch.

During the Brunch, Phi Psi Happy Hours for the Spring were scheduled. Plans are underway for several Summer events. For further information, please contact Smitty Harrison (748-2369 work, 799-0481 home).

We celebrated our Third Annual Founders Day Dinner on February 18, 1983, at the Wichita Club. The event was again met with much enthusiasm and increasing popularity.

Officers for the coming year were elected, and are as follows: Bob Arbuckle—President; Pat Maloney—Vice President; Walter Jones, III—Secretary; and John Ziegelmeyer. Jr.—Treasurer.

The main feature of this year's banquet was the presentation of the first "Man of the Year" award to loyal Phi Psi Brother, Paul K. Brooker. Brother Brooker has always contributed so much to the spirit of Phi Psi, and therefore, it was especially fitting that he be selected for his first award.

Also discussed during the banquet was the beginning of a scholarship fund to be sponsored by the South Central Alumni for a boy from the South Central Kansas area. Further details on this scholarship will be forthcoming.

We will again be sponsoring another Wichita and Hutchinson Rush Party this summer, and if there are any boys from your town or area that you want to see become Brothers, please pass their names on to the Rush Chairman listed in the back of THE SHIELD.

The Brothers of the Southern California Alumni Association wish to express their "thanks" to Brother "Tex" Schram for their inclusion on his ALL PHI PSI FOOT-BALL TEAM. We were well represented by both our California Epsilon and Delta Chapters . . . HOWEVER, it was somewhat disconcerting to other Brothers to note that they were "beat out" so to speak by some of the GREATS from Swarthmore, "02"!!!

This past year has been both busy and productive for the Association. Productive in that we have gained 127 new dues paying members of the group, and busy in that we have conducted two semi-magnificent Golf outings, a Christmas party replete with presents for all, and a great Founder's Day, February 18th at the Disneyland Hotel. Last year's was so successful that we duplicated the event right down to the Chairman, John Nootbaar who did a fantastic job, along with the able assistance of Brothers Chris Goldsmith, Bob Bird, Bob Miller, Craig Dixson, and National Phi Psi Vice President and local Treasurer, George Humphries. The Tustin High School Swing Band entertained throughout the Cocktail party.

Following the "attitudinal adjustment" hour the Brothers ate a hearty dinner, heard of recent happenings at the local chapters, Cal Delta, Epsilon Zeta and Theta . . . all in good order and growing. Next were 25 and 50 year pins, followed by the speaker, Brother Parry O'Brien, Olympic Champion and a member of the Los Angeles Olympic Committee. The entire affair was video taped. 1982 was a good year for our "Baja" Alumns in spite of Brother Schram's selections . . . "83" will be even better . . . if our Chargers, Rams, & Raiders can't the HOGS will in "83".

Returning from the alumni ski retreat (an enormous success, no broken bones, many foggy memories) I discovered the Fraternity kicking up its heels at Founders day events. Held this year at the Texas Beta Chapter house, the evening's social activities emerged as enlightening and enjoyable. With a resounding oratorical display, Doug Cowie introduced the honored guests for the evening. Brother Doug deserves congratulations for the fine management of the function. Awards and service pins were received by distinguished members of both the alumni and undergraduate Chapters. With many proud memories behind us we applauded the success of 131 years of our noble Fraternity.

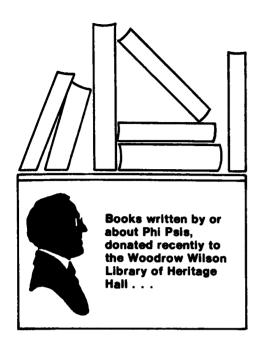

The business portion of the occasion concerned our unremitting struggle with archaic bureaucracy cogs over our land purchase, revealing why our government functions as it does. As it stands the Association is attempting to appease the zoning commission by moving our planned land purchase from the area north of the current Greek Circle to the east of that area.

The beginning of a new year of our Fraternity brings to light new conceptions and a revived inner sense of direction and commitment. Comments gleamed from the affair suggest that the Association should direct more effort to finding attractive women for alumni that remain unmarried, and also provide suitable retreats away from the wives of alumni who are married. On a more serious note the Association hopes to increase the involvement of area alumni and form a tighter liason with the Midland Alumni.

As the cold winter melts into spring, and new growth is observed, so to does our Association forget past problems and look toward future goals without hesitation. The goal of our Alumni Association remains that of maintaining the quality of character that exemplifies the positive philosophy of Phi Kappa Psi.

Aillinn O' My Dreams; MARCH LAUMER, Missouri '42, is a fantasia on Irish themes, printed by Opium Books, Hong Kong.

Assessment in Infancy; Ina C. Uzgiris and J. McVICKER HUNT, Nebraska '26. Two leading authorities of child psychology describe a novel approach to the assessment of psychological development in infancy. It will be valuable to anyone interested in the theory of child development and indispensable to professionals and graduate students in child psychology and education. Published by the University of Illinois Press.

Birthplace, Moving into Nearness; WIL-LIAM S. WILSON, Virginia '50. Set in the next century, this epistolary novel examines the relationship and relatedness of four generations of a remarkable family living on two islands in the Caribbean Sea. Living without money and without our calendar, these family members each write one letter a day, to be delivered at various times in the future. Published by North Point Press, Berkeley, Calif.

The Challenge of Incompetence and Poverty; J. McVICKER HUNT, Nebraska '26, brings together a set of insightful addresses and articles by a distinguished psychologist in his examination of poverty, social incompetence and the role of early education. Published by the University of Illinois Press.

Cutting College Costs; BRUCE DONALD, Pennsylvania '54, is straightforward and right on the money, not just a listing or a compendium of programs. Written by a 16 year veteran guidance counselor, who knows from experience what college and government financial aid policies mean to parents and students themselves. Published by E. P. Dutton, Inc., New York.

Early Psychological Development and Experience; J. McVICKER HUNT, Nebraska '26, is the tenth of the Heinz Werner Lecture Series designed to provide a forum for outstanding scholars who are known for their contributions to the developmental analysis of biological psychological and/or socio-cultural phenomena. Published by Clark University Press.

Help for the Hyperactive Child; SYDNEY WALKER III, M.D., UCLA '50, serves as a guide to medical procedures, offering practical advice to parents on what they can do and where they can go for professional help. Using case histories to illustrate his point, Dr. Walker explains the many often obsure causes for the hyperactive syndrome. Published by Houghton Mifflin Co., Boston, Mass.

Intelligence and Experience; J. McVICKER HUNT, Nebraska '26, published by the Ronald Press Co., New York, is a kind of case history in behavioral science. It examines the historical roots of the assumptions of fixed intelligence and of pre-determined development and the evidence that was interpreted to support them.

Production Control Desk Book; ROBERT L. JANSON, Purdue '50, is a timely book with over 600 new techniques, ideas, and shortcuts to save time, increase profits and cut costs in manufacturing plants of every size. This fully illustrated desk guide reveals a 12-step program for developing a department business plan, shows how to start planning correctly with forecasting and order entry, and many more guidelines. Published by Prentice-Hall, Inc., Englewood Cliffs, N.J.

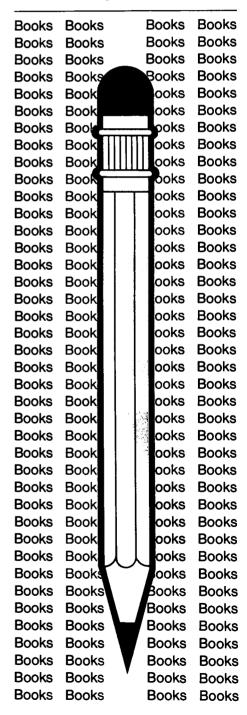

Purchasing Agent's Desk Book; ROBERT L. JANSON, Purdue '50, is an up-to-date reference book with details on how to establish, organize, control and evaluate the purchasing function. Providing immediate solutions to a wide range of purchasing problems, it reveals how to establish a purchasing budget, with all ideas time-tested in today's tough purchasing arena. Published by Prentice-Hall, Englewood Cliffs, N.J.

Real Estate—European Style; EUGENE P. CONSER, UCLA '31. This one-volume study provides background information on 32 countries of the Continental area. It affords a ready means of comparison between nations, the political systems, the attitudes toward foreigners and the taxes people pay. Exposition Press, N.Y. is the publisher.

Romance Will Save the World; MARCH LAUMER, Missouri '42. A romantic, adventure-filled, swashbuckling, tongue in cheek, zany, satirical, iconoclastic, irreverent, pragmatic, ribald, witty, Utopian, optimistic novel. Brother Laumer says in order to reach a wider audience, he is giving away copies. Anyone interested is invited to get in touch with him directly. He can be reached at: c/o 225 Orlando Rd., Clearwater, Florida 33512.

The Story of the Nebraska Press Association; ARTHUR J. RIEDESEL, Missouri '42. Published by the Nebraska Press Association, Lincoln, this book is a history written to celebrate the Association's 100th anniversary in 1973. The NPA is believed to be the oldest trade or professional organization with a continuous active existence in the state.

Television Production Disciplines and Techniques; THOMAS D. BURROWS, Southern California '48 and David N. Wood, is designed as a basic introductory text for a college course in television production. Concerned not only with the techniques of TV production, but also with its disciplines, and the intangible professional attitudes and behaviors. Used by over 200 colleges and universities, the book is published by Wm. C. Brown Co., Dubuque, Iowa.

Annual Report

Introduction

This is my creed,
Though once it wasn't.
It's not what one does,
But what one doesn't.

James Thurber, Ohio State '18 . . . on the occasion of his 61st birthday

Brother Thurber had a cherished method in his writing that conveyed much by wasting few words. The "creed" offered above is typical of his straightforward style; the reader knows exactly what the writer is stating but is also prompted to think beyond the written word. In similar fashion, we want to look this year at what the Fraternity "did" in accomplishing some of our goals, and at the same time, look at what Phi Psi "did not do" in falling short of the mark.

This the 131st rendering of the Fraternity's annual report is filled once again with several good news items. Foremost among the causes to celebrate in our report year, March 1, 1982-February 28, 1983, are the results of our Alumni Support Program. Now in its 31st year, the annual giving campaign raised $162,211 to help in the ongoing work of Phi Kappa Psi, up 11.6% from last year. The Alumni Support Program attracted 5,181 loyal Brothers to the Honor Roll of Contributors, 370 more than last year. Further details are found on pages 175-187 of this special Annual Report issue of THE SHIELD.

Reports from the Chapters are for the most part encouraging. Of Phi Psi's 81 Chapters, 76 reported 1,716 pledges, a dramatic increase of 17.4% over last year. In addition, the four Colonies added 65 men to those undergraduates soon to be initiated, for a total of 1,754. The facts state that the Chapter's "did" a good job attracting the student to Phi Psi.

James Thurber would then ask, what did we "not do" in terms of undergraduate membership this report year? We did not break the all-time record of 1,511 new initiates set in 1967. In fact, we continued a three year trend of slightly decreasing initiates, showing only 1,350 new Brothers this year, down 3% from last year.

On the other hand, we "did do" a good job keeping undergraduates in school, as we recorded 4,326 undergraduates in the Chapters this year, compared to 3,757 in last year's Annual Report. Other membership details follow.

The Fraternity's moment of greatest despair this report year occurred on May 8, 1982, when the Executive Council was left no choice but to suspend the Chapter charter of New York Epsilon. The Colgate University Chapter, 5 years short of celebrating its centennial, was offered an interest free loan from the University to become a coed "living unit," tempting since the Chapter house was in need of considerable refurbishment and required improvements of the property's health and safety features. The undergraduates voted to bring women members into their group, with the full knowledge that such action was contrary to Fraternity law. When the undergraduates learned that, like most Fraternity Chapters, the house itself was owned by an alumni corporation who was not at all interested in supporting a coed "chapter," the University loan became unlikely, so the undergraduates rescinded their decision but too late to salvage the situation. As a further indicator of the gradual decline of New York Epsilon, initiates were last reported properly in 1977. A total of 1,485 Brothers were initiated into Phi Kappa Psi at Colgate since the Chapter's founding in 1887.

There are some who believe more fraternities will go the way of New York Epsilon at Colgate, where buildings such as our former Chapter house make very attractive structures for the University-desired coed "fraternities." Our house was donated to the University since there was no other viable use for it, and now houses Chi Omega Rho, a coed group. The prospects of reorganizing this Chapter with the University's current bias against all-male campus organizations are understandably remote.

A second Chapter charter was suspended this report year, in Executive Council action at its meeting on January 22, 1983. The Montana Alpha Chapter, chartered May 31, 1975 at the University of Montana, initiated but 42 men over its 6 active years, and the ill-advised sale of the Chapter home left the fledgling group without a central meeting place on a campus of declining interest in Greeks. Montana Alpha thus joined 2 other fraternity chapters in closing at that school this year.

The Return Of Michigan Alpha

By James V. Poma, Michigan '83

The ninety-six year tradition of Michigan Alpha came to an unfortunate halt in 1972, the victim of a strong anti-fraternity mood at the University of Michigan. Now, the tradition is revived with the initiation of a new group of men, the culmination of a year of remarkable growth and success for the Colony. The installation was conducted on Saturday, March 26, 1983, making Michigan Alpha the 82nd active Chapter of the Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity.

The weekend got off to an early start on Thursday, March 24. Executive Director Gary B. Angstadt arrived to find the Colony members more than ready for the national pledge exam, which was taken and then graded in an atmosphere of unchecked enthusiasm. After a restful day on Friday, the Colony greeted members of the installation team, including President John K. Boyd III, Vice President George W. Humphries, Executive Director Angstadt, Executive Director Emeritus Ralph "Dud" Daniel, Director of House Corporations John J. Ziegelmeyer Jr., Director of Extension David F. Hull Jr., and Director of Alumni Associations W. Todd Salen, who has the additional pleasure of serving as Colony/Chapter Advisor.

Rounding out the group for the buffet supper, held at the Michigan Alpha house, were honored guests Jack Klein, House Corporation President; Jim Jones, Archon for District III; Robert H. George, President of the Michigan Beta House Corporation; former Attorney General of Phi Kappa Psi Wayne Wilson, also a member of our House Corporation, and Hyatt "Pat" Eby, who kept the various guests entertained with stories about his more than 75 years as a Phi Psi, and about his special attachment to Michigan Alpha.

The initiation ceremony began early Saturday morning as the Colony and alumni collected at the First Baptist Church of Ann Arbor. With President Boyd conducting the Ritual, and an especially eloquent presentation from Brother Dud Daniel, the 32 Michigan Alphans were initiated into the Fraternity. Two members of the installation team, incidentally, had been unable to attend the Friday evening festivities, but fortunately they got to the church on time; these were James A. Okonski, President of Illinois Delta House Corporation, and the Mystagogue of Phi Kappa Psi, the engaging Kent Owen. The weekend would have been incomplete without them.

Departing the church at midafternoon, the newly-initiated Chapter, installation team, and attendees from Michigan Beta and Illinois Delta all made their way back to the Phi Psi house. Our first Chapter Meeting was a success, aided by the efforts of Executive Director Angstadt, who offered some spirited words of encouragement, and Mystagogue Owen, who ably conveyed to the new Brothers the meaning of the mystic symbols and the Ritual.
Later, the National Officers responded to questions posed by several of the "neophytes."

After an hour's rest, the Michigan Alphans were revived enough to go back across town to the Campus Inn, site of the installation banquet. The dinner proved to be a lively time, with Kent Owen leading the banter from the podium; the one hundred guests agreed unanimously that our Mystagogue's remarks made this part of the evening very special. The National Officers then presented our GP, Bob Schlueter, with the Charter and Chapter Seal, and our Hi, Scott Russell, accepted the Ritual. Other gifts were presented, among them a Phi Psi flag, a ballot box, a pair of Ritual lamps, and a stunning plaque containing an enlarged Phi Psi badge. Awards given within our Chapter followed the presentation of gifts from other Chapters and Alumni Associations.

The banquet over, Michigan Alphans took to the dance floor in our first-ever formal. Even some of our alumni guests joined in. Enthusiasm built up during the day carried over so that no Phi Psi wanted the evening to end. It did not, until long into Sunday morning. There could be no better celebration of our initiation, but no adequate way exists for us to express our great happiness, the thrill, and sense of accomplishment for being the newest of the Brotherhood. Michigan Alpha has come back, with style, and will strengthen and grow to reach its former preeminence at the University of Michigan and within Phi Kappa Psi.

The University of Michigan

The University of Michigan was founded in 1817 in Detroit. It moved from its Detroit origins to the present site in Ann Arbor in 1837 and since then has grown from a handful of students and two faculty to a university of some 40,000 students, 35,000 of whom attend the Ann Arbor campus. The University of Michigan has two other campuses, at Flint and at Dearborn.

Known as the "mother of public uni-versities," Michigan enjoys an all-round academic reputation that is equalled by few institutions, public or private. Comprising the university are Colleges of Literature, Science, and the Arts; and Engineering. There are also Schools of Art and Architecture, Education, and Business Administration. The sheer size of the university makes available a great educational opportunity; the College of Literature, Science, and the Arts alone offers 3000 courses with more than 60 options for concentration. There are five main divisions of graduate studies: Liberal Arts, Law, Medicine, Dentistry, and Business Administration. These last four traditionally rank in the top five or ten in their respective fields nationwide. Specifically, many in the academic circle name the University of Michigan Law School and the Graduate School of Business Administration as the finest of their kind in the country.

Research is also a major part of the university's life. Traditionally strong in the social sciences, Michigan runs the world-renowned Institute for Social Research, home of, among other facilities, the Center for Political Studies, a leading source of political theory. The Department of Economics conducts the Research Seminar on Quantitative Economics, one of the premier economic forecasting models in the United States.

As mentioned before, there are about 35,000 students at the Ann Arbor campus. University housing is usually in short supply, as the space is reserved for all freshmen and some sophomores. There is also University-owned married housing. The great majority of upper-classmen do not live in university housing, instead choosing among apartments, cooperative housing, or one of the 35 fraternities or 18 sororities.

History of Michigan Alpha

Phi Kappa Psi had been petitioned by two groups in Ann Arbor in 1876. One of the groups proved disloyal to the Fraternity, but William Yost of Illinois Gamma initiated the other group, composed of six men, on November 2 of that year.

Michigan Alpha rose from modest beginnings to become one of the strongest fraternities on campus, building and occupying what was generally recognized as the finest fraternity house in Ann Arbor. The Chapter was wellknown within Phi Kappa Psi, mostly as one of the select few in the "1000 Club." In the early 1970's, the disposition of the campus toward fraternities and sororities was very unfavorable, and this inflicted damage from which the Greek system has not yet fully recovered. Phi Psi was no exception to this, and the Chapter was lost in 1972.

On December 6, 1981, Michigan Alpha was recolonized, and under the tireless efforts of Scott Russell, the Colony's founding president, and Bob Schlueter, current GP, it grew to a chartering group of 32 men. Although only a little over a year old, and after only seven months in a house, Michigan Alpha is a success, holding the 2nd highest grade-point of all the campus fraternities, standing in 5th place in intramural sports, and having in her ranks the vice president of the I.F.C., Brother Russell.

Michigan Alpha is already intent on maintaining its reputation as the upand-coming chapter at the University of Michigan; having held social functions with several sororities, and through word-of-mouth, the name is more easily recognized by Greeks and not-yet-Greeks. Ambitious plans are already in the works for fall rush, and there is anticipation for a fruitful second year as the course is charted for the climb to the top at Michigan!

Let's return to areas where the Fraternity "did do" well this year! Phi Psi's finances continue on a healthy rebound thanks in part to pledge and initiation fee increases which became effective January 1, allowing for more printed pages in THE SHIELD than in the last decade. In addition, the Fraternity Educational Leadership Consultant staff was increased by one, with still one more budgeted for next year, placing four Consultants in service to the Chapter's during the academic year upcoming.

There is evidence within Phi Kappa Psi, and from our interfraternity colleagues, that a trend is developing toward a reduction in average Chapter size. Consequently, most of our contemporaries are striving to add to their chapter roster in an effort to avoid declines in total undergraduate membership. Even within Phi Kappa Psi, the challenging "late 60's, early 70's" era resulted in average membership a full 30% below what we enjoy today. It is advisable that Phi Psi shift gears just slightly, and consider a Chapter roll that would allow for the expected decreases in average Chapter size, and for the unavoidable loss of a Chapter should a host school not survive the current and expected enrollment declines.

In spite of the ongoing challenges, Phi Psi's 131st report year was a good one. We welcomed a new Alumni Association to the fold, serving Mecklenberg County in North Carolina, a Colony was organized at the University of Kentucky bringing Phi Psi to the Commonwealth after a 118 year absence, and two other Colonies were gained through local petitioning groups; at Edinboro State, Edinboro, Pennsylvania; and the University of Chicago, attempting to regain the Illinois Beta Chapter, which flourished from 1865 to 1970, initiating 932 men. (In the months since this report year ended, Colonies have been recognized at: Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania; The State University of New York at Buffalo, attempting to regain New York Eta, 1950-1971, initiating 425 men; and Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island attempting to regain Rhode Island Alpha, 1902-1977, initiating 1,028 men.)

Thus Phi Psi can be justifiably satisfied with what was "done" this past year, and not terribly embarrassed by what was "not done." In fact, with the promising year just completed serving as our foundation, and with the continued support of our generous alumni and talented undergraduates, the 1984 Annual Report next year just may be our best ever. We once again look to our Founders as inspiration: "We live and we shall flourish!"

The "Average" Chapter

The average Chapter in Phi Kappa Psi prospered in the report year March 1, 1982-February 28, 1983. The model Chapter would have the following characteristics: 54 undergraduates, who pledged 22 men, and initiated 17 of them. The typical undergraduate Chapter lives in a building owned by a Phi Psi alumni householding corporation; the property is most likely an aging 40-year-old (or older), with building, land and contents valued at over $600,000; and unfortunately, the structure is very probably under-insured.

The average Chapter had a net increase of 7 members last year, including members and pledges, although the range varied greatly from a 64-man increase, to a 37-man decrease in membership. The typical active Chapter has initiated a total of 830 men, and celebrated their 64th anniversary of founding on their campus. Therefore, the average Chapter has initiated (again, on average!) 13 men per year since founding.

Phi Psi's six Districts recorded the following undergraduates (not including Colonies)

District			_
	Chapters		Membership
I	11	597	54.3
II	14	840	60.0
III	15	967	64.5
IV	14	553	39.5

VI	_13_	628	48.3
TOTAL	81	4.326	53.5

Membership

The year in review added 1,350 new initiates to Phi Psi's Grand Membership Roll, bringing to a total 74,672 men who have joined the Fraternity since February 19, 1852. The Chapters pledged an average of 22 men, initiating 17 of them. The 1,754 pledges reported this year compares to 1,462 last year.

Progress continues as we attempt to decrease our "lost" address list. We process nearly 22,000 address changes each year, as our Brothers come on the rolls as a new initiate, join the Chapter Eternal, request that their name be removed from the address list, or in most cases, change residence thereby changing addresses. The installation of our first in-house computer system currently underway will help keep our records more accurate.

New Chapters

The California Zeta Chapter charter was returned to the University of California, Santa Barbara, in ceremonies conducted November 13, 1982. The 46 charter members resurrected Cal Zeta which was founded in 1964 and closed in 1972. Counting the Chapter's newest initiates, the Chapter roll stands currently at 227 Brothers.

Shortly after this report year, on March 26, 1983, Michigan Alpha returned to the University of Michigan, regaining the charter issued originally in 1876, lost in 1972, where 1,096 men had joined Phi Kappa Psi.

Colonies

The Fraternity operated two Colonies this past year which have received charters: Cal Zeta at Santa Barbara and Michigan Alpha at the University of Michigan, both now chartered (see above). And in addition, Kentucky Beta was organized by Fraternity staff at the University of Kentucky on November 8, 1982. Pennsylvania Xi at Edinboro State College, Edinboro, Pennsylvania, was recognized officially as a Colony on Founders Day, 1983. And Illinois Beta, at the University of Chicago, was granted recognition January 22, 1983, in an effort to regain the charter issued in 1865 as Phi Psi's 21st Chapter, lost officially by Executive Council action January 1, 1970, where 932 men joined the ranks of Phi Kappa Psi over the years.

As reported above, since the end of this report year, Colonies have been organized at Lehigh University, Bethlehem, Pennsylvania; The State University of New York at Buffalo; and Brown University, Providence, Rhode Island. Brown and S.U.N.Y. Buffalo would regain charters granted previously in 1902 and 1950, respectively, after meeting chartering requirements.

Two Chapters Lost

As reported above, two Chapter charters were suspended this past report year: New York Epsilon at Colgate University, founded in 1887; and Montana Alpha, founded in 1975 at the University of Montana (see the Introduction section of this report for further details).

Numbers in Chapters

The only Chapter reporting more than 100 members last report year was Penn Gamma at Bucknell, with 107. This report year, 5 Chapters are so recorded, with Creighton's Nebraska Beta Chapter leading the way with 110 members. Next finds Indiana Beta at Indiana University with 107; Ohio State, Ohio Delta, with 105; Ohio Lambda at Miami University with 104, tied with the University of Texas Chapter, Texas Alpha, also with 104 members.

Tennessee Delta at Vanderbilt and West Virginia Alpha at West Virginia University tied with 99 men reported as of February 19, 1983. Other Chapters with membership in the 90's was the University of Rhode Island, Rhode Island Beta, with 95; Illinois Delta at the University of Illinois 94, tied with Penn Gamma, Bucknell; and the Gettysburg Chapter, Pennsylvania Epsilon, reporting 91 members.

Chapters in the 80's were Indiana Delta at Purdue with 88; Indiana Epsilon at Valparaiso with 84; New York Alpha at Cornell, 83; Kansas Alpha at the University of Kansas with 81; and the U.C.L.A. Chapter, California Epsilon, the largest Chapter in District VI, with 80 Brothers and pledges.

Six Chapters reported membership in the 70's: Oregon Alpha, Oregon (79); Indiana Gamma, Wabash (76); North Carolina Alpha, Duke (75); Ohio Alpha, Ohio Wesleyan (74); Maryland Alpha, Johns Hopkins (73); and Mississippi Alpha, Mississippi (70).

There were 11 Chapters reporting membership between 60-69 on Founders Day '83: Pennsylvania Zeta, Dickinson (69); Indiana Alpha, DePauw (66); tied with Oklahoma Alpha, Oklahoma (66); Iowa Alpha, Iowa (65); tied with Minnesota Beta, Minnesota (65); Iowa Beta, Iowa State (64); California Delta, Southern California (63); tied with Ohio Beta at Wittenberg (63); and a three way tie with 60 members each at Missouri Alpha at Missouri, Ohio Zeta at Bowling Green, and Penn Theta at Lafayette.

There were 14 Chapters reporting 50-59 members, 6 Chapters had 40-49 Brothers and pledges recorded, and 9 Chapters had membership in the 30's. Refer to pages 172-173 for complete statistics on the membership of each Chapter and Colony.

District III has Largest Chapters

For the fifth consecutive year, District III's 15 Chapters had the largest average size, with 64.5 men (determined this year as members and pledges at Founders Day, 1983). District II's 14 Chapters were second again this year, with 60 men on average, while District I ranked next, showing 11 Chapters with 54.3 men each on average. District V comes next, with 14 Chapters averaging 52.9 men each, followed by District VI at 48.3 men for 13 Chapters. District IV has 14 Chapters on the rolls, each averaging 39.5 men, but this includes Tennessee Zeta at Memphis State, currently undergoing re-organization, which is listed as having no members this past February. Not counting Tennessee Zeta the District average would increase to 42.5 men.

2000 Club

Phi Psi's most exclusive membership grouping, the "2000 Club," still has but the one member, who joined last year, Indiana Beta. Founded in 1869, the Indiana University Chapter has a total of 2,046 initiates.

1500 Club

The "1500 Club," open only to those Chapters claiming 1,500-1,999 initiates gained as many new members this year as ever in our history! Three Chapters achieved this new high-water mark: New York Alpha at Cornell, 1,520 members, founded in 1869; Ohio Delta at Ohio State, 1,507 initiates, founded in 1880; and Indiana Delta at Purdue, 1,506 members, founded in 1901, the youngest Chapter ever to reach this membership level. The outstanding Kansas Alpha Chapter at the University of Kansas joined the Club in 1976, and now records 1,652 Brothers on its rolls. The Ohio Wesleyan Chapter, Ohio Alpha, joined in 1980, and has 1,564 initiates. In 1981, three Chapters joined the Club: West Virginia Alpha at West Virginia University, with 1,552 members, Pennsylvania Gamma at Bucknell, now with 1,573 initiates, and Pennsylvania Beta at Allegheny College, with 1,519 members total. Kansas Alpha was founded in 1876, Ohio Alpha in 1861, West Virginia Alpha in 1890, and both Penn Beta and Penn Gamma were founded in 1855.

1000 Club

No new members joined the "1000 Club" this year, leaving 29 active Chapters whose membership totals 1,000 to 1,499 initiates. California Epsilon at U.C.L.A. and Tennessee Delta at Vanderbilt remain the newest members to this Club, having joined last year. Cal Epsilon, founded in 1931, now reports 1,027 initiates, and Tennessee Delta, founded in 1901, has 1,022 Brothers on its membership roll.

Initiates

As reported above, the chapters initiated or received as transfers 1,350 men during the 1982-1983 period, of the report year, California Zeta, with 47. Illinois Delta at the University of Illinois reported 44 initiates while both Texas Alpha, Texas, and Texas Gamma, Southwest Texas State, reported 42 new Brothers this year. Indiana Beta at Indiana University was the only other Chapter reporting more than 40 new initiates, at 41.

Pledges

This year 76 of the Fraternity's 81 Chapters and Colonies reported 1,754 pledges, for an average of 23 men per Chapter/Colony. This compares to 1,462 last year. Two years ago, 1,679 men pledged, and the year before that, 1,582. Fraternity law provides that pledgeship terminates: 1) upon initiation into the Fraternity; or 2) upon expiration of two semesters or three quarters reporting periods from date of pledging.

Housing

The most dramatic housing change this report year was unavoidable, caused when arson struck Oklahoma Alpha and the University of Oklahoma Chapter home sustained considerable damage. The undergraduate Chapter is housed temporarily in apartments near the campus and hopes to be back home this fall. The Alabama Alpha House Corporation completed the magnificent restoration of the University of Alabama Chapter home, thus returning the undergraduates to the property, and the new Cal Zeta Chapter's House Corporation leased a suitable home at the University of California, Santa Barbara. Prior to the March 26 chartering, the Michigan Alpha House Corporation purchased a home for the University of Michigan Chapter. The Southwest Texas State House Corporation, serving

Texas Gamma, determined that the chapter home was more valuable as commercial property and sold it, and is in the process of seeking out alternative housing. The Illinois Beta Colony has arranged for a small home next year, through the University of Chicago, and the Rhode Island Alpha Colony will retain use of its current quarters in Brown University's Wriston Quadrangle. The Akron Chapter, Ohio Iota, has expressed interest in purchasing the house next to the current Chapter home as an annex, while the Oklahoma Beta House Corporation, serving Oklahoma State, accomplished just the opposite and sold the Chapter annex. The Penn Beta House Corporation at Allegheny College is exploring a housing trade with the College, for a more home-like property, and the Bowling Green Chapter is also hopeful for a University-owned building that would triple Ohio Zeta's resident capacity. The Cal Gamma House Corporation completed an exterior refurbishment of the Berkeley Chapter home, and Penn Lambda's House Corporation made additional progress in modernizing "the lodge" serving our Penn State undergraduates. The Franklin and Marshall undergraduates are hopeful that alumni interest can be garnered to purchase outright the rental property for Penn Eta, which was accomplished at the University of Georgia where the House Corporation bought a beautiful home formerly leased for the 7 year old Georgia Alpha Chapter. The Illinois Delta House Corporation is contemplating a $250,000 remodeling project at the University of Illinois, and the University of Kansas House Corporation serving Kansas Alpha began work to improve the drainage around the Chapter home so additional residents can be accommodated in the magnificent 15 year old property. The Nebraska Alpha Chapter home was treated to all new energy-saving windows, thanks to the efforts of loyal University of Nebraska Phi Psis, while the undergraduates at Virginia Tech began work to buy a permanent home for Virginia Zeta. The New Jersey Beta Chapter at Monmouth College, having weathered rather severe "anti-fraternity" storms on their campus, is moving into a large rental property this fall which it would like to own this time next year. The Virginia Alpha House Corporation at the University of Virginia is in the process of raising funds for required improvements in the Chapter home's fire and safety features. As we go to press, the Kentucky Beta House Corporation is negotiating a lease on an attractive property to serve the University of Kentucky Colony.

This brings to a total of 50 Chapters whose homes are owned by Phi Psi House Corporations. Seventeen Chapters/Colonies occupy houses owned by the college or university, 17 rent privately, two are provided dormitory sections, and three occupy lodges.

Membership Shifts

Of the 81 active Chapters represented this report year, 55 reported an increase in total undergraduate strength over last year, with 20 reporting a decrease in membership, and the remaining 6 listing a Chapter roster unchanged from last year. The greatest increase in membership was Indiana Beta's 64 more men than reported at Indiana University last year, while the largest loss of membership was reported by the struggling Oregon State Chapter, Oregon Beta, showing 37 fewer on the undergraduate rolls.

If Fraternity undergraduate membership followed the general population demographic trends, we would expect the sunbelt District IV and far west District VI to be edging up in the ranking of average member listings. So far, the Chapters run nearly contrary to this trend, in that, for the second year in a row, the "smoke stack/farm belt" Districts III and II, roughly Pennsylvania through the Great Lakes states, lead all other Districts. And, the "highly industrialized" northeast District I continues a three year trend of advances, as our third largest District in terms of average Chapter size now this year. The west District VI actually slipped from third to fifth in the ranking, while the "great plains" District V and sunbelt District VI remained in their 4th and 6th rankings, respectively. Much goes into a successful undergraduate Chapter operation, certainly not the least of which is the hard work, and therefore proximity to, a group of dedicated alumni.

Fraternity Headquarters

Heritage Hall

Phi Psi's Headquarters marked its fifth anniversary June 1, 1983, in Historic Lockerbie Square. The Indianapolis facility at 510 Lockerbie Street continues to provide an outstanding home office from which to operate. And, the neighborhood development of condominia has provided for healthy increased property values. The Fraternity's permanent Headquarters and museum has helped contain operating costs, thus allowing more funds for other purposes. Heritage Hall has welcomed over 4,650 Phi Psis and friends from across the country since opening in 1978.

Staff Appointments

This report year a title change was made for the members of the Headquarters team who visit Phi Psi's many Chapters and Colonies and all their support groups. Formerly called "Field Secretaries," more recently referred to as "Chapter Consultants," this band of dedicated Phi Psis are valuable by any name, now tagged "Educational Leadership Consultants" to more accurately define their role as an educational adjunct to the Fraternity experience. The Fraternity's three Consultants this report year were Timothy P. McCourt, Washington '78, Steven A. Fawthrop, Washington '79, and Kenneth A. Harper, Arkansas '80.

Brothers McCourt and Fawthrop completed their tour of duty May 31; Tim having completed 2 years with the Headquarters, coming on board June 22, 1981, and Steve finishing 14 months of work in the Phi Psi vineyard, since reporting for duty March 28, 1982.

In addition to returning veteran Ken Harper, the Educational Leadership Consultant ranks expanded to four for the coming year, with the following three "rookies" arrival to Heritage Hall June 20; Mark A. Steele, Ohio State '80; Richard E. Napolitano, Arizona State '79; and R. Grant Downer, Arkansas '79. The Fraternity is fully prepared to service well the 82 Chapters and 6 Colonies this academic year upcoming, and to add additional Colonies as the opportunities arise.

Chapter Visits

During the 1982-1983 academic year, the Fraternity's Educational Leadership Consultants conducted 130 visits to Chapters and Colonies, ranging from 1-3 days in most cases, to 5 weeks on one campus where the Chapter is having a particularly difficult time just surviving. In addition, 21 extension prospecting visits were made to campuses with varying degrees of potential for Phi Psi growth. These visits resulted in Colonies at the University of Kentucky, S.U.N.Y. Buffalo, Edinboro State, the University of Chicago, Lehigh University, and Brown University.

Meetings

In the year under review, March 1, 1982-February 28, 1983, the 61st Grand Arch Council was held in Atlanta, Georgia, August 11-August 15, at the magnificent Hyatt Regency downtown, with President John R. Donnell, Jr. presiding. (Please refer to the November 1982 SHIELD for complete details.) The 413 participants, including 38 ladies and guests, were treated to a rewarding and fun-filled helping of southern hospitality. All but three active Chapters were represented at the 1982 GAC.

The Executive Board of the Fraternity, composed of the four senior officers—the President, Vice President, Treasurer and Secretary, met officially twice separate from the full Executive Council this report year, on May 7, 1982, at the GAC hotel in Atlanta, Georgia, and again on January 21, 1983, at Heritage Hall.

The Executive Council, composed of the four alumnus Executive Board members and six undergraduate Archons, serves as the chief governing body of the Fraternity between meetings of the Grand Arch Council. The EC had four meetings this report year; on May 8, 1982, at the Hyatt Regency Atlanta; on January 22, 1983 at Heritage Hall; and two additional meetings at the '82 GAC hotel, just prior to and following the convention, on August 11 and August 15. As always, minutes of the Executive Council meetings are available to any Phi Psi, through the Fraternity Headquarters, for a charge of $3.50 to cover photocopying and postage.

Editor's Note: The Executive Council met May 21, 1983. Space limitations in THE SHIELD do not allow for printing minutes of the meeting, but copies are available to any Phi Psi, through the Fraternity Headquarters, at a cost of $3.50 to help defray photocopying and postage expense.

1982 Alumni Support Program

Recognizing gifts received March 1, 1982-February 28, 1983

New Record Set!

A complete decade of giving excellence was recorded this year, as for the 10th year in a row, Phi Psi's very generous alumni have broken the previous year's giving record. The final roster listed 5,289 gifts received from 5,181 alumni (we especially thank those 108 Brothers who gave twice!). The total this year was $162,211, compared to $145,412 last year, an increase of 11.6%. The average gift per donor was $31.31, up from $30.23 last year.

The Alumni Support Program honors those gifts made directly to the general Fraternity proper, and does not include contributions made to the Endowment Fund, to Phi Psi Alumni Associations, or directly to the Chapters and Colonies. Our request for contributions went out this year to 44,104 alumni with good addresses, and the 11.74% participation from our loyal Brothers is very encouraging. One initial analysis of donors indicates a record number of first time givers, 852, made 874 contributions totalling $18,699. Every Phi Psi on our Honor Roll of Contributors is to be thanked for his participation in last year's record setting program!

1983 Alumni Support Program

The current 1983 Alumni Support program began on March 1, 1983, and will run through February 29, 1984. Therefore gifts received since this past March 1 and on through the end of next February will be recognized in the Summer, 1984 issue of THE SHIELD.

The 1983 Alumni Support Program now underway represents a dramatic change from that of recent years. Rather than recognize gifts received during a particular year, we will be honoring the total gifts made to the general Fraternity since 1971. Unfortunately, due to a change in the record keeping system at that time, we are not able to accurately tabulate gifts made prior to 1971. The Fraternity is very fortunate to have many loyal Brothers who have given each year! In addition, we are not able to include at this point in time gifts made directly to the Endowment Fund, or Phi Psi Alumni Associations, or directly to Chapters or Colonies. Eventually our ability to record all such giving may become sophisticated enough to produce a true picture of just how generous Phi Psis are to our various constituencies!

Next year's Summer SHIELD consequently will give a different picture of our giving history, based upon donations made from 1971 on. A review of the total Alumni Support Program giving patterns to date is interesting, for contributions from 1952 (the first year) to 1970 yielded $399,507.47 in alumni gifts; while the contributions from 1971 (the first year of our current accumulative program) to 1982 totalled $1,164,613.75. Therefore, the current accumulative campaign includes 75% of all gifts made to the Alumni Support Program, even though it represents only 42% of the 31 total years the Fraternity has asked for volunteer gifts.

Alumni Support Vital

Phi Kappa Psi is indeed fortunate to have the financial support of a generous Brotherhood . . . no fraternity in the land exceeds ours in loyal donors! The overall grand total of contributions received through the Support Program stands at $1,564,121.25. Alumni generosity this year alone resulted in a dollar amount that surpasses the first 10 years of alumni gifts, 1952-1961, combined.

There is no way to judge how Phi Psi would have fared if it were not for this enthusiastic support. The nearly 20 Chapters re-organized and returned to their campus strongholds just within the last nine years most likely would have become more permanent on our list of "inactive" Chapters had it not been for alumni giving.

And, we depend on your support today! The Fraternity's finances operate to minimize the expense borne by our undergraduate Brothers. For even though a great majority of Phi Psi's resources in terms of time and funds are devoted to services rendered to Chapters and Colonies, the undergraduates fund less than one half of the Fraternity's operating budget. Had we not this generous level of alumni giving, undergraduate pledge, initiation and conference fees would more than double if we were to maintain current services. Alumni Support money helps sustain such ongoing programs as Educational Leadership Consultant work with the Chapters and Colonies, Fraternity publications including THE SHIELD, and undergraduate seminars such as the Woodrow Wilson Leadership School.

Each year, the names of whose who participated in the preceding year's Alumni Support Program are published in THE SHIELD. This year's Honor Roll listing 5.181 Brothers is led off by the giving club recognizing those generous donors of $250 or more, the "Order for the 80's." We point out that all donors are listed in the Honor Roll proper, pages 180 to 186, by Chapter affiliation. Those members who gave an amount entitling them to special recognition are listed again in the appropriate giving Club.

The current 1983 Program is still open for contributions, through February 29, 1984, and all alumni and undergraduates are invited to participate please. Those desiring to give may forward their contribution to the Fraternity Headquarters . . . give now to reserve your proper place in the 1983 Honor Roll of Contributors in next year's annual report!

The new record set by the 1982 Alumni Support Program was due to larger gifts from a greater number of contributors. We were very pleased that 370 more Brothers gave than last year. Forty-one donors gave $250 or more, 296 Brothers contributed $100 or more, and 897 Brothers gave $50 or more.

SHIELD ADVERTISING AVAILABLE

For the first time in many years, advertising space will be made available for purchase in THE SHIELD of Phi Kappa Psi, with preference given to merchandise, businesses or services promoted by members of the Fraternity. This change in policy was made by action of the 1982 Grand Arch Council.

For information regarding restrictions, prices and availability of space, please write:

> SHIELD Advertising Phi Kappa Psi Fraternity 510 Lockerbie Street Indianapolis, Indiana 46202

Honor Roll of Contributors-

All donors to the 1982 Alumni Support Program are listed under school name denotes members of the "Order of the Red and Green," honoring contributors of $25-$49. Brothers giving $50-99 are listed separately in the "Order of the Golden Shield," Gifts to the "Founders Order," ranging from $100-5249, and members in the "Order of the 80's," recognizing contributions of $250 or greater are likewise separately honored.

The school name is followed by the number of this year a participants. The Chapter designation beneath the school name is followed by year of founding.

PHI KAPPA PSI FRATERNITY

(INCORPORATED)

Founded 1914

Projects and Programs for 1983

THE ENDOWMENT FUND . . . rewarding excellence

The trustees of the Endowment Fund of the Phi Kappa Psi fraternity are pleased to announce the results of the 1983 academic awards competition. The selections were made in accordance with recommendations from the Endowment Fund's scholarship awards committee, which is composed of Robert W. Chamberlain, Jr., Arizona State '62 (Washington '60); David F. Hull, Jr., Louisiana State '66, and Theodore J. Urban, Northwestern '46, chairman.

OUTSTANDING SUMMERFIELD SCHOLARS

The Outstanding Summerfield Scholars were chosen from the nominations made by the Fraternity's 81 chapters and 4 colonies. Based on academic achievement, Fraternity and college leadership, and public service, the three prizes are the largest such awards in American fraternity life.

JOHN FREDERICK HIEHLE, JR., Cornell '80, of Wyomissing, Pennsylvania, first prize ($3,000). An electrical engineering major at Cornell, he ranked first in his class of 650 in the College of Engineering, was elected to Tau Beta Pi, Quill and Dagger, Alpha Lambda Delta, and Eta Kappa Nu (in which as president, he established a tutoring program for underclassmen). He rowed on the Cornell varsity crew, was a member of the sailing team and of the ski club, and played on New York Alpha's intramural volleyball, basketball, and swimming teams. Within his chapter he served as Hi, and on the governing board as well as on several other major committees. This fall he will enter the Harvard Medical School. His parents are Dr. and Mrs. J. Frederick Hiehle.

Summer 1983 187

DAVID GAYLON GILBERTSON, Georgia '80, of Alpharetta, Georgia, second prize ($2,000). A summa cum laude graduate of the School of Business Administration of the University of Georgia, he majored in management information systems and was elected to Beta Gamma Sigma, Phi Eta Sigma, BIFTAD, Zodiac, and Golden Key. He was active in R.O.T.C., serving as cadet captain and company commander of the Pershing Rifles drill team. Elected to Scabbard & Blade and given the American Legion Award, he has been commissioned as an officer in the U.S. Army Medical Service Corps. Within his chapter he served as VGP and P, and chaired both the scholarship and sports committees. He was chosen as one of the top ten fraternity men at Georgia. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Norval Gilbertson.

MICHAEL LAWRENCE GOLDMAN, Pennsylvania '80, of Fairfield, Connecticut, third prize ($1,000). He graduated magna cum laude from the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania with a double major in accounting and finance. At Penn he was chosen as a Benjamin Franklin Scholar and participated in the honors program. He was a member of the Penn varsity speech team (qualifying for national competition), the John Marshall honor society, the literary and business staffs of Punch Bowl humor magazine, and the Philadelphia Federation of Students, which he helped to organize. Within his chapter he served as GP, VGP, P, governing board chairman, and IFC representative. This fall he will enter the University of Pennsylvania School of Law. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Jerome Goldman.

In this year's Outstanding Summerfield Scholars competition, the members of the scholarship awards committee were so impressed by the remarkably high quality of so many nominees that they have recommended the awarding of seven honorable mentions prizes, each of which is in the amount of $500.

GREGORY MICHAEL ALLMAN, Dickinson '80, of Quincy, Massachusetts

JAY ALBERT BILLY, Ashland '81, of Twinsburg, Ohio

PHILIP ALAN COMPTON, West Virginia '80, of Clarksburg, West Virginia

PATRICK JOSEPH DUFFY, Arizona '79, of Phoenix, Arizona

ERIC RUSSELL LANDAU, Virginia '81, of Melville, New York

DAVID JAMES LIND, Iowa '80, of Cedar Falls, Iowa DANIEL ROBERT MAYLEBEN, Creighton '80, of North Mankato, Minnesota.

FOUNDERS FELLOWSHIPS

The five Founders Fellowships of $2,000 each are made possible by a bequest of Tannye and W. Grant Shockley, Missouri '09. The awards, which are to be used for graduate or professional study, are given on the basis of outstanding academic achievement, although accomplishments in leadership and service may also be taken into consideration. The five Founders Fellows for 1983 are:

ANDREW ALLEN BEAL, Stanford '80, of Edina, Minnesota, the W. Grant Shockley Prize. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate in economics of Stanford University, he served as GP and P of his chapter and as president of the Stanford IFC. He has accepted a position with the investment banking firm of Salomon Brothers. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. David Beal.

TIMOTHY WALTER JORANKO, Northwestern '80, of Albion, Michigan, the Charles Page Thomas Moore Prize. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate in political science of Northwestern University, he served as GP of his chapter, played varsity baseball for three years, and worked as an intern in the U.S. Department of State. He will enter the Harvard Law School this fall. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Joranko.

FREDERICK J. KELLEY, Penn State '81, of Akron, Ohio, the Sion Bass Smith Prize. Graduating first in his class in the College of Agriculture of the Pennsylvania State University, he served as GP of his chapter, chaired several major committees, and held leadership positions in university and community service projects. He will enter the College of Veterinary Medicine of the Ohio State University. His parents are the Rev. and Mrs. Harold Kelley.

GILES RICHARD LOCKE, III, DePauw '80, of Decatur, Illinois, the William Letterman Prize. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate in mathematics and pre-medicine of DePauw University, he served as president of the University's academic council and as a member of several campus organizations and honorary societies, including Mortar Board and Gold Key. He also chaired major Chapter committees and captained the varsity golf team. He will enter the Harvard Medical School this fall. His parents are Dr. and Mrs. G. Richard Locke.

DAVID MARK ZOELLICK, DePauw '80, of Crystal Lake, Illinois, the C. F. "Dab" Williams Prize. A Phi Beta Kappa graduate in pre-medicine of DePauw University, he was a member of Mortar Board and other honorary societies, served on several university committees, took a leading part in a number of community service projects, and was involved in his chapter's Fraternity Education, intramurals, and rush programs. He will enter the Northwestern University School of Medicine. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. James C. Zoellick.

BEN KING SCHOLARSHIP

The Ben King Scholarship was established by the late Brother King, Brooklyn Poly '06, to assist engineering students who work their way through college. The amount of the scholarship is $1,000. The 1983 recipient is JAMES WILLIAM DERRY, Illinois '80, of Rockford, Illinois. He is majoring in mechanical engineering at the University of Illinois and expects to graduate in December 1983. He has helped to finance his education by working as a bartender, photographer, die maker, and roofer. Despite the demands of his studies and jobs, he has served as GP of his chapter.

MARY PICKFORD ROGERS SCHOLARSHIP

This year the Mary Pickford Scholarship is being awarded for the first time. Established by Charles E. "Buddy" Rogers, Kansas '23, in memory of his wife, the scholarship is intended to assist students in the performing arts. The amount of the scholarship is $1,500. The 1983 recipient is THEODORE AARON HILL, Johns Hopkins '81, of Skokie, Illinois. Entering his senior year at Johns Hopkins University as an humanistic studies major, he is preparing himself for an operatic career as a lyric tenor. He has performed in more than twenty musical and dramatic productions, including My Fair Lady, Carousel, Fiddler on the Roof, H.M.S. Pinafore, and Trial by Jury; in addition, he has trained choruses and conducted orchestras for South Pacific and Brigadoon. He has also performed as a soloist in churches and synagogues in the Chicago and Baltimore areas. At Johns Hopkins he has been president of the university theatre group, the Barnstormers, and a member of the university glee club and band.

LOUIS D. CORSON SCHOLARSHIP

Another award new to the Fraternity this year is that in honor of past president Louis D. Corson, West Virginia '34, endowed by a grant from Brother Corson's widow, Joan S. Corson, of Wheeling, West Virginia and Delray Beach, Florida. The first recipient of the Louis D. Corson Scholarship is H. R. "Mac" McLaughlin, Wabash '80, of Carmel, Indiana. A 1983 graduate of Wabash, Brother McLaughlin is conducting historical research in the Fraternity Headquarters for a period of 8 weeks this summer, for which he will receive a $1,000 grant.

MEMBERSHIP GROWTH The Key To Chapter Success

By John V. Ciccarelli Cal State, Northridge '72 Director of Membership

The future of Phi Kappa Psi and in particular our Chapters depends directly on the kind of men we continue to initiate into the Fraternity. To maintain our position of strength, each Chapter must be able to attract and retain quality men each year.

Rush as we all know it, is more than the recruitment of prospective members; the term Rush really signifies the beginning of a pledge group, the continuation of Chapter life and the perpetration of the ideals of our Fraternity.

In analyzing the success of any strong Chapter, it is easy to see how healthy membership can play a direct and important role. Quality and quantity in terms of membership growth, are vital for a successful Chapter and a strong fraternity.

As a general rule of thumb, the benefits of strong membership can have a positive effect on the overall performance of any Chapter, consequently the Phi Psi experience of each individual member.

It is important to point out that small Chapters can and do enjoy various levels of success. Rather than dissuade from this fact, the intent of this article is to focus attention to the various advantages a Chapter can enjoy by expanding the scope of its membership program.

There are many viewpoints on what an "ideal" membership size should be. Some Chapters profess to the old adage "small is beautiful." Basically this attitude reflects the feeling that the members of this type of Chapter tend to know each other and enjoy a closer association. While there is a certain amount of truth to this point, a small Chapter can easily fall into the category of a vulnerable Chapter. In such a Chapter, a couple of disappointing Rush drives can quickly turn a thirty man Chapter into one of fifteen. On the other hand, there is also an adverse situation where a Chapter attempts to swell its ranks in an effort to create a larger membership with little regard and attention to the types of individuals pledged and initiated.

"In analyzing the success of any strong Chapter, it is easy to see how healthy membership can play a direct, important role."

A simple but nonetheless appropriate solution to the ongoing small vs. large Chapter size debate, is the development of a membership program that places high emphasis on pledging quality prospects, and allowing the Chapter to expand as large as is both feasible and productive.

Assuming the caliber of men are the same, lets compare the Chapter operation of twenty five members relative to one with a membership roll of fifty. In the area of Chapter finance, increased membership represents increased income. The burden of paying the rent or mortgage is far easier with a larger group. Extra income also allows less dependence on fund raising that is sometimes needed to pay bills, and can also determine the quality of Chapter activities. The social schedule is a prime example of this.

Increased membership can be the catalyst for a very successful year. Virtually every level of Chapter operation will benefit in some manner. In the realm of Fraternity Education, a large pledge group will tend to involve a greater participation of the undergraduate Brothers. Increased membership will also help to encourage and develop a more visible profile on campus for various Phi Psi activities. It will improve the value of the Chapter's committee system, since the work load and responsibility can be spread among many individuals. Even our ability to field intramural teams is affected by our membership standing. Most importantly, healthy membership will instill a greater confidence and spirit among the Brotherhood to undertake any worthwhile Chapter endeavor.

The addition of a large group of pledges is the best prescription for any problem or difficulty a Chapter may face. The excitement of new members is contagious, and many Chapters will testify to the importance of pledge enthusiasm. The fact remains, that no other aspect of Chapter operation and Fraternity life plays a more vital role than the recruitment of new members.

By examining some of the deficiencies that are characteristic of Fraternity Rush, any Chapter can learn to Rush more effectively and enjoy the benefits that accompany strong membership. Regardless of size, all Chapters are periodically confronted with a Rush problem. Rush can either be regarded as a painstaking chore with little results or an enjoyable and productive experience. The difference between success and failure lies in the manner in which the Chapter approaches the membership drive.

"Somehow a malaise sets in, and a Chapter lowers its expectations and Rushes only enough good men to barely sustain the Chapter for another semester. Like many Fraternity traditions, the bad as well as the good are carried from year to year"

In many instances, various Chapters mistakenly only go through the "motion" of Rush and do not make a sincere attempt at recruiting new members. Somehow a malaise sets in, and the Chapter lowers its expectations and rushes only enough good men to barely sustain the Chapter for another semester. Like many Fraternity traditions, the bad as well as the good are carried from year to year.

A common mistake that will handicap any Chapter's Rush plan is the absence of a plan in the first place. Good planning can help eliminate the confusion and duplication of effort that is so prevalent in Fraternity Rush. Successful Chapters will testify that the amount of success it has during Rush is directly related to the amount of work done before Rush begins.

Chapter apathy can dramatically influence the outcome of Fraternity Rush. Many Brothers develop the idea that it will always be another person's job to recruit good men and perpetuate the Chapter. This attitude will certainly hurt the Chapter's chance of Rush success even if it is evident in just a few Brothers. While the Rush Chairman and Committee are responsible for the coordination of the Rush program, it's up to every single Brother to go out and contact good men.

Another area of concern is the Chapter Rush function itself. Too many Chapters rely solely on the "Keg and Band" syndrome as the heart of their Rush program. The common Rush party is probably the most ineffective method of Rush recruitment. In many cases, traditional Rush events are created to become entertainment for the Brothers, rather than an opportunity to meet and get to know who the Chapter is Rushing. Instead of being thought of as valuable aids in the Rush program, too often Rush parties are the program. By presenting an image of superficial "good times" without regard to principles of service, scholarship and high ideals, men attracted to a Chapter under these conditions soon become disillusioned after the first mention of fraternity responsibility. There may be nothing wrong with inviting Rushees to big parties, but never expect big parties to do all your Rushing for you. All Chapters should place a stronger emphasis on personalized one-to-one Rush recruitment. Remember, good Rush activities need not be expensive, and some of the most effective can cost nothing.

In an effort to get a better understanding of trends, problems experienced and priorities in Phi Psi membership programs across the nation, a Rush Evaluation Questionnaire was developed. Over one hundred twenty pledge groups were surveyed by the questionnaire over the past two years.

The survey reflected various impressions of Phi Psi Rush and suggestions to make it more effective. While replies to the questionnaire varied from one Chapter to another, the overall response reinforced obvious but nonetheless important Rush concepts and attitudes.

"A survey of over 120 pledge groups reflected various impressions of Phi Psi Rush and suggestions to make it more effective."

A summary of the Rush survey revealed that:

- 1. A high percentage of individuals pledged were first introduced to Phi Kappa Psi through a friend who was an undergraduate member of that Chapter.
- Chapters utilizing Rush mailers and follow up phone calls experience good results in securing names of potential Rush prospects.
- Social involvement and interest in student activities were listed as the most important factors in deciding to join a fraternity.

- 4. Many pledges surveyed in the questionnaire listed "Friendliness of Chapter members" and "Chapter spirit and enthusiasm" as the most important influence in their decision to pledge Phi Kappa Psi.
- 5. Too many chapters rely primarily on the Rush Chairman and Chapter officers to do a great share of the active Rushing. Rushees express their impression that it was more effective when the total membership was involved in the Rush activities.
- 6. The explanation of the Pledge Program and discussion of Chapter future plans with Rushees proved to be beneficial in reaching a decision to accept the invitation to join.

The following suggestions were offered by various pledge groups to insure a successful Rush.

- 1. Invite Rushees to as many informal Rush events as possible. Examples: intramural practices, study sessions, dinners, etc.
- Place less reliance on big band parties as a Rush event and more emphasis on events that encourage one-toone Rushing.
- As an important Rush tool, Chapters should promote and explain the various scholarship awards that the Endowment Fund makes available each year.
- Chapters should encourage Alumni Rush recommendations by actively soliciting Alumni, rather than waiting for their support.
- 5. In an effort to increase Chapter participation and success, the membership committee, in conjunction with the rest of the undergraduate Chapter, should discuss and a develop a Rush program in writing.

The results of the Rush survey reinforces the concept that Chapters should place a stronger emphasis on personalized, individual recruitment. By being aware of their strengths and weaknesses, a Chapter can tailor its membership program and enjoy great success.

Membership growth can be the key to Chapter success. The very nature of our proud association depends greatly on this relationship. While Rush has been discussed mainly in terms of benefits to a Chapter; the greatest benefit is to that of the pledge himself. The college Fraternity experience will offer this individual many challenges and experiences that will help guide his direction throughout life. The wearing of a pledge pin is a process that represents the constant renewal of our Fraternity's very life. By a careful and sincere selection of men, Phi Kappa Psi will continue to live and to flourish!

CRAIG LEFFERTS

Determination Carries Phi Psi to the Big Leagues

by Louis M. Hoffman, Arizona '77

The all-American baseball story, You know how it goes. At the age of three, the baby throws a rattle against the wall with such velocity, the chandelier shakes. He receives a baseball mitt for his fourth birthday, and is throwing fastballs in the backyard before he's six. The phenomenal pitches in little league, high school, and college, each level more outstanding than the preceeding one. Then the big day arrives. His boyhood dream comes true when he takes the mound in the major leagues. There's only one problem with this story. That's not exactly how it happened for Craig Lefferts, Arizona '77.

Leffert's boyhood dream did come true this year, when he was named to the Chicago Cub's pitching staff. The Sporting News 1983 baseball yearbook called Lefferts "the best lefthanded starter to come through the Cub's farm system since Ken Holtzman." But the route to success has not been an easy one. Lefferts overcame many obstacles to reach the pinnacle of his profession.

As a youngster, asthma restricted his outdoor activities. He played baseball for the first time when his family moved to St. Petersburg, Florida. He was already 12 years old, and it was another two years until he tried pitching. "I was not what you would call a natural, but from the first time I picked up a baseball, I knew I wanted to pitch in the majors," said Lefferts.

Lefferts struggled to be an average player in high school. He was cut from the team his sophomore year, then gained a position on the squad the following year. The first signs of promise surfaced during his final year in high school. The lefthander went 8-3, relying on a fastball and curve.

Without a scholarship or verbal promise, Lefferts enrolled in the University of Arizona in 1976. His decision was based on two considerations; the school's baseball program had a national reputation for excellence, and his parents had attended the University before him. He planned to try out for the team as a walk-on (a non-scholarship athlete).

His initial year was a picture in futility. Weighing a mere 145 pounds, Lefferts was no match for athletes much further progressed and developed. He was cut from the team, but sometimes blessings come in strange disguises. Pitching coach Jim Wing saw potential in the hardworking southpaw, and encouraged him to keep training.

Lefferts made the jayvee team the next year, then secured a spot on the varsity roster his final two years of school. Those two years provided the chance for Lefferts to test his skills against the nation's finest collegiate players. He not only held his ground against the nation's best; he excelled.

In 1979, he led the Arizona Wildcats to the Pacific Ten Conference Baseball Championship. His 10-3 record with eight complete games and a 3.68 (for 127 innings) ERA earned him first team selection on the All-Conference Team. He compiled a 7-2 record during his senior year, winning a game in the College World Series during Arizona's march to the national title. "I owe a lot of my baseball success to pitching coach Jim Wing. He taught me the mental part of the game... how to keep your concentration out there at all times," said Lefferts.

But college was more than strike-outs and chewing tobacco to Lefferts. After arriving on campus, he decided to check out the fraternity system. A couple dormitory friends dragged him to a rush party held at the Student Union by a fraternity, that wasn't really a fraternity. Arizona Alpha had just been colonized, and the four-man Colony was conducting their first rush. The challenge appealed to Lefferts, and he soon pledged. He became a charter member of Arizona Alpha II, when they were rechartered on March 26, 1977 (regaining the charter issued originally in 1947). "It was a decision I've never regretted," said Lefferts. "The support the Fraternity gave me was special, and the friendships I made are something that will never be repeated. I'm thankful to have them."

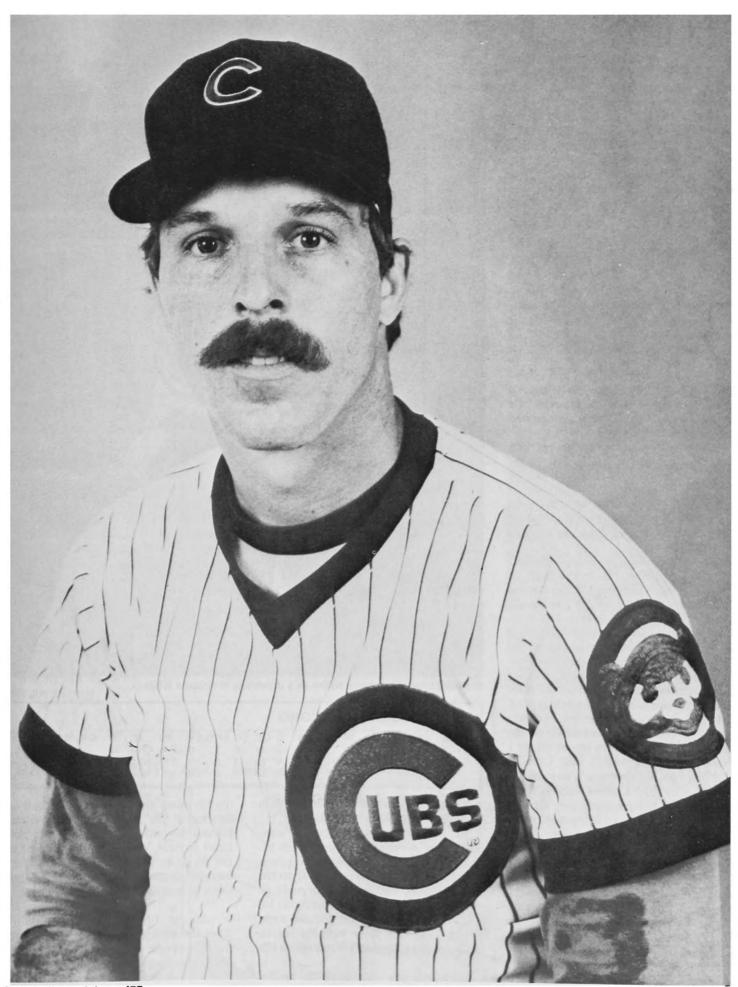

Even with baseball's never ending demands, Lefferts has kept strong feelings toward Phi Psi. "Sometimes during the last two years of school when I was super involved with baseball, I didn't really feel I was putting as much into the Fraternity as I should have, but I'll tell you one thing . . . the spirit never left me and never will. To me, that's what it's all about."

Drafted out of college by the Chicago Cubs in 1980, Lefferts was assigned to the Geneva Cubs, a team in the single A division. "I was discouraged, and refused to report at first," said the left-hander. "College baseball is considered equal to double A ball, and here I was, having to take a step backwards to play professionally."

He eventually put those feelings aside and joined the Geneva team, where he had a superb season. The rookie was near unbeatable, averaging better than a strikeout an inning with a 9-1 record. In retrospect, Lefferts admits it was a good move to increase his confidence, and help him adjust to the rigors of professional baseball. "It was kind of strange. I was in the first year of my professional career, but I was looked upon as a leader, since a lot of the players were only 18 and 19 years old," he said.

The southpaw continued to play on the minor league level for the next two years. At Midland (AA) of the Texas league, he showed durability by pitching 185 innings. A back injury hindered his progress at Iowa (AAA), but he still fashioned an 8-5 record. More important than statistics, Lefferts exhibited remarkable pitching control, a rare trait in young pitchers. Playing winter baseball in South America and Puerto Rico also increased his stock in the Cub's organization.

At the start of the 1983 season, Lefferts was invited to the Cub's spring training camp as a non-roster player, "I was told I had a very outside chance of making the team, and even then, it was as a reliever, not a starting pitcher," he said. After pitching unimpressively, Lefferts was sent down to the minor league team in Iowa on March 26—his dream detoured. Seven days later, Lefferts received a phone call he'd never forget. "I remember someone telling me I had two hours to pack my bags, and be on a flight to Chicago." The Cub's management decided to start the season with five relievers instead of the original four. Lefferts was the fifth reliever.

"When I made the majors, my lifestyle shot straight up. The first class travel, and fancy restaurants are great," said Lefferts. Not only was he enjoying himself, but his pitching started to receive notice throughout the league. During one stretch, he retired 23 consecutive batters, while giving up only one earned run and four hits in 10 2/3 innings. "When I'm on, and throwing the ball right, I can put it exactly where I want it 90% of the time. Of course, when I'm off, that's when bad things happen."

His streak came to an abrupt halt when those "bad things" came in the form of back to back homeruns by Steve Garvey and Terry Kennedy of the San Diego Padres. With the poor outing, his ERA still stood at a respectable 2.77 for thirteen innings through May 1.

Even with the excellent start, Lefferts still isn't satisfied. "Even the thrill of being in the major leagues has been a little frustrating. All my life I've been a starter, then all of a sudden I'm a reliever, never knowing when I'm going to pitch." Compounding his insecurity is the fact his position on the roster remains tenuous. Dickie Noles, another relief pitcher, will be taken off the disabled list eventually. On a pitching staff stocked with solid relievers, Lefferts could be the pitcher sent down to the minors. "I don't worry about things I have no control over," said Lefferts. "When I get my chance, I'll be ready."

On May 25, Lefferts received the chance he'd been waiting for, his first major league start. Pitching against the Houston Astros in the spacious astrodome, the lefthander limited the opposition to only seven hits during seven full innings of work. Unfortunately, he was saddled with a 1-0 loss, when an unearned run scored on a passed ball. Lefferts reached another milestone on June 5, when he won his first big league game. Starting against the hard hitting Pittsburgh Pirates, he surrendered only one run in 7½ innings of work. On a ballclub desperate for good starting pitching, these showings should earn Lefferts a "long look" as a starter.

Regardless of what happens, he's enjoying the notoriety that goes with being a professional athlete in America. He receives boistorous support from the Chicago fans, and has even brought an unique flair to signing autographs. "Every time I'm asked for an autograph, I sign my name with the Fraternity signature, hoping I'll run into a Phi Psi."

Although it's too early to predict stardom for Lefferts, there's no denying his many attributes. A sinkerball he developed this spring has already improved his effectiveness. He has pinpoint control, and a fastball clocked in the 90 miles per hour range. But perhaps his biggest asset is something that can't be measured—his determination.

"All my life, people said I didn't have the ability to make it. Even after college, people said I would never make the major leagues, but I always knew I would through sheer desire. I wanted it too bad to fail."

New Edition Of Grand Catalogue To Be Published

Good news for all Phi Psis . . . the Fraternity has responded to much alumni demand by authorizing the preparation of a revised Grand Catalogue (alumni directory). The last such directory was published over seven years ago! This new, full information Grand Catalogue will be a valuable personal, and professional reference volume for all alumni, the 12th edition printed since the first in 1870.

The directory will list alumni alphabetically with each entry to indicate name, initiation year, chapter, address, and will include home telephone, and business or professional information with address and telephone. Two complete indexes, one arranged geographically by towns within states, and the other by chapter with badge number and initiation year will follow the alphabetical listings.

Updated material will be derived from brief questionnaires mailed to alumni in January and February of 1984 and followed up by telephone in the Spring of 1984 for research and verification of the directory information. At that time alumni will be able to place an order for a copy of the directory. Only enough directories to fill these pre-publication orders will be printed, and circulation will be restricted to members. The Grand Catalogue is currently scheduled for a Fall, 1984 release.

The Bernard C. Harris Publishing Company, Inc. has been selected as the official publisher. Recognized as the oldest and largest exclusive publisher of alumni directories, they have completed over the past two decades, alumni directories for more than 600 fraternities, colleges, and universities. The project will be undertaken at virtually no cost to Phi Kappa Psi. Harris has contracted to compile, publish, and market the directory, financing the operation solely through the sale of individual directory copies to alumni only.

From the Archives . . .

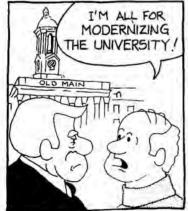

The Fraternity is pleased to be the recipient of gifts related directly to Phi Psi, or art and furnishings of the founding era. The Fraternity's Headquarters, Heritage Hall, provides a setting designed to appropriately display these items related in some way to the Fraternity or to society circa 1852.

This spectacular diamond encrusted Badge was presented originally by the Fraternity to Founder Charles Page Thomas Moore in 1902 upon the occasion of Phi Psi's 50th anniversary. The beautiful Badge was then entrusted to the care of Harlan B. Selby, West Virginia '18, who in turn asked Phi Psi President Louis B. Corson, West Virginia '34 to safeguard the Badge until an appropriate home could be determined. Brother Corson felt no more suitable quarters could be found for the historic Badge than Heritage Hall, so at the 1982 Grand Arch Council Awards Luncheon, August 13, Lou presented the Badge to President John R. Donnell, Jr. with great ceremony.

One month and a day later, on September 14, Louis Damarin Corson joined the Chapter Eternal.

THE CORKETTE removes corks from wine bottles simply, safely, and cleanly by creating sufficient pressure of air below the cork to lift it out of the bottle. All that is used is air which can have no effect on the wine, and no more air than is necessary to extract the cork can be injected into the bottle. It's an effortless controlled operation.

The Corkette Division will donate $2.00 to Phi Kappa Psi for each Corkette Gift Pack or Bar Set order to help fund the following services:

- Materials for Rush
- Biennial Grand Arch Council Meetings
- Educational Publications, including THE SHIELD
- Expansion to new Colleges and Universities
- Woodrow Wilson Leadership Schools

Enjoy your Corkette and assist our fraternity. Excellent as gifts and for promotions.

Cutting College Costs

by Bruce H. Donald, Pennsylvania '54

Bruce H. Donald, Pennsylvania '54 author of Cutting College Costs.

Recently I talked with a dentist whose daughter was planning to attend an expensive college and whose son had just been accepted by an Ivy League dental school. "You know," he said, "with a good income and a few bucks put away, I never worried about the cost of college. But prices have become ridiculous, particularly for dental school. Those two educations will cost me 35 thousand next year!"

Like this dentist, many affluent people are discovering that financing a college education affects all income groups, not just the poor. As a guidance counselor in a suburban Philadelphia high school for the last 17 years, I've lived vicariously the economic experiences of many kinds of families with college bound children. Let me share some with you.

One student accepted by both Penn State and Harvard found it literally cheaper to attend Harvard because of the outstanding financial aid package he was offered. Harvard costs three times as much as Penn State.

Another almost broke into tears because every scholarship she investigated used financial need as one of its criteria. She explained, "Because my father is a doctor, they think we're rich. But we're not!" Later she rejected a prestigious private college in favor of a state university.

A young man was absolutely furious because he had to take out a loan to help pay for his education, whereas grants and a campus job had financed 100% of the cost of his brother's education.

A foreign resident of this country who had acquired assets overseas found that his affluence prevented his children from receiving financial aid. Out of work and living upon investment income, this father debated drawing upon his savings. He explained, "This is a serious decision for me. I'm not poor, but I'm not young either. I have no retirement plan. I probably won't even qualify for social security. If I deplete my assets, what will I live on for the rest of my life?"

I've known several widows who found themselves in similar dilemmas after they inherited their husbands' life insurance. Typically, their husbands had been the sole or major wage earners, so they were left with modest salaries plus earnings from investments, which they feared losing. Conversely, another widow had just finished putting her last child through college when her husband died, leaving her with few assets.

One family prepared for college expenses by having the mother find a job, the father take a second job working nights at Sears, and the children give up school activities and work part time. Another family prepared by having the mother quit her job and take one which paid her "off the record."

Students from divorced families face particularly intriguing problems. One young man pondered these three options: First, he could continue living with his mother and qualify for financial aid since her income was modest. Since part of his aid would probably involve a loan, he wasn't sure that he wanted this. Second, he could leave his mother and live with his father, who would be willing to pay all of his college expenses under those circumstances. The young man wasn't sure that he wanted that either. Third, he could move to another state, live with an aunt, and work for a year in order to establish residency and to qualify as an independent student. Following that, he could easily gain substantial aid plus have his pick of that state's excellent and inexpensive system of state colleges and universities. Moreover, there was always the chance that his father might relent and help him out anyway if he moved away from his mother.

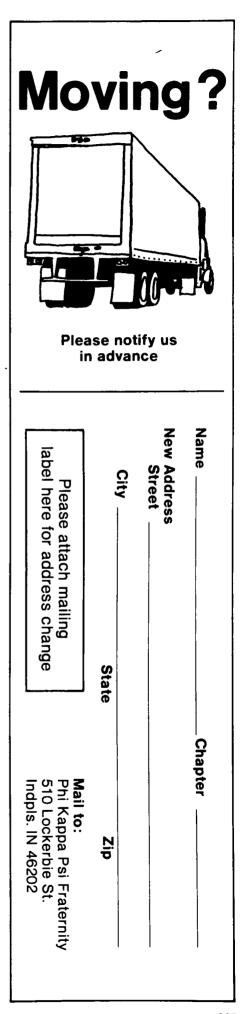

Society has given much attention to the problems that low income families experience trying to finance college educations, and unquestionably their difficulties are real, especially now that federal aid to students is contracting instead of expanding. As the preceding examples illustrate, however, almost any family may encounter poignant choices. In fact, frequently a needy family can send a child to an expensive college more easily than an affluent one. It's not hard to select Harvard over Penn State when it's the cheaper choice, but it's a bit more difficult when it's three times as expensive.

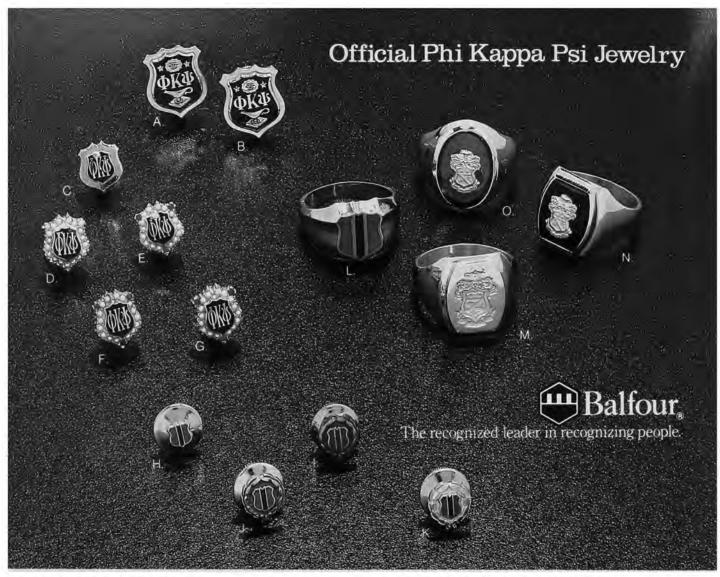

Cutting College Costs is designed to meet the needs of all families who have college age children. Most financial aid literature doesn't do that. Typically, the writers proceed from the assumption that financial aid is an equitable process and that their task is simply to educate people concerning this process.

Sometimes, this isn't enough. While their literature is well intentioned, it's also superficial and offers nothing to families unable to readily qualify for "need based" financial aid. Comparing it to the typical, hard hitting income tax literature is like comparing night to day.

Cutting College Costs not only explains the mechanics of the financial aid process but, like a tax book, it also teaches families how to qualify for larger awards. Other than Cutting College Costs there is no aggressive literature in the field. In addition, the last 109 pages suggest methods by which any family, regardless of income, can save on college expenses and receive better value for their money. In my opinion, Cutting College Costs is the most helpful book available on financial planning for college.
